PRICE CEILING APPLIES TO FIREWOOD, ETC.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 5. — It is pointed to-day by Edwin C. Cossi, Regional Prices and Supply Representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, that such seasonal operations as the harvesting of ice, the cutting of firewood, and custom sawmilling are quite definitely linked with the price ceiling administered by the Board and that those engaged in such operations should base this in mind when they are arranging for their winter work.

There is a ceiling upon firewood the ceiling price of which must not exceed the maximum charged by the same dealer last year. Natural ice selling prices are related to the ceiling on artificial ice and custom sawmilling falls within services which are also subject to price control.

In regard to certain commodities and services which do not fall within the same category, Mr. Cossitt remarked that the absence of price control in such respects does not permit dealers to charge excessively or exorbitantly, since the Board possesses the power to deal with instances in which other than "just and reasonable" charges are made.

THANKS EXPRESSED FOR DONATIONS TO SANTA CLAUS FUND

The committee in charge of The Beaver Santa Claus Fund wish, through the medium of "The Beaver" to thank all who in many practical ways have shown their interest in the work of the Fund during the past Christmas season.

The response to tile appeals for funds and supplies was generous, considering the many demands there are on all citizens these days. As a result, every family in town which needed help was given a Christmas dinner and a treat for the children.

The economic condition of many families which in former years needed assistance has improved under the better business conditions which have prevailed in recent months. Consequently, calls for help were not as numerous as formerly.

As in past years much of the work of organization and planning devolved on Miss Josephine Leamy, whose interest has never failed and whose sympathy for unfortunate children continues to be as great as ever. Without her careful planning money received would not have been found adequate. The committee of willing workers who assist Miss Leamy are also worthy of the thanks and appreciation of citizens of the whole town.

Since the last report of donations was made, the following were received :—

A Friend $1.00
Queen of Sheba Rebekah Lodge: Children's dresses, crib quilts, baby kimonas, mittens, baby slippers, aprons and toys.

C. P. R. STATION AT TWEED BURNS

Eelieved caused by overheated pipes in a wooden partition, the Canadian Pacific Railway station at Tweed broke out in flames about nine-thirty Saturday, Dec. 27, morning and one hour later was thought to be doomed despite the efforts of the Tweed Fire Department and volunteer firemen.

Gaining a considerable start before the flames were noticed the wooden building fell prey quickly to the fire and in an incredible short time was an entire mass of flames with the eside-wall completely burned through.

Considered to be a complete loss an hour after the fire broke out, the loss to the building is estimated to be around $7,500.

George Wilson, the Canadian Pacific Railway station agent at Tweed, and Marshall Drinkwater, section foreman, discovered the fire and battled the flames for some time with fire extinguishers being unable to bring it under control, summoned the Tweed Fire Department.

MAYOR HALL'S ADDRESS AT INAUGURAL MEETING NAPANEE TOWN COUNCIL

Points Out Matters Needing Attention During 1942

Gentlemen :—

At this, the inaugural meeting of the Napanee Council for the year 1942, it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to seats at the Council Board. The Council is the same as last year and I trust that during the coming year, you may give me, your presiding officer, the same confidence and co-operation you have given me in the past.

All members of the presiding Council have had previous municipal experience and are quite capable of dealing with the problems which may arise. I therefore, look forward to the Council's work for the year with great efficiency and harmony that happily prevailed for the last two years. We have all had different opinion, but nevertheless, I am sure every member of this Board has acted as he thought best for the interests of the ratepayers whom he has represented.

There are several matters before us this year for consideration; to which the most important is the matter of the Water Street, who are serving with inadequate sewer accommodation to take care of the flood waters which have arisen. Our sanitary facilities do not control the situation and a new conduit may be necessary. It is believed that this is the earliest and immediate relief from from a situation has existed for years. It is well known that for many years have been made by the Council to improve the inadequate sewer accommodation which exists but a resolution, with regard to the matter, will be presented to you later, and I strongly commend that action be taken.

During the past few years you have had to contend with the tax rate and I am sure in the present year you will continue to do so.

It must always be borne in mind, and especially in these times, that municipal economy can be provided by limited municipal expenditure, but this economy should not be practised at the expense of existing municipal structures especially Police and Fire protection. Municipal work should be postponed until after the war, providing such postponement does not interfere with or jeopardize the citizens of the Town.

The old fire truck could be patched up for use as a service and utility truck for the general work of the Town. This we have never had, although conditions have required it for several years.

We must also remember that we have with us, citizens who through illness and unfortunate circumstances must be taken care of in a true democratic manner.

I would also like to point out to you the faithfulness of all employees of the Town in their official and manual duties. With the added burdens which the war has brought to their various positions, and the increased cost of living, I unhesitatingly recommend to you, a review of their situations and a measure of compensation to all concerned.

We must bear in mind, that we, as the citizens of Napanee are an integral part of the Dominion of Canada, and thereby active members of the British Empire, which has fought and is now fighting for its very existence. We are not in this war as the aggressor, but as the victim of aggression; not by choice, but by necessity; not as an ally, but as a Member of the Empire. Let us not forget our citizens, who are serving Our Country, and their families, and the all important sacrifice they are prepared to give in so doing.

May I again thank you for your Loyalty and Co-operation, and assure you that I shall always be ready and willing to act with you, in what is best for the citizens of the Town of Napanee, and for the successful and victorious prosecution of the War.

RICHARD ROBERT HALL, M.D.

MAYOR HALL'S ADDRESS AT INAUGURAL MEETING NAPANEE TOWN COUNCIL

Points Out Matters Needing Attention During 1942

Gentlemen :—

At this, the inaugural meeting of the Napanee Council for the year 1942, it gives me great pleasure to welcome you to seats at the Council Board. The Council is the same as last year and I trust that during the coming year, you may give me, your presiding officer, the same confidence and co-operation you have given me in the past.

All members of the presiding council have had previous municipal experience and are quite capable of dealing with the problems which may arise.

We have all had different opinion, but nevertheless, I am sure every member of this council has acted as he thought best in the interests of the ratepayers whom he has represented.

There are several matters before the council for year for consideration; to me the most important is the matter of the householders, from Thomas Street, Water Street, who are servicing natural water drain. These streets have inadequate sewer accommodation to take care of the flood waters which have arisen. Our present facilities do not control the flood and a new conduit may be necessary.

I would commend this to the council's earnest and immediate attention and relieve them from a situation which has existed for years. It has also been known that for months have been made by residents to improve the inadequate drainage accommodation which exists at present. A resolution, with regards to the matter, will be presented here and I strongly commend it.

During the past two years you have wisely reduced the tax rate and I am sure in the present year you will continue to do so.

It must always be borne in mind, and especially in these times, that municipal economy can be provided by limited municipal expenditure, but this economy should not be practised at the expense of existing municipal structures especially Police and Fire protection. MAJ.-GEN. CRERAR TAKES OVER Somewhere in England, (C.P.) — Maj-General H. D. G. Crerar marked his assumption of acting command of the Canadian Corps during last week, by observing extensive exercises carried out by the Corps in the anti-invasion battle plan.

All staff officers and members of Canadian Military Headquarters took part.

Maj-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, commander of the 1st Division, who acted as commander of the Corps up to Maj-Gen. Crerar's arrival, directed the exercises, following which he went on a week's leave.

Umpires ruled the Canadians handled the situation adequately, particularly in their use of the Canadian Armored Division, in this "paper war."

Maj-Gen. Crerar is replacing Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, now convalescing after an illness.

EIRE WITHHOLDS BASES THOUGH U. S. IN THE WAR

BY JOSEPH S. EVANS, JR.
(Special to The Montreal Star and New York Herald Tribune)

Dublin — America's entrance into the war has not swayed Eire from her decision to remain neutral no matter what the cost, high Government officials declared unanimously recently. Eire will fight "to the death" any attempt, even by the United States, with whom she has so many and such close ties, to take over her ports and thus bring her into the struggle making her territory a legitimate target for bombs, these sources asserted.

The Government claims that its policy of "unalterable neutrality" has the support of 70 per cent of the population. When this correspondent visited Dublin three months ago, these same officials claimed that 90 per cent. of the public backed the decision to stay out of the war.

25 PER CENT. FAVOR BASES

And at least two out of every three "man in the street", taxi drivers, waitresses, newsand and tobacco shop proprietors and so forth, to whom this correspondent spoke recently, declared vehemently that Eire would welcome with open arms American occupation of the southern Irish ports to be used as bases from which to prosecute the Battle of the Atlantic.

But the De Valera Government is in power and likely to remain so, and it controls the regular army and the local defence and security forces and poorly equipped as these are, they would put up a fight—even against Americans.

So the Government says, anyway. The regular army numbers about 50,000 trained soldiers, armed with rifles, pistols and a very few limited number of machine guns and heavy field pieces, but practically no mechanized equipment. The local defences forces, another 50,000, have about one rifle to every 18 men, one sub-machine gun to every 100 and one machine gun to every other 100. The 50,000 men forming the local security forces are the auxiliary police and they are armed with whatever sporting rifles, shotguns, and so forth that they have been able to produce.

DEFENSIVE POSITION POOR

Any resistance which these forces could have put up would be short-lived—not more than 24 hours against any modern equipped invader, observers say.

WAR ON THE HOME FRONT

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the operations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. It is devoted to a consideration of the price control measures as they affect business, with particular reference to retailers.

PRICE CONTROL AND THE RETAILER

BY BRUCE M. PEARCE

If you were driving an automobile at sixty miles an hour you would not by choice jam the brakes on suddenly. However, if you found yourself headed for the brink of a precipice you would put them on just as hard as you could rather than plunge to disaster.

That, roughly, is what the Government did when it decided upon the Price Ceiling Policy. It saw rapidly rising prices swinging into the disastrous inflationary spiral. Its economic advisers said, "This upswing of prices must be halted now—in its tracks! If you temporize the battle against inflation will be lost before you can ever begin to fight it."

So the brakes were applied—hard! The highest prices charged in the basic period, September 15th to October 11th, were set as the ceiling.

Retailers Are Co-operating

The Price Ceiling Policy meant inconvenience to practically all business and industry and losses for many trades and industries. The retailer was in the front line and so was among the first to feel the impact of fixed prices.

The loyal way in which retailers are complying with the law proves they are just as anxious as anyone else to make any necessary sacrifice; they realize as fully as anyone else that inflation would harm the war effort. That is the mainspring of their co-operation. They realize too, that inflation would bring disaster to many of them. They remember that after the inflation of the last world war small businesses failed by the thousands. In one year there were four times as many bankruptcies as in a normal year.

Losses Must Be Shared

The mechanism of the Price Ceiling Policy provides the retailer with protection from undue hardship. He must of course bear some of the "squeeze" between his ceiling prices and higher replacement costs for some of the goods he sells; but he is not expected to carry more than his fair share of the burden. That is a fundamental policy of the Price Ceiling and to safeguard him in this respect, Retail Trade and Wholesale Trade Administrators have been appointed.

Whenever possible, the retailer is expected to work out his own arrangements with his suppliers to share or "roll back" the "squeeze". When he cannot arrange this he is expected to develop sources through the nearest Prices and Supply Representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board ordirectly with the Board's Administrator of Retail Trade and its Administrator of Wholesale Trade, who have offices in Ottawa's Metropolitan Building.

E. G. Burton, who knows the retail business from a to z and who is serving the Board without remuneration, is the Retail Trade Administrator. R. F. Chisholm, another public servant who is the authority on wholesaling, and who also serves voluntarily, is the Wholesale Trade Administrator. These two executives regard themselves as champions of a square deal for all parties. Their philosophy is roughly this: "You cannot undertake so terrific a job as halting inflation in its tracks without hurting someone. It is our responsibility to see that a normal flow of essential goods is maintained and that no one suffers undue hardship."

"Rolling Back" the "Squeeze"

Suppose a retailer finds himself badly "squeezed" between his retail pricing price and the price he has to pay his suppliers. His course in this step should be to take the matter up with his supplier, who may be able to remedy matters for him. Perhaps the supplier will have to go to the manufacturer or importer to ... some reduction in his costs. Perhaps the manufacturer or importer will have to go to the Government for help in the form of a subsidy. But in any event the retailer cannot raise his price — except for a few exemptions such as fresh fruit and vegetables, most kinds of fish, animal pelts and furs, So the retailer should negotiate for a lower price. If he cannot conduct there negotiations by himself the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's officials, the Regional Prices and Supply Representative or the Retail and Wholesale Trade Administrators, will co-operate to see that everyone gets a square deal. If necessary, they will compel adjustments.

On the ground that the first place to look for help is to oneself, the Board will expect retailers will take any practical steps to reduce their operating costs. They will be expected to cut out unnecessary frills in their operations. So, too, will other businesses all along the line. However retailers can be sure that they will not have to bear more than their fair share of reduced income. This, I found during my visit in Ottawa, is a fundamental policy of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

During the last few months British and American defenders of the battle of the Atlantic have made the military value of the southern Ireland ports practically nil, these experts say, but with the extension of the war to the Pacific, with the constant strain on shipping, particularly American and British warships, which presumably might be detached from their previous duties of patrolling Britain's Atlantic lifeline, the value of these ports increases immediately.

This question reportedly was one which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill discussed anew at their recent meeting in Washington, having talked it over during their Atlantic meeting last August when they decided that the ports should be left alone for the time being.

WOULD AID OCEAN BATTLE

With Eire as an anti-Axis base, fighters and coastal command planes could spread a "protective umbrella" over a much greater area of the Atlantic than is now possible. Special convoys from the United States, including American merchantmen, the first of which who arrived at Northern Ireland recently, bring the American flag, would have shorter and safer voyages, much of the particular danger zone in which a large part of the German sinkings of British vessels are understood to occur practically could be eliminated.

These considerations, it was felt, would weight heavily in the minds of British and American military leaders against Eire's neutrality.

Reminder of possible American pressure other than military against Eire — the banning of funds from relatives in the United States which amount to about $3,000,000 a year to Eire and the ...stoppage of food and gasoline and other exports that the country vitaly needs—Government leaders still claim that their country would persevere against being drawn into the war.

In this correspondent's opinion the top men in the Government are decidedly in favour of a German defeat but the fear of bombing raids holds them to their neutrality ...

For Eire is almost completely defenceless against this form of modern warfare. She has practically no anti-aircraft guns, her fighter planes number less than three fighters, she is within easy reach of German bomber bases and her shelters are inadequate to ...

Britain has made overtures since America's entry into the war declared to line up Eire against the Axis, but these have failed, it was understood. Now it is up to the United States.

The best way in which America could accomplish this result would be by giving defence equipment to Eire, leaders of the Irish Dail, diplomats, military leaders and others believe. Once Eire was able to defend itself, the overwhelming pro-American sentiment of the people would bring the country into war at least a position of "anti-Axis neutrality" with the United States controlling bases and ports used by all the countries fighting Hitlerism and they would be welcomed. ... was felt.

It was blown up by a direct hit into a shower of feathers.

The Zebra house in London was wrecked, but the zebras just shook off the rubble and went on eating. Other bombs fell among the monkey house and one actually into the aquarium, but neither was destroyed. The blast from a 500-lb. bomb blew up the ravens' cage and the ravens flew off into the nearest tree. They are now roaming about Britain's countryside.

Whipsnade Zoo is 35 miles out in the country but both there and in London the birds and animals showed a fortitude equal to that of Britain's human inhabitants. Only among the herd animals, such as deer, has the terrific noise caused occasional stampeding, with the danger of broken legs.

Animal lovers all over the world have taken up the London Zoo's adoption scheme, by which people "adopt" animals for the duration of the war by paying a weekly fee to cover the food bill. ENTERPRISE

Enterprise, Jan. 5.—On Wednesday, December 31st, Mrs. Thomas Wilson, a well known resident of Enterprise, celebrated her 80th birthday. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jackson, and was born on her parents' farm one mile north of the village. Her parents and grandparents were among the pioneer families of this community. Considerably gifted in music, some 60 years ago she was organist in one of the Methodist Churches in the village before the union of those two organizations. She married Thomas Wilson, and for 40 years or more they operated a farm west of Enterprise, where Mr. Wilson and his son, John L. Wilson, became quite well known as breeders of purebred Holstein cattle. Some 15 years ago the couple purchased a home in the village and retired from the hard work of the farm, leaving their son in charge of the property, although Mr. Wilson still took a more or less active part of farm work during the rush of the hay and the grain harvesting until his death two years ago. In spite of her age, Mrs. Wilson lives alone and is able to take care of the work of her home as well as many women considerably younger. During the day she had many callers at her home to offer their best wishes on her birthday.

What is believed to be a record in ages is to be found in Enterprise, with five of the village living in neighboring houses with an aggregate age of 410 years. They are William Thistlewaite, 87 years; Nathaniel Reid, 84 years; his sister, Libby Reid, 82 years; Mrs. Reuben Dopking, 77 years, and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, 80 years.

MRS. SLATER CONFERS WITH HER COOK

BY MARION SLATER

(From Bulletins From Britain)

Last week my grocer let me have four eggs, one pound of bacon, two pounds of granulated sugar, one-half pound Indian tea, one-half pound butter, one-half pound margarine, one-half pound cooking fat, one can of sardines, one package of cornflakes, two boxes of matches, one can of custard powder, one-half pound cornflour, one can of coffee essence, one package of macaroni, two cakes of toilet soap, one bar of household soap, and one package of soap flakes (but not crackers, no fruit—fresh, dried or canned—, no benzene, and no marmalade, jam or syrup on my week's grocery order.

Not much, surely, for a household of four! Cook and I went into a conference.

"The butcher has sent us a small piece of lamb shoulder," she said. "It will be for the whole week." (It cost seventy cents, twenty cents each for the three adults, and ten cents for the child.) "And the bone in it is very big."

"I suppose we'd better roast it on Sunday," I said wearily. "And we can have French beans and potatoes from the garden. Then on Monday perhaps you could cut up a couple of onions and fold it in gravy into pancakes . . . made with butter flour instead of eggs."

They're So Filling

"We're fed a lot of those batter pancakes lately," said cook, sadly. "I don't suppose they are filling. And that will leave up each a strip of bone for Tuesday, and I might chop that up with a little bacon, and stuff it into a marrow with brown sauce and mashed potatoes."

"Then on Wednesday," I interposed, "we might manage to have a small piece of unrationed liver into the pastry and bake it with tiny bruised onions and fried potatoes . . . if you have enough fat."

We were now in the momentum. Cook was on with scarcely a pause.

"For Thursday I can save enough cheese to make a macaroni cheese, perhaps with baked tomatoes."

"Friday with care the bacon may last, and we could each have a rasher on cauliflower - all - statin. What cream, oh I'll sneak it somehow."

"Saturday's I—there are chance of sausages? I read the butchers were to be allowed more sausage meat. We'll trade it back and see if we can get some. Never give up hoping. Otherwise perhaps we could open a tin of sardines and have sardine patties."

We had successfully disposed of THE MAIN ITEM each day, with the comforting feeling that we could always add bits with garden vegetables . . . that's one of the advantages of living in the country.

Desserts More Difficult

But we still had to plan desserts. That was more difficult, because our use of milk is restricted . . . only one oz. tea and coffee milk daily, and perhaps a quarter of a pint left to last a week. Cook looked regretfully at me. I knew she had exhausted her imagination on desserts. I tried to help.

"On Sunday we could have stewed plums, with what juices for cream if the top of the milk. Monday we might whip up a little preserved ginger and cook it in a custard made with half milk and half ginger syrup. Half milk? You're right — it'll be much less than half. Tuesday, what about an apple puree flavored with cinnamon or cloves? Wednesday, a chocolate blanc-mange, made with milk and water. Thursday . . . I've got a few dates left . . . chop them up in coffee blancmange, made the same way. Friday, can we save enough milk for a small rice pudding, do you think? And Saturday . . . I suppose we haven't enough fat for pastry? No? Well, then, what about using batter flour to make fritters of dates or apples? I think, we must keep our eggs for the bulk, as he doesn't get enough meat."

They Belong to Yesterday

Dinners were settled. But there were still lunches. However, we don't bother much about them. We eat along on snacks.

"It doesn't sound mouth-watering," said cook, "but perhaps I'll have sudden inspirations during the week. Anyway, it's something to go on. I remember . . ."

"Cook," I said severely, "don't talk to me about salmon trout in white wine. Nor sole with grapes and mushrooms. It's sinful to mention them. I promise you that some day you shall make a chocolate mousse with sour cream . . . and have enough fat to float a whale in . . . but not this week — or, I fear, this year. Meanwhile you'll have to turn your plaice touch to cocoa, and see if you can make it taste like chocolate — without any cream. . . . Bless you, you are a help!"

"Let's take a look at American food advertisements one day, and see if wishful thinking can satisfy our stomachs — or palates. What about chicken Maryland and strawberry shortcake? Quick, quick, Cook, a slice of fresh bread and a cup to tea to succor us!"

CONSUMER CO-OPS PUSH TO VICTORY

BY EDWARD TOPHAM

Editor of The Co-operative Review

As a measure of Britain's war effort in its human aspect the simple record of Britain's biggest employer is impressive. Britain's biggest employer is a democratically-controlled organization — the Consumer Co-operative Movement.

Just before the war there were in regular employment more than 250,000 workers in co-operative service. Nearly half were shop assistants, clerks, warehousemen and storekeepers generally. Some 15 per cent were engaged in manufacturing — not the small circles, rugs, corsets, furniture, or textiles stationery, cycles, boots & shoes, textiles, clothed cloth, and drugs. Here again the goods handled in the Co-operative employees. Some supplied permanent rates and herbs treatments. Other, retail stores and homes, and thirdly offices, restaurants and cafes in halls. Others again owned their own pasteurized milk and publishers and newspapers. There were underwriters, co - shippers, laundrymen, farm workers by the hundreds and thousands. There were architects, actors, lawyers, cinema operators, publicity experts, scientists by the score.

NATION IS PROVIDED WITH ARMY

The vast majority of this huge peacetime army of workers were menfolk. Virtually all expected a lifetime of service as he rewarded in due course with a pension. There were critics, inside as well as outside co-operative circles who complained that co - operative societies were too often lacking in resource and enterprise, unable to come with the unfamiliar, and tied to routine.

That was in July, 1939. Today, over 150,000 co-operative employees are either registered for service in the Army, Navy or Air Force, or already in training, or on active service.

The Co-operative Movement has given the nation from its own employees an Army greater than the peace - time establishments of say, Sweden, Switzerland, Canada or U. S. A.

And the vast human contribution has been made at a time when the remaining workers — the older men, the physically less fit, the women, and those not permitted to serve in the armed forces because of their craft skill — have had to carry not only their former tasks but also many new burdens and anxieties. Drained of its fittest men, the Co-operative Movement has had to make a drastic dilution of its own remaining labor power, with every industry competing for employees of all types.

BRIDES RETURN TO WORK

Fortunately, this crisis dispelled any fears as to the Movement's resilience. One society, for example, found itself on the declaration of war with nearly half its male staff mobilized as Territorials. But the real emergency did not develop immediately. As age groups were called up and as volunteers of all ages joined the services, unexpected faces appeared behind the counters and on the rounds.

Pensioners — there are thousands of them — who volunteered to come back to their old job, brought something of enormous value to this hitherto static dilution of labor — their experience and power of teaching new entrants in co-operative ways. In my own village the branch manager retired, went for a month's holiday and started work once more for the duration of the war.

Men in co - operative offices and stores frequently find their future wives behind the counter or in the counting house. In peacetime brides left their jobs and settled down to housekeeping. There was little sympathy then for married women wage earners in co-operative employment. Consequently, the co-operative society, with its staff consisting largely of men in the twenties and thirties, was much harder hit by military call-ups than competitive establishments normally employing more female labor.

THE SEA IS IN THE BLOOD

But "marrying on the job" has helped to right the situation, too. Often when the young husband from the co-op native shop or office has joined up his place has been taken by his own wife who may have been a typist, cashier, or sales girl in the selfsame store. The women come back happily, glad not only to help the family income but also to take more responsible work than they were permitted in their unmarried days. There are even women branch managers in some districts nowadays.

Total war, however, has its novelties. It has made gigantic adjustments in the male to female labor. The co-operative societies, now find these newly trained women workers also liable to conscription for war work like the men they replaced.

Probably no sector of British business has made a greater contribution to the battle strength of the nation than the distributive trades. In a war of machinery, it follows that craftsmen in the engineering, heavy and chemical industries, and all the vast technical services, must be retained at home for making shells, tanks, guns and equipment. To refer to private industry, the chemist who makes your prescription, the grocer who supplies you with your weekly rations, the draper who sells you your clothes, the clerk who finds you a book, the driver who delivers your parcels, are all in the front line of the home defence.

Last the reader thinks I exaggerate this miracle of human organisation here is a typical example. It was quoted by the First Lord of the Admiralty Mr. A. V. Alexander when a co-operative ship, named the Co-operative Pioneer, recall his appointment to take charge of the Royal Navy in Mr. Churchill's government.

A young draper's assistant employed by a London Co-operative Society joined the Royal Navy and was severely trained for service afloat. It was given command of a drifter and within a few weeks was busily engaged in Eastern waters on the hazardous task of mine sweeping.

Now he is a full lieutenant and

A famous admiral, Sir Dudley Shoosmith, wrote to the Editor of The Times to pay a tribute to the navy."

In these months of war, the Royal Navy has not only had to help the Army, Air Force and merchant navy in every possible way, but it has also had to undertake a great deal of rescue work.

The greatest of these rescues was the famous one at Dunkirk. The Admiralty called the operation "Dynamo" and it was organized by Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay. Ramsay had been in charge of the Dover Command since 1939. CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

WEEKLY REVIEW OF DEVELOPMENTS ON THE HOME FRONT; DEC. 26, 1941 TO JAN. 2ND, 1942

Rt. Hon. W. S. Churchill, Prime Minister of Great Britain, makes a two-day visit to Ottawa. Addresses members of the Senate and the House of Commons, he foresaw three main phases in the war: (a) Period of consolidation, combination and initial preparation; (b) Period of liberation during which we must look forward to recovery of lost territories; (c) assault upon citadel homelands of guilty parties. Referred to Canada's contribution to Imperial war effort as "magnificent." Mr. Churchill was sworn in as member of the Canadian Privy Council and attended a meeting of the War Cabinet. Also visited Uplands flying station near Ottawa, first service flying training school constructed under the British Commonwealth Plan.

"SHE" IS STREAMLINED

Features of these new tanks are the increased speed of both Infantry and Cruiser models and the considerable improvement in design. Nothing like the streamlining of the Cruiser tanks has ever been seen before.

Most important, too, is the fact that the new tanks carry heavier armor plating and greater armament than ever before. They provide better protection for their crews and are able to deal out much more punishment than any tank so far put into the field.

It may be said that these vehicles are the last word in mechanical fighting efficiency.

CONSUMER CO-OPS PUSH TO VICTORY

BY EDWARD TOPHAM

Editor of The Co-operative Review

As a measure of Britain's war effort in its human aspect, the simple record of Britain's biggest employer is impressive. Britain's biggest employer is a democratically-controlled organization— the Consumer Co-operative Movement.

Just before the war there were in regular employment more than 350,000 workers in co-operative service. Nearly half were shop assistants, clerks, warehousemen and distributive workers generally. Some 15 per cent were engaged in transport as motor truck drivers, roundsmen or other types of delivery workers. About 40 per cent were employed in factories, workshops, bakeries and food manufacture of all kinds.

Clothing, boots, books, shirts, linen, soap, cycles, radio, confectionery, furniture, cosmetics, stationery, biscuits, cooked beers, textiles, canned goods, and drugs were among the goods handled by the Co-operative's employees. Some supplied permanent waves and beauty treatment. Others built stores and homes and monster offices, restaurants and meeting halls. Others again mined coal, pasteurized milk and published newspapers. There were undertakers, dry - cleaners, laundrymen, farm workers, by the hundreds and thousands. There were architects, actuaries, lawyers, cinema operators, publicity experts, scientists by the score.

The vast majority of this huge peacetime army of workers were menfolk. Virtually all expected a lifetime of service to be rewarded in due course with a pension. The call to active service in the field has come paradoxically enough, to those who in peace time follow sedentary occupations. The clerk climbs the clouds; the draper drives a tank; the window-dresser is on the high seas.

Lest the reader thinks I exaggerate this miracle of human transformation here is a real life example. It was quoted by the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. A. V. RESCUES AT SEA

From Bulletins From Britain, issued by the British Library of Information, New York City.

A famous admiral of the last war, Sir Doveton Sturdee, victor of the battle of the Falklands, used to call the life-boats "a sister service to the navy."

In these months of war they have been a sister service not to the Navy only but to the Army and the Air Force, and they have won the gratitude and admiration of all those to whom the help which they have given to them, while continuing its humble aim of saving life.

DUNKIRK

The greatest of their many services to the fighting men was in helping to bring off the B. E. F. from Dunkirk. The Admiralty discerned the evacuation of our troops from Dunkirk, under constant attack by land, sea and air, as "the most extensive and difficult operation in naval history." In this "extensive and difficult operation" the life-boats of the Institution took part.

As soon as the Ministry of Shipping asked for the help of the Lifeboat Service, the Institution ran its 24 stations from Corleston on the Norfolk coast 110 miles from Dover to Shoreham Harbour on the coast of Sussex, 59 miles from Dover, asking them to send their boats to Dover without delay. They arrived there in little over 24 hours. These boats went to Dunkirk in the fleet of naval ratings. What they did — how they did it; what transpired — brought off; what lives were saved aboard them, will never be fully known, but all of them were greatly saved. One, the Eastbourne life-boat, was found abandoned in the Channel and brought in — no human record about that it was months before she was fit for service again; and one was left on the Dunkirk beaches.

Meanwhile two of the Institution's boats, those at Margate and Ramsgate, had gone straight to Dunkirk manned by their own crews. The Ramsgate boat was on service for 46 hours. She helped to bring off 2,000 men. The Margate boat was out for 64 hours. She remained until, up and down the Beaches, the coxswain could not see a boat left afloat. The life-boat could do no more. She returned to her station having brought off 600 men.

Both the Ramsgate and Margate coxswains received the Distinguished Service Medal. What those two life-boat crews did, and the circumstances in which they did it, are best described in the words of a commander of a destroyer who saw the Margate men at work. "The manner in which, with no thought of rest, they brought off load after load of troops under continuous shelling, bombing and aerial machine-gun fire will be an inspiration to us all as long as we live."

HELP TO THE NAVY

Of the 37 life-boat rescues in these first months of war for which the Institution has awarded medals for gallantry two of the most striking have been concerned with ships of the Royal Navy. One of these ships was a minesweeper and the coxswain was a trawler on submarine patrol. The first service was by the Whitby life-boat which in the darkness went right alongside the minesweeper close under the cliffs in a heavy swell and rescued all her crew of 18. The engineer of the minesweeper, who was standing by her engine room skylight to guide the lifeboat, described afterwards how he saw the life-boat's two mechanics at their engines under the canopy up to their necks in water. He watched in admiration the skill with which the boat was handled. He noticed the perfect discipline on board. Not a voice was heard except the coxswain's giving his orders.

The other of these two rescues, carried out by the Dover life-boat in a full gale, was from a trawler on submarine patrol, in the middle of a minefield. The coxswain and crew knew that at any moment the trawler might strike a mine and she and the life-boat be destroyed together, but they went on until all 16 men of the trawler were rescued.

We've Been Rationed!

Every indication points to a very serious shortage of materials and labor for making clothes in 1942.

Under these circumstances it would seem ridiculous to carry on our usual January Clearance of last lengths.

We must, however, keep our staff of expert tailors fully employed throughout the quiet month of January and early February, otherwise we might not be able to get them back for our regular busy season.

We have decided therefore, that it would be better to take a markdown loss now on the odd stock of materials and take our chances on getting new supplies for next Fall and Winter.

The above letter from the Cook Clothing Co. Ltd., explains the reason for our unexpected January Sale. We are co-operating by sacrificing a part of our profit too, so that the prices are ridiculously low, during this Special Measure Sale.

May we suggest that you come in just as soon as possible, and if our selection is not to your liking, you may select others from any still available. The reason for this, being that each merchant has been rationed as to the number of special order suits available for this month.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—in pain and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and aleo backache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills. For half a century the favorite remedy.

Large Atendance at Golf Club Dance

A large number of Napanee people and guests from the vicinity and from distant points greeted the New Year at the Annual New Year Dance of the Napanee Golf and County Club, held at the Napanee Town Hall.

Dancing which commenced at 10 p.m. was interrupted at Midnight when balloons were released and the New Year was ushered in with the usual noise and hilarity.

Supper was served at one and dancing was resumed for several hours.

Music was furnished by the Aces' Orchesra. The hall was decorated with a combination of patriotic and Christmas emblems and provided a very attractive setting for the event

NAVY KEEPS WATCH ON FRENCH SHIPS

London, (C.P.) — The Royal Navy during 1941 intercepted 46 vessels attempting to run the blockade of unoccupied France, an official of the Ministry of Economic Warfare said in a broadcast last week.

He added that shipments which reached France through the Mediterranean port of Marseilles were "responsible for almost the only leak in our blockade."

"France is a great sausage machine grinding out Nazi war essentials," he said. "Four pigmies eat of every five, and 50 trucks out of every 100 went to Germany, for while the French aluminum and chemical industries are working almost exclusively. Those were the reasons for which both occupied and unoccupied France had to be treated as enemy territory."

HOW NAZIS FIND THE TRUTH

A Norwegian skipper was called before a German court of inquiry to explain how his ship was sunk. From the facts that the British Broadcasting Corporation gained about it, recently, they reconstructed the following amazing story: Speaking to a German president of the Court and the sea captain ...

"I wish to report the loss of our ship, carrying supplies from Norway," said the skipper. "A British submarine stopped us and ran us aground. We had to put the lifeboats and then sank the ship."

"That is a lie," said the German, "there are no British submarines in the coast of Norway."

"But I saw it," replied the skipper.

"You prepare a fresh report," ordered the German. "Say your ship struck a mine."

"Well, if you say so," said the skipper. "A mine came to the surface and made us stop and gave us ten minutes to get in the lifeboat and then ran smack into the ship and sank her."

"Such ironic humor the Germans do not understand," added the commentator. "They only understand force, and they got that recently in many directions."

DESTROYER SKEENA FOILS SUB ATTACK

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Royal Canadian Navy in one terse sentence, disclosed that the destroyer "Skeena" beat off a 60-hour attack by German submarines in the North Atlantic.

The brief report was contained in a statement making public the navy's traditional New Year's promotions. One promotion was to Lt.-Cmdr J. C. Hibbard, given rank of acting commander.

"Cmdr. Hibbard recently commanded H.M.C.S. Skeena, one of whose notable actions involved the beating-off of an attack by enemy submarines lasting 66 hours in the north Atlantic," the statement said.

That was all. There was no indication whether and Nazi U-boats were sunk during the engagement, which presumably occurred while the Skeena was on convoy duty.

It was recalled here that last November in the House of Commons Navy Minister Macdonald said Canadian sailors had taken their toll of the enemy.

"Enemy submarines have been frequently attacked by our ships, mainly by depth charges," he said, "and while it is not possible to give details of these actions, it may be said with certainty that some of the attacks have had highly successful results and had more than one German U-boat now lies at the bottom of the ocean."

BRITISH, GERMAN, ITALIAN RATIONS

One important tribute to the effectiveness of the economic warfare being carried on against aggressor nations is included in a recently published Nazi newspaper, which states that German soldiers on the Russian front are wearing — when they can get them — women's fur coats. The British Ministry of Economic Warfare is authority for the statement that "there are hardly any women coats for German soldiers on the eastern front to wear."

Until recently there was nothing too good in the way of food and clothing for the German army. If there was a shortage, it was the civilian who suffered. Goebbels recently said: "We have been preparing for nine years against the blockade. Apparently nine years was not long enough."

Get Little—and Usually Ersatz

Clothing ration cards have been in use in Great Britain for approximately six months. On October 16, this year, the introduction by Germany of a forty per cent. cut in the clothing ration, skimpy as the allowance previously had been, was made, and has led Britishers to make comparisons. Germans are allowed 120 "points" for a period of sixteen months, but as twenty per cent. of these are "blocked" it would be a fairer statement to say that the percent cut is actually fifty per cent.

In making a clothing comparison between Germany and Britain it must be realized that the material in the German case is of very poor quality. Much is required to get adequate warmth, and there are many examples to show that third, often "ersatz" material suffers unduly from wear and tear, and in a few months one may find one's clothing in tatters.

In six months a Britisher can buy a coat, a vest a pair of trousers and a pair of socks. A German must be content with trousers, vest and a pair of socks. An Italian can buy a suit of poor quality and a workmans' shirt.

Trousers for Women Banned

A woman in Britain can buy a suit, a long-sleeved woolen dress and two pairs of stockings. A German woman may buy an artificial silk dress, an unlined artificial silk jacket and one pair of stockings. Recently German women started to wear trousers, but this was stopped as too much cloth was being absorbed. Whatever criticism sacrifices a German woman may make in other directions, she cannot buy more than four pairs of stockings a year.) An Italian woman may buy a woolen dress and a pair of shoes of poorest quality, probably made of straw or paper. Good shoes take two-thirds of the whole year's coupons.

Some articles of clothing recently produced in Germany and Nazi-occupied areas have fallen into the hands of the Ministry of Economic Warfare. Many of these, by the way, particularly useless for such a climate, which is seventy-five per cent. rayon, cotton, made of the stuff of shoddy wool, loosely and badly woven. A shirt comes from Germany priced at 45. It is said that it only contains no wool. It is made of cotton waste and would be dear at $1.60. From Vienna there is a suit priced at approximately $65 from a "first-class" tailor. It is spun deliberately to give the pretense of English tweed, but the warp is cotton. It would be cheap at $26.

Germany is falling back upon a "last resort" policy, to make her civilian economy. This is evidence of desperation as it is not a very profitable undertaking. Reground textiles have lost about fifteen per cent. of their value in unavoidable wastage, and German textiles, in particular, have a high percentage of non-wool fibres.

A Year's Ration in Britain

With a year's coupon allowance according to a report just received in New York from London, a man in Great Britain could ration his "spending" as follows: — woolen suit (26 coupons), two woolen shirts (14), one set of woolen underclothes (8), three pairs of woolen socks (9), one pair of shoes (7), and four handkerchiefs (2).

Or, he could buy: one woolen overcoat (13), three non-wool shirts (12), one non-wool suit (24), one woolen underclothes (5), one suit of pajamas (8) pair of woolen socks (3), fe... wool suit (24), one pair of ... suit (11), and one pair of ...

Canada Cuts Off Mail Service to 39 Foreign Lands Since The War

Three years ago one could drop a letter in the corner post box and know that it would almost certainly be delivered in whatever country in the world it was addressed to. Today the number of overseas points to which mail can be sent has shrunk to far less than half, according to a list released by Ludovic Cerer, director of postal services of Montreal district.

Beginning with the outbreak of war in 1939, the list of countries to which all mail for overseas has been suspended has steadily until it now numbers 39. Letters are now only a handful of countries to which mail

To six countries privately owned letters only may be sent, including: Algeria, Belgium, Denmark, France, French Morocco, Iceland, Portugal, Tunisia. To the Russian Poland, Russia, Switzerland, Vatican City, all parcel post has been suspended. This does not apply to letters.

The overseas places to which mail can still be posted include: All British possessions such as Bermuda, British India, French Somaliland, French East Africa and a number of others, Greenland, Guadeloupe, Ivory Coast, Lebanon, Madagascar and dependencies, Martinique, New Caledonia, Portugal, Siam, St. Pierre and Miquelon, Syria, Spain and Turkey.

Mail to the following has been suspended: Australia, Albania, Belgium, Bulgaria, Channel Islands, Occupied China, Crete, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Estonia, Ethiopia, Finland, Germans, Finland, Occupied France, French Indo China, Germany, Greece, Holland, Hungary, Italy and possessions, Italian Somaliland, Japan, Jarafuto, Ltavis, Lithuania, Luxemburg, Libya, Manchuria, Norway, German occupied Poland, Rumania, Ruthenia, Shanghai, Slovakia, Italian Somaliland, Sweden and Yugoslavia.

Large Atendance at Golf Club Dance

A large number of Napanee people and guests from the vicinity and from distant points greeted the New Year at the Annual New Year Dance of the Napanee Golf and County Club, held at the Napanee Town Hall.

Dancing which commenced at 10 p.m. was interrupted at Midnight when balloons were released and the New Year was ushered in with the usual noise and hilarity.

Supper was served at one and dancing was resumed for several hours.

Music was furnished by the Aces' Orchestra. The hall was decorated with a combination of patriotic and Christmas emblems and provided a very attractive setting for the event

NAVY KEEPS WATCH ON FRENCH SHIPS

London, (C.P.) — The Royal Navy during 1941 "intercepted 46 vessels attempting to leave the Mediterranean uncoupled France, an official of the Ministry of Economic Warfare said in a broadcast last week.

He added that shipments which reached France through the Mediterranean port of Marseilles were "responsible for almost the only leak in our blockade."

"France is a great sausage machine grinding out Nazi war essentials," he said. "Four planes out of every five, and 85 trucks out of every 100 went to Germany, for which the French aluminum and chemical industries are working almost exclusively. Those were the vessels which both occupied and unoccupied France had to be treated as enemy territory."

HOW NAZIS FIND THE TRUTH

A Norwegian skipper was called before a German court of inquiry to explain how his ship was sunk. From the facts that the British Broadcasting Corporation gained about it, recently, they reconstructed the following amazing account of a U-German president of the Court and the sea captain:

"I wish to report the loss of our ship, carrying supplies from Norway," said the skipper. "A British submarine surfaced and ordered us to stop, gave us ten minutes to get into the lifeboats and then sank the ship."

"That is a lie," said the German, "there are no British submarines along the coast of Norway."

"But I saw it," replied the skipper.

"You prepare a fresh report," ordered the German. "Say your ship struck a mine."

"Well, if you say so," said the skipper. "A mine came to the surface and made us stop and gave us ten minutes to get in the lifeboat and then ran smack into the ship and sank her."

"Such ironic humor the Germans do not understand," added the commentator, "they only understand force, and they got that recently in many directions."

DESTROYER SKEENA FOILS SUB ATTACK

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Royal Canadian Navy in one terse sentence, disclosed that the destroyer "Skeena" beat off a 66-hour attack by German submarines in the North Atlantic.

The brief report was contained in a statement making public the navy's traditional New Year's promouncements. One promotion was to Cmdr. J. C. Hibbard, given rank of acting commander.

"Cmdr. Hibbard recently commanded H.M.C.S. Skeena, one of whose notable actions involved the beating off of an attack by German submarines lasting 66 hours in the north Atlantic," the statement said.

That was all. There was no indication whether and Nazi U-boat's were sunk during the engagement, which presumably occurred while the Skeena was on convoy duty.

It was recalled here that last November in the House of Commons Navy Minister Macdonald said Canadian sailors had taken their toll of the enemy.

"Enemy submarines have been frequently attacked by our ships, mainly by depth charges," he said, "and while it is not possible to give details of these actions, it may be said with certainty that some of the attacks have had highly successful results and that more than one German U-boat now lies at the bottom of the ocean."

BRITISH, GERMAN, ITALIAN RATIONS

One important tribute to the effectiveness of the economic warfare being carried on against aggressor nations is included in a recently published Nazi newspaper, which states that German soldiers on the Russian front are wearing anything they can get them — women's fur coats. The British Ministry of Economic Warfare is authority for the statement that "there are hardly any soldiers coats for German soldiers on the eastern front to wear."

Until recently there was nothing like good in the way of food and clothing for the German army. If there was a shortage, it was the civilian who suffered. Goebbels recently said: "We have been preparing for nine years against the blockade." Apparently nine years was not long enough.

Get Rich and Usually Ersatz

Clothing ration cards have been in use in Great Britain for approximately six months. On October 16, last year, the introduction by Germany of a forty per cent. cut in the clothing ration, skimpy as the allowance had been, was made, and has led Britishers to make comparisons. Germans are allowed 120 "points" for a period of sixteen months, but as twenty per cent. of these are "blocked" it would be a fairer statement to say that the re cent cut is actually fifty per cent.

In making a clothing comparison between Germany and Britain it must be realized that the material in the German case is of very poor quality. Much is required to get adequate warmth, and there are many examples to show that this often "ersatz" material suffers unduly from wear and tear, and in a few months one may find one's clothing in tatters.

In six months a Britisher can buy a coat, a vest a pair of trousers and a pair of socks. A German must be content with trousers, vest and a pair of socks. An Italian can buy a suit of poor quality and a workmans' shirt.

Trousers for Women Banned

A woman in Britain can buy a suit, a long-sleeved woolen dress and two pairs of stockings. A German woman may buy an artificial silk jacket and one pair of stockings. (Recently German women started to wear trousers, but this was stopped as too much cloth was being absorbed. Whether or not sun sacrifices a German woman may make in other directions, she cannot buy more than four pairs of stockings a year.) An Italian woman may buy a woolen dress and a pair of shoes of the poorest quality, probably made of straw or paper. Good shoes take two-thirds of the whole year's coupons.

Some articles of clothing recently purchased in Germany and Nazi-occupied areas have fallen into the hands of the Ministry of Economic Warfare. There is a stock piled in Norway, particularly useless for such a climate, which is seventy-five per cent. rayon, mixed with a warp of shoddy wool, loosely and badly woven. A shirt comes from Germany priced at 4£. It is sold as wool but contains no wool. It is made of cotton waste and would be dear at 1£.60.

From Vienna there is a suit priced at approximately 8£5 from a "first-class" tailor. It is spun deliberately to give the pretense of a rough tweed, but the warp is cotton. It would be expensive at 2£6.

Germany is falling back upon a "last resort" policy, to make her fabric supplies last longer. Parties of soldiers at the front are now sent out to gather clothes from their dead comrades. This is an act of desperation as it is not a very profitable undertaking. Reground textiles have lost about fifteen per cent. of their value in unavoidable wastage, and German textiles, in particular, show a high percentage of non-wool fibres.

A Year's Ration in Britain

With a coupon allowance according to a report just received in New York from London, a man in Great Britain could follow his "spending" as follows: one woolen suit (26 coupons), two woolen shirts (14), one set of woolen underclothes (8), three pairs of woolen socks (9), one pair of shoes (7), and four handkerchiefs (2).

Or, he could buy: one woolen overcoat (18), three non-wool shirts (12), one non-wool set of underclothes (5), one suit of pajamas (8) pair of woolen socks (3), four wool pairs of socks (4), one scarf (11), and one pair of gloves (3). Half is yearly ration would be consumed by one pair of woolen sweater, two pairs of socks, and one winter shirt.

A woman's annual allowance, over and above the coupons needed for clothing, could be: one woolen dress (16 coupons), one non-woolen dress (11), one pair of slacks (11), one set of woolen underclothes (8), one pair of stockings, a coat for eighteen coupons, a nightgown for six coupons, and a hat, for either sex, for two coupons.

Children receive the same number of coupons as adults, but their clothing needs are greater.

Expectant mothers receive fifty extra coupons, and those who have babies coming are needed for clothing.

The owner of a Toronto newspaper, went home to dress for dinner recently.

"You must have had a busy day this morning," remarked his wife.

"Indeed, I have," replied the newspaper owner. "I had to get rid of my wife's old clothes and buy her a new outfit."

"Oh, you didn't have to do that," protested the wife. "I could have worn some of my old clothes."

"Yes, I know you could," replied the husband, "but I couldn't."

Canada Cuts Off Mail Service to 39 Foreign Lands Since The War

Three years ago one could drop a letter in the corner post box and know that it would almost certainly be delivered in whatever country in the world it was addressed to. Today the number of overseas points to which mail can be sent has shrunk to far less than half, according to a list released by Ludovic Cerat, director of postal services of the Montreal district.

Beginning with the outbreak of war in 1939, the list of countries to which all mail has been suspended has gradually until it now numbers 39. Mail to the following countries is now only a handful of months, countries to which mail is suspended: Austria, Albania, Belgium, Channel Islands, Occupied China, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Estonia, Ethiopia, Finland, Formosa, Finland, Occupied France, French India China, Germany, Greece, Holland, Hungary, Italy and possessions, Italian Somaliland, Jugo-Slavia, Jarafuto, Liavis, Lithuania, Luxemburg, Libya, Manchuria, Norway, German occupied Poland, Rumania, Ruthenia, Shanghai, Slovakia, Spanish Somaliland, Sweden and Yugoslavia.

STARTING THE LAYING PULLETS

(Experimental Farms News)

Pullets should not be allowed to mature and lay on range. A practical method of avoiding this is to bring into the laying house about one-half of your range stock, being those birds which are the largest and most mature. By this time the rest of the flock are introduced to their laying quarters under the best possible conditions. This ensures that the birds will not be crowded and that they have about ten days to lay become accustomed to the nests and do not lay on the floor, says G. C. Hodgson, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Uncrowded birds adapt themselves more quickly to the new system of care and management with the result that feather picking and cannibalism are reduced to a minimum. When the rest of the flock is brought indoors every effort should be made to give them similar treatment but if such is not possible you will find that when these birds are mixed with the rest they will settle into their new conditions with little disturbance. Always keep your pullets and old hens separated.

An abundance of green feed is particularly important for newly housed pullets. Alfalfa hay or the green feed that they have been consuming on range, placed in the laying house, will more closely stimulate their recent range conditions and prevent a sudden change of diet. This avoids major nutritional disturbances which, in the hen, are often hard to correct without loss or delay in egg production. Another method is to provide clean fenced runs at the front or back of your hen house ... which the pullets have access for ... after being brought

SOUTH AMERICA AND AFRICA

Were South America and Africa at one time both part of one great land mass?

British scientists have recently discovered in Sierra Leone and the Gold Coast a rare mineral hitherto found only in Brazil. The mineral, Gorceixite, has no value in itself, although it is a good "indicator" that diamonds are about.

The new discovery is accepted as further evidence that the great bulge of the Brazilian coastline once fitted snugly into the vast bay in the African coast on the other side of the Atlantic. It is regarded as a very useful contribution to the theory that the entire land mass of the world once fitted together like a gigantic jigsaw puzzle.

This theory of Continental Drift, or the migration of the continents, is advanced to explain the origin of continents and oceans. It maintains that, aeons ago in geological time, there was one vast continent known as "Angaea," completely surrounded by water. The earth's rotation and the gravitational pull of the sun and moon broke it up into individual blocks, which drifted apart in a westerly direction until they became the continents shown on our maps.

The drifting movement is certainly going on to-day. Observations and measurements of the stars definitely prove that Greenland is moving away from Scotland by about 60 feet each year, while the distance between Washington and Paris is increasing by about one foot a year, or more than 50 feet since the Atlantic cable was laid.

It was in the striking similarity of the Brazilian and African coastline curves, shown above, that the origin of the theory.

The gorceixite pebbles in West Africa were found by Dr. T. R. Junner, an Australian, and Director of the Gold Coast Geological Survey. He is continuing his search for report to the Imperial Institute, London, who established the identity of the minerals. It is also about to publish an account of the discovery in their bulletin.

NEW LICENSING ORDER ISSUED

COMPLETION OF REGISTRATION SET FOR MARCH 31ST

Ottawa, (C.P.) — An order to compile'e registration of all Canadian business affected by the Government price ceiling regulations was announced last week by the War Times Prices and Trade Board.

Under a simplified form at specific licensing, firms which have not already applied for or obtained a War-Time Prices and Trade Board licence are to register with the Board by obtaining a licence before March 31st.

"The circumstances under which the original licensing order was drawn were materially altered by adoption of the price ceiling policy," said Donald Gordon, chairman of the Board.

"On Dec. 11 the Board undertook a study to see if the licensing procedure could be simplified so as to confine returns from business to an absolute minimum. After careful consideration it now is decided that for practical purposes the licensing can be confined to a registration of all business or persons engaged in regular trade.

RULE CHANGES

"Licenses will no longer be required to record their license number on sales slips, but must be able to produce their licence identification card if asked to do so by an official of the Board."

Mr. Gordon said the Board revised their "to operate fully, business must be fully informed."

"Among other things," he said, "the general registration of business provided for in this revised order will give us an accurate and complete mailing list through which we can send information to businesses affected by particular regulations."

The 200,000 persons or firms who have already received or applied for a licence, under the previous licensing orders should not apply for these specific licenses. Employes of licensees are not required to be licensed individually. Operators of private boarding houses are also exempt.

EXEMPTED CEILINGS

Farmers, gardeners, livestock or poultry producers and fishermen are not required to obtain a licence unless they buy goods for resale. All other business men who sell goods or supply any of the "ceiling" services must, however, obtain a specific licence by March 31st.

The announcement said that under the new licensing plan there would be no licence fee. A licence identification card would be mailed to each applicant.

Persons already licenced will be mailed a renewal of their licence identification cards and these unrevoked cards along with cards issued under the new order will be valid for the duration of the maximum prices regulations unless cancelled or suspended for infractions.

Renewal licence numbers will retain present licence numbers.

All licensees within ten days of the board in writing of any change in name, address, ownership or character of business within ten days of the change. Method by which licence application forms will be made available will be announced shortly.

AIR CADETS OF CANADA

With Ottawa granting a charter to the Air Cadet League of Canada, a membership drive has now begun from coast to coast. Aims of the League have been approved by the Department of National Defence at Ottawa, and full support has been given by provincial premiers across Canada. Over 5,000 boys 15 to 18 years of age are already enrolled and more than 14,000 will be added as soon as applications now being dealt with are accepted.

The Air Cadet League of Canada hopes to create a body of trained and disciplined young men capable on being of service to their country should they subsequently wish to enter the Royal Canadian Air Force. At the same time these young men will be fitting themselves for what will be one of the world's greatest industries in the coming years—that of civil aviation. No cadet will be drafted into the Royal Canadian Air Force except by his own desire. STARTING THE LAYING PULLETS

(Experimental Farms News)

Pullets should not be allowed to mature and lay on range. A practical method of avoiding this is to bring into the laying house about one-half of your range stock, being those birds which are the largest and most mature. In doing this the best of the flock are introduced to their laying quarters under the best possible conditions. This ensures that the birds will not be crowded and those that are about ready to lay become accustomed to the nests and do not lay on the floor, says G. C. Hodgson, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Uncrowded birds adapt themselves more quickly to the new system of care and management with the result that feather picking and cannibalism are reduced to a minimum. When the rest of the flock is brought indoors every effort should be made to give them similar treatment but if such is not possible you will find that when these birds are mixed with the rest they will settle into their new conditions with little disturbance. Always keep your pullets and old hens separated.

An abundance of green feed is particularly important for newly housed pullets. Alfalfa hay or the green feed that they have been consuming on range, placed in the laying house, will more closely simulate their recent range conditions and prevent a sudden change of diet. This avoids major nutritional disturbances which, in the hen, are often hard to correct without loss or delay in egg production. Another method is to provide clean fenced runs at the front or back of your hen house ... which the pullets have access for ... after being brought

Were South America and Africa at one time both part of one great land mass?

British scientists have recently discovered in Sierra Leone and the Gold Coast a rare mineral hitherto found only in Brazil. The mineral, pyrochlore, has no value in itself, although it is a good "indicator" that diamonds are about.

The new discovery is accepted as further evidence that the great bulge of the Brazilian coastline once fitted snugly into the vast bay in the African coast on the other side of the Atlantic. It is regarded as a very useful contribution to the theory that the entire land mass of the world once fitted together like a gigantic jigsaw puzzle.

This theory of Continental Drift, or the migration of the continents, is advanced to explain the origin of continents and oceans. It maintains that, aeons ago in geological time, there was one vast continent known as "Angrea," completely surrounded by water. The earth's rotation and the gravitational pull of the sun and moon broke it up into individual blocks, which drifted apart in a westerly direction until they became the continents shown on our maps.

The drifting movement is certainly going on today. Observations and measurements of the stars definitely prove that Greenland is moving away from Scotland by about 50 feet each year, while the distance between Washington and Paris is increasing by about one foot a year, or more than 50 feet since the Atlantic cable was laid.

It was in the striking similarity of the Brazilian and African coastlines that the theory found its starting point. Its supporters point to the map which, southward of this bulge and curve, shows similar curves on the one side corresponding to similarly shaped bays on the other.

Other parts of the world, they maintain, can be joined together in like fashion; the Atlantic seaboard of North America will match up with Western Europe and North Western Africa, with Greenland filling the gap between Norway and the North east coast of Canada. India fits into place with Africa and Australia, New Zealand into the eastern cost of Australia and the resulting block into the African-Indian ocean. The result, they argue, is the solid continent of Angaea.

The theorists say that it is the shifting weight of this vast land mass which has pulled the earth over on its present axis, and thereby caused the great climatic changes of the past. Glacial rocks on the equator, and indications that this zone was one frozen like the Polar regions are thus satisfactorily explained by the theory.

The gorceivite pebbles in West Africa were found by Dr. R. A. Janner, an Australian, and Director of the Gold Coast Geological Survey. He forwarded samples for report to the Imperial Institute, London, who established the identity of the minerals and are going to publish an account of the discovery in their bulletin.

NEW LICENSING ORDER ISSUED

COMPLETION OF REGISTRATION SET FOR MARCH 31ST

Ottawa, (C.P.) — An order to compile a registration of all Canadian business affected by the Government price ceiling regulations was announced last week by the War Times Prices and Trade Board.

Under a simplified form af specific licensing, firms which have not already applied for or obtained a War-Time Prices and Trade Board licence are to register with the Board by obtaining a licence before March 31st.

"The circumstances under which the original licensing order was drawn were materially altered by adoption of the price ceiling policy," said Donald Gordon, chairman of the Board.

"On Dec. 11 the Board undertook a study to see if the licensing procedure could be simplified so as to confine control from business to an absolute minimum. After careful consideration it now is decided that for practical purposes the licensing can be confined to a registration of all business or persons engaged in retail trade.

RULE CHANGES

"Licenses will no longer be required to record their licence number on sales slips, but must be able to produce their licence identification card if asked to do so by an official of the Board."

Mr. Gordon said the Board realized that the co-operative fully business must be fully informed."

"Among other things," he said, "the general registration of business provided for in this revised order will give us an accurate and complete mailing list through which we can send information to businesses affected by particular regulations."

The 200,000 persons or firms who have already received or applied for a licence under the previous licensing orders should not apply for these specific licenses. Employes of licensees are not required to be licensed individually. Operators of private boarding houses are also exempt.

EXEMPTED CEILINGS

Farmers, gardeners, livestock or poultry producers and fishermen are not required to obtain a licence unless they buy goods for resale. All other business men who sell goods or supply any of the "ceiling" services must, however, obtain a specific licence by March 31st.

The announcement said that under the new licensing plan a licence would be no licence fee. A licence identification card would be mailed to each applicant.

Persons already licenced will be mailed a renewal of their licence identification cards and those with revoked cards along with cards issued under the new order will be valid for the duration of the maximum prices regulations unless cancelled or suspended for infractions.

Renewal licence numbers are to ...tain present licence numbers.

All licensees are required to notify the board in writing of any change in name, address, ownership or character of business within one week of the change. Method by which licence application forms will be made available will be announced shortly.

AIR CADETS OF CANADA

With Ottawa granting a charter to the Air Cadet League of Canada, a membership drive has now begun from coast to coast. Aims of the League have been approved by the Department of National Defence at Ottawa, and full support has been given by provincial premiers across Canada. Over 5,000 boys 15 to 18 years of age are already enrolled and more than 14,000 will be added as soon as applications now being dealt with are accepted.

The Air Cadet League of Canada hopes to create a body of trained and disciplined young men capable on being of service to their country should they subsequently wish to enter the Royal Canadian Air Force. FOOD PLANNING IN WARTIME

-V-

Hello Homemakers! — In this, the third year of war, there is a real challenge to your inventiveness to make the most of every penny. It is the duty of every Canadian homemaker to conserve food and save money in order to further our war effort. It is her duty, also, to provide her family with nutritious, wholesome foods — foods that keep the nation strong.

-V-

To cook inexpensive, yet appetizing and attractive meals Month After Month is not an easy task. But, it is 'stick-to-it-iveness' that produces results. Let us resolve to work, nothing in the kitchen that could help dress up a meal to make it more tempting. But the ingredients needs—for they are often more nutritious than expensive cuts. Cook-it on your electric range with controlled heat, they can be really delicious and tender without sacrificing the flavour.

-V-

Simple, inexpensive foods can be "good eating" and good food value. It is up to you to sell these wartime dishes to your family — by preparing them so that they will enjoy them and thrive on them. The extra money left in your pocket each week by your careful economy will help you to help Canada in buying War Savings Stamps REGULARLY.

TAKE A TIP:

1 When making sandwiches, spread the bread with a mixture of softened butter and mayonnaise. This will help to keep down the cost of both butter and mayonnaise.

2 Left-over coffee may be used as flavouring in milk puddings, icings and cake batters.

3 Stretch the meat dish with dumplings, plain biscuits or toasted bread cubes.

Mrs. M. O. asks:

"What kind of a floor mop will not mat?"

Answer:

You can make a floor mop from a discarded piece of flannelette: cut in strips and stitch. After a floor mop has been used—wash it out and comb with clothespin.

Miss D. T. writes:

"My new bake-top card table has become sticky from candy and dampness from the window. How can I clean it and make it so that cards will slip?"

Answer:

Wash with a cloth dipped in soap suds only. Wipe off with a cloth wrung out of clear, warm water. Dry with a piece of flannelette. Sprinkle with talcum powder and rub it.

Mrs. J. A. says:

"I am the proud recipient of five enamel pans and cooking dishes. Are there any precautions in the care of these utensils and may I continue to use a small amount of water for cooking on the electric element?"

Answer:

Yes, two inches of water in the bottom is all that is necessary when the element is turned from High to Low when boiling point is reached. For the enamelware in a dish pan of cold water and place on the electric element turned to High until the water boil. Allow the utensils to cool in the water.

VITAMIN B.1 NEEDED IN DAILY DIET

One of the most serious deficiencies in Canadian diet is a lack of vitamin B.1, according to an article in the Canadian Medical Association Journal. It is also suggested that lack of this member of the vitamin B complex influcates a correspondingly deficiency of all the other seven members of the group.

This lack was made evident by dietary surveys, carried out in Halifax, Quebec, Toronto and Edmonton, says the article quoted, and its authors comments: "... a large proportion of our population are consuming diets which are inadequate for optimum vigour, efficiency and resistance against disease. . . . The importance of this situation from the national standpoint and the need to rectify it is obvious, particularly during the present crisis when the highest degree of efficiency of all Canadian people is absolutely necessary."

Whole wheat, the article points out, is one of our richest food sources of vitamin B.1, and also a good source for most of the members of the B complex; but in milling for white flour it retains only a quarter to a sixth of the original B.1 content and loses all but a small percentage of the other B complex members. The remedy, the authors point out, lies in improving the B1 content of flour used in making Candidan bread.

Since Canadians as a whole refuse to accept whole wheat bread, they assert, the problem resolves itself into either retaining the B vitamins in white flour, or giving it those vitamins in one of two ways: the use of a special high potency yeast, or the addition of various B vitamins in synthetic form. Since both these methods increase the cost of bread production, and since the latter is not entirely satisfactory, they suggest that the retention in white flour of the vitamins present in the wheat berry is the obvious procedure to be adopted.

The authors state that a milling technique, which results in a flour similar in appearance to ordinary white flour, but which retains from 50 to 65 per cent of the vitamin B1 of the wheat berry, has already been developed. It also contains increased amounts of other members of the B complex, and its use in place of the present white flour would increase the Canadian dietary supply of vitamin B1 alone by 100 to 150 units per person per day.

Adding that the new technique requires minor changes in present milling machinery, so that the flour should be produced at only a slight increase of cost, the authors say: "It is hoped for the consumer's protection that very shortly it may be possible by government regulation to designate specifically this flour and the bread made from it."

HOUSE OPENING PLANS TALKED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Plans for opening a new session of Parliament, coupled with the everyday pressure of wartime tasks and normal Government routine, occupied Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his Cabinet at the first Privy Council session of the year.

Mr. King and his colleagues had much to talk about after the sessions of the Cabinet War Committee, which were attended by Prime Minister Winston Churchill during his two-day visit here.

But there was no intimation of any proposals made to the Government by Mr. Churchill, who was sworn in as member of the Canadian Privy Council on the night of his arrival in Ottawa.

Mr. King is expected to announce shortly further changes in his Cabinet, in keeping with his announcement before the holiday season that there would be a further representation for Quebec in the near future.

On the political front parties are preparing for three by-elections, which are scheduled for February 9, Quebec East, Montreal - St. Mary, York South.

It is expected that official nomination day February 2nd, will see Hon. Louis St.-Laurent, new Minister of Justice, the Liberal candidate in Quebec East; and Ht. Hon. Arthur Meighen, new National Conservative leader, Conservative candidate in York South.

Parliament is meeting January 21, the date to which it was adjourned from last November. On that day the proposal is to prorogue, and open the new session the following day with a Speech from the Throne by the Governor-General.

There is some expectation that the Speech from the Throne will forecast legislation having to do with a wider interpretation of the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning — always constipated — can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system — permanent ill health may be the result!

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—pounded via digestion. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, rest rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver goes out of order proper digestion and nourishment stops—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets. The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let Fruit-a-tives put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"Ill since 12, Always Fun No"

Since I was twelve I suffered from constipation and bad health. But I started taking Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say they gave me wonderful relief! I never am without them now. — Mrs. Florence Hall, Montreal, P.Q.

"Run Down For Years, Has Fine Health"

I was run down and nervous for years. Constipation was always a problem. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I found they made me feel fine. I have had no trouble since making it a habit to take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly. — Roy Duguesne, Chatham, Ont.

Now pep and energy. Also [illegible] of bad health "Fruit-a-tives" [illegible] me feel fine. — Mr. Roy Duguesne, Chatham, Ont.

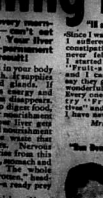
Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning — always constipated — and feel you need "something" to make you feel well? Your liver is probably your problem! Most common ill health may be the result!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If sluggish, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—troubled with constipation, poisons from your liver go into your blood stream. Then you feel sick, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your body cells. Every one of your billions of cells depends upon your liver to keep it free of poisons. Without healthy bile your food decays in your bowels and gives off gases that bloat you up. Your whole system is poisoned with the waste that should be eliminated. Your kidneys may become overworked from poisons in your blood, get backachy, dizzy, tired and suffer from nagging backache.

Thousands of people are ever sick, and have ever prepared relief from these troubles which are caused by a sluggish liver. Nature's way to help your liver is to feed it with the right kind of bile to digest your food. Dr. Miles Laxative Liver Pills are specially made to help your liver do its job. Today! To prevent from-your-liver troubles, get Dr. Miles Laxative Liver Pills. Try them for one week! Only 25c. Insist on Dr. Miles Laxative Liver Pills and take a real liver pill.



"I'll soon 12, Always Fine Health"

"Since I was twelve I suffered from constipation and never felt well. I started using Dr. Miles' Laxative Fruit-a-tives' and they gave me wonderful relief. They cure my constipation and enjoy life as I never knew before. I have been back for Fruit-a-tives' ever since."

FACTORS AFFECTING CANADA'S DEVELOPMENT DESCRIBED BY SPEAKER

Ross M. Winter Addresses Trinity Men's Club

At the supper meeting of Trinity United Church Men's Club, held last Monday evening in the dining hall of the church, Mr. Ross M. Winter, director of the Department of Extension of Queen's University, Kingston, gave a very instructive address on Canada, in which he showed the factors which have affected the development of the country and which still exert influences.

Mr. Winter, who is a native of Sydney, is a graduate of the Napanee Collegiate and Queen's University. For several years he has been the very successful head of the Department of Extension at Queen's University. He was introduced to the club by Mr. Percy Aselstine and, at the conclusion of the address, Mr. Winter was thanked by Mac Switzer, the president of the Young People's Union, which met with the Men's Club. The president of the Club, Russell Hunter, presided.

Beginning his address Mr. Winter said that sometimes we fail to remember that Canada and Government mean ourselves and that the responsibility for the action of government rests on each one of us. Ordinarily governments don't proceed far beyond what the people want, but under the necessity of wartime conditions, we are being governed by autocratic measures.

The development of Canada, Mr. Winter said, is the result of four influences: geography, religion, the British Empire and the United States. Geography has been one of the greatest factors in Canada's life and will still continue to be so. It is the most fortunately placed country in the world—touching the two largest oceans and midway between the great markets of the east and west. It is right on the highway for air transportation and as the result of the war has the finest air-landing fields in the world.

CLOYNE YOUTH SERIOUSLY HURT

"Mac" Perry, son of Mrs. Joseph Perry, Myer's Cave, Hotel, Cloyne, Ontario, was seriously injured on Thursday afternoon, December 8th, in an auto accident at Chapman's Corners near Bethel Church. Perry was a passenger in a car driven by Percy Lyons of Cloyne and his head was pinned in the car door when the vehicle turned partly over against a stump. Price

Lyons, who was driving the car owned by Mrs. Joseph Perry, was proceeding northerly on Highway No. 37, and as he reached the brow of the hill in front of Bethel Church, he was met by another car going in the opposite direction. It is alleged that Lyons was proceeding on the wrong side of the road and in an attempt to avoid a head-on collision, he veered sharply to the right with the result that the car struck a telephone pole and landed against a stone fence. Young Perry was a passenger in the front seat and when the car door was suddenly opened in the crash, he was tossed partly out, with his head between the door and the frame-work. Angus Spencer, another passenger in the car, escaped with minor injuries, as did Lyons, the driver. Burton Coulter who lives nearby was quickly on the scene and with the assistance of a passing motorist, was successful in removing young Perry from the wreckage.

Dr. M. B. George was immediately called and the victim of the accident was rushed to Belleville General Hospital. The exact extent of his injuries are unknown.

Chief of Police J. C. Mayes, Tweed, investigated, and charges may be laid following the crash.

WARTIME WAGE CONTROL INSTRUCTIONS

The National War Labour Board has issued instructions to Canadian employers and employees in regard to the Wartime Wages and Cost of Living Bonus Order (P.C. 8253).

As detailed in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, these instructions define what are national industries falling within the scope of the National War Labour Board at Ottawa, and those that come within the jurisdiction of provincial, or Regional War Labour Boards.

Since wage control, together with price control, have become integral parts of Canada's wartime design for living, the National War Labour Board has considered it necessary to demarcate, for the purposes of the administration of the Order, the respective jurisdictions of the National and Regional Boards.

In general, National employers are designated as those whose operations — such as transportation and public utilities, etc. — are inter-provincial in character, or those whose industrial activities — particularly mining and shipbuilding — are closely related to the national war effort as a whole.

Regional employers are considered those in which the operations of the industry or business is definitely within provincial or municipal boundaries. In this category fall most war production plants, all sections of retail and wholesale trade, and services, etc.

Employers and employees in the national field should address their communications to the Secretary, the National War Labour Board, Ottawa, while those in the Regional category should address themselves to the Regional War Labour Board in care of their respective provincial governments.

Interpretative Rulings on the Order have been issued in bulletin form, and these may be obtained on application to any Regional War Labour Board.

AN. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE — V. O. N.

The annual membership drive of the Victorian Order of Nurses is being launched within the next few days. Some of the officers have already started work. The response of the public has always been excellent, but considering the worthiness of the cause, there is still room for more members.

The V. O. N. has the highest status as a community welfare project of the British Empire and anyone who wishes to relieve others less fortunate, enjoys the privilege of assistance merely by becoming a member of the Order for a very reasonable fee. Donations also are being gratefully accepted.

Persons who may be overlooked in the call for service, will confer a favour by telephoning Mrs. Wilton Ashley or any of the Executive, who will be glad to receive either fee or donation.

JUST A MATTER OF TIME

With a sparkle in his eyes, the young fellow walked into the showroom.

"If I bought this car by instalments," he said, pointing to a particularly 'spiffy' model, "how long would it take me to pay for it?"

"That would depend on how much you could afford each month, sir," replied the salesman cautiously.

The young man scratched his chin. "Well, I think I could manage three dollars a month."

The salesman's eyes popped.

"Three dollars a month!" he gasped. "At that rate it would take you a hundred years!"

Gazing longingly at the very stream-lined model, the young man said:

"So what? It's worth it!"

FRED S. SCOTT DIED MONDAY

Frederick Shirley Scott, one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens of the town of Napanee, died at his home, West Street, on Monday evening, after being ill and confined to his bed since the latter part of September.

The late Mr. Scott, who was in his 67th year, was the youngest and last survivor of seven sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Scott. He was born in Richmond Township on the Scott homestead near Mink's Bridge, but had resided in Napanee since he was three months old. He had lived in the home in which he died, built by his father, all his life.

Mr. Scott was endowed with considerable artistic ability and for many years delighted in the painting of pictures, several of which occupy prominent places in the town. As a young man he learned the barber trade, but later went to Illinois, where he studied art and qualified himself as a commercial designer and engraver. He graduated just at the time the Great War broke out and business conditions at that time prevented him following the profession of his choice. He returned to Napanee and again followed the vocation of barbering until the time of his last illness.

He was prominent in fraternal circles, especially in the Oddfellows Order, where his interest and sympathy for others who were in trouble and difficulty were shown in many practical ways. He had been a member of Argyll Oddfellows Lodge for over forty years and held all offices of his mother lodge besides being District Deputy - Grandmaster At the time of his death, he was treasurer of the Lodge. He was also a member of Union Lodge No. 9, A.F.&A.M.. EVERYONE MUST SHARE

During his recent visit to Canada Prime Minister Winston Churchill, said this :

"In this strange, terrible world-war there is place for everyone; men and women, old and young, hale and hall.

"Service in a thousand forms is open

"There is no room now for the dilettante ,the weakling, the shirker or the sluggard.

"The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea-waves, the fields to till, the fighting line, the high air, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher, from the highest to the humblest tasks — all are of equal honor, all have their part to play."

The success of any enterprise lies, not so much in the work of a few, but in the wholehearted, enthusiastic way in which the whole group, from the highest to the lowest, does its part. This is particularly true of a war when the national life is at stake.

But it is also true in connection with the Red Cross. The women of this Town and County, in common with those of every other part of the Nation, have done a magnificent job for the Red Cross since the outbreak of war. Week after week, month after month, huge quantities of knitted goods and other warm clothing are brought to Napanee, to be inspected and shipped to the forces.

But the women need money with which to purchase supplies. It is at this point that everybody can help. Everybody may share in the vast humanitarian work in which the women are engaged It is quite a simple procedure — just become a Member of the Red Cross Society. The fee is $1.00.

During the week of January 19th to January 24th, a vigorous canvass will be made of the whole county, by which it is hoped to enlist 2,500 members Official canvassers will be appointed for each rural section. The Villages and Napanee will have their own committees. The money which is secured as a result of this membership drive will be used for the purchase of necessary supplies for use by the forty or more local units in the County which operate through the Napanee Branch.

The women work week after week, making comforts for the men of the forces; canvassers will give their time willingly; the general public have their part to do, and that is to put a dollar and become a member of the Red Cross Society. The canvass will be held during the week of January 19th to 24th.

NATIONAL SERVICE

There is a growing demand for some sort of conscription in Canada. Those who oppose the policy of conscription no doubt have in mind the election on the issue during the first world war, with its aftermath of hate, bitterness and disunity The war-time election of 1917 is something we do not desire to see repeated. The election at the outbreak of this war was unsettling enough, another would be a calamity. It is suggested in certain quarters that a referendum might be held to determine the public will on the matter. Here again, an organized effort, pro and con, would divert men's minds from the supreme task which faces us.

Those who are pressing for some form of conscription are fully aware of the issues at stake. But they do not fear the consequences of conscription as much as they do lack of support for the troops already overseas. If the strength of the forces is to be kept up to par, if there is to be an all-out war effort, then the Government must take the plunge and accept responsibility. So runs the argument. Of course, since Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, recently elected Leader of the Conservative Party has assumed his new position, he has made it clear that he and his party will share the responsibility should the Government institute national conscription. So that the Government would not have to shoulder the whole responsibility.

But even this is not enough. It must not be forgotten that in Canada we have a third party — the C. C. F. Party. This group will undoubtedly ...ss for conscription of wealth, as well as of manpower. It may be argued that this present ...ory taxation is a measure for conscripting ...lth But that, the C. C. F. would not be a fing to admit.

BRITAIN'S EXPORT POLICY EXPLAINED

BY SIR HARCOURT JOHNSTONE

The grant to Great Britain by the United States of Lend-Lease assistance has laid on us the duty to see that the supplies thus received are used to the best advantage.

The objective is to assist us in prosecuting the war. Clearly it would not be right that we should use them for non-essential purposes, or in order to forestall our competition with the United States exporters in their markets.

Accordingly, the Government has given assurances to the United States on the subject. Generally, it can be said that nothing therein stands in the way of our doing all that is necessary to insure that Empire countries receive essential needs promptly.

All these developments, of course, tended to prevent us from exporting to the Empire and foreign countries certain things they would like to take from us, and which normally we would be eager to supply. The necessities of war, in fact, compel us to pursue a policy in some respects opposite to that which we would wish to pursue with any post-war trade. I is clear that our position in these days must be first things first. We must always remember in wartime that the essential question in the field of export trade is not how much we can export but how, given the need and maximum concentration on the war effort; how much we must export in order to obtain the wherewithal to win the war, and maintain essential national economies overseas.

In advertising, also, war conditions greatly modified the normal situation. With European sources of supply cut off and the United States progressively becoming more and more concentrated on defence production, it is no longer a question of needing to rush products to market in other countries but having to make great efforts to be able to meet their needs. Moreover, if there should be indiscriminate pushing of exports not in the "first necessity" category, or export of materials the British are getting through Lend-Lease, naturally these actions would provoke criticism in the United States and elsewhere. They would raise doubts of our thoroughness, and cast suspicion on our concentration on the war.

In these circumstances, the objective of advertising must be the maintenance of our prestige, and the keeping of our export lines fresh in the memory of our overseas customers, against the return of peace. We have had to ask that newspapers and periodicals circulating abroad, carrying trade advertisement matter, should insert along with their displays the warning that good advertised must not be assumed necessarily to be available for export.

OPEN LETTER — TO — Reeve E. J. Courneya Township of Sheffield

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE — (ARMY) —

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 17, 41

To Mayors and Reeves of all Municipalities Military District No. 3

Your Worship:

It is felt that many towns and villages throughout this Military District have no opportunity for their young men to enlist into the Army. This is due to the fact that Recruiting Officers can not be established in every village or town but only in the larger centres of population.

In this connection I feel that you, as Head of your Municipality, would like to do your part in this war by having your Municipality well represented in the Armed Forces, even to a greater extent than it no doubt already is. Therefore, to make our efforts effective, I am asking you in future if there are in your area any young men who wish to enlist in the Army, that in order to assist them, you wire or 'phone collect to The District Recruiting Officer, Military District No. 3, Kingston, Ont., and he will arrange to have such men taken into a Recruiting Office where they can be enlisted, and afforded a branch of the Army of their choice, or if rejected they will be returned to their home station without any undue delay. By such action young men will be helping the war effort, you will be bringing Victory nearer, at the same time your municipality will be bearing its share by sending manpower to the Army.

Such action as outlined above gives each municipality an opportunity to assist in bringing all branches of the Arms up to strength thus insuring an adequate supply of manpower and reinforcements so that the Army can operate effectively at all times.

Your co-operation is earnestly asked for and by helping in recruiting you are also helping your country in its hour of need.

J. P. L. ARMSTRONG, Brig.
Dist. Officer Commanding
Military District No. 3.

P.S. —

I am asked by the Reeve, Mr. Courneya, to send this letter to you for publication in your paper.

FORMER RESIDENT OF DESERONTO RECRUITS SEAMEN

The following article eis from the Toronto Daily Star of a week ago.

Captain McMaster is known to numerous Napanee people among whom is Mr. Albert A. Bartels.

SCOUTS FOR TALENT

He has white hair and sharp blue eyes and a way of sizing up men. Since the war began most of his time behind a desk interviewing fellows who want to go down to the briny ships.

When an applicant comes into his office he looks him over with his sharp eyes and asks a couple of questions. Then he will either nod or shake his head.

Since the Battle of the Atlantic started, Capt. Herbert Newbold McMaster has stinted on more than 2,000 hands for vessels which fly the Panamanian flag. A large percentage of them were landlubbers. But even if they had never seen salt water before they made sailors, and good ones.

51 Years a Sailor

Capt. McMaster has been 51 years with ships and sailormen. President of the Nelson Maritime federation, he had reached the ripe old age of forty-six when he figured he would follow in the footsteps of his father. His grandfather and his great-grandfather, who had all been mariners. So he left the Toronto Stock Exchange, Ont., as a lamp trimmer on the schooner Pictou, in the Great Lakes trade.

Schooners then carried horses to tow them through the Welland canal. It would be 43 hours or longer until there would be dozens of ships making the trip at once.

Herb McMaster went before the mast as an able-bodied seaman. A few more years and he was a mate. He was first mate on a steamship by the time he was twenty. Then he was skipper found the schooner had been abandoned. McMaster took a skeleton crew aboard to get her ashore for salvage. He and his men had been on the vessel only a few hours when they threw her stern into the air and plunged under nose first.

"I'll never forget how cold that water was," the captain says. "There were chunks of ice bobbing around us. It was about an hour and a half before they dragged us out of the water."

Master of Lake Ships

He was master of a lot of lake ships—some of them ships he sailed out from England himself—then he went to the Montreal Transportation company, with which he spent eighteen years as master, superintendent and manager. The company had a fleet of seventy vessels. Capt. McMaster went to sea again during the last war, plying between New York and South America.

"But I couldn't drum up my existence," he says regretfully. "We never saw a submarine."

When Montreal Transportation Company was absorbed McMaster went into business as a marine surveyor, appraiser and insurance adjuster. He devised a plan to insure captains and engineers who lost their sailing tickets, and this developed into the Officers' Merchant Navy Federation of Canada. The next age was the Canadian Brotherhood of Ships Employees, which turned a group insurance plan into a labor movement. The National Maritime Federation takes in members of the other organizations, which have since changed their names, and has 7,000 members.

Not Like Good Old Days

Capt. McMaster smiles when he thinks of the things sailors have today, compared with what they had when he was getting his sea legs. "Hot and cold running water," he says. "Beds with springs and mattresses. Food twice a week. Radios."

Three hundred, C.P.R. worked day and night at the post office as the Christmas mail was being cleared.

Officials regarded the movement had been a public in correct decisions but that there is considerable room for the method of packing Mulock said.

SILVER WILL TAKE PLACE OF TIN BEFORE END OF WAR

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians will have to get used to seeing silver coins instead of tin ones before the war is over, authorities indicated here this week.

One source close to the Press that experiments toward the use of silver because of the tin shortage are underway. If they are successful there is every likelihood that the silver fruit and vegetable cans will be replaced in part by containers of silver.

SUPPLIES AVAILABLE

Silver, generally speaking, is available in the precious metals reserves of which the United States has plus. Demands for industrial purposes for example the drastic government order issued to restrict its use. In Canada experimental work has been confined to the United States experimenting conducted in the U. S. and how it is done in this country.

A large part of the production is canned and frozen foods. Increased demands will be one of the problems examining committee here in 1942 It is likely will be used to a larger before cut the change is made to provide a complete in the shortage.

WARNING SOUNDED

Warning was recently made by metals controller Greene who said the Government "endeavour to provide enough for the canning industry, but necessary to prohibit the use for packaging foods"unless materials can be substituted.

Restrictions were placed last year on the use of tin in the manufacture of solder.

Canadian silver production for 1941 is 29,472,000 ounces, with a value of $17,683,000 largely as a by-product of Ontario and Quebec base metal mines.

Most of the Canadian silver is refined at the Crown Royal mines reserves of silver are large lives. Up to 60 per cent of the silver produced in Canada is exported to the United States.

Christmas Parcels Poorly Packed

OTTAWA CP — During the height of Christmas mailings for Canadian men overseas, postal workers had to repack more than 2,000 parcels with flimsy coverings, Postmaster-General Mulock said, last week.

Col. Mulock said record papers handled through the base post office amounted to 1,832 pieces of mail.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 18TH, 1942

"JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS"

Lesson Text: Luke 3: 1-6, 15-17, 21, 22

Luke fixes the date of the coming of John the Baptist by reference to the people who were living at that time. The fifteenth year of Tiberius in August 29 A.D. at which time John would be about thirty years of age. It was at this time Jehovah came to John, the son of Zacharias, in the wilderness. "And he came into the region round about Jordan, preaching baptism and repentance of remission of sins." John was a strange figure. He lived away from people, lived probably as a hermit, where he could pray, meditate, listening to the voice of God. Then he would suddenly appear and startle the people with his vigorous message, and his insistent demand that the people repent of their sins. There was no more reason why they should be urged to repent than any others. Of course they were sinners, but they were no more so than the rest of the peoples round about. No more, perhaps but more so than we in this year of grace 1942.

Repentance is a note that had all but gone from religious vocabulary. It had almost gone from our services. To be sure there were sense of repentance. But, repentance, real and vital, was hardly preached about or demanded from the modern pulpit. But the world is driving us to examine the whole fabric of our conduct, personal and national. It was not to be expected that there could be much call for repentance when there was so little sense of sin or guilt in among modern men. But now, we are coming to realize that sin, the travesty of God's law, has landed us in the position which we now occupy. For fifty years, even more than fifty years, we have gone on the assumption that they were masters of their fate, captains of their own souls. They could do anything they not build railways, bridges, aeroplanes, radio, homes of untold convenience and all sorts of gadgets to make life physically comfortable. There was but a nominal recognition of an over-acting Providence. But now, all this trust in human power, in human ability, has landed us in the most miserable condition in the world. Now and only now are men beginning to see that there is a God and a law of God, the breaking of which will bring inevitable disaster. We have all sinned as there is no difference. We need forgiveness and a new start. Repent and be baptized for the remission of sins. Repentance means inner cleansing, which is the fruit of true repentance.

The writer quotes from Isaiah to show that John was a prophet. This beautiful passage probably the unknown writer of The Hebrew people were in Babylon, where they had been carried by the Babylonian kings. They were in the land of the exile, they looked forward to the homeland with the hope that only they would be forced to be an alien country against their will but understand and appreciate the prophet, this matchless singer of the Hebrews, put into unforgettable words the message of hope that not only the longing of his people but the hope for their return. They would return led by the Lord Himself, and the poet calls upon the people to prepare the way for the coming. Make the paths straight, lower the hills and fill up the valleys. No wonder in the light of what happened in the life of the Master, the writer applies this passage to the vocation and place of John the Baptist. One who prepared the way for the Christ—the Son of God.

John's message was not only that of repentance, it was a preparation for His ministry. Isaiah's testimony to the ultimate triumph of faith, as revealed in the life of Jesus. He will cleanse the threshing floor, separate the wheat from the chaff, gather up the wheat and burn the chaff. This is the decision which faces everybody — for Christ against. This is not an outworn theological conception, it is the truth as it age faces. Are we on the side of the brotherhood, love, decency, or are we on the other side? The fate of the world will ultimately be settled as a result of the way men's decisions are made in this connection.

Then Jesus was baptized and the beautiful symbolic language in which to that which announced his ministry. The writer describes how the heavens opened, and the Spirit descended upon Him, entered on His earthly mission of salvation and sloning love.

During his recent visit to Canada Prime Minister Winston Churchill, said this:

"In this strange, terrible world-war there is place for everyone; men and women, old and young, male and frail.

"Service in a thousand forms is open

"There is no room now for the dilettante, the weakling, the shirker or the sluggard.

"The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea-waves, the fields to till, the fighting line, the high air, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher, from the highest to the humblest tasks — all are of equal honor, all have their part to play."

The success of any enterprise lies, not so much in the work of a few, but in the wholehearted, enthusiastic way in which the whole group, from the highest to the lowest, does its part. This is particularly true of a war where the national life is at stake.

But it is also true in connection with the Red Cross. The women of this Town and County, in company with those of every other part of the Nation, have done a magnificent job for the Red Cross since the outbreak of war. Week after week, month after month, huge quantities of knitted goods and other warm clothing are brought to Napanee, to be inspected and shipped to the forces.

But the women need money with which to purchase supplies. It is at this point that everybody can help. Everybody may share in the vast humanitarian work in which the women are engaged It is quite a simple procedure — just become a Member of the Red Cross Society. The fee is $1.00.

During the week of January 19th to January 24th, a vigorous canvass will be made of the whole county, by which it is hoped to enlist 2,500 members Official canvassers will be appointed for each rural section. The Villages and Napanee will have their own committees. The money which is secured as a result of this membership drive will be used for the purchase of necessary supplies for use by the forty or more local units in the County which operate through the Napanee Branch.

The women work week after week, making comforts for the men of the forces; canvassers will give their time willingly; the general public have their part to do, and that is to pay a dollar and become a member of the Red Cross Society. The canvass will be held during the week of January 19th to 24th.

NATIONAL SERVICE

There is a growing demand for some sort of conscription in Canada. Those who oppose the policy of conscription no doubt have in mind the election on the issue during the first world war, with its aftermath of hate, bitterness and disunity The war-time election of 1917 is something we do not desire to see repeated. The election at the outbreak of this war was unsettling enough, another would be a calamity. It is suggested in certain quarters that a referendum might be held to determine the public will on the matter. Here again, an organized effort, pro and con, would divert men's minds from the supreme task which faces us.

Those who are pressing for some form of conscription are fully aware of the issues at stake. But they do not fear the consequences of conscription as much as they do lack of support for the troops already overseas. If the strength of the forces is to be kept up to par, if there is to be an all-out war effort, then the Government must take the plunge and accept responsibility. So runs the argument. Of course, since Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, recently elected Leader of the Conservative Party has assumed his new position, he has made it clear that he and his party will share the responsibility should the Government institute national conscription. So that the Government would not have to shoulder the whole responsibility.

But even this is not enough. It must not be forgotten that in Canada we have a third party — the C. C. F. Party. This group will have something to say about any proposed conscription legislation. They will undoubtedly press for conscription of wealth, as well as of men. It may be argued that the present heavy taxation is a measure for conscripting wealth But that, the C. C. F. would not be a thing to admit.

Then there is a Labour Group. The Labour Party in Canada are well organized. They will have something to say about the conscription of manpower.

With all these various groups representing different interests and different people, it would seem that any attempt to put a conscription measure in effect should be preceded by a sort of caucus of the leaders, for the purpose of getting unanimous action. Whether it would be possible without forming a War Government, is doubtful.

Apart from the political aspect it would appear that some form of selective draft is necessary. It is clear that every man and every woman must realize that they were in the position that could render the best service.

Along with this there must go some sort of way of compelling the control to relinquish that control on the same principle which manpower may be taken over by the State.

BRITAIN'S EXPORT POLICY EXPLAINED

BY SIR HARCOURT JOHNSTONE

The grant to Great Britain by the United States of Lend-Lease assistance has laid on us the duty to see that the supplies thus received are not misused.

The objective is to assist us in prosecuting the war. Clearly it would not be right that we should use them for non-essential purposes, or in order to extend our competition with the United States exporters in their markets.

Accordingly, the Government has given assurances to the United States on the subject. Generally, it can be said that nothing therein stands in the way of our doing all that is necessary to insure that our industries receive essential needs promptly.

All these developments, of course, tended to prevent us from exporting to the Empire and foreign countries many things they would like to take from us, and which normally we would be eager to supply. The necessities of war, in fact, compel us to pursue a policy in some respects opposite to that which we would wish to pursue with any post-war trade. It is clear that our maxim in these days must be first things first. We must always remember in wartime that the essential question in the field of export trade is not how much we can export but (given the need and maximum concentration on the war effort) how much we must export in order to obtain the wherewithal to win the war, and maintain essential national economies overseas.

In advertising, also, war conditions greatly modified the normal situation. With European sources of supply cut off and the United States progressively becoming more and more concentrated on defense production, it is no longer a question of needing to rush products to markets in other countries but having to make great efforts to do so to meet their needs. Moreover, if there should be indiscriminate pushing of wares not in the "first essential" category, or export of materials the British are getting through Lend - Lease, naturally these actions would provoke criticism in the United States and elsewhere. They would raise doubts of our thoroughness and possibly suspicion on our concentration on the war.

In these circumstances, the objective of advertising must be the maintenance of our prestige, and the keeping of our export lines fresh in the memory of our overseas customers, against the return of peace. We have had to cut that advertising to the ridiculous circulating abroad, carrying trade advertisement matter, should meet along with their displays the warning that good advertised wares may be demanded peremptorily to be available for export.

OPEN LETTER

— TO —

Reeve E. J. Courneya Township of Sheffield

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

(ARMY)

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 17, 41

To Mayors and Reeves of all Municipalities in Military District No. 3

Your Worship:

It is felt that many towns and villages throughout this Military District have an opportunity for their young men to enlist into the Army. This is due to the fact that Recruiting Officers can not be established in every village or town but only in the larger centres of population.

In this connection I feel that you, as Head of your Municipality, would like to do your part in this war by having your Municipality well represented in the Armed Forces, even to a greater extent than it no doubt already is. Therefore, to make our efforts effective, I suggest that in future if there are in your district young men who wish to enlist in the Army, that in order to assist them, you wire or 'phone collect to the District Recruiting Officer, Military District No. 3, Kingston, Ont., and he will arrange to have such men sent into a Recruiting Office where they can be enlisted, and allotted a branch of the Army of their choice, or if rejected they will be returned to their home station without any undue delay. By such action you will be helping the war effort, you will be bringing the war nearer and you will also assure adequate protection for this country of ours at a time when it is vitally needed. At the same time your municipality will be bearing its share by sending manpower to the Army.

Such action as outlined above gives each municipality an opportunity to assist in bringing all branches of the Army up to strength thus insuring an adequate supply of manpower and reinforcements so that the Army can operate effectively at all times.

Your co-operation is earnestly asked for and by helping in recruiting you are also helping your country in its hour of need.

(P. L.) ARMSTRONG, Brig.
Dist. Officer Commanding
Military District No. 3

P.S.:

I am asked by the Reeve, Mr. Courneya, to send this letter to you for publication in your paper.

FORMER RESIDENT OF DESERONTO RECRUITS SEAMEN

The following article eis from the Toronto Daily Star of a week ago.

Captain McMaster is known to numerous Napanee people among whom is Mr. Albert A. Bartlett.

SCOUTS FOR TALENT

He has white hair and sharp blue eyes and a way of sizing up men, and he spends most of his time behind a desk interviewing fellows who want to go down to the sea in ships.

When an applicant comes into his office he looks him over with his sharp blue eyes and asks a couple of questions. Then he will either nod or shake his head.

Since the Battle of the Atlantic started, Capt. Herbert Reynold McMaster has signed on more than 2,000 hands for ships which fly the Panamanian flag. A large percentage of them were landlubbers. But even if they had never seen salt water before they made sailors, and good ones.

54 Years a Sailor

Capt. McMaster has been 54 years with ships and sailormen. President of the National Maritime federation, he had reached the ripe old age of twelve when he figured he would follow in the footsteps of his father, his grandfather and his great-grandfather, who had all been mariners. So he left his home at Deseronto, Ont., as a lamp trimmer on the schooner Picton, in the Great Lakes trade.

Schooners then carried horses to tow them through the Welland canal. It would take 48 hours or longer and there would be dozens of ships making the trip at once.

Herb McMaster went before the mast as an able-bodied seaman a few more years and he was a master. He was first mate on a steamer the day he almost went to Davy Jones' locker. His ship sighted a schooner on Lake Huron during a storm in the late fall. All sails were set, but she was lurching crazily. McMaster's skipper found the schooner had been abandoned. McMaster took an skeleton crew aboard to get her ashore for salvage. He and his men had been on the vessel only a few hours when she threw her stern in the air and plunged under. None first.

"I'll never forget how cold that water was," the captain says. "There were chunks of ice bobbing around us. It was about an hour and a half before they dragged us out of the water."

Master of Lake Ships

He was master of a lot of lake ships—some of them ships he sailed out from England himself—before he went to the Montreal Transportation company, with which he spent eighteen years as master, superintendent and manager. The company had a fleet of seventy vessels. Capt. McMaster went to sea again during the last war, plying between New York and South America.

"But I couldn't drum up any excitement at all," he says regretfully. "No submarine ever saw a submarine."

When Montreal Transportation Company was absorbed McMaster went into business as a marine surveyor, appraiser and insurance adjuster. He devised a plan to insure captains and seamen who lost their sailing tickets, and this developed into the Officers' Merchants' Navy Federation of Canada. Two years ago the Canadian Brotherhood of Ships Masters, which sponsors a group insurance plan and a benevolent fund, was formed.

Then came the war and the sailormen's organizations began to grow. Capt. McMaster was elected president of the National Maritime Federation, which has a membership of 7,000 men, and of the Canadian Brotherhood of Ships Masters, which has 1,000 members.

Not Like Good Old Days

Capt. McMaster smiles when he thinks of the things sailors have today, compared with what they had when he was getting his sea legs. "Hot and cold running water," he says. "Beds with springs and mattresses. Movies twice a week. Radios."

Three hundred C.P.C. workers day and night at the post office as the Christmas rush was being cleared.

Officials reported that an improvement had been shown by public in correct addressing, but care that there was still considerable room for improvement in the method of packing parcels, Mulock said.

SILVER WILL TAKE PLACE OF TIN BEFORE END OF WAR

Ottawa (C.P.) — It was revealed that Canadians will be asked to give up vegetables preserved in tin cans instead of the glass jars, before the war is over, authoritative sources indicated last week.

One source told The Canadian Press that experiments looking toward the use of silver instead of tin are underway. If they are successful, it may lead to silver jars for canning fruit and vegetables, although silver has replaced tin in some articles on an experimental basis.

SUPPLIES AVAILABLE

Silver, generally considered one of the precious metals, is one of the few metals of which Canada and the United States have a large surplus. Demands for tin, on the other hand far exceed the supply and drastic government orders have been issued to restrict its use.

In Canada experimental work has so far been confined largely to the use of silver as a base for solder but the United States experiments are being conducted in the use of silver for a base in tin cans.

A large part of Canadian fruit produce is canned and it has already been recognized that absorption of silver will be one of the main problems canning companies will face in 1943. It is likely that silver will be used to a larger extent before but this change is not likely to provide a complete solution to the tin shortage.

WARNING SOUNDED

Warning was recently sounded by metals controller, George Hees, who said the Government would endeavor to provide enough tin for the canning industry, but it will be necessary to prohibit the use of tin for packaging foods/gifts where other materials can be substituted.

Restrictions were placed last month on the use of tin in the manufacture of solder.

Canada's silver production reached 1941 at 20,437,186 fine ounces with a value of $7,813,256, largely as a by-product of British Columbia lead and zinc mines and Ontario gold mines

Most of the Canadian silver goes to the United States which has created huge reserves via the high price level. Use of silver for purposes monetary purposes now is restricted largely to India and China and war conditions have in recent years recoved China's demand.

Christmas Parcels Poorly Packed

Ottawa C.P.) — During the height of Christmas mailings for Canadian fighting men overseas, postal workers had to repack more than 2,000 parcels with flimsy coverings, Postmaster-General Mulock said, last week.

Col. Mulock said record proportions were reached in volume of mail handled through the base post office manned by the Canadian Postal Corps.

In November 1,852 pieces of registered mail, 1,500,220 letters, 225,827 pounds of parcels and 183,000 pounds of newsprint material were dispatched from the overseas office and 180,029 parcels of food gifts from the sub-base post office at Montreal.

In December, 1,400 pieces of registered mail, 1,227,000 letters, 183 pounds of newsprint material and 608,123 pounds of parcels were dispatched from Ottawa and 180,000 parcels of fabrics from Montreal.

Three hundred C.P.C. workers worked day and night at the post office as the Christmas rush was being cleared.

Officials reported that an improvement had been shown by public in correct addressing, but care that there was still considerable room for improvement in the method of packing parcels, Mulock said.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 18TH, 1942

"JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS"

Lesson Text: Luke 3: 1-6, 15-17, 21, 22

Luke fixes the date of the coming of John the Baptist by reference to the rulers who were ruling at that time. The fifteenth year of Tiberius ended in August 29 A.D. at which time Jesus would be about thirty years of age. It was at this time that word came to John, the son of Zacharias, in the wilderness. "And he came into the region round about Jordan, preaching baptism and repentance of sins." John was a strange figure. He lived away from people, lived probably as a hermit, brooding, thinking, praying, listening to the voice of God. Then he would suddenly appear and startle the people with his vigorous message, and his insistent demand that the people repent of their sins. There was no more reason why they should be urged to repent than any others. Of course they were sinners, but they were no more so than the rest of the peoples round about. No more, perhaps not more so than we in this year of grace 1942.

Repentance is a note that had all but gone from our religious vocabulary. It had almost gone from our services. To be sure there were prayers of repentance. But repentance — real and vital, was rarely preached about or demanded from the pulpit. But the way in driving us to examine the very fabric of our conduct, personal and national. It was not to be expected that there could be any genuine repentance when there was so little sense of guilt in among modern men. But now, we are being driven again to realize that sin, the transgression of God's laws, and of his position which we now occupy after a decade or more of, yes, for almost fifty years, have been going on the assumption that there was no God, or of their fate, captains of their own souls, masters of their fate, and they not build railways, found empires, make, radios, invent engines, become leaders and all sorts of things, make life pleasant for themselves. Now we see a humiliation of all that, now, all this must be swept away, and a new, and a law of God, the direction of which will bring irretrievable disaster. We have all sinned, and the first step in repentance is there is no hope for forgiveness and no hope of Repent and be baptized This burden being the visible evidence of the inner cleansing, which is the result of true repentance.

The writer quotes from Isiah to show that John was a forerunner. This beautiful passage was penned by the unknown writer of the 40th Chapter of Isiah. The Hebrew people were in Babylon whence they had been carried by the Babylonian lords. There in the land of the exile, they looked back to the homeland with the nostalgia which only those forced to live in an alien country against their will can understand and appreciate. The prophet, this matchless singer of the Hebrews, put into unforgettable words not only the longing of his people but the hope for their return. They would return led by the Lord Himself, and the poet calls upon the people to prepare the way for His coming. Make the paths straight, lower the hills and fill up the valleys. No wonder in the light of what happened in the life of the Master of the writer applies this passage to the vocation and place of John the Baptist. One who prepared the way for the Lord — the Son of God.

John's message was not a new call to repentance, it was a powerful forward to the coming of Jesus. He will cleanse the threshing floor, separate the wheat from the chaff, gather the wheat into His garner, but burn up the chaff. This is the decision which faces everybody — for Christ is the great dividing line in every theological consumption, it is the only test point. Are we on the side of Christ, or are we on the other side. Fear of the world will ultimately be revealed in every decision which we make in this connection.

Jesus was baptized by John in the River Jordan. Why was Jesus baptized? Was it because He was a sinner? Was it because He was conscious of sin? Was it because He was repenting of sin? Was it because He was confessing sin? Was it because He was seeking forgiveness of sin? The answer to all these questions is emphatically No. Jesus was baptized because He was identifying Himself with the sinful people whom He had come to save. He was taking His place with them. He was standing with them in the place of judgment. He was bearing their sins. He was taking upon Himself the burden of their guilt. He was making Himself responsible for their sins. He was taking upon Himself the penalty of their sins. He was dying for their sins. He was dying for the sins of the world. He was dying for your sins and for my sins. DEMOCRACY THE ISSUE

Over and over again we repeat th
cracy is the issue in this present
This is true, two groups of people are One group believes that the governmen nations and of the world should be in th of the strong men, those who can se hold power that power they should bend others to do their will. The other believes that the people should govern selves. They recognize that the mach cumbersome and slow when compared t

Nevertheless they believe that in the long

Even if it takes longer, the results are m

Now there can be no doubt but th
Democracy as we have known it, has not be perfect. But because it has not been perfe is no reason that it should be scrapped. Th to-day, haul our passenger and freight trains

The early Wright model aeroplanes were strange and flimsy contraptions, when compared to the "Spitfire" and the "Hudson" bomber.

The way to make Democracy more workable is not to destroy it and put something else in its place; but to go on perfecting it, streamlining it, improving it and applying it in ever increasing areas in life. This process need not be halted by the war. Indeed, the war should underline and emphasize the ways in which the Democratic process can be improved and made more workable in our world.

For most of us Democracy is a form of political organization. It is that, but it is more than that, it is a way of life that should govern, not only our political organizations, but our whole industrial and economic set-up, those aspects of society which his very close to every man and woman. While politics may loom large in a person's mind, once in a while

DOGS OF WAR

Britain's Are Better Than Germany's

The first and only establishment of its kind in Great Britain, at an Army School near London, is now training dogs kept by their owners for service during the war. Hitherto the work has been largely experimental; now a regular system is being out fully trained dogs at a rapid rate. And, of the dogs offered, a much higher percentage than in Germany, where a large number had to be rejected as unsuitable, are proving useful for war service.

Messenger dogs, mostly Border collies and other sheepdogs, learn to carry dispatches swiftly and silently under realistic battle conditions. Boxers, Alsatians and crosses of these, greyhounds, terriers and so on are trained in guiding patrols in enemy positions, or for static duties, in giving warning of enemy approach. They act like pointers, although real pointers and other gun dogs cannot be used because their instinct for game might distract their attention from the war.

Britain's war dogs live in comfortable, roomy loose boxes, sometimes two or three together, and are fed on cooked horseflesh and biscuits. The officers and men who train them are selected for their posts for their experience with dogs—they are either breeders or trainers engaged in Britain's important dog-breeding industry, now known to dog lovers in many quarters of the globe for its fine specimens of most breeds.

WASHING UP IN WAR TIME

Mr. and Mrs. Britain Have To Be Careful in Their Scullery

British housewives are economising by buying as good pottery as their war-time incomes will allow.

The war is teaching them to be more careful with tableware. Not only has much of their china and earthenware been lost in the general destruction of homes, but new supplies of decorated china and earthenware have now been officially reduced.

The housewife has therefore to choose between the new plain, undecorated ware and real Wedgwood, Doulton, Spode or Worcester. Where she can she is investing in first-class china, because it stands up to hard usage and resists chipping, "crazing" and breakage better than the cheaper sort.

And the war is even teaching British housewives and their menfolk to "wash up" with greater care than in the old days, avoiding scalding hot water or abrasive cleaning powders and warming the plates for their rations in a rack over the cooker rather than in a hot oven.

MALAYA

A MEDLEY OF LOYAL PEOPLES

BY DENIS ROPER

Denys Roper, M.A. (Oxon) has been in the Malayan Education Service since 1934. He has been headmaster of the Government Schools in Johore Province Wellesley, Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan and Singapore and Inspector of Schools for Negri Sembilan.

British Malaya is a small country but presents a complex picture. Because of the great influx of immigrants it is peopled by many races. Its economic position is one of great constraints. Its political composition is not simple and its social background is a medley. The British authorities are acutely alive to the possibilities of Pitt Columbia influence, but for reasons set forth below a Fifth Column — so conspicuous in certain other world areas — has had small chance of gaining a footing, though Japanese soldiers invading from Thailand are reported to have adopted costumes as the Germans did when invading Holland.

The group of territories known as Malaya comprises the colony of the Straits Settlements ruled directly by the British Crown, and nine Malay States each with its Malay ruler and each under British protection, as defined by separate Treaty.

The Straits Settlements include Singapore, Malacca, Penang and Province Wellesley. The Malay States are the Federated Malay States of Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan and Pahang, and the unfederated Malay states of Johore, Kedah, Perlis, Kelantan and Trengganu.

These territories produce nearly half of the world's consumption of tin and rubber. Lesser but still important products are the cocoanut, the oil palm and pineapples.

The estimated Asiatic population in 1937 was 3,112,000 made up as follows:

Malays	1,69,000	42.4
Chinese	1,314,000	41.3
Tamils	454,000	14.8
Eurasians	18,000	0.4
Others—Siamese
Japanese	36,000	1.1
Arabs

There are approximately 28,000 Europeans of whom nine-tenths per cent are British employees on rubber plantations and tin mines, in merchant houses and in the Government services — administrative medical and nursing services, police, ports and telegraphs, education, agriculture, forestry, railways, mines, electrical, railways and public works departments.

The indigenous people of the country are Malays who are Mohammedans. They are primarily agriculturists as fishermen, dwelling their own land and living largely in simple village communities eating the rice they grow. Cocoanut Malays are an important element in the government services of the Malay States.

From Coolie to Millionaire

The overwhelming majority of the Chinese are immigrants attracted voluntarily during the past fifty years by the varied economic opportunities the country provides. Any work is too hard or too humble for them and their enterprise is to be seen. There have been many Chinese millionaires who came as coolies. It is to the Chinese that the development of the wealth of Malaya is largely due.

Indians form the second immigrant race. Seventy-six per cent. of the labor force on the 1,300,000 acres of rubber are Tamils from South India. Like the Chinese the bulk of the Indians have returned to their country with the money they have saved, though many of both races find nowadays a home in Malaya.

The outstanding characteristics of this cosmopolitan population are racial harmony and absence of discorder. And these results in general contentedness with the customary prosperity of the country, the fairness of British rule, and the excellence of the social services generously financed by the revenue drawn from tin and rubber. There is also the fact that potential disturbers of the peace are known and watched, and in normal times returned to their countries of origin under the Banishment Acts.

Few Axis Residents

The police system is extremely efficient and well-organized throughout Malaya, and there is a special branch for the investigating and recording of all crimes of a subversive or political nature. It has a long and varied experience in the filtering and control of the constant tides of immigration and emigration from and to China, India and Japan. Police officers are mainly British, with Malay, Chinese and Indian junior officers, a rank and file of Malays and Sikhs, and a cosmopolitan force of detectives in touch with all races.

The German element was small. At the 1921 census it numbered six-teen persons; at the 1931 census 144. The Italian element was still smaller. All these either left before or were interned at once when their countries went to war.

The Japanese population was 6,989 persons in the year 1921; in 1931 it was 6,439. Figures for the 1941 census are not yet available. About half of the Japanese were in Singapore engaged in photography, hairdressing, and mercantile pursuits. In the Malay States they were also mainly in the towns, but a number were interested in rubber planting, and there were important iron mines owned and managed by Japanese in Johore and Trengganu; in Kelantan a Japanese company mined manganese on a considerable scale. They were known and will have been accounted for by machinery long prepared. Enemy agents, even Japanese have had small chance of escaping detection for long. What then of the self in which they might try to work?

The Malays are strongly bound by ties of sentiment, tradition and religious feeling to the ruling dynasties. The Malay Sultans are heads of the Moslem religion in each state, and they in turn are sincerely loyal to the British Crown.

Keen Demand for Education

To them and their influence with their chiefs and subjects Britain owed H.M.S. Malaya, and generous contributions both to the cost of the naval base and financial support of the present war. The rulers of the Federated Malay States each presented Sunderland aircraft to Britain in 1938. Large numbers of Malays have a stake in the country in their rice fields and small holdings of rubber. There is a smart and keen Malay regiment in the permanent defense force. The demand among Malays of all classes for an English education for their sons is great and growing.

The Chinese are intensely patriotic and passionately interested in China. They are supporters of General Chiang Khai-shek to a man, and for years have made generous and regular contributions to funds for aid to China. Their natural ardent against the Japanese has been restrained from local expression only by the tradition of law and order habitual to Malaya, and by police control of sporadic outbreaks.

The general Asiatic and European response to the call throughout Malaya for auxiliary services for A.R.P. for St. John Ambulance, Auxiliary police, etc., has been full, enthusiastic and sustained.

The Indian community as a whole supports the war and is not little affected by difficulties in India itself. The Eurasians are keen to show their loyalty.

Throughout Malaya there have been volunteer military forces now trained in modern warfare. These include British, Malay, Chinese Indians, and Eurasians, and all are now on active service in united effort against the Japanese invader.

FRIENDS OF MR. MRS. MARTIN MAKE PRESENTATION AT SELBY

On Tuesday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Martin, Selby, despite the fury of the most blusterous snowstorm of the season, thirty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Martin, of Napanee, gathered to spend an evening with the newlyweds and to present them with a substantial purse of money donated by sixty different families around Selby, and to express their friendship to Mrs. Milton Martin.

After a time of congratulations and games, Mr. Arthur McKinnon called the bride and groom to the living room and read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Milton Martin:

Dear Milton and Dorothy — We have gathered this evening to offer congratulate you on your recent marriage and to welcome you, Dorothy, as the wife of one of our young men who has resided among us since a child. We are only sorry that you are coming you, Dorothy, to live among us, but since that is the case we wish you and Milton to accept this purse as a token of the high esteem in which we hold people of you and as something to remind you of this community where Milton has grown to manhood.

We present it to you with our best wishes and hopes for a happy future together.

Mr. Joe Dadgeon presented the purse to the bride. There was also a cheque from Dr. A. C. Tamblyn accompanied with a letter of good wishes.

The groom on behalf of his wife and himself thanked the people of Selby very gratefully and assured them that although now in the R.C.A.F. and no matter where he was called, he would always count the people of Selby very dear to his memory, and hoped that his wife would meet them often.

After singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," refreshments were served. About midnight, after conveying their feelings of friendship with hearty good-night hand-shakes the guests dispersed to their various homes.

GLASS FROM GAS

Being Made by Britain for Her Submarine Periscopes

People in Britain are looking at the war through eyeglasses made from transparent plastics, the material derived from carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and so on, familiar to the public as ashtrays, hand-torches, wireless sets and electric switchboards.

This substitute is not being used because there is any shortage of glass but because it is quicker to mould the plastic material than to grind down glass to the required measurements of the lenses. Glass, of course, is essential in Britain's war-time industries.

The new plastic lenses are also being fitted for binoculars, submarine periscopes and optical sights for tanks. Optics is only one of the new uses to which plastics are being applied in Britain since the war began. Plastic gear-wheels and bearings are appearing in the factories; fire-spotters are wearing plastic helmets, and ten-foot dinghies without a single nail are being produced by moulding plywood impregnated with resin. They are stronger and lighter than the old type, completely waterproof and smooth "skinned."

When peace returns Britons may even have plastic houses. The Scottish Special Housing Association has asked the British Government to erect an experimental house in which the structural framing, walls, floors, window frames, doors, roofsheeting and so on are all made of plastics.

SAVE PAPER
WASTE paper is a valuable war material — don't throw it away. Turn a scrap of it into a shell. Every scrap counts!
NOW!
Paper wraps up the detonation charges in land mines . . . holds the charges of parachute flares in place . . . used for padding in cartridges. There are only a few of the direct war uses of waste paper.
Paperboard cartons are the most important shipping containers on that continent. They are made of waste paper. Shells, gas masks, munitions, field telephones, steel casings, food, clothing and other material are shipped to England in these cases. Thousands of them must be made, and made quickly.
This ever-increasing demand is causing an acute shortage of waste paper. It's a shortage which you can end overnight by saving every scrap of paper and giving it promptly to your Salvage Committee.

MALAYA
A MEDLEY OF LOYAL PEOPLES

BY DENIS ROPER

Denys Roper, M.A. (Oxon) has been in the Malayan Education-al Service since 1924. He has been headmaster of the Government Schools in Johore Province Wellesley, Perak, Secretary, Negri Sembilan and Singapore, and Inspector of Schools for Negri Sembilan.

British Malaya is a small country but presents a complex picture. Because of the great influx of immigrants it is peculiar. In many races its economic position is one of great constraints. Its political composition is not simple and the social background is a medley.

The British authorities are deeply alive to the possibilities of Fifth Column intelligence. So far results so far as known, there has been little or no conspiracy. In certain areas, however, there has been small measure of planning, though Japanese soldiers invading from Thailand are reported to have adopted disguises as the Germans did when invading Holland.

The group of communities known as Malaya comprises a colony of the Straits Settlements directly under the British Crown and nine Malay States each with a Malay ruler and each under British protection, as defined by treaty.

The Straits Settlements include Singapore, Malacca, Penang and Province Wellesley. The Malay States are the Federated Malay States of Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan and Pahang, and the unfederated Malay states of Johore, Kedah, Perlis, Kelantan and Trengganu.

These territories contain nearly half of the world consumption of tin and rubber. Johore and Malaya's principal products are the cocoanut, the oil palm and pineapple.

The estimated total population in 1937 was 5,111,000 made up as follows:

Malays	2,209,000	42.4
Chinese	2,174,000	41.3
Indians	734,000	14.0
Eurasians	18,000	0.4
Others—Siamese
Japanese	30,000	0.14
Arabs
There are	28,000

Two-thirds of the Europeans are British, mostly officials on rubber plantations, tin mines in merchant houses and in the professional branches of the civil service—medical, police, engineering, agriculture, forestry, railways, electrical railway, postal works departments.

The indigenous people of the country are Malays and Mohammedans. They are primarily rice growers, but grow also many other crops, including larger fruits in jungle villages. Among the latter are durians, mangosteens, rambutans, which they grow in their compounds. Malays are an important part of the government services of the Malay States.

From Coolie to Millionaire

The overwhelming majority of the Chinese are immigrants. They are attracted voluntarily during the past fifty years by the various opportunities the country provides for hard or fortunate men and women enterprising. There have been many Chinese millionaires who came to Malaya as coolies. The development of the wealth of Malaya is largely due to the Chinese.

Indians form a second immigrant race. Seventy per cent of the labor force on the 3,000,000 acres of rubber are Tamils from South India. Like the Chinese, the bulk of the Indians have come to the country with the intention of saving enough money to return home. Both races have been flowing in and flowing out in Malaya. They have been flowing in and flowing out nowadays to a much smaller extent.

The outstanding characteristics of this cosmopolitan population are racial harmony and absence of discrimination. In general conditions of life and work there is customary prosperity of the country. The security of British rule and the excellence of the social services, especially those drawn from tin and rubber. There is also the fact that potential disputes in peace are known and watched, and in normal times returned to their countries of origin under the Banishment Acts.

Few Axis Residents

The police system is extremely efficient and well-organized throughout Malaya, and there is a special branch for the investigating and recording of all crimes of a subversive or political nature. It has a long and varied experience in the filtering and control of the conduct there of immigration and emigration from and to China, India and Japan. Police officers are mainly British with Malay, Chinese and Indian junior officers, a rank and file of Malays and Sikhs, and a cosmopolitan force of detectives in touch with all races.

The German element was small. At the 1921 census, it numbered nineteen persons; at the 1931 census 144. The Italian element was still smaller. All these either left before or were interned at once when the countries went to war.

The Japanese population was 6,989 persons in the year 1921; in 1931 it was 6,439. Figures for the 1941 census are not yet available. About half of the Japanese were in Singapore engaged in photography, hairdressing, and fortunetelling pursuits. In the Malay States they were also mainly in the towns, but a number were interested in rubber plantations and there were important iron mines owned and managed by Japanese in Johore and Trengganu; in Kelantan a Japanese company mined manganese on a considerable scale. They were known and will have been accounted for by machinery long prepared. Enemy agents, even Japanese have had small chance of escaping detection for long. What then of the spirit in which they might try to work?

The Malays are strongly bound by ties of sentiment, tradition and religious feeling to the ruling dynasties. The Malay Sultans are heads of the Moslem religion in each state, and they in turn are sincerely loyal to the British Crown.

Keen Demand for Education

To them and their influence with their chiefs and subjects Britain owed H.M.S. Malaya, and generous contributions both to the cost of the naval base and financial support of the present war. The rulers of the Federated Malay States each presented Sunderland aircraft to Britain in 1938. Large numbers of Malays have a stake in the country in their rice fields and small holdings of rubber. There is a simple and keen Malay regiment in the permanent defense force. The demand among Malays of all classes for an English education for their sons is powerful and growing.

The Chinese are intensely patriotic and passionately interested in China. They are supporters of General Chiang Khai-shek to a man, and for years have made generous and regular contributions to finance and to China. Treasonable agitation against the Japanese has been restrained from local expression only by the tradition of the people's order habitual to Malaya, and by police control of spasmodic outbreaks.

The general Asiatic and sympathetic response to the call throughout Malaya for auxiliary services in A.R.P. the St. John Ambulance and the police, etc., has been full, enthusiastic and sustained.

The Indian communities are also supports the war and it is not affected by difficulties in India itself. The Eurasians are devoted in their loyalty.

Throughout Malaya there has been volunteer military forces organized in modern warfare. The Straits British, Malay, Chinese, Indians and Eurasians and an air force are in active service in uniform against the Japanese invaders.

FRIENDS OF MR. MRS. MARTIN MAKE PRESENTATION AT SELBY

On Tuesday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Martin, Selby, despite the rigors of the most blusterous snowstorm of the season, thirty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Martin, of N. gathered to spend an evening with the newlyweds and to present them with a substantial purse tendered donation as a gift. Invitations around Monday and across their friendship to Mr. Mr. Martin.

After a time of congratulations, Mr. Arthur McKim, on behalf of the bride and groom, read the following address:

"To Mr. and Mrs. Milton Martin. Dear Milton and Dorothy: We have gathered this evening to congratulate you on your recent marriage and to welcome you Dorothy as the wife of one of our long-time friends who resided among us for a while. We are only sorry that we are making you Dorothy a present, as we feel sure that you are well supplied with all the things you need, but please accept this purse as a token of high esteem in which we hold you and as something to remind you of us when you are in other communities where Milton has grown to manhood.

We present it to you with our best wishes and hopes for a happy life together."

Mr. Joe Dickerson presented the purse to the bride. There was also a cheque from Dr. A. C. Tamblyn, accompanied with a letter of good wishes.

The groom on behalf of his wife and himself thanked the people of Selby very gratefully and assured them that although now in the R.C.A.F. and no matter where he was called, he would always count the people of Selby very dear to his memory, and hoped that the time would meet them often.

After singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," refreshments were served. About midnight, after expressing their feelings of friendship with hearts good-night hand-shake the guests dispersed to their various homes.

GLASS FROM GAS

Being Made by Britain for Her Submarine Periscopes

People in Britain are looking at the war through eyeglasses made from transparent plastics, the material derived from carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and so on, familiar to the public as ashtrays, hand-torches, wireless sets and electric switchboards.

This substitute is not being used because there is any shortage of glass but because it is quicker to mould the plastic material than to grind down glass to the required measurements of the lenses; and speed, of course, is essential in Britain's wartime industries.

The new plastic lenses are also being fitted for binoculars, submarine periscopes and optical parts of tanks. Optics is only one of the new uses to which plastics are being applied in Britain since the war began. Plastic gear-wheels and bearings are appearing in the factories; fire-spotters are wearing plastic helmets, and ten-foot dinghies without a single nail are being produced by moulding plywood impregnated with resin. They are stronger and lighter than the old type, completely waterproof and smooth "skinned."

When peace returns Britons may even have plastic houses. The Scottish Special Housing Association has asked the British Government to erect an experimental house in which the structural framing, walls, floors, window frames, doors, roof-sheeting and so on are all made of plastics.

SAVE PAPER
WASTE paper is a valuable war material don't throw it away or burn it. Keep it clean. Canada needs it badly. Needs it NOW!
Paper wraps up the detonating charges in shells and bombs. It holds the charges of cordite in cartridges. It is used for wadding in guns. These are only a few of the direct uses of waste paper.
Paperboard cartons are the most important shipping containers on this continent. They are made of waste paper. Shells go marked munitions. Food, clothing and other necessities for England in these cases. Thousands of them must be made, and made quickly.
The ever-increasing demand is causing an acute shortage of waste paper. It's a shortage you can overcome by saving it. Do your part by saving every scrap of paper and giving it generously to your Salvage Committee.
Help provide the shipping spaces! Help get the tools to Churchill! Start today.

OPERATION
EEDED FOR CROSS IN 1942

n time to time mention has made regarding the reports e various units chich go to make he local Red Cross Branch. For sake of those who are following all the organization's appeals, but ho are not affiliated with any parular unit, it has been decided to give a complete list, as follows :

Adolphustown, Anderson W. A., Bath, Bethany, Camden East W. I., Camden East R. C. Unit, Enterprise, Centreville, Cloyne, Colebrook-Yarker W. I., Conway, Ernestown, Conway Hill L. A., Erinsville, Forest Mills, Gretna, Hawley Association and Maple Leaf W. I., Kingsford Anglican Guild, Maple Ridge W. I., Marlbank, Morven Community, Moscow R. C. Unit, Moscow W. I., Odessa, Robertsn. Selby, Stella, Switzerville R. C. Unit, Tamworth R. C. Unit, Victoria W. I., Violet-Switzerville W. I., Westplain, Wilton, Ingle Good Neighbour's Club, Flinton, Individual Workers.

It took some months to develop a satisfactory system to handle the demands for work which were made by the women who make up these units, but under the excellent supervision of the President, Miss Lenore Herrington, the work is carried out with clock-like precision.

All work is done under the "quota" system. A monthly quota for all sewing and knitting is received at Branch Headquarters in Nacanee. Each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons the rooms are opened and a group of women do the cutting out of garments called for in the quota. Saturday is "taking in" and "giving out" day. Representatives from the above units start coming in early in the afternoon laden with boxes of finished work. All these articles are examined carefully before being packed, as the local Branch has a reputation for perfect work, which the supervisors are careful to uphold. Articles cut out through the week are distributed to the workers as they come in and heavily burdened as when they came.

This system has made it possible for every woman in the County to do her share of war sewing and knitting, and those who have not done so are urged to attend the work meetings of their own units.

Within the next two weeks everyone in the county will have the opportunity of joining the Red Cross organization. A special drive for members is being made and someone in your community will call on you for this purpose. The fee is small in comparison to the good it can accomplish when spent wisely for supplies, and your co-operation is asked.

"O.K.," replied the warden, "but do I blow it going up or coming

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA SEVENTY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING

W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, hails Partnership of Canada and the United States. As Chairman of the British War Supply Council sees Germany Outstripped by Britain and North America, in 1942.

ey G. Dobson, General Manager, reports assets over $1,000,000,0.00. Sees record business expansion this year.

rediction that Germany's war production would be outstripped in 42 by the combined output of Canada, the United States and Great Britain, was made at the 73rd Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada by Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director.

Mr. Wilson's annual address Mr. Wilson gave factual evidence of the tremendous productive capacity of North American factories and spoke in glowing terms of the fine record made by Canadian industry since the outbreak of war.

"Two years ago," said Mr. Wilson, "we were incapable of outfitting an infantry division; to - day our industries can equip a new division every six weeks. Canadian equipment is being used in every area of war."

Mr. Wilson paid particular tribute to the Government for the way in which it had approached industry and persuaded manufacturers to go into production of the strange and complicated apparatus of war.

CONTROLS CURE INFLATION

Referring to the steps already taken to control inflation Mr. Wilson said: "You cannot divert half a million men into the armed services to engage in the most extravagant kind of destruction and consumption of goods, and expect business at home to proceed as usual or prices to remain as usual.

"With the tragic memory of the inflation of the first World War in mind, thinking people believe that almost any measure would be justified to prevent a repetition.

"If anyone is inclined to be critical, let him think of how dangerously our present position parallels that of the first Great War. The increase in the wholesale price index in the first 25 months of that war was 20 points; in the first 25 months of the war, the index has climbed 21 points. In the face of these facts, it would be difficult to argue that an effort should not be made to control the situation before it gets out of hand.

"It would be absurd to expect that in the midst of this colossal diversion of material and manpower we should expect to live as we have lived in peace-time.

"We have reached the point where we must cut down unnecessary consumption in order to make available for the war effort all the resources possible.

"We must keep constantly before us the realization that our war effort consists, in a material sense, in things and services; that is, food, raw materials and manufactured products on the one hand, and manpower on the other."

CANADA PLAYS HER PART

As a comrade in arms of Great Britain, Canada, said Mr. Wilson, had been able to make a generous contribution to the common cause. "We pay the whole cost of raising, arming and maintaining the Canadian armed forces serving in Canada, Great Britain, Gibraltar, the Far East, the West Indies and Newfoundland. We supply Great Britain with food, textiles, lumber and finished apparatus of war, and we do not demand "cash on the barrel head." Not one dollar of the $250 millions of gold sent to Canada by Great Britain has been used to pay for goods of Canadian origin — it has all been expended in the United States, with much more of our own gold, to cover a part of the cost of raw materials and machinery brought to Canada to produce war goods for British account.

Little opportunity existed, said Mr. Wilson, for the making of big profits out of the war. "There has been neither opportunity nor disposition for our producers to make big profits out of this war," he said.

CAN OUTSTRIP GERMANY

Mr. Wilson regarded with great satisfaction the close co-operation which has developed between Canada and the United States in recent months and particularly since the Japanese declaration of war.

"Even Germany, with all its vaunted efficiency and with forced labor, cannot match the production possibilities of North America added to those developed with capital and customary efficiency by Great Britain under the impact of war.

"The huge expenditure in this fiscal year alone is estimated at two billion, 620 million dollars, which is more than twice as much as our total expenditure in all of the last war. The United States has already doubled its entire expenditure during the first Great War.

"United States manufacturers sent to Great Britain in the first seven months of 1941 nearly twice as many combat planes as were lost defending the British Isles during the whole of 1940. In Canada, starting from scratch, we are producing 40 or more planes a week, of which 15 to 25 are Hurricane fighters."

In conclusion Mr. Wilson paid a warm tribute to the heroic manner in which the people of Great Britain had sustained, for over two years, the terrible impact of war and at the same time performed miracles in the production of urgently needed implements of war.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the financial statement, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, noted that the bank had enjoyed a satisfactory year despite greatly changed conditions due to the war. Notwithstanding Government regulations "which at one time would have been considered intolerable, but which we recognize as necessary in the kind of war which has been forced upon us, your bank has continued to expand. While it naturally becomes more, and more difficult to make reasonable profits, we have, because of enlarged business and economies effected, been able to show earnings comparable with a year ago."

Assets of the bank now standing at over $1,000,000,000 were at the highest point in history, said Mr. Dobson. Commercial loans had continued to expand and deposits by the public were at a record level — $152,239,836 higher than at the peak of the boom era.

"More new deposit accounts have been opened this past year than in any similar period in the history of the bank. We are doing our best to foster this growth not only because it builds up the bank's deposits but mainly because saving is an essential development in our war economy."

1057 ENLISTMENTS

Because of war conditions a greatly increased burden had been placed upon the bank's staff, said Mr. Dobson, and too much credit cannot not be given for the commendable way in which both men and women had performed their duties.

"Since the outbreak of war," he said, 1,052 officers, including 43 from our foreign branches have been granted leave of absence to serve in the armed forces. In Canada and Newfoundland 40 per cent. of our male employees under 30 years of age enlisted. We have assured all these young men, of whom we are justly proud, and to whose return we are looking forward, that positions will be available to them.

"I regret exceedingly to report that eight of our young men have been killed while in the country's service. To the extent to their relatives our sincere sympathy."

PRICE CONTROL

Referring to what he termed the new experience for business of price and wage controls, Mr. Dobson said, "Some people view with concern the institution of these controls and it seems to me appropriate at this time to point out that such licensing and price fixing are commonplace with banks.

"Our charters are granted to us by virtue of the Bank Act which comes up for revision at ten-year intervals, at which time the directors and banks are subject to close examination by the Banking Committee of Parliament. All our powers are strictly regulated by law. The maximum rate of interest we are permitted to charge is fixed. There is even a ceiling on the commission we may charge for cashing a bill discounted in one city and payable in another. We are not allowed to charge more than a fixed rate, even for small casual transactions. We are not permitted to own real estate except for our own use; we must not make loans against real estate security. We are subject to inspection by the Inspector General Banks. We must make detailed and effective statements to the Finance Department. Since the outbreak of the war we are required to be licensed by the Foreign Exchange Control Board before we can buy or sell foreign exchange and the regulations lay down the conditions we may charge on such transactions.

"I do not point to these things in any critical way, but merely to show that what is revolutionary control of other businesses in the interests of wartime stability, is part of the every-day experience of banks. Price controls are not a novelty with us."

In conclusion Mr. Dobson remarked that indications were that 1942 would see all records broken in business expansion.

V.O.N. Annual Report

ANNUAL REPORT OF NURSING ACTIVITIES, 1941

It is my privilege to present the report of the Nursing Activities for the year 1941. Though I cannot report an increase in number cases served for or visits made, I do feel that some worthwhile accomplishment have been made. Our program remains much the same and falling under the four headings of (1) Bedside Nursing, (2) School Nursing, (3) Child Welfare Conference and (4) Health Supervision.

The cases were cared during the year. Though the number of medical and surgical patient's cared for increased only slightly over 1940, the number of visits to these patients increased 55 per cent. On the other hand the number of confinements attended reached a very low ebb of 11. In the first place the residents of Napanee reached a very low ebb this year and secondly more and more maternity cases are being hospitalized each year. I do feel however, that we should reach more of our expectant mothers during the prenatal period, no matter whether they plan to remain at home or in the hospital at the time of confinement.

302 hours were spent in the two Napanee Public Schools. 72 defects were noted and 69 pupils had corrections made. During the year Herman Measles, Chicken Pox and Measles were quite prevalent at times among the pupils, and during the Fall Term impetigo seemed to be unusually prevalent.

Assistance was given with the opening of Home Nursing Classes conducted under the auspices of the Red Cross Society. The Well Baby Conference conducted on Thursday afternoons in the Armouries continues to be well patronized and apparently much appreciated by those mothers, who bring in their babies and young children, for guidance in the matters of hygiene routine. We aim to keep our babies and children well, happy and growing. Any deviation from the normal is referred to the family physician. Why do so many mothers avail themselves of this service?

Health supervision visits into the home increased slightly. This is a big field and one feels that so much could be done to help citizens of all ages. The field of nutrition, alone offers so much teaching material. Even with a most elementary knowledge of food values, many mothers could do so much in improving their families' food habits.

As you are aware, we have a great many families of soldiers, sailors and airmen, who have become residents of our town. We can do much to ease the load these families are carrying, both with nursing care in illness and above all, friendliness and helpful advice at all times. As one mother said not so long ago "Just to know that someone cares, means so much."

1556 visits were made at an average time of 56 minutes, or exactly the same time per visit as last year. Decrease in time actually on duty was due to a large extent to our unavoidable absence during the fall and to the fact that at this time a relief nurse for emergency calls only was available.

Collections increased slightly, amounting to $367.50.

Now in looking forward to 1942, what are our outstanding needs?

(1) That we reach the sick in their home that need our care. There should be no hesitancy on the part of the physician, the family or their friends in calling us if the need exists. Nursing care as rendered, under the direction of the physician, and the teaching of some member of the family to give the care needed during the rest of the day, should be the first consideration, where illness exists in the home. Adequate nursing care goes hand in hand with adequate medical care in the comfort and recovery of the patient. Though patients are employed to meet whole or all the cost of our visit, the same type of service is given willingly, if the family are unable to meet this cost.

(2) We are looking forward to closer co-operation with existing official bodies. In our school work we are indeed thankful for the beginning that has been made. A great deal in health improvement in the years to come can be achieved with the co-operation of all.

(3) The Diphtheria Toxoid Clinic for the pre-school children completed immunization against diphtheria for 32 children. We are hoping that the record of work done in the years to include children of school age.

(4) Health supervision work could and must be increased. The infant mortality and maternal death rate is far too high. Of the two deaths of infants under one year among residents of this town, one very badly in the records of the municipality. I might add that in no case was I aware that any child died until after death had occurred. Perhaps nothing could have averted these catastrophies. On the other hand adequate medical and nursing care and advice in hygienic living plays a great part in promoting the health of our people.

To each and every officer and member of the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, and all official and unofficial bodies and individuals, who are striving in any way for the betterment of our community I thank you for your moral and financial support. I appeal for its continuance in 1942.

Let our program of nursing the sick, the prevention of disease and the promotion of health, be so broad and far-reaching that we make it an influence felt into every corner of the town.

Respectfully submitted,
FRANCES DOCKER.

A Way to Serve . . . and a Way to MAKE MONEY
In these days we are all anxious to serve our country's best interests. But we are all increasingly conscious, too, that "money makes the mare go". So it's mighty pleasing and important, too, to find a way to serve, and at the same time break more than even.
Here's one way, "made to order": Fill all the brooder space you have with early chicks . . the best you can buy.
Naturally, when you're choosing your good chicks, we would like to have you consider Bray Chicks. They're good chicks. They've done a real profit-making job for others. They want to do the same for you. Get your order in early.

We have a limited number of 2 and 3-week-old started chicks available for immediate shipment. First come, first served—so get in touch with us right away.

we do suggest that you should use all the poultry equipment you have, to the limit. Start all the good chicks you have accommodation for, early . . . but as soon as you can get your brooder house cleaned up, tightened up and ready. Both the egg and broiler markets look so promising that you can't afford to overlook this really extra-special profit possibility; and there's practical patriotism in it as well as profit.

TRINITY CHURCH TO BURN MORTGAGE AT ANNUAL MEETING
An event of unusual interest and importance in the life of Trinity United Church will take place at the Annual Meeting of the Congregation on Thursday evening of this week, January 15th. The mortgage on the church, which has recently been paid-off, will be burned.
The present church was built in 1908 and the mortgage was placed on the building at that time. Since then the mortgage has been reduced from time to time. Two years ago, it stood at $1,200.00 The final payments have been made possible by former members of St. Andrew's Church, who brought with them their share of the proceeds of the sale of St. Andrew's, and also by donations from the Trinity Woman's Association.
The people of Trinity Church are naturally gratified at the prospect of their beautiful and commodious building being free from debt. An appropriate ceremony will accompany the burning of the mortgage on Thursday night.

"You are accused of hitting your companion over the head with a bottleobtle. Have you anything to say in your defence?"
"Yes, it was only a half-pint bottle."

"We were surrounded by natives," related the explorer. "They uttered savage cries, danced madly and beat the earth with their clubs."
"Sounds like golf," said the bored listener.

OPERATION EEDED FOR D CROSS IN 1942

n time to time mention has made in the Red Cross reports ardless of units drilled, or make the local Red Cross Branch. For sake of those who give faithfully all the organization's appeals, but ho are not affiliated with any par- icular unit, it has been decided to give a complete list, as follows:

Adolphustown, Anderson W. A., Bath, Bethany, Camden East W. I., Camden East R. C. Unit, Enterprise, Centreville, Cloyne, Coleman-Yarker W. I., Conway, Ernestown, Empey Hill W. I., Erinaville, Forest Mills, Gretna, Hawley Association and Maple Leaf W. I., Kingsford Anglican Guild, Maple Ridge W. I., Marlbank, Morven Community, Moscow R. C. Unit, Moscow W. I., Reidville, Robson, Selby, Stella, Switzerville R. C. Unit, Tamworth R. C. Unit, Victoria W. I., Violet-Switzerville W. ., Westmain, Wilton, Ingle Good Neighbour's Club, Flinton, Individual Workers.

It took some months to develop a satisfactory system to handle the demands for work which were made by the women who make up these units, but under the excellent supervision of the President, Miss Lenore Herrington, the work is carried out with clock-like precision.

All work is done under the "quota" system. A monthly quota for all sewing and knitting is received at Branch Headquarters in Nacanee. Each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons the rooms are opened and a group of women do the cutting out of garments called for in the quota. Saturday is "taking in" and "giving out" day. Representatives from the above units start coming in early in the afternoon laden with boxes of finished work. All these articles are examined carefully before being packed, as the local Branch has a reputation for perfect work, which the supervisors are careful to uphold. Articles cut out through the week are distributed to the workers and they go home as heavily burdened as when they came.

This system has made it possible for every woman in the County to do her share of war sewing and knitting, and those who have not done so are urged to attend the work meetings of their own units.

Within the next two weeks everyone in the County will have the opportunity of joining the Red Cross organization. A special drive for members is being made and someone in your community will call on you for this purpose. The fee is small in comparison to the good it can accomplish when spent wisely for supplies, and your cooperation is asked.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA EVENTY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING

W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, hails Partnership of Canada and the United States. As airman of the British War Supply Council sees Germany stripped by Britain and North America, in 1942.

ey G. Dobson, General Manager, reports assets over $1,000,000,000. Sees record business expansion this year.

rediction that Germany's war oduction would be outstripped in 42 by the combined output of Canda, the United States and Great Britain, was made at the 73rd Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada by Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director.

In his annual address Mr. Wilson gave factual evidence of this tremendous productive capacity of North American factories and spoke in glowing terms of the help rendered made by Canadian industry since the outbreak of war.

"Two years ago," said Mr. Wilson, "we were incapable of outfitting an infantry division; to - day our industries can equip a new division every six weeks. Canadian equipment is being used in every area of war."

Mr. Wilson paid particular tribute to the Government for the way in which it had appreciated industry and persuaded manufacturers to go into production of the strange and complicated apparatus of war.

CONTROLS CURE INFLATION

Referring to the steps already taken to control inflation Mr. Wilson said: "You cannot divert hefl a million men into the armed services to engage in the most extravagant kind of destruction and consumption of goods, and expect business as usual or prices to remain as usual. to remain as usual.

"With the tragic memory of the inflation of the first World War in mind, thinking people believe that almost any measure would be justified to prevent a repetition.

"If anyone is inclined to be critical, let him think of how dangerous is our present position parallels that of the first Great War. The increase in the wholesale price index in the first 25 months of that war was 20 points; in the first 25 months of the war the index has climbed 21 points. In the face of these facts it would be difficult to argue that an effort should not be made to control the situation before it gets out of hand.

"It would be absurd to expect that in the midst of this colossal diversion of material and manpower we have ever known in time as we have lived in peace-time.

"We have reached the point where we must cut down unnecessary consumption in order to make available for the war effort all the resources possible.

"We must keep constantly before us the realization that our war effort consists, in a material sense, in things and services; that is, food, raw materials and manufactured products on the one hand, and manpower on the other."

CANADA PLAYS HER PART

As a comrade in arms of Great Britain, Canada, said Mr. Wilson, had been able to make a material contribution to the common cause. "We pay the whole cost of training, arming and maintaining the Canadian armed forces serving in Canada, Great Britain, Gibraltar, the Far East, the West Indies and Newfoundland. We spread Great Britain's food, textiles, lumber and finished apparatus of war, and we do not demand 'cash on the barrel head.' Not one dollar of the $250 millions of gold sent to Canada by Great Britain has been used to pay for goods of Canadian origin — it has all been expended in the United States, with much more of our own gold, to cover a part of the cost of materials and machinery brought to Canada to produce war goods for British account.

"Little opportunity existed, said Mr. Wilson, for the making of big profits out of the war. "There has been neither excessive nor any disposition for our producers to make big profits out of this war," he said.

CAN OUTSTRIP GERMANY

Mr. Wilson regarded with great satisfaction the close co-operation which has developed between Canada and the United States in recent months and particularly since the Japanese declaration of war.

"Even Germany could not match the vaunted efficiency, and with forced labor, cannot match the production possibilities of North America added to those developed with such extraordinary efficiency by Great Britain under the impact of war.

"Canada's war expenditure in this fiscal year alone is estimated at two billion, 820 million dollars, which is more than twice as much as our total expenditure in all of the last war. The United States has already doubled its entire expenditure during the first Great War.

"United States manufacturers sent to Great Britain in the first seven months of 1941 nearly twice as many combat planes as were lost defending the British Isles during the whole of 1940. In Canada, starting from scratch, we are producing 40 or more planes a week, of which 15 to 25 are Hurricane fighters.

In conclusion Mr. Wilson paid a warm tribute to the heroic manner in which the people of Great Britain had sustained, for over two years, the terrible impact of war and at the same time performed miracles in the production of urgently needed implements of war.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the financial statement, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, noted that the bank had enjoyed a satisfactory year despite greatly changed conditions due to the war. Notwithstanding Government regulations "which at one time would have been considered intolerable, but which we recognize as necessary in the circumstances," which has been forced upon us, your bank has continued to expand. While it naturally becomes more and more difficult to make reasonable profits, we have, because of enlarged business and economies effected, been able to show earnings comparable with a year ago."

Assets of the bank now standing at over $1,000,000,000 were at the highest point in history, said Mr. Dobson. Commercial loans had continued to expand and deposits by the public were at a record level — $132,250,836 higher than at the peak of the boom era.

"More new deposit accounts have been opened this past year than in any similar period in the history of the bank. We are doing our best to cater this growth not only because it builds up the bank's clientele, but mainly because saving is an essential development in our war economy."

1632 ENLISTMENTS

Because of war conditions a greatly increased burden had been placed upon the bank's staff, said Mr. Dobson, and too much credit could not be given for the commendable way in which both men and women had performed their duties.

"Since the outbreak of war," he said, 1,052 officers, including 43 from our foreign branches have been granted leave of absence to serve in the armed forces. In Canada and Newfoundland 40 per cent. of our male employees under 30 years of age enlisted. We have assured all these young men, of whom we are justly proud, and to whom our hearts are looking forward, that positions will be available to them.

"I regret exceedingly to report that eight of our young men have been killed in the country's service. We extend to their relatives our sincere sympathy."

PRICE CONTROL

Referring to what he termed the new experience for business in prices and wage controls, Mr. Dobson said, "Some people view with concern the institution of these controls and it seems to me an appropriate time to point out that such licensing and price fixing are commonplace with banks.

"Our charters are granted to us by virtue of the Bank Act which comes up for revision at ten-year intervals, when time the chartered banks are subject to close examination by the Banking Committee of Parliament. All our powers are strictly regulated by law. The maximum rate of interest we are permitted to charge is fixed. There is even a ceiling on the commission we may charge for collecting a bill discounted in one city and payable in another. We are not allowed to charge more than a fixed flat fee for certified cheques. We cannot pay more than 3 per cent. on savings deposits. We are not permitted to own real estate except for our own use; we must not make loans against real estate security. We are subject to inspection by the Inspector General of Banks. We must make detailed and extensive statements to the Finance Department. Since the outbreak of the war we are limited in the gold we can cause to be exported by the Foreign Exchange Control Board before we can buy or sell foreign exchange and the regulations lay down the commission we may charge on such transactions.

"I do not point to these things in any critical way, but merely to show that what is revolutionary control of other businesses in the interests of wartime stability, is part of the everyday experience of banks. Price ceilings are not a novelty with us."

In conclusion Mr. Dobson remarked that indications were that 1942 would see all records broken in business expansion.

V.O.N. Annual Report

Addresses were given at three of our meetings by Capt. Bateman, of the Salvation Army, Very Rev. Dean Leacy of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. G. M. Chidley of Trinity United Church.

Delegates attending the V. O. N. Annual Meeting in Ottawa were Mrs. W. A. Ashley, Miss K. L. Docker and Mrs. Percy Chamberlain.

Miss C. Livingston, District Supervisor and Miss Squires from the Ontario Department of Health visited the Branch during the year.

In spite of war-time demands the Napanee Branch ends the most successful year since its beginning in Napanee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF NURSING ACTIVITIES, 1941

It is my privilege to present the report of the Nursing Activities for the year 1941. Though I cannot report an increase of either cases cared for or visits made, I do feel that some worthwhile accomplishments have been made. Our program remains much the same and calling under the four headings of Bedside Nursing, (2) School Nursing, (3) Child Welfare Conference and (4) Health Supervision.

204 cases were cared for during the year. Though the number of medical and surgical patien's cared for increased only slightly over 1940, the number of visits made to patients increased 55 per cent. On the other hand the number of confinements attended showed a very low ebb of 13.

In the first place the resident births for Napanee reached a very low ebb this year and consequently more and more maternity cases are being hospitalized each year.

CENTREVILLE

Centreville, January 12. — Council met in the Township Hall for the first meeting of the New Year on Monday. Ray McGill spoiled for the bounty on a wolf he shot on Christmas Day.

JANUARY MEETING OF THE V. O. N.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Napanee Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held on Monday, January 12th, in the Town Hall with the President, Mrs. Wilton Ashley in the chair. There was a splendid attendance despite the inclement weather.

The opening prayer was taken by Archdeacon Dumbrille. This was followed by the monthly reports of the officers, which were all approved as read.

Under the heading of old business Mrs. Ashley informed members bridge players that score and money are to be left each week in a box for the purpose at the Public Library. The public interest aroused by Miss Docker's recent appearance before the School Board was found most encouraging. A few minor adjustments were made in the by-laws, making them now quite satisfactory.

The annual reports followed and are published separately.

Mrs. Docker took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—

President—Mrs. Wilton Ashley.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. T. Hunt.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. McPherson.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T.M. Galbraith.
Secretary—Mrs. Percy Chambers.
Asst.-Secretary—Mrs. P. D. Laidley
Treasurer—Mrs. Bruce Medd.
Convener of Finance— Mrs. O. S. Reddick.
Convener of Publicity — Miss H. M. Fox.
Church Representatives :
St. Mary Magdalene — Mrs. L. Douglas. Mrs. George Daly.
St. Patrick's — Miss Gertrude Davern, Mrs. L. Crowe.
Grace United Church — Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. G. F. Smith.
Trinity United Church — Mrs. G. Paul, Mrs. Andrew Burrows.
Honorary Members — The Clergy, the Officers in charge of the Salvation Army, Mr. Geo. Tustin, M.P.
The resignation of Miss Mary Leany after eighteen years of valued service was accepted with much regret. Mrs. George Paul spoke on behalf of the Board and Mrs. Chalies graciously presented her with an exquisite bouquet of roses and carnations.
Miss Dawson, the visiting Supervisor then spoke at some length on the work of the Order in general, of the many ways it reaches out a helping hand and the new calls directly caused by the war. The Napanee branch was highly commended for work accomplished and the evidence of good community spirit.
The meeting concluded with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Childey.

POTATOES NOT SUBJECT TO PRICE CONTROL

Brockville, Jan. 12. — Technically the potato may be a "tuber" and familiarly a "root crop" but to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board it is simply a "vegetable" and thus exempt at least for the present, from the price ceiling along with other vegetables, fresh fruits and greenhouse products.

This was explained today by Edwin C. Cossitt, Prices and Supply Representative of the Board, to remove any misapprehension which may have existed in regard to the selling price of potatoes. He added, however, that their continued exemption will depend upon their trends and conditions of supply and that, as with other commodities to which the ceiling does not now apply, the Board may establish control of that should be required by changed conditions.

Mr. Cossitt pointed out that there are certain other commodities and services similarly exempt from control. Codfish, herring, haddock, amelts, mackerel, clams, hake, halibut and all fresh-water fish are, for instance, without a ceiling. But salmon is controlled. Raw and dressed fur skins and garments and weaving apparel made wholly of fur are also exempt. There is no ceiling on live stock, poultry, eggs, milk, cream, dairy butter, farm-made cheese, honey and maple syrup when these commodities are sold by the primary producer to a dealer or processor. But if the primary producer deals directly with a consumer through public markets or otherwise, the selling price is subject to the ceiling of the basic period of last September 15 - October 11, as it is subject to the same ceiling when sold by wholesalers and retailers.

In the matter of rent control, premises or land used solely for farm purposes are exempt and individuals belonging to the professions, such as doctors, dentists, lawyers, optometrists, architects and engineers, together with those engaged in securities, stock brokers, insurance companies and their agents and real estate agents, are not affected.

Mr. Cossitt gave warning, however, that even in the case of commodities or services which are exempt, the Board reserves the right to apply control where prices are other than just and reasonable.

PRISON CELLS
Have Become One of Britain's Food Emergency Stores

Hundreds of cold, damp, dark cells with a temperature of 20 deg. below freezing point are now available up and down Great Britain for the storage of order of 1,000,000 tons of meat recently placed by the Ministry of Food with Australia and South America.

Each of these centres can keep thousands of tons of meat, butter and frozen eggs over a period of two years. In one of them, for example, there are 600 cells with a 2,400 tons of meat and a large quantity of bacon; another holds 60,000 carcases of mutton and 1,000,000 lbs. carcases.

In peace time Britain's food storage resources are to be found mainly in the docks. To-day, sea tored throughout the country and in the London area. These hundreds of cold storage centres put 10,000 other storing places for non - perishable food products at up according to district and each supplying its own area with a least six or seven miles radius of action.

There has been some quick improvisation. Here a textile mill, there a furniture factory, has been turned into service; in one case the cells of a prison are to be found crammed with canned meat, a curious mixture holds 700 tons of tea, margarine and flour.

COLOUR PICTURES BY WIRELESS
For Every British Cinema After the War

Television in two colours may be a regular feature in every British cinema when peace comes, as the result of private research work now being done in the home of Mr. J. L. Baird, the Scottish pioneer of television.

Colour television was first shown by Mr. Baird in public to the British Association in 1928. He employs a process like colour printing, superimposing the three primary colours, red, green and blue on the screen.

The British Association picture was only a few inches square, but, after many experiments, the inventor was able, ten years later, to send by wireless a large picture (12 ft. by 9 ft., in colour television from the Imperial Palace to an audience of 3,000 people in the middle of London.

His latest apparatus transmits at the rate of eight and one-third coloured pictures a second. Experiments are now being made in both three and two colours and it is probable that it will begin with a two-colour system over the whole of Great Britain.

Magistrate's Court

On Thursday, in the Magistrate's Court, John T. Clark, a member of the Air Force at Trenton, pled guilty to dangerous driving and was ordered to pay a fine of $10.00 and costs, $2.00.

The charge against Clark, who was driving a car owned by his mother, Mrs. E. M. Clark, Belleville, on December 23rd, was laid by Traffic Officer Morden, following an accident on No. 2 Highway, one mile west of Napanee about 10:15 p.m. Clark's car went out of control and travelled a distance of 46 paces on the south shoulder, when it hit a highway post. Continuing on the shoulder it missed five posts and then broke off seven posts, coming to rest at the eighth post, which prevented the car from going into a deep ditch.

Traffic Officer Morden stated that Clark had apparently been drinking. Clark claimed that the strain of air from a large transport which passed him immediately before the accident caused him to lose control of the car.

Hugh Harrison, Kingston, and Alex. Sweetman of Kingston, each pleaded guilty to careless driving and were assessed $10.00 and costs each.

Miss Gladys I. Aubin, Belleville, appeared before Magistrate Gowrie last Thursday on a charge of careless driving. She pleaded not guilty to the charge and after hearing lengthy evidence from several witnesses for both the Crown and the defence, the charge was dismissed by the magistrate. E. C. Payne, of Belleville, acted for Miss Aubin and Crown Attorney Ham conducted the case for the Crown.

The charge against Miss Aubin was laid by Traffic Officer Morden, following an accident on the evening of November 11th, about one mile west of Napanee, on Highway No. 2, in which Miss Aubin's car and a Holmes transport from Brockville collided. Miss Aubin was driving her car, owned by Arthur Knight of Shannonville. She was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Fry, Belleville and a member of the Air Force, whom Constable Morden said did not remain at the scene of the accident. As a result of the crash, the truck overturned across the highway and traffic was held-up for some time.

Lloyd Cowle, who lives west of Napanee, about one mile, the first witness, said that he was driving up in his car near a steep elevation on the corner of West and Dundas Streets in Napanee when the rear of his car was bumped by the transport truck and then when he pulled pas' him and proceeded westward on Highway No. 2. He stated he was travelling at a moderate rate of speed. This text day he identified Miss Aubin's car at McFarlane's garage where I was taken after the left side practically ripped off.

Clifford Place, the driver of the transport truck stated he was travelling, on the south side of the road and just after another transport had passed him, a car came over and proceeded to the wrong side of the road and struck the left side of the back of the truck, causing it to swerve.

Miss Aubin and Miss Fry both testified that they had said they were on the wrong side of the road and another witness for the defence stated that the driver of the car had said following the accident he was not sure whether his truck was over the centre line or not.

As a result of the accident Miss Aubin had her left arm broken and was confined to the hospital for some time.

On Monday, Louis John of Deseronto pleaded guilty to driving a car while intoxicated and also to driving a car without a driver's qualifying card. Magistrate Garvin imposed the statutory sentence of one week in gaol in the first charge and imposed a fine of a fine of $10.00 and costs of $5.00 on the second charge. The charges were laid by Constable Garrett on the evening of January 9, after a car driven by Cecil Dafoe, three men work in Kingston and were returning to their homes on the Reserve, west of Deseronto.

Akrafatsman George A. Dickson of Napanee was charged with careless driving and pleaded not guilty to the charge. After hearing the evidence, the Magistrate dismissed the charge against Dickson. Flight-Lieut. J. H. Jennings conducted the case for the Crown.

The charge was laid by Provincial Constable W. Barrett, following an accident on the Napanee Road, about three miles north of Napanee on January 4th. The car, driven by Dickson, ran into the side of a car owned and driven by John Uens of Newburgh Road, as the Uens car was being backed out of the laneway leading to his home on the west side of the road.

Uens claimed his car was struck by the Dickson car while it was still in the laneway. Evidence given by Constable Barrett also substantiated the information given by Uens. But Akrafatsman Dickson and his companion, Miss Phyllis Holland of Parker, claimed the Uens car was half over the highway when the crash occurred. Dickson contended that his car skidded following the application of brakes after he had seen the Uens car backing out of the lane.

On behalf of the Board and Mrs. Chalies graciously presented her with an exquisite bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Dawson, the visiting Supervisor then spoke at some length on the work of the Order in general, of the many ways it reaches out a helping hand and the new calls directly caused by the war. The Napanee branch was highly commended for work accomplished and the evidence of good community spirit.

The meeting concluded with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Childey.

Ross M. Winter Addresses

Canada has been called a political unity, but an economic mons'rosity. Its geography has divided the country into five districts — the Maritimes, Lower Ontario and Lower Quebec, the Prairies, the Province of British Columbia and the Great North, stretching across the whole Dominion. All five division are fairly separate and each section has its own ideas and aspirations. Whatever problems come up in Canada, the government has to keep in mind all the divisions and the needs of each section of the country. As a result of geography, Canada has ten governments instead of one.

Religion has played a great role in the development of the country. Protestant and Catholic rights and privileges have had to be considered in shaping policies and in formation of governments.

The formation of Canada with reation to the United States and the British system, through the protection Canada came from the United States, have had a direct bearing on the development of the country and the form of responsible government.

British influence, through the settlers from the British Isles, and the fostering of government after the British system, through the protection afforded by the British and Canada trade and commerce with the United Kingdom, has been one of the greatest factors shaping the life and destiny of Canada.

The potential possibilities of Canada for development in the future are very great indeed, than ever before, will be the result of its position in relation to other countries, and its inexhaustible natural resources.

In his closing remarks Mr. Winter stressed unity in the country in peace time and wartime. There are forces which are gradually bringing us all together and because we are getting together, success will come in the war. The Church, he said, can be the greatest influence to bring about unity, just as it has been a great influence in causing disunity.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MURNEY PARKS

On Monday, December 29th, there passed to her eternal rest Margaret J. Parks, the only surviving member of the family of the late John Patterson and Agnes Boyd. Born in Moscow, where she spent the early years of her life, she was married there and went to Hanley to reside. After the arrival of the children her life was a inspiration to her neighbourhood in her community.

For eleven years she devoted was organist in the Anderson Church, also teaching in the district school. Later serving both as organist and teacher in Bowley Church as well as being a devoted member of the W. M. S. there.

After the sudden and untimely death of her husband Ruth Harmer Parks came to Napanee to live. She became a member of Trinity Church and was ever willing to help in any thing hand whenever needed in the work of the church. The Ladies Aid, Red Cross and W. C. T. U. claimed her as a faithful member. On Thursday, the arrival of the angel with his call her home and went to Morven to live with her granddaughter, Mrs. Vernon Mills and family, where she had been in failing health for the past four weeks and on Sunday, December 28th she became somewhat worse, and at noon on Monday she peacefully passed over the border. Those left to mourn her passing in the harbour of God where there is no more pain or twilight can be said "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

Besides Mrs. Parks possessed a fine sense of humour and an intelligent outlook on life. Her many friends and neighbours will always be remembered by all who had the privilege of knowing her.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Daisy Pretts, Napanee; six grandchildren, Muriel, Mrs. Walter Switzer, Bath; Ruth, Mrs. Vernon Mills, Morven; Sidney Pretts of Big Creek; Fraser Pretts and Phyllis Pretts of Napanee, and Margaret Pretts, who has recently been invalided home from overseas; one great-grandchild, James Mills, Jr.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Patterson, Moscow, and several nieces and nephews.

Her funeral was held on Wednesday from Wartman's Undertaking Parlours, with Rev. Childey, Trinity Church, officiating and Mr. Atkinson of Morven, assisting. Mr. and Mrs. George Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan "Some Sweet Day." The bearers were Messrs. Clayton Pretts, Archie Simmons, Bert Elliott, Morley Charleston, George Switzer and K. Ham.

The remains were laid to rest in Mount Hope Cemetery, Napanee. Besides those of her husband. The beautiful floral tokens paid a silent tribute to the many friends of a mother, grandmother, sister, aunt, and friend whose memory will be treasured ever.

Everett, of Toronto, and Miss Myrtle Brewer, of New York City; and one son, Mr. A. Brewer, of Toronto. JANUARY MEETING OF THE V. O. N.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Napanee Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held on Monday, January 12th, in the Legion Room, with the President, Mrs. Wilson Ashley, in the chair. There was a splendid attendance despite the inclement weather.

The opening prayer was taken by Archdeacon Dunnville. This was followed by the monthly reports of the officers, which were all approved.

Under the heading of old business, Mrs. Ashley informed marathon bridge players that more and money are to be left each week in a box for the purpose, at the Public Library. The public interest aroused by Miss Docker's recent appearance before the School Board was found most encouraging. A few minor adjustments were made in the by-laws, making them now quite satisfactory.

The annual reports, followed and are published separately.

Mrs. Docker took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted as follows :—

President—Mrs. Wilson Ashley.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. T. Hunt.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. McPherson.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. T.M. Galbraith.
Secretary— Mrs. Percy Chambers.
Asst.-Secretary—Mrs. P. U. Laidley
Treasurer—Mrs. Bruce Model.
Convener of Finance— Mrs. O. S. Reddick.
Convener of Publicity — Miss H. M. Fox.
Church Representatives :
St. Mary Magdalene — Mrs. L. Douglas, Mrs. George Daly.
St. Patrick's — Miss Gertrude Davern, Mrs. L. Crowe.
Grace United Church — Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. G. F. Smith.
Trinity United Church — Mrs. G. Paul, Mrs. Andrew Burrows.
Honorary Members — The Executive, the Officers in charge of the Victorian Army, Mr. Geo. Tustin, M.P.
The resignation of Miss Mary Leamy after eighteen years of valuable service was accepted with much regret. Mrs. George Paul spoke on behalf of the Board and Mrs. Chalmers graciously presented her with an exquisite bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Dawson, the visiting Supervisor then spoke at some length on the work of the V.O.N. Its general scope of the many ways it reaches out a helping hand and the new calls during the present time. The Napanee branch was highly commended for work accomplished and the evidence of good-will locally split.

The meeting concluded with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Childer.

POTATOES NOT SUBJECT TO PRICE CONTROL

Brockville, Jan. 12. — Technically the potato may be a "tuber" and familiarly a "spud" or "murphy" but to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board it is simply a "vegetable" and thus exempt, at least for the present, from the price ceiling along with other vegetables, fresh fruits and greenhouse products.

This was explained today by Edwin C. Cossitt, Prices and Supply Representative of the Board, to remove any misapprehension which may have existed in regard to the selling price of potatoes. He added, however, that their continued exemption will depend upon their sales trends and conditions of supply and that, as with other commodities to which the ceiling does not now apply, the Board may establish control of that should be required by changed conditions.

Mr. Cossitt pointed out that there are certain other commodities and services similarly exempt from control. Codfish, herring, haddock, smelts mackerel, clams, hake, halibut and all fresh-water fish are, for instance, without a ceiling. But salmon is controlled. Raw and dressed fur skins and garments and wearing apparel made wholly of fur are also exempt.

There is no ceiling to live stock, poultry, eggs, milk, cream, dairy butter, farm-made cheese, honey, and maple syrup when these commodities are sold by the primary producer to a dealer or processor. But if the primary producer deals directly with a consumer through public markets or otherwise, the selling price is subject to the ceiling of the basic period of last September 15 - October 11, as it is subject to the same ceiling in the retailing of by-products and offals are exempt.

In the matter of rent control, premises or land used solely for farm purposes are exempt and individuals belonging to the professions, such as doctors, dentists, lawyers, optometrists, architects and engineers, together wi h employees in securities, stock brokers, insurance companies and their agents and real estate agents, are not affected.

Mr. Cossitt gave warning, however, that even in the case of commodities or services which are exempt, the Board reserves the right to apply control when prices are other than "just and reasonable."

PRISON CELLS
Have Become One of Britain's Food Emergency Stores

Hundreds of cold storage centres with a temperature of 20 deg. below freezing point are now available up and down Great Britain for the use of a total of 1,000,000 tons of meat recently placed by the Ministry of Food with Australia and South America.

Each of these centres can keep thousands of tons of meat, butter, fat and frozen eggs over a period of two years. In one of them, for example, there are 100 tons of butter, 3,400 tons of meat and a large quantity of bacon; another holds 60,000 carcases of mutton; a third, 3,000 pig carcases.

In peace time, Britain's food storage resources are in the main mine at the docks. To-day, sea tered throughout the country are not only these hundreds of cold storage centres, but 10,000 other storing places for non - perishable food products, set up according to district, and each supplying its own area with at least six or seven main articles of food.

There has been some public opposition, Here a textile mill, there a furniture factory, has been turned into service in the case the cells of a prison are to be found crammed with canned meat, a casino may hold 700 tons of tea, margarine and flour.

COLOUR PICTURES
BY WIRELESS
For Every British Cinema After the War

Television in two colours may be a regular feature in every British cinema when peace comes, as the result of private research work now being done in the home by Mr. J. L. Baird, the Scottish pioneer of television.

Colour television was first shown by Mr. Baird in public to the British Association in 1928. He employs a process like colour printing, superimposing the three primary colours, red, green and blue on on another.

The British Association pictures are only a few inches square, but, after many experiments in the interval was able, ten years later, to send by wireless a large picture (12 ft. by 9 ft.) in colour television, from the Dominion Palace to an audience of 3,000 people in the middle of London.

His latest apparatus transmits at the rate of eight and one-third coloured pictures a second. Experiments are now being made in both three and two colours and it is probable that it will begin with a two-colour system over the whole of Great Britain.

Magistrate's Court

On Thursday, in the Magistrate's Court, John T. Clark, a member of the Air Force at Trenton, pled guilty to dangerous driving and was ordered to pay a fine of $10.00 and costs, $3.00.

The charge against Clark, who was driving a car owned by his mother, Mrs. E. M. Clark, Bellevile, on December 23rd, was laid by Traffic Officer Snowdon, following an accident on No. 2 Highway, one mile west of Napanee about 10:15 p.m. Clark came from out of control and travelled a distance of 46 paces on the south shoulder, when it hit a highway post. Continuing on the shoulder it missed five posts and then broke off seven posts, coming to rest at the eighth post, which prevented the car from going into a deep ditch.

Traffic Officer Morden stated that Clark had apparently been drinking. Clark claimed that the suction of air from a large transport, which passed him immediately before the accident caused him to lose control of the car.

Hugh Harrison, Kingston, and Alex. Sweetman of Kingston, each pleaded guilty to careless driving and were assessed $10.00 and costs each.

Miss Gladys I. Aubin, Belleville, appeared before Magistrate Garvin last Thursday on a charge of careless driving. She pleaded not guilty to the charge and after hearing lengthy evidence from several witnesses for both the Crown and the defence, the charge was dismissed by the magistrate. E. C. Payne, of Belleville, acted for Miss Aubin and Crown Attorney Ham conducted the case for the Crown.

The charge against Miss Aubin was laid by Traffic Officer Morden, following an accident on the evening of November 7th, about one mile west of Napanee, on Highway No. 2, in which Miss Aubin's car and a Holmes' transport from Brockville, collided. Miss Aubin was driving east in a car owned by Arthur Knight of Shannonville. She was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Fry, Belleville and a member of the Air Force, whom Constable Morden said did not remain at the scene of the accident. As a result of the crash, the truck overturned across the highway and traffic was held-up for some time.

Lloyd Cowle, who lives west of Napanee, about one mile, the first witness, said that he was slowed up in his car near a street obstruction on the centre of West and Dundas Streets in Napanee when the rear of his car was bumped by Miss Aubin's car and this when she pulled pas' him and proceeded west up Piety Hill the car was travelling at a reasonable rate of speed. The next day he identified Miss Aubin's car at McFarine's garage where it was with the left side practically ripped off.

Clifford Place, the driver of the truck, stated he was travelling east on the south side of the road, and just after another transport had passed his truck, saw Miss Aubin's car coming from the wrong side of the road and another witness for the defence stated that the truck driver had said following the accident he was not sure whether his truck was over the centre line or not.

As a result of the accident Miss Aubin had her left arm broken and was confined to the hospital for some time.

On Monday, Louis John of Deseronto pleaded guilty to driving a car while intoxicated and also to driving a motor vehicle on a driver's permit. Magistrate Garvin imposed the statutory sentence of one week in gaol in the first charge and ordered payment of a fine of $10.00 and costs of $3.00 on the second charge. The charges were laid by Constable Barrett on the evening of January 9, after a car Mr. John was driving, which belonged to Mrs. Gerald Bell, had the road and overturned in the ditch, about five miles west of Napanee. In the car were Hilton Lawrence and Amy Brant, also of Deseronto, who were charged with being intoxicated in a public place. The latter two were ordered to pay fines of $10.00 and costs of $3.00 each. All three men were in Kingston and were returning to their homes on the Reserve, west of Deseronto.

Alex. Eatman, of George A. Dickson of Kingston, was charged with careless driving and pleaded not guilty to the charge. After hearing the evidence, the Magistrate dismissed the charge against Dickson. Flight-Lieut. J. H. Jennings conducted the case for Dickson.

The charge was laid by Provincial Constable P. W. Barrett, following an accident on the Newburgh Road, about three miles north of Napanee on January 4th. The car, driven by Dickson, ran into the side of a car owned and driven by John Uens of Newburgh Road, as the Uens car was being backed out of the laneway leading to his home on the west side of the road.

Uens claimed his car was struck by the Dickson car while it was still in the laneway. Evidence given by Constable Barrett also substantiated the information given by Uens. But the evidence given by Dickson and his companion, Miss Phyllis Holland of Yarker, claimed the Uens car was already on the highway when the crash occurred. Dickson contended that his car skidded following the application of brakes after he had seen the Uens car backing out of the lane.

Canada has been called a political unity, but an economic monstrosity. Its geography has divided the country into five distinct areas, the Maritimes, Lower Ontario and Lower Quebec, the Prairies, the Province of British Columbia and the Great North, stretching across the whole Dominion. All five division are fairly separate and each section has its own ideas and aspirations. Whatever problems come up in Canada, the government has to keep in mind all the divisions and the needs of each section of the country. As a result of geography, Canada has ten governments instead of one.

Religion has played a great role in the development of the country. Protestant and Catholic rights and privileges have had to be considered in shaping policies and in formation of governments.

The formation of Canada with relation to the United States and the fact that many of the first settlers of Canada came from the United States, have had a direct bearing on the development of the country and the form of responsible government we enjoy.

British influence, through the settlers from the British Isles, and the patterning of government after the British system, through the protection afforded by the British and through trade and commerce with the United Kingdom, has been one of the greatest factors shaping the life and destiny of Canada.

The po ential possibilities of Canada for development in the future is a far greater extent than ever before, will be the result of its position in relation to other countries, and its inexhaustible natural resources.

In his closing remarks Mr. Winter urged unity in the country in peace-time and wartime. There are forces which are gradually bringing us all together and because we are getting together, success will come in the war. The Church, he said, can be the greatest influence to bring about unity, just as it has been a great influence in causing disunity.

She was ill a few years and eight months and she sold her home and went to Morven to live with her granddaughter, Mrs. Vernon Mills and family. She had been in failing health for the past four weeks and on Sunday, December 28th her condition became worse, and at noon on Monday she peacefully passed over the border, where her many good deeds earned for the harbour of God "where there is no more pain." Twilight can be said of her. She did done and faithful servant.

The late Mrs. Parks possessed a fine sense of humour and an intelligent outlook on life. Her many deeds of kindness will long be cherished remembered by all who had the privilege of knowing her.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Daisy Fretts, Napanee; six grandchildren, Muriel, Mrs. Walter Switzer, Bath; Norma, Mrs. Vernon Mills, Morven; Sidney Fretts of Big Creek, Fraser Fretts and Phyllis Fretts of Napanee, and Robert Fretts, who has recently been invalided home from overseas; one great-grandchild, James Mills, Jr., daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Patterson, Moscow, and several nieces and nephews.

Her funeral was held on Wednesday from Wartman's Undertaking Parlours, with Rev. Childer, Trinity Church, officiating and Mr. Atkinson of Morven, assisting. Mr. and Mrs. George Parks of Napanee sang "Some Sweet Day." The bearers were Messrs. Clayton Fretts, Arch. Simmons, Bert Smith, Morley Creighton, George Switzer and K. Ham.

The remains were laid to rest in Morven Cemetery, Mr. Childer's services those of her husband. The beautiful floral tributes paid testimony to the Christian character of a mother, grandmother sister, aunt, and friend. Many memory will be treasured ever.

ATLANTIC FERRY LOSS LESS THAN 1 PER CENT

BY WING COM. L. V. FRASER

What Americans and Britons can do, working together for the supreme cause, has been shown in one particular branch of air activity for more than a year now. It is the little-known inside story of the Atlantic Ferry, which, it is just disclosed, has grown into the greatest ferry service in the world.

Just over a year ago, seven Lockheed-Hudson aircraft took off from a Newfoundland airport and headed out across the Atlantic. They landed on "one line," one after the other, somewhere in Britain." The pilots of four of them were Americans, the other three were British. That was the beginning of the ferry service for delivering American-built bombers by air. Today, under the command of the Royal Air Force, scores of American pilots, trained in transatlantic navigation by experienced British instructors, fly the majority of these aircraft.

Start of a Great Co-Operation

The development of the service is a story of men who overcame a thousand difficulties to build up an organization which now plays a vital part in the joint war effort. It is an object lesson in what can be achieved by co-operation between governments and between men inspired by the same cause.

During the summer of 1940, cargo space for sending American aircraft to Britain was an increasing problem. Consequen'ly plans were made to fly the aircraft over and Lord Beaverbrook, then Minister of Aircraft Production, requested Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to supervise the arrangements on the western side of the Atlantic. Meanwhile, a small group of Fritons, who had previously been employed by Imperial Airways, were lent by the British Overseas Airways Corporation for Atlantic ferrying duties. They were rent to Canada with the task of organizing the delivery flights.

Flown Through Bitter Winter

Four experienced trans - Atlantic pilots were sent first, followed by eight other captains, eight first officers and eight radio officers. These men formed the nucleus of what was then called Atfero—short for Atlantic Ferrying Organization. Since there were not a sufficient number of experienced British civilian pilots available for duty, and because service in this could not be spared, it was decided to enlist United States flyers. There was an immediate response to the call, and training began. The Americans who enrolled were experienced pilots, but they needed advanced instruction in the navigation and handling of multi-engined aircraft on long ocean flights. In December, 1940, the American - British crews were fully trained and the first consignments of aircraft were ready for ferry delivery.

The service continued throughout the winter, in spite of appalling weather. Thus the men who started the ferry proved that it was possible to run service between Canada across the Atlantic. They also proved the case for a much larger and more powerful operating unit. Atfero was called into being under Mr. Morris Wilson of Montreal, the North American representative of the Ministry of Aircraft Production. Plans were developed for a great ground organization in North America to take over the flow of aircraft coming from the production lines of the United States factories. In May, 1941, a return ferry service to take the crews back to North America had begun to operate. The crews which flew the Liberators used for this service were some of the men lent by the British Overseas Airways Corporation. The corporation also provided a traffic and operating staff in the United Kingdom for the westbound service.

The R. A. F. Takes Over

Throughout last Spring and Summer the organization rapidly expanded and many more American pilots were enlisted. British airmen continued to make the North Atlantic run, but the biggest job for them was still that of training new men for the service. American pilots, many of them with no Service experience, some without, joint the Atfero training headquarters in Montreal for increasing periods of time. They keenly enthusiastic. Those who met the required high standard and passed the very stiff tests became Atlantic flyers, until Americans were flying the majority of the aircraft. In July, 1941, Atfero was taken over by the R.A.F. and became the "Ferry Command" under Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, the organization remaining much the same. In all, American pilots have flown seventy per cent of the two-engined "Liners" planes delivered to Britain and eighty-eight per cent of the four-motored aircraft. Of the flying boats, eighty-six per cent have been flown by R. A. F. pilots, the remainder by Americans.

The Ferry Service has a remarkable record. The loss, for all types of aircraft on this Atlantic service, has been under one per cent. No losses at all have taken place in the delivery of flying boats, and it must be remembered that the record has been achieved in the face of difficulties which would have seemed insurmountable in normal times.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

ALL THAT GLITTERS—Keyes.
The background of this lavish novel is the National Capital. Here indeed all that glitters is not gold. Four women dominate the scene. The men with whom the lives of these women are interwoven are equally provocative. This revealing and dramatic novel will take a high place among the romantic annals of American life.

THE KEYES OF THE KINGDOM.—Cronin.

Dr. Cronin's first novel in four years, as dramatic as "Hatter's Castle," as moving as "The Citadel", more significant than either by reason of its theme.

JUVENILE

JUDY—Temple Bailey
An absorbing tale of heartache and happiness. The characters in this book are well worth knowing and enjoying.

THE MYSTERY OF DEVIL'S HAND, Copp.
A story of adventure any boy who thrills to flying adventure, heroism and swift, tense action, will enjoy.

AIRCART — W.P.A. Pennsylvania Writer's Project.
A story of man's conquest of the air.

THE MYSTERY DOGS OF GLEN HAZARD — Chapman.
A story parade adventure book.

MIDSHIPMAN WICKHAM — Paine.
A splendid story for boys of the Naval Academy the way a midshipman sees it, and of football as played by the Army and Navy.

THINGS THAT GO—Phillips.
A delightfully written group of stories for young children.

POLLYANNA'S WESTERN ADVENTURE—Smith.
Another Pollyanna story in the same endearing vein.

THE SORCERER'S APPRENTICE.
Paul Dupas.
From Walt Disney's Fantasia — A typical Walt Disney tale which children will love.

BRIGHT SCALPEL—Seifert
A story of a small town doctor who dissatisfied with life at home left to do some real surgery in China. Two years later, on his reurn he still was dissatisfied with conditions, but tried to find solace in his work. The final solution of his yearnings lay in an unexpected quarter, however.

WITH THIS RING—Eberhart.
A novel of New Orleans and the bayou country, in which the interplay of character and human emotion is equally as important as the murder mystery. Done with all the consumate skill with which Mrs. Eberhart dignifies a mystery novel.

CHE CITY ON THE HILL—Sims.
A brilliant novel of contemporary America—the conflict of generations in the city and on the hill and the world around it goes on forever. This story about it probes new depths.

RESTLESS ARE THE SAILS—Eaton.
A distinguished new novel of the early French settlers on this Continent. A worthy successor to Evelyn Eaton's first novel "Quietly my Captain Waits." A work that boasts even richer material and a great variety of scene.

DOWN THE ROAD A PIECE—Flint.
To read this story is to explore country roads, stop at rambling white houses under giant elms, to get to know these Maine people.

ABOVE SUSPICION—MacInnes.
Helen MacInnes' novel about a pair of British Babes-in-the-Woods against the Gestapo. It has just about everything—charm, maturity . . . all the suspense of "Rogue Male"—the rich overtones of "Escape."

CANADA'S NATIONAL HOT SPRINGS

What causes hot springs to bubble from the ground? This is a question that has long intrigued the layman. One explanation is that the water is moving from a place of higher pressure to one of lower pressure. The water of some hot springs is of surface origin. It gets into the ground or rocks in various ways, circulates over heated rock-masses at some depth, and finally escapes to the surface in the form of a hot spring. The water of other hot springs is considered by geologists to be of magmatic origin. That is to say, it is part of the magma or hot liquid strata beneath the earth's crust, and, on reaching the surface as the light of day to the hot springs of Canada's national parks, and Jasper in Alberta, and in British Columbia, an important tourist centre, received considerable attention as the fame of the properties of these hot springs has spread. A fuller use has been made of them.

At Banff, two public bathhouses have been constructed, and Basin Springs situated downstate, and the other at Hot Springs about the centre of the town at Banff, the Cave and Basin lies outdoor swimming pool. Both springs having a temperature of 90 deg. F. and at Upper Hot Springs pool receives its water from a spring having a temperature of 112 degrees F. Both of these centres are equipped with modern rest-rooms and other facilities for the comfort and enjoyment of visitors. The Cave and Basin is open from May until September, and the Upper Hot Springs indoor pool are kept open all year round.

The Radium Hot Springs at the great National Park have a temperature of 114 degrees F., and have been built a splendid modern bathhouse and outdoor pool, open the year round. These springs are on the famous Banff-Windermere Highway and are a great attraction to motorists. It is however, a steam-room and the baths open to visitors during the summer season only. There are several hot springs in this area, but only three have been developed so far for public use. Miette Hot Springs are accessible by a pack trail and are only about an hour's ride from the town of Jasper.

The medicinal value of these hot springs and their medicinal value was known to the Indians long before the first white man penetrated the great mountain barriers in the Rockies. Early traders and trappers both learned from the Indians and found, too, apparently the white man did not have curative properties. It was the discovery of the mineral springs at Banff, Alberta, which provided the inspiration for the development of Canada's present national park system. The comparatively small size of ten square miles originally set aside for the Banff hot springs, set aside for public use in 1885, was the beginning of a chain of national parks which now stretches from the Selkirk Mountains in British Columbia to the Atlantic seaboard of Nova Scotia.

Whatever may cause hot springs to bubble out of the ground, Canada's National Hot Springs have held a reputation for curative properties, and are visited each year by thousands seeking relief from various ailments to which, unfortunately, human flesh is heir.

TOTAL WAR NOW!

The Parliament of Canada meets on January 21st. The most momentous session in Canadian history begins in a few short days. It is your Parliament. The members are the servants of the people, not of any party. They represent every one in the constituency which elected them. Each one of them needs your help as never before. Assert your democratic right to govern. Tell your member what you think should be done and do so without delay.

There is one issue which overshadows all others. The Prime Minister of Canada has told us what that issue is. These are his own words: "There is only one way to meet total war, and that is by total effort."—"We must maintain the Canadian army at full fighting strength." The Leader of British democracy told the people of Canada what total effort means. These were Winston Churchill's words: "In this strange, terrible world war there is a place for every one, man and woman, old and young, halt and halt. Service in a thousand forms is open. There is no room for the dilettante, for the weakling, for the shirker or the sluggard. The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea wastes, the fields to till, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher—from the highest to the humblest, the tasks are all of equal honor. All have their part to play."

To fulfil that description of total effort is the first and foremost duty of the Parliament of Canada. The people of Canada must be told what part they are to play. They cannot guess. Every man and woman, strong or weak, old or young, must be guided by the Government to the post where they can contribute most to victory. We are conscious of the substantial efforts made throughout the war by the Canadian Government. We are anxious to assist them in making the vital decisions forced upon them by the events of the past few weeks. We do not believe that the people of Canada consider that their Government or its leader are in any way bound by undertakings given before the United States entered the war. This is no time for a referendum. The responsibility rests squarely on Parliament. The war will not wait.

There is only one way to meet total war—by total effort—that is to mobilize all our manpower and material resources under a plan of universal compulsory selective service. Those who can serve best on the farms must work on the farms. Those who can serve best in the factories must work in the factories. And those best fitted to serve in the armed forces must be trained, equipped, and available for service in Canada or overseas anywhere at any time. That is the only way that our farms, our factories and our armed forces can wage total war. No half measures are consistent with national honor.

If you agree with that opinion then it is your duty to tell your member NOW that you want him to insist upon the immediate adoption of such a plan. Tell him that you want the business of government brought into Parliament where it belongs. Tell him to inform Parliament, and through Parliament the whole of Canada, that the people of his riding advocate and will support any measures, however drastic, which will assure the last ounce of effort of which they are capable. To Canada's Parliament, which meets in a few short days, Mr. Winston Churchill said this: "The enemy has asked for total war. Let us be sure that he gets it." Tell your member in the short time which still remains that you want to be sure that we do wage total war and that you want him to say so in your behalf on the floor of Parliament.

There is an added reason why you must act immediately if you believe that democracy is government by the people. Last week President Roosevelt told one hundred and thirty million people of the United States where their armed forces are going to fight in this war. "As our power and resources are fully mobilized, we shall carry the attack against the enemy—we shall hit him and hit him again, wherever and whenever we can reach him." We are partners with the United States in this struggle. We signed a pact binding us to a common effort. National honor and the safety of our people demand that every man who wears the uniform of Canada be ready at all times to go overseas to hit the enemy wherever and whenever he can be reached. What a shameful travesty of justice it would be if we approved of unity of military command and failed to establish unity of sacrifice between nations. Canada's honor is at stake.

The Committee for Total War urges you to act without delay. Send your member a telegram, a letter or a postcard at once. This is your most imporiant task. Your member represents you no matter what your party may be. He is your voice in Parliament. When you put downthis newspaper, act at once. If you agree with the opinion supported by this Committee, say so.

THRIFT IN SOUPS

Hello Homemakers! Soup's on! That old Scotch favourite is important when it really means what you say. For soup can be both tempting and substantial — and, of course, it's thrifty.

-V-

There are several types of soup. Clear soup is the aristocrat — a little goes a short way — and only paves the way to the main course. Thick legume or vegetable soup is practical, appetizing and wholesome — almost a meal in itself.

-V-

Then, there is cream soup. The expression 'cream' soup is misleading since we now use skim milk or the water in which the vegetables are cooked — not cream. Chowders are similar to cream soups but are thickened by adding flaked fish, pieces of meat or any vegetable — but tomatoes or no tomatoes, that's a question which can start a hot argument.

-V-

Served generously and well-seasoned, soups are ideal as a MAIN dish for any hungry family. To make soup still more tempting, serve it with plenty of crackers, melba toast, plain biscuits, pastry squares, or bread — inexpensive accompaniments. Along with the proverbial cabbage salad and glorious golden dessert of canned peaches, or stewed apples — soup's on!

TAKE A TIP:

1 Planning menus in advance helps the food shopper. By doing this, she can often save pennies by buying foods in large quantities.
2 Compare prices of foods with equal food value.
3 Read labels carefully so you will know exactly what is in the packages.
4 Buy in quantity when economical, especially such staples as sugar and flour.
5 Compare cost per ounce or pound of different sized packages.
6 Buy by weight rather than by the dime or dollar's worth.
7 To get the quality you pay for, buy by grade — for example, butter, eggs, beef, canned fruits and vegetables, etc.
8 Buy foods in season. Visit the local market and watch the Mixing Bowl Column to keep up to date on the food situation.
9 Check weights and purchases before you leave a store.
10 Notice the best method of cooking to retain the maximum amount of food value.

Thank you, Mrs. M. D.

Mrs. N. P. writes:

"I have an upright vacuum cleaner. Are there any precautions in cleaning it?"

To clean your electric cleaner, take it outside, as far as cord will allow. Empty the bag into a paper bag. Leave top hanging loose and put into another bag, turn on the switch. You can sweep the outside and fasten the top up.

Mrs. C. P. asks:

"How can I remove candle 'drips' from a breadloom rug?"

Answer:

Dampen a cloth with gasoline, rub the spot with a circular motion.

SIMPLE MEANS TO CONSERVE HEALTH

Hamilton. — The general public failed to use the remarkable discoveries of science and medicine, which if properly used would prolong life, cure many diseases and make Canada a healthier nation. So said Dr. J. E. Davey, M.O.H. of Hamilton, Ont., in an article in a special health supplement published by the Hamilton Spectator.

Dr. Davey said: "In spite of this, however, the fact remains that our knowledge has overpassed our will to action. Too often we know what should be done or left undone, but fail to put this knowledge to practical use. Individually and collectively, we are sinners above measure against the simplest and best knowledge with best nutritive values. I discard them for non-essential; know immunization will protect. I neglect to be immunized; we know the dangers of focal infection, I continue to held fast to disease. My teeth or tonsils; we know that over-fatigue, late hours, food fads and questionable habits contribute largely to reduced vitality and premature old age, but continue our indulgence against better judgment. We know that flies, rats, mosquitoes and vermin may and do help to spread diseases, but we fail to take the necessary steps to eradicate them. We know that noxious weeds, smoke nuisance, and contribute to ill-health but, nevertheless these nuisances continue with very little serious effort toward their abatement. We know that neglected colds are very communicable and frequently lead to serious pulmonary, cardiac or renal trouble, but, in spite of this, we continue to circulate unduly or in business or in overcrowded street cars, coughing and sneezing our bacteria indiscriminately, leading to the infection of others, to our own detriment as well as theirs. We know that overeating, sedentary habits and worry contribute to high blood pressure with resultant cardiac complications, but we continue to overeat, fail to exercise and permit our worries to disturb our rest without much effort to remedy the situation. We know that poor housing, overcrowding improper lighting, heating and ventilating facilities, lack of adequate sanitary conveniences, all contribute largely to ill-health and the spread of disease, but we allow these conditions to multiply in our social system with only a feeble cry here or there for their correction.

TOTAL WAR NOW!

The Parliament of Canada meets on January 21st. The most momentous session in Canadian history begins in a few short days. It is your Parliament. The members are the servants of the people, not of any party. They represent every one in the constituency which elected them. Each one of them needs your help as never before. Assert your democratic right to govern. Tell your member what you think should be done and do so without delay.

There is one issue which overshadows all others. The Prime Minister of Canada has told us what that issue is. These are his own words: "There is only one way to meet total war, and that is by total effort." "We must maintain the Canadian army at full fighting strength." The Leader of British democracy told the people of Canada what total effort means. These were Winston Churchill's words: "In this strange, terrible world war there is a place for every one, man and woman, old and young, hale and halt. Service in a thousand forms is open. There is no room for the dilettante, for the weakling, for the shirker or the sluggard. The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea waves, the fields to till, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher—from the highest to the humblest, the tasks are all of equal honor. All have their part to play."

To fulfil that description of total effort is the first and foremost duty of the Parliament of Canada. The people of Canada must be told what part they are to play. They cannot guess. Every man and woman, strong or weak, old or young, must be guided by the Government to the post where they can contribute most to victory. We are conscious of the substantial efforts made throughout the war by the Canadian Government. We are anxious to assist them in making the vital decisions forced upon them by the events of the past few weeks. We do not believe that the people of Canada consider that their Government or its leader are in any way bound by undertakings given before the United States entered the war. This is no time for a referendum. The responsibility rests squarely on Parliament. The war will not wait.

There is only one way to meet total war—by total effort—that is to mobilize all our manpower and material resources under a plan of universal compulsory selective service. Those who can serve best on the farms must work on the farms. Those who can serve best in the factories must work in the factories. And those best fitted to serve in the armed forces must be trained, equipped, and available for service in Canada or overseas anywhere at any time. That is the only way that our farms, our factories and our armed forces can wage total war. No half measures are consistent with national honor.

If you agree with that opinion then it is your duty to tell your member NOW that you want him to insist upon the immediate adoption of such a plan. Tell him that you want the business of government brought into Parliament where it belongs. Tell him to inform Parliament, and through Parliament the whole of Canada, that the people of his riding advocate and will support any measures, however drastic, which will assure the last ounce of effort of which they are capable. To Canada's Parliament, which meets in a few short days Mr. Winston Churchill said this: "The enemy has asked for total war. Let us be sure that he gets it." Tell your member in the short time which still remains that you want to be sure that we do wage total war and that you want him to say so in your behalf on the floor of Parliament.

There is an added reason why you must act immediately if you believe that democracy is government by the people. Last week, President Roosevelt told one hundred and thirty million people of the United States where their armed forces are going to fight in this war. "As our power and resources are fully mobilized, we shall carry the attack against the enemy—we shall hit him and hit him again, wherever and whenever we can reach him." We are partners with the United States in this struggle. We signed a pact binding us to a common effort. National honor and the safety of our people demand that every man who wears the uniform of Canada be ready at all times to go overseas to hit the enemy wherever and whenever he can be reached. What a shameful travesty of justice it would be if we approved of unity of military command and failed to establish unity of sacrifice between nations. Canada's honor is at stake.

The Committee for Total War urges you to act without delay. Send your member a telegram, a letter or a postcard at once. This is your most important task. Your member represents you no matter what your party may be. He is your voice in Parliament. When you put downthis newspaper, act at once. If you agree with the opinion supported by this Committee, say so.

THRIFT IN SOUPS

Hello Homemakers! Soup's on! That old Scotch favourite is important when it really means what you say. For soup can be both tempting and substantial — and, of course, it's thrifty.

- V -

There are several types of soup. Clear soup is the aristocrat — a little goes a short way — and only paves the way to the main course. Thick legume or vegetable soup is practical, appetizing and wholesome — almost a meal in itself.

- V -

Then, there is cream soup. The expression 'cream' soup is misleading since we now use skim milk or the water in which the vegetables are cooked — not cream. Chowders are similar to cream soups but are thickened by adding flaked fish, pieces of meat or any vegetable — but tomatoes or no tomatoes, that's a question which can start a hot argument.

- V -

Served generously and well-seasoned, soups are ideal as a MAIN dish for any hungry family. To make soup still more tempting, serve it with plenty of crackers, melba toast, plain biscuits, pastry squares, or bread — inexpensive accompaniments. Along with the provincial cabbage salad and glorious golden dessert of canned peaches, or stewed apples — soup's on!

TAKE A TIP:

1 Planning menus in advance helps the food shopper. By doing this, she can often save pennies by buying foods in large quantities.
2 Compare prices of foods with equal values.
3 Read labels carefully so you will know exactly what is in the packages.
4 Buy in quantity when economical, especially such staples as sugar and flour.
5 Compare cost per ounce or pound of different sized packages.
6 Buy by weight rather than by the dime or dollar's worth.
7 To get the quality you pay for, buy by grade — for example, butter, eggs, beef, canned fruits and vegetables, etc.
8 Buy foods in season. Visit the local market and watch the Mixing Bowl Column to keep up to date on the food situation.
9 Check weights and purchases before you leave a store.
10 Notice the best method of cooking to retain the maximum amount of food value.

SIMPLE MEANS TO CONSERVE HEALTH

Hamilton — The general public failed to use the remarkable discoveries of science and medicine, which if properly used would prolong life, cure many diseases and make Canada a healthier nation. So said Dr. C. F. Davey, M.O.H. of Hamilton, Ont. in an article in a special health supplement published by the Hamilton Spectator.

Dr. Davey said: "In spite of this, however, the fact remains that our knowledge has overpassed our will to action. Too often we know what should be done or left undone, but fail to put this knowledge to practical use. Individually and collectively, we are almost above measure against the simplest and best known rules of good health. We know of foods with best nutritive values, discard them for non-essentials. We know immunization will protect, but neglect to be immunized; we know the dangers of focal infection, but continue to hold fast to dog, bad teeth or tonsils; we know that overfatigue, late hours, food fads and questionable habits contribute largely to reduced vitality and premature old age, but continue our indulgence against better judgment. We know that flies, rats, mosquitoes and vermin may and do help to spread disease, but we fail to take the necessary steps to eradicate them. We know that noxious odors, smoke nuisance that contribute to ill-health but, nevertheless these nuisances continue with very little serious effort toward their abatement; we know that neglected colds are very communicable and frequently lead to serious pulmonary, cardiac or renal trouble, but in spite of this, we continue to crowd ourselves in our business or in overcrowded street cars, coughing and sneezing our hacking indiscriminately, subjected to the infection of others, to our own detriment as well as theirs. We know that overeating, unnecessary fasts and worry contribute to high blood pressure, with resultant cardiac encounter, but we continue to overeat, fail to exercise and permit ourselves to assume our real without-much effort to remedy the situation. We know that poor housing, overcrowding, improper lighting, heating and ventilating facilities, lack of adequate sanitary conveniences, all contribute largely to ill-health and the spread of disease, but we allow these conditions to multiply in our midst, content with only a feeble cry here or there for their correction.

Danger! Liver Trouble is Serious

Are you nervous and irritable — can't sleep or eat — tired out all the time? If you're like that, a faulty liver is poisoning your whole system. Lasting ill health may be the cost!

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If your liver is sluggish, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver goes out of order proper digestion and nourishment stops—gases poison the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives" because this "liver tonic" tones up the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest-selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW! Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"Run Down For Years, Has Perfect Health"

I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My liver was sluggish—I had gas, indigestion—I was constipated. Nothing I took helped me. Then I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" — now I'm made me feel fine. Mrs. Roy Degraneau, Chatham, Ont.

"Long Years of Suffering, Now Full of Life"

For a long time I suffered from headaches and backaches. I had no relief until I tried "Fruit-a-tives". The pain became less frequently until a few weeks, they stopped entirely. "Fruit-a-tives" really made me feel like a new person. Mrs. A. J. Schwartz, Galt, Ont.

There has been criticism for a long time that the organization is "neither one thing nor the other," containing men fitted for active service along with those whose maximum capacity would be on home guard lines.

There was an attendance of approximately 100 for the evening session which was held in the auditorium.

The guest speaker, Rev. W. P. Fletcher, D.D., of Marmora, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of The United Church of Canada, was introduced by Rev. C. D. McLellan, who stated that in selecting Rev. Dr. Fletcher to give the opening address, religious education was specially recognized.

Beginning his address, Dr. Fletcher said that he was glad to be associated with the young people and asked the question: "What are you here for?" He stated that groups of young people are meeting all over the Dominion, this week, for the purpose of learning skill.

"There is a form of brutality in the war against us, and we should belong to the society of samaritans, instead of the priests and levites." He stated that the young people had gathered to learn skill in the art of life.

"I want you to see the immensity of your class and I appeal to you to understand God's great aims for you." Dr. Fletcher, who added: "God alone has no other way of carrying out His work except by people like you."

"You want something and that is to know the way and if you learn the purpose, the method will follow."

In referring to the old-time religion, the speaker said that something must be done to make the old-time religion better and particularly in the reconstruction days that will follow the present war. Dr. Fletcher told several stories, some of them of a humorous nature, to illustrate his points.

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn.

FER SCHOOL

ais week, a Winter School is being held panee The young people who are attend-nis school are taking their religion serious-
It is not an easy matter for young people oe able to leave their work for the best part a week. There are their jobs to think of and neir other responsibilities to be arranged for while away .There is hope for the future of our country when this sort of spirit is shown. The world is witnessing a terrific clash of mechanistic forces The causes are many. But perhaps the fundamental cause underlying all others is the attempt, during the last one hundred years, to run the world without any thought of religion. It is true that the churches have continued their efforts and their constructive work during that time. But, too often when the church tried to deal effectively with the social and economic problems, so-called hard-headed business men and politicians in polite language suggested the Church should stick to its gospel. We are not suggesting that the Church, as an organization should get into politics; but it is surely evident by now that, unless the new world is built on a Christian foundation, there is little hope for its permanence.

Summer schools and Winter schools run by the various denominations, have had a very profound influence on the youth leadership of this country. In the past, they have developed many Christian leaders in all walks of life. The group in Napanee, this week, represent many sections of the surrounding area and are doing constructive study. The best we could hope for our country is that every young man and woman would take a week in the winter and a similar period in the summer at one of these study groups, where a real foundation is laid for a Christian order. We wish these young people well, and hope they enjoy their stay among us.

THE REAL TEST

The comments which were current a few weeks ago sound pathetically purile in view of the situation which has developed since Japan entered the war. "One White Man is as good a ten Japs." "Only let Japan come up against a first class navy and see how long it will last." This is the sort of confidence in which we all shared. It is the sort of language which was all too common and which has evidence of a feeling of false security. Somehow or other, we felt that we were a bit better than other races. The Japanese were not quite in our class, no matter what they might do in China. Well, we have had to revise a bit of that sort of thing in the light of recent happenings. We are learning that one fellow man is as good as one white man, when he is behind a gun, or in a dive-bomber. We are learning as well to have a healthy respect for the magnificent qualities of the Chinese, who for four years have withstood the whole might of the Japanese army with inadequate and insufficient munitions.

One of the first things we have got to do if we ever hope to combat, successfully, any enemy, is not to underrate his powers, his ability and his capacity for work and for suffering. Perhaps we are learning this now, and if we are, it may be the initial mental adjustment necessary to a concerted all-out effort to win the war.

The way in which we put implicit faith in our own incompetence is amazing in retrospect. In every theatre of war we have failed to properly estimate the power of the enemy and to exagerate our own power. In England there is an uproar against this spirit, which has been responsible for so much loss of territory and so many reverses. This must end.
The British people must regain their ancient spirit. They can do this, if it is not too late.
At great expense of life and property and treasure, we are paying the price.

WHAT ABOUT IT ?

The Government announces a new loan will be floated in February. At the same time we are urged to save in order to have money for the loan. Paper, bones, iron — all sorts of things can be salvaged in order to meet the needs of the fighting forces. All of this we are agreed upon Every loyal citizen is anxious to save all he can and turn it into our war effort — which is not going any to well at the present moment.

But what is the Government doing about the greatest extravagance, the greatest waste the country knows — absolutely nothing. The traffic in intoxicating liquors. Canada has in operation 36 wineries, 61 breweries and distilleries. In 1940, the amount of liquor Canada was: Spirits, 3,818,409 proof wine, 4,012,912 bulk gallons; beer, bulk gallons. For this liquor the mounts were paid: Nova Scotia,
New Brunswick, $5,209,122; Que-

Saskatchewan, $13,913,941;

high wages in urban war factories,

The remedy must be as drastic as the situation is critical. It may require return of experienced farm labor from the fighting services to the land. It may require a federal care bonus to farm workers bringing their wage approximately up to the urban war factory rate. It may call for higher bonuses on farm products so that farmers can pay such high wages. It may call for greater state control of the whole business of agriculture in the Dominion. If this seems fantastic or too filled with political hazards, it might be added that any remedial measure no matter how drastic, is less painful than losing the war. — London Evening

THE FIEND

The following poem was from The Penarth Times, Penarth, Wales, and was sent in to The Beaver by Richard Garratt, Deseronto.

Old Nick arrived upon the earth,
Disguised as Santa Claus:
He was looking for a worthy cave
To carry on his cause.
He found a guy called Hitler,
As foul as foul could be:
He said "By all the devils
This is the blokte for me."
Nick made him chief commander,
To murder and to slay,
To hand out death and horror
As gifts for Christmas Day.
Old Nick said "He's a wonder,
And of all men the worst
He is the foulest creature
That ever walked or flew.
So when I take him from his earth
There's one thing worries me;
If I'm not very careful,
He'll rule Hell instead of me.
They say Hitler had a mother,
But of that I have a doubt;
I think he was conceived in Hell,
And somehow he got out."
He put the world in torment
With his bloody lust to slay—
Murdering defenceless folk
Who happened in his way.
But the time is swiftly coming
When you'll hear his frantic yell,
When we put him in his place
Back to the depths of Hell.
Old Nick will shout with fiendish glee,
And bid him not to wail;
Well take away his Swastika
And give him back his tail.

ALLIES PLAN NEW EUROPE

CENTRAL BUREAU REVIEWING INVADED COUNTRIES' POST - WAR NEEDS

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT)

Each of the invaded countries of Europe is now at work, through its Provisional Government in London, on an estimate of its own requirements for getting going again when the war is over, and a Central Bureau has been set up to co-ordinate these individual plans. The plans will be dovetailed together to make it possible to assess exactly what is wanted to carry through the whole job of European reconstruction.

Anyone who was in Europe at the close of the last great fighting must however confidently the people now under Nazi domination have their hopes on feeding their freedom when the time comes they will need the shiploads and shiploads of wheat, meat, the agriculture on which their future food supplies depend.

The collapse of the European war machine in 1918 was followed in many countries by terrible privations sometimes amounting to absolute famine. In Russia actually fourteen years, in Northern Europe Austria and Poland, horses, human beings and cities had been made useless and the soil badly was torn by shell-fire or hopelessly waterlogged. Throughout Europe the rapidly growing food shortage had driven the lower sections to the level of bare subsistence or below it. Health was undermined and epidemics spread unchecked with fearful rapidity. Communications and transport had broken down in varying degrees and the authority of central and local governments fell away with their material resources.

SPEED

That help from outside Europe would be required was realized long before the armistice was signed and no time went on great work was done by the American Relief Council, acting through the American Relief Administration and the American Red Cross. With their missions in the field as well as their private bodies on the Quakers and the American Red Cross spent many millions pounds were spent on relief.

But the need was not only of enormous extent and urgency, the machinery and the methods of relief were not adequate. After a breakdown in the whole economic system, [illegible] had to be improvised. Each [illegible] had to be improvised. Each [illegible] had to be improvised. Each

Conway - Sandhurst

Conway — Sandhurst, Jan. 19. — The cold, stormy weather which, so far, has been January, has given way to a thaw, which threatens to renove all our snow. The cold, heavy storms and severely cold weather, there has been no time when traffic has been held up and the regular visits of the snow plow keep the highway in fine condition.

Miss Flora Sloan, who was a patient in the Kingston Hospital recently, has returned to Sandhurst, much improved in health.

We extend hearty congratulations to Miss Betty Haight and Miss Jean Elwood Brown, Sharp's Corners, who recently passed their registration examinations as nurses.

Wray Morton, of Kingston, was a week end guest at his home in Conway.

Mrs. E. Hogeboom, who recently returned from treatment in Kingston General Hospital, is improving steadily at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Neilson Roddick, of Kingston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills, Sandhurst.

Mr. E. Kearns left on Saturday for Toronto to visit Mr. Irvin Wells, who is seriously ill at the home of his daughter. Mr. Wells is a former resident of Conway and is widely, and favorably known here. We sincerely wish for an improvement in his condition.

ALL war industries need rags . . . handfuls of rags . . . pounds of rags . . . tons of rags. And you can help supply them.

Without rag wipers to clean the cutting lubricant from planes, millers, drills, lathes, Canadian war workers would be inefficient, their output reduced, their efforts hampered.

Without rags, explosive plants would slow up, aeroplane factories would find their production cut and wheels of shell factories would dawdle.

Start an old-fashioned rag bag in your house today. All kinds of old, worn-out, too small and otherwise useless garments are badly needed by war industries—everything from cotton underwear to cotton shirts and ties—from Grandpa's red flannels to Grandson's seatless corduroy pants.

These are real sinews of war which you can supply. Every rag in your home should go to war industries through your Salvage Committee. Clean out and clean up on Hitler!

Conway - Sandhurst

Conway - Sandhurst, Jan. 19. — The cold, stormy weather which, so far, has been January, has given way to a thaw, which threatens to remove all our snow. In spite of heavy storms and severely cold weather, there has been no time when traffic has been held up, and the regular visits of the snow plow keep the highway in fine condition.

Miss Florence Sloan, who was a patient in the Kingston Hospital recently, has returned to Sandhurst, much improved in health.

We extend hearty congratulations to Miss Betty Haight and Miss Jean Hogeboom, Conway, who, recently passed their registration examinations as nurses.

Wm. Morton, of Kingston, was a week end guest at his home in Conway.

Mrs. E. Hogeboom, who recently returned from treatment in Kingston General Hospital, is improving steadily at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Roddick, of Kingston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills, Sandhurst.

Mr. E. Kearns left on Saturday for Toronto to visit Mr. Irvin Wells, who is seriously ill at the home of his daughter. Mr. Wells is a former resident of Conway and is widely and favorably known here. We sincerely wish for an improvement in his condition.

ALL war industries need rags . . . handfuls of rags . . . pounds of rags . . . tons of rags. And you can help supply them.

Without rag wipers to clean the cutting lubricant from planes, millers, drills, lathes, Canadian war workers would be inefficient, their output reduced, their efforts hampered.

Without rags, explosive plants would slow up, aeroplane factories would find their production cut, and wheels of shell factories would dawdle.

Start an old-fashioned rag bag in your house today. All kinds of old, worn-out, too small and otherwise useless garments are badly needed by war industries—everything from cotton underwear to old shirts and ties—from Grandpa's red flannels to Grandson's seatless corduroy pants.

These are real sinews of war which you can supply. Every rag in your home should go to war industries through your Salvage Committee. Clean out and clean up on Hitler!

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.
— Virginia Cowles.
A unique and dramatic eye-witness account of the war from Spain in 1936 to the crucial present. This personal history, rich with humour and personalities, is acclaimed by outstanding critics as a book of extraordinary interest, brilliant and fascinating.
PATTERN OF CONQUEST.
— Hosking.
A vivid picture of Germany at war with particular emphasis on what the Third Reich means in terms of physical and moral strength, weakness and hopes. This is an ominous book but not a gloomy one. The same time is reassuring, for it tallies the weaknesses of Nazi Germany as well as the invincible spirit of the free.
THE R. A. F. IN ACTION.

POPULATION SET AT 11½ MILLION

Ottawa. — The population of Canada as revealed in the census that June will be announced in preliminary figures in a few days. These figures, subject to correction, are expected to show a population somewhat in excess of 11,500,000. The "estimate" of 1940 was 11,386,000 but that was not a census based on vital statistics and other relevant data.

The war and the more comprehensive questioning in last June's census schedule" account for the delay. There has been both checking and double-checking of men in the armed forces, first to see they are not overlooked and then that they are not counted twice.

The new statistics are unlikely to bring about much change in representation of the respective provinces in Parliament, though there will be a few variations. — The Montreal Star.

TAMWORTH

Tamworth, Jan. 19.—At the first meeting of the year of the Happy Elves Mission Band of the United Church, which was held in the League Room of the church on Wednesday at 4:00 p.m., the new Superintendent of the Band, Mrs. Manley Marshall, and the members held a most interesting meeting, with about 20 members present. During this meeting the former Superintendent of the Band, Mrs. W. H. Truscott, was presented by Doris Bennett, Miss Joy Donovan, with a beautiful silvered glass bon bon dish, which was accompanied with a most suitable address. Mrs. Truscott made suitable reply, and thanked the Band for their thoughtfulness, also for their co-operation while she was Superintendent.

A very entertaining concert was held in the Town Hall on Friday night. This was sponsored by the Women's Institute and was given by Mr. Gordon Snider and party, of Shannonville. While there were only five in the group, a full two hours' program was enjoyed by all present. It consisted of quartettes, solos, duets, comic sketches, and sword dancing as well as the Highland fling.

The young people are enjoying the skating at the local rink. Mr. Boyce Steele is in charge of the rink. The first hockey match this season will be played next Saturday night between Tamworth and Napanee.

Ice harvesting has started during the past week. It is reported that the ice is of good thickness and splendid quality.

Mrs. Edwin Thake of Kingston is visiting at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. St. Tucker.

Mrs. Jessie Clark of Arden visited during the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schoolcraft.

Mr. Wm. Haggerty, Mrs. Adam Milligan and Mrs. Roland Glenn are patients in the Kingston General Hospital.

HAWLEY

HYDRO
THE HUM OF IS THE Voice of Victory

● The war calls everyone to a post in 'the front line'—in or out of uniform—and your Hydro answers "Ready!" Giant energy, tapped from Ontario's waters, flows over 6,000 miles of transmission lines to shops, mills, factories, foundries, mines and shipyards—wherever the tools of victory are being forged.

It may be simply shell-casings, or it may be thundering tanks, swift, sturdy corvettes or sky-filling planes. Whatever it is, Hydro energy is there to speed the work in a thousand plants.

Your Hydro was ready for war-time industry. Ontario's citizens can take pride in that. And, outside of industries, Hydro is supplying the needs of 600,000 users in city homes and 131,000 users in rural districts.

Of course, war-time needs have first call on Hydro power. Furthermore—there must be a sparing use of metals and materials once commonly used in extending Hydro service. These are recommended in war industries—vital to victory!

New projects, new war plants with new machines for new production are on the way. Hydro must and will supply the power needed. To this end, Hydro earnestly solicits the cooperation of all of the people of Ontario.

WARTIME HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

You can save current consumption by having your electrical dealer or local 'Hydro' put your appliances in first-class working order. Cook several courses at one time in the electric oven, using bottom element only. Never leave the kitchen with elements on 'high'. Operate the automatic controls as directed.

THE HUM OF HYDRO IS THE Voice of Victory

● The war calls everyone to a post in 'the front line'—in or out of uniform—and your Hydro answers "Ready!" Giant energy, tapped from Ontario's waters, flows over 6,000 miles of transmission lines to shops, mills, factories, foundries, mines and shipyards—wherever the tools of victory are being forged.

It may be simply shell-casings, or it may be thundering tanks, swift, sturdy corvettes or sky-filling planes. Whatever it is, Hydro energy is there to speed the work in a thousand plants.

Your Hydro was ready for war-time industry. Ontario's citizens can take pride in that. And, outside of industries, Hydro is supplying the needs of 600,000 users in city homes and 131,000 users in rural districts.

Of course, war-time needs have first call on Hydro power. Furthermore—there must be a sparing use of metals and materials once commonly used in extending Hydro service. These are demanded in war industries—vital to victory!

New projects, new war plants with new machines for new production are on the way. Hydro must and will supply the power needed. To this end, Hydro earnestly solicits the co-operation of all of the people of Ontario.

REMEMBER—it's YOUR HYDRO SYSTEM—

LONG MOTOR LIFE is one reason why hundreds of thousands of motorists have switched to Today's SUNOCO OIL

Here's how SUNOCO OIL prolongs your motor's life

Now- MADE TO MAKE MOTORS RUN BETTER LONGER

1 Gives sure protection at high speeds

This laboratory device tests the flow characteristics of one oil against another. Note how—under identical conditions of heat and pressure—Sunoco Oil rises higher in its tube, flows in greater volume than a higher-priced competitive oil. This means safe cooling action, sure protection against wear

2 Retards the formation of harmful sludge

Here are magnified sections of two oil pump screens. One is choked with sticky sludge that restricts oil flow, prevents proper lubrication, results in unnecessary wear. The other is clean—because Sunoco Oil retards the formation of harmful sludge deposits even under the severest driving conditions.

3 Helps keep motors clean, free of hard carbon & varnish

In the laboratory this "split" piston and rings were subjected to extreme heat. A higher-priced competitive oil, when dripped on the left, deposited powder-killing carbon on the piston head—formed varnish which stuck the piston rings tightly in their grooves. Note the contrast on the Sunoco side—piston head clean, piston rings free

NEVER BEFORE HAVE WE MADE AN OIL WITH SUCH STAMINA

The congregational meeting of the United Church was held on the evening of the 15th in the Orange Hall. The minister's salary and the pointing of the church were reported paid in full, and all reports were satisfactory. Election of officers of the Sunday School also took place at this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McKnight spent Sunday at Godfrey.

The next in the series will be presented early in February. Everyone is welcome. There is no charge in connection.

The wind and snow over the week-end made it very hard going on the highways. The services in both churches were held as usual although the attendance was not as good. The ice has formed in the bay and all traffic by ferry or motorboat has been abandoned. The ice is not fit for travelling as yet although it is hoped to be safe in the near future, if this zero weather continues.

MAN ON FARM IS ESSENTIAL TO WAR EFFORT

The man on the farm was as essential to Canada's war effort as a soldier in the trenches, declared C. E. Lackner, Director of Dairying for Ontario told members of the Eastern Ontario Conservation Convention in session at the Experimental Farm.

And the cheesemaker especially, does as great a national service as if he were the uniform of one of the active fighting forces, declared Mr. Lackner.

A raw hand could be trained within a matter of weeks as a skilled munitions worker, but it took years to develop a good cheesemaker.

MEAT ACCOMPANIMENTS

Hello Homemakers! — We are still discussing the problem of how to make the Meat Dollar go farther. It takes planning and imagination, but there are various ways of accomplishing this. You should not feel satisfied with a brown gravy for the different meats — because that's only the beginning — learn to serve appetizing meat accompaniments.

- V -

Your Sunday roast should be large and of good quality because there is less shrinkage to it — provided you cook it with your usual care. Make your roast really economical by the trimmings you add. Every family enjoy Yorkshire pudding, baked apples, or bread stuffing served along with meat. Meat can be used in many ways, like Grandmother's best dress which was altered and reinforced until it finally ended in the bag of rug-rags.

- V -

When serving your roast after the first day, don't overlook the miracles that can be worked with those tasty sauces that give zest to the flavour and the family appetite. This will provide an attractive meal and at the same time keep the meat budget down. You will find your seasoning shelf very helpful and essential in concocting these different sauces. If you haven't already started one, build up your seasoning shelf now—the initial cost is small and there's practically no upkeep. It should include Bay Leaves, Curry Powder, English Worcestershire Sauce, Home-made Chili Sauce, Paprika, Garlic and Vinegar — they all have so many uses.

RECIPES

Grape Horseradish Sauce:
Two teaspoons cornstarch
One cup water
Half-cup grape jelly.
One tablespoon vinegar
Two tablespoons horseradish
Three tablespoons baking fat
One-quarter teaspoon salt

Mix cornstarch and water in saucepan. Add remaining ingredients and cook until slightly thickened, stirring constantly.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce:
One cup medium white sauce
Two egg yolks
One tablespoon vinegar
Two tablespoons butter

Make white sauce, add beaten egg yolks. When thickened and smooth, add vinegar slowly, stirring it in carefully to prevent curdling. Add butter. Beat. Serve immediately.

Tartare Sauce:
Half-cup mayonnaise
One tablespoon chopped chives
One teaspoon minced onion
Two tablespoons chopped pickle

Combine ingredients in order named.

Peppercorn Sauce:
One and one-half cups stock
One teaspoon grated onion
One teaspoon grated carrot
Four peppercorns
Spring of parsley
Four tablespoons butter
Four tablespoons flour
One cup milk
Half-teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper

Pour stock into a saucepan. Add onion, carrot, parsley and peppercorns. Simmer on electric element turned to LOW for ten minutes. OFF for ten minutes. Strain. Melt butter, blend in flour, stir in hot stock, stirring to make a smooth sauce. Add milk slowly. Cook until thickened and smooth. Season well.

TAKE A TIP

1 Do not throw away the juices from canned vegetables; use in mayonnaise, soups, as a liquid to make dumplings or stews. They also make excellent breakfast beverages.
2 Do not waste cheese by improper storage. Wrap it in a cheesecloth that has been wrung out of vinegar. Put in a waxed box and store in a cool place. When cloth is dry, moisten again.
3 Remember that olive oil and vegetable oils are liable to become rancid when left open unless they are kept chilled.
4 Substitute mineral oil for olive oil in cooking. It is tasteless and has an advantage over other oils in that it is not absorbed by the system.
5 Substitute lard for expensive or imported cooking fats. A teaspoon-ful of vinegar added to the lard used for frying will prevent the food from absorbing too much fat.

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. M.V.T. writes:
Please publish recipe for Brown Sugar Scones.

Brown Sugar Scones:
Three and half cups pastry flour
Three teaspoons baking powder
Half-teaspoon salt
Six tablespoons lard
Six tablespoons butter
One cup brown sugar
One egg
About three-quarters cup milk
One cup raisins

Measure flour and add baking powder and salt. Cream butter with lard and blend in the sugar. Sift the dry ingredients alternately with enough milk to make a soft dough. Add raisins and the white of an egg which has been stiffly beaten. Turn out on lightly floured board; pat or roll to half-inch thickness. Cut in squares. Bake on greased pan in electric oven at 425 deg. for fifteen minutes.

Mrs. J.V.C. asks:

Farm Girls To Receive Badges For Farm Work

Will Receive Farm Service Force Insignia on Registration, says Miss Florence P. Eadie.

Ontario farm girls are needed to produce food on the home farm this year, says Miss Florence P. Eadie, director of Homemaking Club work for rural junior girls, Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Farm girls, with village, town and city girls, will be called on this year as never before, to aid in the production of food.

Miss Eadie suggests that farm girls at home should now plan to assume responsibility for some particular work on the home farm this year. She should assign herself daily work which might include care of poultry and milking. Seasonal undertakings of importance would include the planting and weeding of the home vegetable garden. A physically fit and willing farm daughter could also help by driving horses or tractor and might assist in hoeing and other farm jobs.

Girls from twelve to sixteen years of age who are at home on the farm may register for farm service with the Ontario Farm Service Force.

Application for registration should be made immediately to one of the following: leader of Homemaking Club; Secretary of Women's Institute; County Home Economics Coach or Florence P. Eadie, Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

The Ontario Department of Labor will issue Farm Service Force badges on completion of registration and certificates will be issued in September to girls whose records show they have rendered National Farm Service.

MINISTER NOT DISTURBED BY EPIDEMIC OF FARM SALES

"I was informed today that there are five auction sales to be held in this district shortly. This may not be unusual since auction sales have been more or less epidemic since I was a boy." The above is reported as a direct quotation from an address by Hon. Jas. G. Gardiner in Arthur recently. Farm people knowing that there is an epidemic of auction sales this fall on a scale seldom experienced in this province will find little solace in the official attitude implied by the above statement of the federal minister. Does it mean that in the face of a graver emergency than any ever faced by free nations and when the production of food is as vital as the production of machines of war, the Canadian Government is indifferent to a farm situation which, instead of encouraging an enthusiastic wave of maximum food production, is the cause of the worst labor shortage ever experienced and a record number of farmers going out of farm production?— H. Hannam, President Canadian Federation of Agriculture, in The Rural Co-operator.

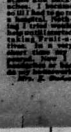
Look Out! A Sick Liver is Dangerous

Have persistent headaches and backaches? Are you bothered by rheumatic pains in muscles and joints? A sick liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body. Upon instant action depends your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If healthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. If your liver pours out bile to digest food, it's at once and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment follows—you're poisoned with the waste that festers in your intestines. Nervous aches and rheumatic pains arise from this poisoning. You become constipated, stomach and bowels can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headachey, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey to colds and disease.

Millions of people are never sick, and have constant relief from these miseries with Dr. Chase's Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets. The fruit juices tone up the other organs functions and leaving good health results. Dr. Chase's Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's leading liver tablets. They must be good or you would NOT sell them. Get "Fruit-a-tives" today—and be on the road to lasting health—a new person. 25c, 50c.



"Always In Pain, Now Feels Great"

"I suffered so badly from rheumatism and neuritis I could hardly walk upstairs or close my hands. After taking Fruit-a-tives for four days the swelling left my joints and I have been able to climb a ladder. I have no more bother with rheumatism or neuritis and advise any person suffering as I have to use Fruit-a-tives. They give quick relief."
William J. Tracey, Toronto, Ont.

"Sick For Years, In Hospital—Now Well"

"I had a bad case of biliousness and constant headaches and dizzy spells. I became so ill I had to go to hospital. Doctors said I had stomach trouble, biliousness and a bad liver. After taking Fruit-a-tives I felt fine. I am now well and strong and can do my housework. I thank Fruit-a-tives for my good health."

MAN ON FARM IS ESSENTIAL TO WAR EFFORT

The man on the farm was as essential to Canada's war effort as a man in one of the armed services, C. E. Lackner, Director of Dairying for Ontario told members of the Eastern Ontario Cheesemakers' convention in session at the Experimental Farm.

"And the cheesemaker especially, does as great a national service as if he wore the uniform of one of the active fighting forces," declared Mr. Lackner.

A raw hand could be trained within a matter of weeks as a skilled munitions worker, but it took years to develop a good cheesemaker.

MEAT ACCOMPANIMENTS

Hello Homemakers! — We are still discussing the problem of how to make the Meat Dollar go farther. It takes planning and imagination, but there are various ways of accomplishing this. You should not feel satisfied with a brown gravy for the different meats — because that's only the beginning — learn to serve appetizing meat accompaniments.

- V -

Your Sunday roast should be large and of good quality because there is less shrinkage to it — provided you cook it with your usual care. Make your roast really—economical by the trimmings you add. Every family enjoy Yorkshire pudding, baked apples, or bread stuffing served along with meat. Meat can be used in many ways, like Grandmother's best dress which was altered and reinforced until it finally ended in the bag of rag-rugs.

- V -

When serving your roast after the first day, don't overlook the miracle that can be worked with those tasty sauces that give zest to the flavour and the family appetite. This will provide an attractive meal and at the same time keep the meat budget down. You will find your seasoning shelf very helpful and essential in concocting these different sauces. If you haven't already started one, build up your seasoning shelf now—the initial cost is small and there's practically no upkeep. It should include Bay Leaves, Curry Powder, English Worcestershire Sauce, Homemade Chili Sauce, Paprika, Garlic and Vinegar — they all have so many uses.

TAKE A TIP

1 Do not throw away the juices from canned vegetables; use in mayonnaise, soups, as a liquid to make dumplings or stews. They also make excellent breakfast beverages.

2 Do not waste cheese by improper storage. Wrap it in a cheesecloth that has been wrung out of vinegar. Put in a waxed box and store in a cool place. When cloth is dry, moisten again.

3 Remember that olive oil and vegetable oils are liable to become rancid when left open unless they are kept chilled.

4 Substitute mineral oil for olive oil in cooking. It is tasteless and has an advantage over other oils in that it is not absorbed by the system.

5 Substitute lard for expensive or imported cooking fats. A teaspoonful of vinegar added to the lard used for frying will prevent the food from absorbing too much fat.

Farm Girls To Receive Badges For Farm Work

Will Receive Farm Service Force Insignia on Registration, says Miss Florence P. Eadie.

Ontario farm girls are needed to produce food on the home farm this year, says Miss Florence P. Eadie, director Homemaking Club work for rural junior girls, Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Farm girls, with village, town and city girls, will be called on this year as never before, to aid in the production of food.

Miss Eadie suggests that farm girls at home should now plan to assume responsibility for some particular work on the home farm this year. She should assign herself daily work which might include care of poultry and milking. Seasonal undertakings of importance would include the planting and weeding of the home vegetable garden. A sincerely interested willing farm daughter could also help by driving tractors on tractor and might assist in hoeing and other farm jobs.

Girls from twelve to sixteen years of age who are at home on the farm may register for farm service with the Ontario Farm Service Force.

Application or registration should be made immediately to one of the following leader of Homemaking Club; Secretary of Women's Institute, County Home Economics Coach or Florence P. Eadie, Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

The Ontario Department of Labor will issue Farm Service Force badges on completion of registration and certificates will be issued in September to girls whose records show they have rendered National Farm Service.

MINISTER NOT DISTURBED BY EPIDEMIC OF FARM SALES

"I was informed today that there are five auction sales to be held in this district shortly. This may not be unusual since auction sales have been more or less common ever since I was a boy." The above is reported as a direct statement from on address by Hon. Jas. G. Gardiner in Arthur recently. Farm people know that the absence in an epidemic of auction sales this fall on a scale seldom experienced in this province will find little solace in the official attitude implied by the above statement of the federal minister. Does it mean that in the face of a graver emergency than any ever faced by free nations and when the production of food is as vital as the production of machines of war, the Canadian Government is indifferent to a farm situation which insead of encouraging an enthusiastic wave of maximum food production, is the cause of the worst labor shortage ever experienced and a record number of farmers going out of farm production?— H. Hannam, President Canadian Federation of Agriculture, in The Rural Co-operator.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

GRACE CHURCH W. M. S.

The opening meeting of 1942 was held January 6th, in the Sunday School rooms with a splendid attendance.

Mrs. Booth, the new president, was in the chair and after the singing of the National Anthem and prayer, read a beautiful prayer poem which was very fitting to the New Year meeting.

A very edifying and encouraging report for 1941 was presented by the treasurer, making us feel that last year was successful financially and otherwise. Mrs. Booth extended thanks for honor conferred on her, and expressed the belief that with the cooperation and prayers of all, we may have a successful year.

A most interesting letter from a young member at Cow Hill, was read by our Supply Secretary, expressing gratitude for a parcel Layette she had received from our society.

Following the above period the program and worship period were conducted by members of the executive, with Mrs. C. D. McLellan presiding. In opening she likened 1942 to a book of 365 pages. The theme for the meeting was, "Faith in God's Holy Spirit" and as a response to phrases of scripture, pertaining to the fruits of the spirit, Mrs. Gerald Simms sang as a prayer, hymn 154. Mrs. Lewis gave a meditation on the theme which was most inspirational, closing it with a beautiful poem and prayer in unison.

The Study Book, as usual, proved most interesting, dealing with the decade, 1911 to 1921. Miss Hazel VanAlstine was assisted by Mrs. Correll and Mrs. P. Vine representing missionaries, who answered questions referring to the work of that period.

A hymn and prayer closed a very helpful meeting.

FOURTH LINE W. A.

The January meeting of the Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. S. M. Reid, and after the opening hymn, the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the roll call was responded to by goodly number. The treasurer's report was given.

The election of officers for the year 1942 resulted as follows: President, Mrs. E. A. Wright; Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Hagerman; Secretary, Mrs. H. J. Hagerman; Treasurer, Mrs. H. M. Reid, Mrs. Horace Denyes, Mrs. Wm. Robson.

Mrs. Wright expressed her sincere thanks to the members for their kind co-operation and loyalty in the past year and requested the same reliable assistance in the year 1942.

A programme in charge of Mrs. Jas. Robson, followed. It opened with a hymn and Mr. S. C. H. Atkinson led in prayer. Mrs. Fred Macracken read the scripture lesson and readings were given by Mrs. H. M. Reid, Mrs. Ford Denyes, Mrs. J. E. Hagerman and Mrs. Jas. Robson.

Difference Between PLEBISCITE AND REFERENDUM

Briefly, in a referendum, the public vote makes the decision. In a plebiscite, the result is not necessarily binding.

The concise Oxford Dictionary puts it this way:

PLEBISCITE: Direct vote of all electors of state on important public questions; public expression of community's opinion with or without binding force.

REFERENDUM: Referring of certain political questions or of such questions under certain circumstances to the electorate for direct decision by a general vote on the single question.

LETTER OF THANKS FOR MAGAZINES SENT TO SAILORS

Mr. H. E. Follis, who is in charge of the Lions Club project of collecting magazines for the members of the Canadian Navy, received the following letter of thanks from an official of the Naval Vessels Reading Service, Halifax, N.S.

January 23rd, 1942.

Lions Club,
Napanee, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Follis, — Your cartons of selected reading matter arrived safely and are already in the hands of the sailors. We greatly appreciate your co-operation and you can assure those who collected the material in any way that their much needed help has delighted the hearts of many sailors.

We get many magazines dated as far back as 1919, and although they are not wanted it is a pleasure to open your cartons and feel that they could be used for the immediate handing.

Should any of your Napanee Lions visit Halifax we should be very pleased to show them over our Library.

Many many thanks. You have been most helpful.

Yours very sincerely,
Irene Griffiths.
Vice-President.

The response to the appeal for used magazines has been very generous and a large shipment was made a few weeks ago.

3-4 LBS. SUGAR LIMIT EACH WEEK FOR CANADIANS

Order Went Into Effect First of this Week

Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced Sunday, in a special broadcast, that effective immediately Canadians will be subject to an average limit of three-quarters of a pound per week for every person, man, woman and child, the amount of sugar that may be consumed.

Commencing last Monday it will be unlawful to purchase more than two weeks' supply at a time or to purchase any sugar for household use if their is two weeks' supply or more on hand. Those who have on hand more than two weeks' supply, may not purchase more sugar until consumption at the rate of three-quarters of a pound per person per week has reduced the amount on hand to less than two weeks' supply.

The immediate supply of sugar in Canada is satisfactory and it is expected that shipments of sugar into Canada will continue at a rate to provide amply for future needs. It is expected the new order will result in a saving of at least 100,000 tons per annum.

There will be no ration cards issued, but violation of the regulations will lead to a fine up to $5,000 or two years imprisonment.

REGULATIONS SUMMARIZED

The following is a summary of sugar rationing regulations:

1 The ration is three-quarters of a pound per person per week, including adults, children and infants; members of the family, boarders, servants and guests who remain for four days or more.

2 Purchase your sugar in the ordinary way, but not more than two week's supply at a time. No coupons, stamps or tickets are required.

3 Do not purchase any sugar if you have two weeks' supply on hand.

4 Persons in remote areas who are not able to buy every week or two weeks may continue to buy several months' supply at a time, but should measure their requirements at the ration rate, namely, three-quarters of a pound per person per week.

5 Lumber camps and other firms providing meals to their employees, must see that consumption is restricted to three-quarters of a pound per week per person, effective immediately.

6 Economize on sugar when you can; some people can get along on less than the ration. Those eating in restaurants are also asked to restrict their sugar consumption.

7 Additional supplies of sugar will be made available for those preserving and canning at the proper season.

8 The ration affects only cane and beet sugar.

9 Industrial users of sugar and hospitals and other institutions will be advised by the sugar administrator how the sugar restrictions will affect them.

CANADA WILL ADOPT NATION-WIDE DAYLIGHT SAVING FEB. 9th AT 2 A.M.

Ottawa, Jan. 26, — Daylight Saving time will be applied throughout Canada on and after February 9th, State Secretary McLarty announced Monday. The ruling is effective as and from 2:00 a.m. standard time on February 9th. The time will be one hour in advance of accepted standard time.

The Minister said the reason for choosing the hour of 2:00 a.m. was that transportation companies in the United States went on daylight saving time at that hour.

"If Canadian transportation companies were to continue to operate on standard time in the various time zones, it would result in serious dislocation or an interference with essential business associated with the war effort," Mr. McLarty said.

"This will mean that the Canadian railways will proceed to adjust all time tables to daylight saving time."

The order was made by the Governor - in - Council under the War Measures Act and is in effect "until otherwise ordered."

Mr. McLarty said daylight saving time has been in force in the United Kingdom, both summer and winter, since the war started. Since September 1940, summer daylight time, which has been in force in certain cities and other municipalities in Ontario and Quebec, has been continued throughout the year.

The measure is designed as a means of saving electrical power, making as much as possible available in war industry.

Difference Between PLEBISCITE AND REFERENDUM

Briefly, in a referendum, the public vote makes the decision. In a plebiscite, the result is not necessarily binding.

The concise Oxford Dictionary puts it this way:

PLEBISCITE: Direct vote of all electors of state on important public questions; public expression of community's opinion with or without binding force.

REFERENDUM: Referring of certain political questions or of such questions under certain circumstances to the electorate for direct decision by a general vote on the whole country.

3-4 LBS. SUGAR LIMIT EACH WEEK FOR CANADIANS

Order Went Into Effect First of this Week

Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced Sunday, in a special broadcast, that effective immediate, b Canadians will be subject to an order of the board fixing at three-quarters of a pound per week for every person, man, woman and child, the amount of sugar that may be consumed.

Commencing last Monday it will be unlawful to purchase more than two weeks' supply at a time or to purchase any sugar for household use if there is two weeks' supply or more on hand. "There will be no ration cards issued, but violation of the regulations will lead to a fine up to $5,000 or one year's imprisonment.

3 Do not purchase any sugar if you have two weeks' supply on hand.

4 Persons in remote areas who are not able to buy every week or two weeks may continue to buy several months' supply at a time, but should measure their requirements at the ration rate, namely, three-quarters of a pound per week.

5 Lumber camps and other firms providing meals to their employees must see that consumption is reattracted to three-quarters of pound per week per person, effective immediately.

6 Restrictions on sugar when you can't come people can get along on less than the ration. Those eating in restaurants are also asked to restrict their sugar consumption.

CANADA WILL ADOPT NATION-WIDE DAYLIGHT SAVING FEB. 9th AT 2 A.M.

Ottawa, Jan. 26. — Daylight Saving Time will be applied throughout Canada on and after February 9th, State Secretary McLarty announced Monday. The ruling is effective as and from 2:00 a.m. standard time on February 9th. The time will be one hour in advance of accepted standard time.

The Minister said the reason for choosing the hour of 2:00 a.m. was that transportation companies in the United States went on daylight saving time at that hour.

"If Canadian transportation companies were to continue to operate on standard time in the various time zones, it would result in serious dislocation or an interference with essential business associated with the war effort," Mr. McLarty said.

"This will mean that the Canadian railways will proceed to adjust all time tables to daylight saving time."

The order was made by the Governor - in - Council under the War Measures Act and is effective "until otherwise ordered."

Mr. McLarty said daylight saving time has been in force in the United Kingdom, both summer and winter, since the war started. Since September 1940, summer daylight time, which has been in force in certain cities and other municipalities in Ontario and Quebec, has been continued throughout the year.

The measure is designed as a means of saving electrical power, making as much as possible available in war industry.

SERIOUS FIRE DESTROYS HOME AND CONTENTS

Several thousand dollars damage was done by a fire which broke out about 1:30 a.m. on Monday in the Miller Apartments, Piety Hill, occupied by D. P. Roblin and William McIntosh. Serious damage was done by fire, water and smoke to the interior of the building and the contents were almost entirely ruined, mostly from the effects of smoke and water. The lower apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh was rented furnished from Capt. and Mrs. C. D. Sills, who are now at Petawawa. The fire was thought to have started from an overheated furnace which caused an explosion.

The fire was discovered by Mr. McIntosh who raised the alarm and warned Mr. and Mrs. Roblin who live in the second floor apartment. When Mr. Roblin attempted to come down the front stairs he found the hall and stairway ablaze. The Roblins were able to save only their clothing and a few small articles.

Great difficulty was experienced by the firemen in fighting the fire because it was confined mostly to the partitions. The firemen worked at the residence until 6:00 a.m.

The house, formerly the residence of the late F. P. Miller and Mrs. Miller, who now resides at Oakville, was made into apartments a few years ago by Mr. Gordon Miller, Belleville, the present owner. It has been occupied since it was remodelled by Mr. and Mrs. Roblin and Captain and Mrs. Sills. Last Fall when Mrs. Sills left to join Captain Sills at Petawawa, she sublet the apartment, furnished, to Mr. and Mrs. William McIntosh, formerly of Belleville.

PLAY THE GAME

There has been quite a run on sugar lately. In the United States, the situation became serious, and the Government has announced that ration cards will be issued in the near future, so that everybody will share and share alike. In Canada, we had a similarly serious situation, shortly after our country entered the war. But, confidence in the ability of the sugar industry to meet normal demands was soon restored. But now, the Government has had to appeal to the people to adopt a for mof voluntary rationing. Three-quarters of a pound per person, per week, is the amount which is allowed under the scheme. There is no machinery for enforcing the regulation at the present. It is hoped that the people will play the game, and refuse to hoard. Some people will argue that laying in a few pounds is not hoarding, it is merely providing against future unforseen contingencies. But apart from the fact that there is a fine of five-thousand dollars for such saving, it must not be forgotten that every person who is purchasing more than they are entitled to, is robbing some one else of their share. In this war, all must co-operate in every possible way. There is absolutely no hope of victory apart from the whole-hearted, unselfish co-operation of all parties in the nation.

The Government is placing a good deal of faith in us when suggesting voluntary rationing. To be worthy of that faith, every householder must play the game and limit the purchase of sugar to the amount permitted under the regulation.

MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Recently, in a train, we shared our seat with a young flying man. Off for a holiday ? we asked to open conversation. "Yes, our forty-eight" he answered. And he added, "I think I would just as soon have staved in camp this time. You see the C.W.A.A.F's arrived a few days ago, and Boy, are they a smart group !" he confided. From then on there was no lag in the conversation. The snappy appearance of the C.W.A.A.F.'s; the way they could drill; the effect their appearance in the camp had created — all this and related subjects filled the hour.

A few years ago the suggestion that our girls would be in uniform, doing war work alongside men, would have brought forth a storm of protest. Indeed, when we learned that in Russia women were in the army, we concluded such procedure might be well enough for the Russians, but not for us.

But the present war has changed a great many things, and among them the attitude of the public to women serving in the forces. We have had the opportunity of meeting many who have returned from overseas within recent months, and each, without exception has waxed eloquent over the way in which the women of Great Britain have carried on during the most trying and hazardous situations. When the history of the War comes to be written, a large place will be given to the contribution which the women have made. Of course, they have always made a vital contribution. The amazing amount of work which is done, week after week, by the Red Cross, Daughters of the Empire, and war service groups of all sorts, is simply staggering, even to a community such as our own. How these women, still carrying on their household, church and social obligations, can continue to produce so much knitted goods, is beyond the ability of mere man to comprehend.

But now, in addition to this service which women have always rendered, is this newer service. Under proper supervision, and military discipline, the young women are replacing men for more strenuous work, in many activities within the camp. Those who have had experience with camp life, railroad or lumbering, know well enough the difference in spirit in those in which there are women. Their presence is felt, their influence is always observable. This will undoubtedly be the situation when the C.W.A.A.F.'s get settled, and the novelty of their presence wears off.

THE PLEBISCITE

There is much to be said against holding a plebiscite in the midst of a war, particularly on such a controversial subject as the selective draft. It will cost money when money is much needed; it will divert the attention of men and women from essential war work; it will delay the calling of men for the armed forces, men so urgently needed. All this is true.

On the other hand, the Premier of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King, was elected on a definite pledge given several times, that conscription for overseas service would not be introduced if the government of which he was the responsible head was returned to power. That was a definite pledge given the people more than once by the Premier. The change of circumstances, not altogether foreseen when the election took place, has made necessary a reconsideration of the position which the Premier then took. As we see it, he was bound to keep faith with the people. How can we ever hope to trust democracy, responsible government and our leaders, if having been elected on one platform, those leaders desert it when the pressure to do so becomes heavy.

Three courses of action was open to the Government. The Prime Minister could have gone to the country in a general election on the conscription issue. He could have resigned from office and allowed someone else to carry on—or he could do as he has done, order a plebiscite, which would absolve Mr. King from his pre-election pledges. Probably, the course Mr. King has taken, much as we dislike it, is the one which will cause the least national upset, and enable the Government to change its policy with the consent of the people.

Of course, all this is on the assumption that the present Government intends to carry on the war effort on its own. We believe that a National Government, in which Labor, C.C.F., Conservatives and Liberals would all be represented, would insure a much more wholehearted political concentration on the war effort. Since that is to be denied us, the next best thing is to accept the plebiscite, make as little fuss about it as possible and get on with the job.

V

DRAFTING WEALTH

A resolution has been passed by our County Council, urging that conscription of wealth be included in the forthcoming plebiscite. We are all for the resolution. This paper has more than once expressed itself in favour of such a policy. Long before the present war broke out, that was the position we held. If our manpower is to be used at the discretion of the Government; if the Government is to have the right to say that, in a time of emergency, a man's body and talents should be conscripted by the State, then, all money should also be at the disposal of the Government.

What causes us most concern is as to how this could be carried out. Probably not all who urge conscription of wealth see its implications. Mr. Wagar, of Denbigh, is reported at the Council to have said: "There are still millions of dollars lying idle and it is just as fair to take this money as to take our boys." There is truth in that. But what we must be careful about is the danger of loose thinking. What Mr Wagar had in mind, apparently, was not conscription of money, but a capital levy. There are countries in which that is now the practice. In those places the Government takes a proportion of a person's capital account.

That is one thing, but conscription of wealth or of money is another. Very little of the wealth of the country is in actual cash; more, of course, exists in the form of credit, and it would be possible, without too much difficulty, to take a proportion of that. But the real wealth of the country consists of buildings, factories, houses, bridges, shops and other material possessions.. To conscript wealth, would seem to mean all this should be at the disposal of the Government in the same way and to the same degree that it is proposed to place human life. That would mean a form of State Socialism. Now we are not afraid of that, but it is just as well for us to understand what we mean, when we speak of conscription of wealth, and where the adoption of such conscription would lead. So take ten, twenty or any percent of a person's savings account for Government purpose, is a rather simple matter, but that is not conscription of wealth. We would have conscription of wealth when the Government took control of all the productive processes of the nation; the banks and the financial institutions and use them where they would best serve the national interests. This might mean the end of private property altogether. But if some are not to have private control of their lives, it is difficult to escape the logic of the argument that the rest should relinquish their control of wealth, as well.

To Make Inspection Of Wage Books Of Employees

Provision has been made in the Unemployment Insurance Act for the inspection of employers' books, cards, records and papers of employers and employees who have insured employment. Every employer is required to show when requested to do so by a duly authorized Inspector of the Unemployment Insurance Commission service with his name and his appointment which he will show upon request to any employer whose premises he has entered. Each Inspector is sworn to oath, and anything he learns in examining business records is regarded as strictly confidential. No private records of any nature, for example, payroll records or wage records, will ever be divulged.

It is the Inspector's duty to examine any material relating to Unemployment Insurance, or to question any employee present who might be able to give him necessary information in regard to Unemployment Insurance records for that particular business. He must make sure that all contributions are recorded to date in insurance books, and that any books given out to employees on separation from employment have been stamped to the date of the last working day.

A fine of $25 is provided as a penalty for any person who wilfully delays or obstructs an Insurance Inspector either by withholding records or refusing to answer questions which are asking. His inspection for the purpose of a Government report.

NAZIS INTENSIFY ATLANTIC WAR; SECRET REVEALED

BY LEON EDEL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London has announced that a two-engined Nazi bomber, the Dornier 217, with a range of about 4,500 miles —capable of bombing Canada's east coast at that of the United States— has crashed on British soil. The bomber, it was stated, can carry a load of five to six tons and has a top speed of between 200 and 300 miles an hour.

This is the first concrete evidence that the Nazis have been building the type of bomber, and while the British announcement indicated the present range of the machine would make it difficult for it to undertake a return trip on a bombing raid to North America, the Dornier 217 can be said to bring the war just so much nearer to these shores.

It is still highly doubtful the Nazis would attempt, other than token raids on Canadian and American coastal cities, and it is quite possible that the Dornier's present task is rather to make long-range flights into Russia than westward over the Atlantic.

However, it highlights the recent disappearance of ships along the Atlantic coast, in which the U-boats have arrived at the very portals of the New World. These submarine raids clearly have two purposes in addition to the destruction of shipping—they widen the range of the Battle of the Atlantic, and they are being made by the Nazis in the hope that by creating an East Coast menace the Japanese will be aided on the West Coast.

An authoritative London source offered still another explanation; that the concentration of German U-boats off the North American coast constitutes "reconnaissance in force" in search of profitable hunting grounds rather than an effort to sink shipping. The German submarines must prepare for a 7,000-mile round trip in order to operate in Canadian and United States waters and this limits their stay to a fortnight at the most unless they are able to refuel from supply ships, which is difficult.

The United States navy obviously is not disclosing how it is meeting the new threat which has resulted in the sinking of three craft and crippling of a fourth in a five-day period. Along the Canadian East Coast protective measures long have been in force. It is safe to say, however, that Washington dispatches state, that depth bombs today are making the Atlantic coastal waters extremely unhealthy for the U-boats.

The sinkings may have been the work of one boat, or of a pack of submarines. Tankers have been the main targets, but it is pointed out that a freighter in this battle and is undoubtedly has been considered by responsible military authorities.

Our Pacific Destiny Is Britain's Destiny

RT. HON. R. G. MENZIES
(ex-Premier of Australia)

For many years Australia has been growing conscious of her destiny in the Pacific; perhaps more conscious of her destiny than of the risks and price. But her destiny has been a clear attractive one; increases in the self-reliance of the population and in the power of a great manufacturing potential; a growing export trade with the sixteen countries; continued and improved standards of living; and experiments and achievements in social and individual security.

Add to this a passion for British institutions under an Australian title, pride in their British heritage of speech and faith — both deep-rooted — and a willingness to live and let live, and you have a worthy "programme.

But we have had to recognize that we are on the frontier; a small people in a great land; that we are not power itself, but the occupant of power. To whom, then, have we turned as our parent body ? Unhesitatingly, to Great Britain — for a century and a half with love in our hearts to Great Britain.

Because our great language has its limitations and there is no word except "British" to describe those who live in the United Kingdom, a tendency has arisen to distinguish between British and Australians as "we were in Britain."

No leader in Australia will stand on any platform and attack Great Britain. It has been my own experience over the years that all references to the Empire and Great Britain arouses enthusiasm. In these last two years all such references have produced a warmth, a depth of emotion of gratitude and love which no stranger to our blood could ever understand.

Australia's Pacific destiny is Britain's destiny.

With the Pacific now a turbulent theatre of war, our dangers come home to us. We have had great shocks. They have produced a spirit of action, not of repining. Sensible people know that shortages of the for the first time in our history. We have made the problem of agriculture a vital concern.

But this is not new. It was the way the founder of Christianity began his ministry, when he found that they should be with Him; and then these in turn got others, and then the Christian movement grew. Of course, this was not the only way in which both the Nazis and the Communists have followed Christian methods. The members of these groups address themselves as comrades. Recently, the writer attended a meeting organized and carried through by labor union members. There every speaker addressed the audience as "brothers and sisters", and the chairman introduced the various speakers as "brother so-and-so."

In many ways, the practice which has all the very best qualities of friendliness and was the secret of its rapid organizational and brotherly progress, has been adopted by every totalitarianism movements, while we Christians have, to a very large degree, discarded them. There is a grown-up in the Christian Church a certain critical and somewhat cynical attitude towards the leaders, and to call another follower of Christ a brother or sister is somewhat infra dig. for the averse church member.

Well, there is something to learn from these new ideologies. That something is that it is unwise to discard those methods and those attitudes on which the Church is founded and which have never failed. Names are appropriate for their own purpose. Jesus was busy in the ministry of reconciliation and help when the event recorded in today's lesson took place. He appreciated the evil of the leadership of Israel, and saw two fishermen mending their nets. Jesus got into one of the boats and told Peter to push out from the shore and let down the nets. After protesting that they had toiled all night and caught nothing, Peter obeyed. The catch was so great that Peter, and Andrew—who is not mentioned—had to call on James and John who were in another boat to come and help them land the fish. So there three fishermen were called to be disciples. Peter, who was a leader, was a paper-hanger a few years ago. Many of the leaders in the Church of the Lake Lowlands were homes where poverty was the order of life. Fine characters, but simple bank accounts are hardly a criterion for leadership in the Christian Church.

Then the men called, obeyed, there is another lesson. Obedience is hardly been a mark of our modern life. Indeed, we almost prided ourselves on our lack of discipline, our refusal to take orders. The war is teaching that. We are learning discipline through suffering. We are learning essential obedience in all matters concerned with military security. This may not be altogether a bad thing. Indeed, it may be one of the things our democracy needs.

The life of Jesus has still its power to attract the best and the worst. But the modern Church, if it is to retain its power and its large membership, must learn to profit from its people. It must learn to sacrifice ends service; and the ends of service are the people and the place of the carping critic, which has marked every period of life during the past twenty years.

TO THE PEOPLE OVER THERE FROM THE BOYS OVER HERE

Following is the copy of a letter received by The Beaver Office, from L/Bdr. Bob. McCloy, of the 34th Battery, 14th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Army Overseas, in which he expresses his and the thanks of others for comforts and parcel's received :

December 31st, 1941.
Somewhere in England.

Dear Sir :—

Kindly accept my sincerest thanks and appreciation for the many free copies of "The Napanee Beaver" that I have received during my training in Canada and since coming to England, some six months ago. While we do not receive them as regular as we did at home, we certainly appreciate them when they do get here. I would also like to take this opportunity to say many thanks to the members of both the Anglican and United Churches of Newburgh for the very nice parcels they really were swell and were enjoyed not only by myself but my room-mates who also join in sending their thanks.

And now, sir, for the benefit of our folks back home who, no doubt, wondered and perhaps are still wondering how we spent Christmas and New Year's, I will do my best to give our menu for the day, and I think that, when you have read it, you will agree with me when I say that I think we fared pretty well. —

Christmas Morning breakfast—for those who felt like eating, but bacon, bacon, corn flakes, bread, butter and coffee.

Christmas dinner, roast turkey, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, peas, pickled pickles, bread and butter, butter coffee, raisin pie and Christmas pudding.

Then we were presented with 100 cigarettes through the kindness of the Canadian Overseas League of Canada, who also had a good supply of chocolate bars, then from the Salvation Army each man received a tooth-brush and paste, packed in a very nice container made especially for the troops.

That was dinner (no, we had no beer) but ha!

After dinner our unit transportation for a mock parade of the boys who wanted to go to show in town, some three or four miles away — by the way, this town sports one of the nicest and up-to-date indoor skating rinks that I have ever seen, and believe me the boys sure burn-up that ice. Oh, yes ! Getting back to our menu.

For supper, we had boiled potatoes, fried pork chops, bread, and some more REAL butter, jam, tea — and that folks was our Christmas menu. Don't you think we did well ?

Well-sir, since starting this letter to you, I have had a chance to look-ing at my watch I find that in ten minutes past the midnight hour, so this is once more celebrating the event. But before all in hopes that we will be home in Canada for the next Christmas for in spite of the critics I don't think we will have old Adolf's name jammed before Christmas.

Well, Sir, I think that I have given you more than enough news for one time, so I will bring this letter to a close.

Would like very much if you could have the Beaver Office paper print this letter of their's in full and the other people mentioned.

And, in closing, we, the boys and myself, who by the way are all Napanee and district, are very thankful for the kindness of the staff the most prosperous year for you have ever had.

The Boys from Napanee.
Bdr. Deserotis, Yorker Canal, East, Strathcona, Tannerie's Milnton.

Per, L. Bdr. Bob McCloy.

P.S. It is now 2:00 a.m., January 1st, 1942, so I think this will be the first letter written in Canada.

Cheaver, this year.

TOO OPTIMISTIC

"I've decided what I'm going to do," said Edgar. "I'm going to buy a nice little wife. I'll have a nice home, well cooked meals, my pipe will be ready when I get home at night, my pipe will be filled and lighted, my slippers warmed by the fire, and my self brain for the rest of my days."

Didn't you think it a great idea ?

"You never ought to marry a fool," said his married friend.

"Why not?"

"Well, when a man has a beautiful dream like that he should run the risk of waking up."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, FEBRUARY 1ST, 1942

"JESUS CALLS FOUR DISCIPLES"

Lesson Text: Luke 5: 1-11

One of the amazing aspects of German organization under the Nazis has been the way in which Hitler has secured the devotion and loyalty of his people. A study of his methods makes it clear that he began his drive for control of Germany by getting a few men who were his friends and avowed followers, men who were willing to go to any length in their support of Hitler and Hitlerism. This little group became the nucleus of the now strong and powerful Nazi movement.

In Russia a similar method was adopted. Lenin had around him a few men of almost fanatical zeal. These men were ready when the time came to fight to the death for the principle which Lenin had sponsored. Lenin through the nation, these men were set-up little groups or cells, each with its cell leader. Each leader was chosen because of his devotion and loyalty to the leader above him. Thus there were established a whole chain of group leaders each in turn, earning the loyalty and support of those over whom he had been placed.

But this is not new. It was the way the founder of Christianity began his ministry, when he found that they should be with Him; and then these in turn got others, and then the Christian movement grew. Of course, this was not the only way in which both the Nazis and the Communists have followed Christian methods. The members of these groups address themselves as comrades. PLAY THE GAME

There has been quite a run on sugar lately. In the United States, the situation became serious, and the Government has announced that ration cards will be issued in the near future, so that everybody will share and share alike. In Canada, we had a similarly serious situation, shortly after our country entered the war. But, confidence in the ability of the sugar industry to meet normal demands was soon restored. But now, the Government has had to appeal to the people to adopt a plan for meat voluntary rationing. Three-quarters of a pound per person, per week, is the amount which is allowed under the scheme. There is no machinery for enforcing the regulation at the present. It is hoped that the people will play the game, and refuse to hoard. Some people will argue that laying in a few pounds is not hoarding, it is merely providing against future unforseen contingencies. But apart from the fact that there is a fine of five thousand dollars for such saving, it must not be forgotten that every person who is purchasing more than they are entitled to, is robbing son eone else of their share. In this war, all must co-operate in every possible way. There is absolutely no hope of victory apart from the whole-hearted, unselfish co-operation of all parties in the nation.

The Government is placing a good deal of faith in us when suggesting voluntary rationing. To be worthy of that faith, every householder must play the game and limit the purchase of sugar to the amount permitted under the regulation.

V

MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Recently, in a train, we shared our seat with a young flying man. Off for a holiday ? we asked to open conversation. "Yes, our forty-eight" he answered. And he added, "I think it would just as soon have stayed in camp this time. You see the C.W.A.A.F's arrived a few days ago, and Boy, are they a smart group !" he confided. From then on there was no lag in the conversation. The snappy appearance of the C.W.A.A.F's; the way they could drill; the effect their appearance in the camp had created — all this and related subjects filled the hour.

A few years ago the suggestion that our girls would be in uniform, doing war work alongside men, would have brought forth a storm of protest. Indeed, when we learned that in Russia women were in the army, we concluded such procedure might be well enough for the Russians, but not for us.

But the present war has changed a great many things, and among them the attitude of the public to women serving in the forces. We have had the opportunity of meeting many who have returned from overseas within recent months, and each, without exception has waxed eloquent over the way in which the women of Great Britain have carried on during the most trying and hazardous situations. When the history of the War comes to be written, a large place will be given to the contribution which the women have made. Of course, there have always made a vital contribution. The amazing amount of work which is done, week after week, by the Red Cross, Daughters of the Empire, and war service groups of all sorts, is simply staggering, even for a community such as our own. How these women, still carrying on their household, church and social obligations, can continue to produce so much knitted goods, is beyond the ability of mere man to comprehend.

But now, in addition to this service which women have always rendered, is this newer service. Under proper supervision, and military discipline, the young women are replacing men for more strenuous work, in many activities within the camp. Those who have had experience with camp life, railroad or lumbering, know well enough the difference in spirit in those in which there are women. Their presence is felt, their influence is always observable. This will undoubtedly be the situation when the C.W.A.A.F.'s get settled, and the novelty of their presence wears off.

THE PLEBISCITE

There is much to be said against holding a plebiscite in the midst of a war, particularly on such a controversial subject as the selective draft. It will cost money when money is much needed; it will divert the attention of men and women from essential war work; it will delay the calling of men for the armed forces, men so urgently needed. All this is true.

On the other hand, the Premier of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King, was elected on a definite pledge given several times, that conscription for overseas service would not be introduced if the government of which he was the responsible head was returned to power. That was a definite pledge given the people more than once by the Premier. The change of circumstances, not altogether foreseen when the election took place, has made necessary a reconsideration of the position which the Premier then took. As we see it, he was bound to keep faith with the people. How can we ever hope to trust democracy, responsible government and our leaders, if having been elected on one platform, he then deserts it when the pressure to do so becomes heavy.

Three courses of action was open to the Government. The Prime Minister could have gone to the country in a general election on the conscription issue. He could have resigned from office and allowed someone else to carry on—or he could do as he has done, order a Plebiscite, which would absolve Mr. King from his pre-election pledges. Probably, the course Mr. King has taken, much as we dislike it, is the one which will cause the least national upset, and enable the Government to change its policy with the consent of the people.

Of course, all this is on the assumption that the present Government intends to carry on the war effort on its own. We believe that a National Government, in which Labor, C.C.F., Conservatives and Liberals would all be represented, would insure a much more wholehearted political concentration on the war effort. Since that is to be denied us, the next thing is to accept the plebiscite, make as little fuss about it as possible and get on with the job.

V

DRAFTING WEALTH

A resolution has been passed by our County Council, urging that conscription of wealth be included in the forthcoming plebiscite. We are all for the resolution. This paper has more than once expressed itself in favour of such a policy. Long before the present war broke out, that was the position we held. If our manpower is to be used at the discretion of the Government; if the Government is to have the right to say that, in a time of emergency, a man's body and talents should be conscripted by the State, then, all money should also be at the disposal of the Government.

What causes us most concern is as to how this could be carried out. Probably not all who urge conscription of wealth see its implications. Mr. Wasar, of Dundurn, is reported at the Council to have said: "There are still millions of dollars lying idle and it is just as fair to take this money as to take our boys." There is truth in that. But what we must be careful about is the danger of loose thinking. What Mr Wasar had in mind, apparently, was not conscription of money, but a capital levy. There are countries in which that is now the practice. In those places the Government takes a proportion of a person's capital account.

That is one thing, but conscription of wealth or of money is another. Very little of the wealth of the country is in actual cash; more, of course, exists in the form of credit, and it would be possible, without too much difficulty, to take a proportion of that. But the real wealth of the country consists of buildings, factories, houses, bridges, shops and other material possessions. To conscript wealth, would mean all this should be at the disposal of the Government in the same way and to the same degree that it is proposed to place human life. That would mean a form of State Socialism. Now we are not afraid of that, but it is just as well for us to understand what we mean, when we speak of conscription of wealth, and where the adoption of such conscription would lead. So take ten, twenty or any percent of a person's savings account for Government purposes, is a rather simple matter, but that is not conscription of wealth. We would have conscription of wealth when the Government took control of all the productive processes of the nation; the banks and the financial institutions and use them where they would best serve the national interests. This might mean the end of private property altogether. But if some are not to have private property, then, it is difficult to escape the logic of the argument that the rest should relinquish their control of wealth, as well.

WARNS AGAINST DRAINING MANPOWER AWAY FROM AGRICULTURE

Newmarket.— "Of all the mad things that have ever been done, the maddest is to restrict production of agriculture when millions are starving in Europe." Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, declared at a Federation of Agriculture meeting here.

"On our production of food and on our ability to hold out a promise of food to the starving may depend the outcome of this war," said Col. Drew. "The time will come soon when the stores of food in this country may be the deciding factor. And we must face the problem at once. Because, if present trends are not halted, we are going to face an actual food shortage in this country for the first time in our history. We must solve the problem of agriculture above everything."

Col. Drew's manpower away from agriculture to industrial centres, Canada is really restricting agricultural production, said Col. Drew. He outlined wartime regulation of agriculture in Great Britain to show that compulsory selective service is necessary if the proper balance is to be maintained between production on the farms and in the factory while also maintaining the armed forces.—Toronto Daily Star.

NAZIS INTENSIFY ATLANTIC WAR; SECRET REVEALED

BY LEON EDEL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London has announced that a two-engined Nazi bomber, the Dornier 217, with a range of about 4,500 miles —capable of bombing Canada's east coast or that of the United States— has crashed on British soil. The machine, it was stated, can carry a load of five to six tons and has a top speed of between 200 and 300 miles an hour.

This is the first concrete evidence that the Nazis have been building the type of bomber, and while the British announcement indicated the present range of the machine would make it difficult for it to undertake a return trip on a bombing raid to North America, the Dornier 217 can be said to bring the war just so much nearer to these shores.

It is still highly doubtful the Nazis would attempt other than token raids on Canadian and American soil, although it is quite possible that the Dornier's present task is rather to make long-range flights into Russia than westward over the Atlantic.

However, it highlights the recent torpedoings of ships along the Atlantic coast, in which the U - boats have operated all the way up to the New World. These submarines raids clearly have two purposes in addition to the destruction of shipping. They widen the range of the Battle of the Atlantic and they are being made by the Nazis in the hope that by creating an East Coast menace the Japanese will be aided indirectly in the Pacific.

An authoritative London source offered still another explanation; that the concentration of German U-boats off the North American coast constitutes "reconnaissance in force" by packs of possible landing ground, rather than an effort to sink shipping. The German submarines must prepare on a reasonable round trip in order to operate in Canadian and United States waters and this limits their stay to a fortnight at the most unless they are able to refuel from supply ships, which is difficult.

The United States navy obviously has not disclosing how it is meeting the new threat which has resulted in the sinking of three craft and crippling of a fourth in a few days period. Along the Canadian East Coast protective measures long have been in force. It is safe to say that even as Washington dispatches note that "spot bombing raids are nothing to Americans" the country is not unwilling for the U-boats.

The outrage may have been the work of one U-boat or of a pack of submarines. Tankers have been the principal target, but as pointed out the present type of bomber can also carry other type of ships.

The recent disclosure not only confirms what Prime Minister Churchill has said of the importance that the British hold the Atlantic is a major factor in the war and that the struggle would be a stalemate before the war reaches its end.

The German navy very well brine with it a new danger to the Allies, but a factor in this battle and this not evidently has been considered by responsible military authorities.

Our Pacific Destiny Is Britain's Destiny

RT. HON. R. G. MENZIES
ex-Premier of Australia

For many years Australia has been one of the cornerstones of her destiny in the Pacific. Her people were conscious of her destiny than of the risks and price. But now her destiny has been a progressive one; increase in the self-reliance of her population and in the power of a great manufacturing potential; a growing export trade with the eastern countries; mainland and island outposts of defence; a spirit of —a willingness to live and let live, and you have a worthy product.

But we have had to reconcile that we are on the frontier; a small people in a great land; that we are not power itself, but the outpost of power. To whom, then, have we turned as our great body? Where have we looked, to Great Britain — for a century and a half with love in our hearts and with pride.

Because our great language has its finalization and there is no word except "British" to describe those who live in the United Kingdom, the bonds have been strong and lasting between British and Australians as if we weren't all British.

Both Britain and Australia will stand on any platform and attack Great Britain. It has been my own experience over the years that all people's ances to the land or our grandfathers produces enthusiasm. In these last few years all sorts of pressures have produced a warm, heartfelt emotion of gratitude and love which we struggle to our blood could ever understand.

Australia's Pacific destiny is Britain's destiny.

With the Pacific now a turbulent theatre of war, our dangers come home to us. We have had rude shocks. They have produced a spirit of action, not of repining. Sensible people know that shortages of jute materials of war in any theatre are not to be found, and we all will with its sudden demands coming from all over the world, but to want of people right in the five Commonwealth of the war. For want of preparation, we are all, as people, responsible.

Now, with the tide of war rapidly swing toward us, we in Australia, while continuing the great effort of the last two or three years, are not to pack. When we turn to the Pacific strategy which must be ours, we have great arsenal of freedom. It does not mean that we turn away from Great Britain. The British Empire is also loyalty to the United States. We must all stand together. We must be lively each other.

Great Britain, alone, has borne the brunt of the burden. What we are can never be adequately repaid.

Let the people in the United States come fresh to the combat. Less labor-intensive industries should be closed down, and the people released to help their privates to seek out the enemy and attack him in the Pacific. Let us make the Pacific the Western Pacific its battle as well as ours.

We can be with utter confidence, because, but only by assembling naval and airpower in those places where the enemy's ships and aircraft can be found.

When we look across to the United States to the Pacific we see a powerful people who have the potential and a capacity to Atlantic. We see the people of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and of Canada and Australia and New Zealand, all with the determination to carry the war to the enemy's doorstep.

We look to the side

TOKIO FILLED WITH GERMAN OFFICERS

Syracuse, N.Y. (A.P.) — A magazine writer recently returned from the Orient told the New York State Publishers' Association, that Japan's grand strategy is being mapped by German officers stationed in Tokio. "There were hundreds of German army, navy and air officers in the Japanese capital before the attack on Pearl Harbour," Henry C. Wolfe, who returned last October after five months in the Far East, said in an address to the Association's annual convention banquet.

"When I was living at the Imperial Hotel in Tokio, last summer, there were about two dozen German naval officers quartered in my third floor wing," Wolfe declared, adding that "the naval officers were only a part of the Nazi contingent in Tokio."

"There was a numerous delegation of Hitler's Wehrwirtschaft or military economy experts who came to Japan to prepare Nippon for a long war," he said. "They advised the Japanese what raw materials to stock against blockade; they helped them install some synthetic industry and they taught them how to make the most of loot being brought back from China."

W. S. HERRINGTON ON "EDUCATION" AT COLLEGIATE

A brief synopsis of the address given by Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C., at the Collegiate Commencement, last Friday, on the "History of the Present System of Education in Ontario."

Mr. Herrington said that after the coming of the United Empire Loyalists in 1783, the legislature did not make any provision for education until 1807 — 24 years later. In the meantime, neighbours grouped together and engaged some person to teach their children.

The first school in Lennox and Addington was in North Fredericksburgh on the south side of the Napanee River. The exact site of the school is not known, but it is thought to have been about half-way up what is now known as Robbin's Hill. The second and third schools in the county were at Millhaven in Ernestown and at what is now Adolphustown village.

The first legislation concerning schools in Ontario, passed in 1807, referred solely to what was known as public schools. The district, of which Lennox and Addington was a part, extended from the Trent River to the Gananoque River. There was one school in the district, situated at Kingston. The teacher was paid one hundred pounds per year, but the Act made no provision for a school house and there was no supervision of the schools.

As a result of complaints, some improvements were made in the Act in 1819. Examinations were given by the trustees. Teachers were paid fifty pounds per year and ten poor children were to be given free tuition.

In 1816 the word "Common" school appeared first.

In 1820 the Act was again amended and the sum of 2,500 pounds was set aside for the purpose of education for the whole province. The Act was divided into districts including Lennox and Addington received 256 pounds. No one was satisfied with the Act and Dr. Egerton Ryerson became very active in demanding changes. In 1841 provision was made to divide the district in school sections and authority was given each section to assess to the extent of fifty pounds for the purpose of erecting a school house. It was provided also the creation of school commissioners. Later, Dr. Ryerson was appointed superintendent of education and made extensive investigations. He found the situation so ridiculous that on hearing his report, the government passed an Act to revise making changes in the School Act. Dr. Ryerson was appointed a commission to go to the United States and Europe to study educational systems. On his return he drafted an Act which was passed in 1846, which has continued to be the basis of the present School Act.

Dr. Ryerson was appointed Minister of Education and the only changes made in the Act have been the result of increased population and improvements in social conditions.

W. S. HERRINGTON ON "EDUCATION" AT COLLEGIATE

A brief synopsis of the address given by Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C. at the Collegiate Commencement, last Friday, on the "History of the Present System of Education in Ontawa."

Mr. Herrington said that after the coming of the United Empire Loyalists in 1783, the legislature did not make any provision for education until 1807 — 24 years later. In the meantime, neighbours grouped together and engaged some person to teach their children.

The first school in Lennox and Addington was in North Fredericksburgh on the south side of the Napanee River. The exact site of the school is not known, but it is thought to have been about half-way up what is now known as Hobbin's Hill. The second and third schools in the county were at Millhaven in Ernestown and at Adam Hagerman's, Odessa.

The first legislation concerning schools in Ontario, passed in 1807, referred only to what was known as public schools. The district, of which Lennox and Addington was a part, extended from the Trent River to the Gananoque River. There was one school in the district, situated at Kingston. The teacher was paid one hundred pounds per year but the Act made no provision for a school house and there was no supervision of the curriculum.

As a result of complaints, some improvements were made in the Act in 1819, Examinations were held by the trustees. Teachers were paid fifty pounds per year and ten poor children were to be taken free of tuition.

In 1816 the word "Common" school appeared first.

In 1820 the Act was again amended and the sum of 2,500 pounds was set aside for the purposes of education for the whole province. The district including Lennox and Add. received a share of this and was satisfied with the Act and Dr. Egerton Ryerson became very active in promoting education. In 1841 provision was made to divide the district in school sections and authority was given each section to assess the amount of fifty pounds for the purpose of erecting a school house. It was provided that the trustees must engage school commissioners. Later, Dr. Ryerson was appointed superintendent of schools and he framed the Act we have now. He found the situation in a rudimentary condition but he prepared the government could no longer trust public matters in the hands of the people. He framed the Act which was passed in 1846 which has continued to be the basis of the present School Act.

Dr. Ryerson was appointed Minister of Education and the only changes made in the Act have been the result of increased population and the increased complexity of modern things.

Second Victory Loan Drive of Vital Importance to Nation

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON HOPES TO ADD TO ITS FAME AS ONE OF MOST PATRIOTIC COUNTIES IN CANADA.

With the treacherous entry of Japan into the war on the side of Hong Kong and Germany, the people of Canada, now only several hundred living time from Napanee if not from Napanee, realize that the people of Canada as never before that, not only the lives of their brave boys overseas but their own lives are threatened. A wave of indignation swept the nation from coast to coast as the news of the dastardly attack upon peaceful Pearl Harbour was flashed. Then came the gallant stand of our boys at Hong Kong and overwhelming indignation edds. Canada became an undivided unit with one purpose, and that to smash the hordes forever. Every true Canadian is now on the firing line and Canada stands ready to avenge her sons, to beat the enemy on their own shores, to give all-out aid to her soldiers at home and abroad.

The County of Lennox and Addington headed 54 canvassing divisions in the last Victory Loan, bring in turn led by only ten. Exceeded out of A record to be truly proud of. And now, with more need as the war draws closer to home, the people of County Loan Organization for Lennox and Addington is being formed. The organization is indeed fortunate in again obtaining the consent of Mr. W. J. Grange to act as Honorary Chairman, and Dr. R. Hall as Chairman of the Executive Committee. Their untiring efforts of these gentlemen contributed greatly to the success of the First Victory Loan. Mr. Russell Hunter will act as Chairman of the Public Relations Committee, Mr. W. S. Wilson as Chairman of the Sales Committee, Mr. Jack McPherson as Chairman of Employers' Committee, and Mrs. D. R. Hall and Mrs. Herrington will assist the Women's Committee. Full membership and Vice-Chairmen for these committees will be announced later as will other committees, such as Citizens, Transportation, Decoration, Special Names, and Bonded.

The Ontario Committee has selected George C. Stewart and Roy B. Pratt as Organizers. Both men, who gave invaluable assistance during the last loan, has again been appointed Secretary. County Headquarters will be located once more on Dundas St., Napanee.

TEXT OF SPEECH FROM THRONE

Following is the text of the Speech from the Throne opening the Third Session of Canada's 19th Parliament on Thursday.

Honorable Members of the Senate:
Members of the House of Commons:

There no longer can be any question as to the character and scope of the present war. It is a world-wide conflict between irreconcilable forces. On every continent, including the confines of our own, and on all oceans, forces that aim at world domination oppose forces that seek the preservation of freedom. In every quarter of the globe, civilization is confronted by savagery.

The conflict can have but one of two outcomes. Either tyranny, based on terror and brutality, must be overthrown; or the free peoples of the world one and all, slowly but eventually, will be reduced to a state of bondage. Upon the outcome depends, for generations, the future well-being of mankind.

Ultimate Triumph Assured

There are strong reasons for belief in the assurance of tyranny, and the ultimate triumph of freedom. The Axis powers; Germany, Italy and Japan, now fight as one. So do the peoples of the British Commonwealth of the United States, Russia, China and the many other nations that are the fighting line of this New Year, united in a pact to fight together until victory is achieved. The assimilation of the free forces of the greatest industrial nations in the world makes clear the scale upon which the conflict will now be waged on many fronts.

During the present session, opportunity will be afforded for the fullest consideration and discussion of Canada's war effort, actual and prospective. My advisers will submit to you the measure deemed essential to our national security, and for the due execution of the war to the utmost of our strength.

Balanced Programme

In accordance with the Government's policy of a total national effort for total war, you will be asked to approve a balanced programme for further increases in the armed forces and for the production of munitions of war and of foodstuffs. The increase in the armed forces will involve expansion of the air training plan of the Canadian Army overseas. You will also be asked, as an integral part of Canada's direct war effort, to approve a contribution to Britain of vast quantities of munitions, foodstuffs and supplies.

The Government's policy of National Selective Service will be extended, as circumstances may require, to compel the best use of the nation's man power and womanpower. With respect to the mobilization of wealth, measures will be submitted to you to make more equitable the distribution of the load of taxation and to secure additional revenues. With the object of preventing profiteering and undue enrichment from war contracts, measures will be submitted to you to make possible a renegotiation of all war contracts. Provision will be made for the limitation of profits in accordance with principles which were made effective in the United States and in the United Kingdom.

The Government of the opinion that at this time of stress all citizens should be required to give their services to the country in accordance with their capacity. Legislation will be submitted to Parliament, should it be necessary, to provide for the registration of persons and their services, and to give effect to the Government's declared policy that in the event of conscription for overseas service, the principle of universality should be observed.

To Hold Plebiscite

My Ministers will ask you to seek from the people, by means of a plebiscite, release from any obligation arising out of any past commitment restricting the methods of raising men for military service.

Members of the House of Commons:

You will be asked to make financial provision for the unprecedented scale for the expansion and maintenance in Canada's armed forces and munitions production.

You will be asked to make financial provision for implementing the Canada-United Kingdom Financial Agreement and for the use of the resources of the country to the utmost of its capacity.

Honorable Members of the Senate:
Members of the House of Commons:

I am confident that in no particular will the Canadian people fail to meet the full measure of any of these great responsibilities. At this time, when vision and wisdom are so greatly needed in the affairs of the world, I pray that Almighty God may guide and bless your deliberations.

IMPLEMENTS, AND REPAIRS LIMITED THIS YEAR

"SPEED UP AND ORDER NOW" URGES ONT. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

The Administrator of Farm and Food Machinery has announced that on March 1st, 1942 all manufacturers of farm equipment are limited in production ranging from a decrease of 50 per cent. on certain types of less essential implements to an increase of per cent in the case of milking machines and cream separators. The production of attachments and repairs is limited to 104 per cent. of 1940 sales. This means that 1942 production will be eighty less than the record sales of 1941.

Although supplies are limited, implement manufacturers and dealers are hopeful that all orders for spare parts can be filled, providing they have time to make the demands are likely to be. The Ont. Department of Agriculture urges that every farmer should overhaul his gear before his equipment, tractor to binder and spray outfit, even to the hay fork and rope and wire for patching fences and inform his dealer of his requirements. This is a matter of the utmost importance. Maximum farm production is required. Prompt delivery of repair parts cannot be guaranteed after Spring work starts. Costly breakdowns and long delays and loss of time of men and equipment can largely be prevented by a careful overhaul of farm equipment during the Winter months.

The Department of Agriculture is also urging that farmers swing in behind the Voluntary Agricultural War Committees being formed in every county. These committees are making a survey, the results of which will enable each neighborhood through planning and orghanization, to secure the maximum use of available labour and equipment in the community.

Great Britain needs more food from Canada. Supplies for domestic consumption in Canada are short. The maximum in production can only be reached by making the best possible use of what we have in every county, township, community and upon every farm.

OTTAWA TALKS TEMPERANCE

The Communicated With Governments, Following Requests.

On the Dominion Government: Prohibition of the manufacture and importation of alcoholic beverages for the period of the war. The Temperance Federation on behalf of the annual convention of the Dominion Alliance, requests the prohibition of the manufacture and importation of alcoholic beverages for the period of the war. The Federation believes that the use of alcoholic beverages has a harmful effect upon the morale of the people and upon the efficiency of the nation's war effort. The Federation also requests the prohibition of the manufacture and importation of alcoholic beverages for the period of the war. The Federation believes that the use of alcoholic beverages has a harmful effect upon the morale of the people and upon the efficiency of the nation's war effort.

Ontario Liquor Profits Reach High Figure

Toronto (CP) — Revenue to Provincial Treasury from alcoholic beverages in Ontario last year, totalled $34,000,000, Hon. Gordon Conant, chief commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, announced at the annual convention of the Hotel Association of Ontario.

Revenue Essential

"The business or industry which can stand the profits taxes now paid such as the present mill never suffer," he said. "Revenue is very essential to a country and it would be a tremendous misfortune if an industry of such magnitude, capable of so extensive a contribution, were deprived of its rightful place in the industrial picture by behaviour and methods of only a few. Improper administration and disregard of regulations on the part of a single individual can subject an entire group to public disapproval."

Sales Increase

Liquor Control Board sales in Ontario, last year, increased $4,027,267, he reported, while operating and administration expenses decreased by $14,562 to $1,874,484. The Board paid the Provincial Treasurer $10,-253,000 in profits, license fees, etc., and an additional $575,000 from sale of individual permits. The Board also paid to municipalities 20 per cent. of fees from hotel authorities, or $263,633 among 310 municipalities.

The Federal Government received $10,587,921 in taxes on Ontario import of spirits, wines and beers and another $9,030,693 was paid in duties and taxes on domestic wines and beers and customs on malt, making total payments to the Federal Government of more than $19,-590,000 he added.

WEDDING BELLS

MARSHALL - FITCHETT

The Bay personage was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, January 24th, when Etta Lorena, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fitchett of the Anderson district, North Fredericksburgh, was united in marriage to Raymond Keith, eldest son of Mrs. Myrtle Marshall and the late Mr. Clarence Marshall, of Bloomfield, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. McCallum of the Bay Circuit, in the presence of immediate relatives.

The bride was dressed in a street-length Queen's blue frock and wore a Gainsboro' model hat with blue trimming. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Wilfred Baird, who wore a navy ensemble with hat to match. Mr. Wilfred Baird was the groom's attendant.

Following the signing of the register the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip amid showers of confetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will later take up residence at Bloomfield. The bride is one of the popular young people of the Anderson district, where she has been active in Young People's work.

ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING
ST. THOMAS' CHURCH, MORVEN

The Annual Vestry Meeting of St. Thomas' Church, Morven, was held at the home of Mrs. Ella Burley on January 8th, with the rector presiding. The encouraging reports were presented by the Wardens, the Church Guild, W. A. and the Sunday School. It was gratifying to learn that the congregation had met in full the missionary apportionments and other assessments.

Mr. Harold Brandon and Mr. Robert Fisher were appointed rectors and people's wardens, respectively. Delegate to Synod, Mr. Richard Hill.

The Executive Committee remained much the same as last year. The rector in his remarks paid special tribute to the ladies of the Guild for their financial assistance.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. and Mrs. Walker for the untiring efforts in the past year.

LATIN STATES LIFT VEIL ON AXIS INTRIGUES

REVELATIONS SHOW CONCERTED PROGRAM "MADE IN BERLIN"

Buenos Aires, A.P.) — When the Argentine committee investigating subversive activities seized a German short-wave radio transmitter, a coded message was found hidden in the box in which the transmitter was packed.

The committee translated it as follows:

"La Paz if unable to stay in Lima. Follow instructions for ambassadors' conference in Santiago to the letter."

Last March the German diplomatic chiefs in Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Peru and Uruguay held a conference in Santiago, Chile. The meeting was more or less accidental, the five men elected because they were all on vacation and had gone to Santiago because it is one of South America's vacation spots.

None of the five has said publicly what they discussed. But one of the five, Edmond von Thermann, German Ambassador to Argentina, had just returned from Berlin.

While the Minister to Uruguay was attending the meeting, the German press attache in Buenos Aires, Gottfried Sandstede, took over his job as charge d'affaires in Montevideo. Six months later Sandstede fled from Argentina by airplane to escape questioning by the Argentine Chamber of Deputies committee investigating un-Argentine activities.

RADIO SEIZED

In July the committee seized aboard a commercial plane, the radio transmitter being carried from the German legation in Lima to the German Embassy in Buenos Aires under what the German Government termed "diplomatic immunity."

In La Paz, Bolivia, that month, the German Minister to Bolivia, Ernst Wendler, left his post on demand of the Bolivian Government, after it announced discovery of a letter addressed to Wendler, signed by a Bolivian army officer, Elia Belmont, who was stationed in Berlin, discussing a conspiracy to overthrow Bolivia's president.

Now von Thermann is under a vote of censure of the Argentine Congress and possesses of an invitation to leave; and the German colonies in each of the nations in which the four other men who conferred at Santiago are stationed are under scrutiny, in one way or another, by the nations in which they live.

These incidents which have come to light — dated within less than a year — are accepted by many informed quarters as evidence of a tie between Nazi fifth columns in South America.

How many and how strong such fifth columns are depends, in a way, on the definition of a fifth column.

STRANGE ACTIVITIES

South American definitions range from armed bodies of men and soldiers plotting revolt, to welfare societies, operators of secret radios, scientists mapping strategic rivers and nearby sources of war materials, and wild natives with oil drums hidden in their jungle wigwams.

South America has something to fit each of these definitions.

It is difficult to trace a connection between such widely-differing affairs.

But here is what persistent investigators have learned to date:

Argentina — The committee found an "almost military" organization of 60,000 men formed into "cells" under the guise of welfare work, sworn to support Hitler, watched to make sure of their loyalty, punished for lapses, taxed to maintain a system which feeds children Nazi doctrine through fairly tales.

Chile—Across the border from Argentina, "Fascist Government" agents reported caches of guns and ammunition, and battle practices complete with machine-guns are staged by armies like organizations of 25,000 men wearing swastikas on their coat lapels.

Maps seized there indicated the organization controlled air fields and radio stations on islands along the coast in the Southern lake region which afford the easiest entrance to Argentina.

FINDINGS REVEALED

Without saying where they got their information, the investigators declared: "Observers in Argentina and Uruguay discovered a pateeh being prepared in our country to coincide with an expected invasion of the British Isles." The reserve maintained over the source of this tip was reminiscent of the lack of explanation for sudden steps to maintain order when Bolivia ejected the German Minister, Wendler.

Bolivia—Here Chile was putting a careful thumb on her Nazis. Bolivia was arresting the son of her Ambassador to Chile. No explanation has been offered for his continued detention. An inquiry into anti-Bolivian activities is continuing.

Brazil — German agitation has been quieter as the result of lawsuits against foreign language schools and centralized control of communications. The heavily-concentrated German population has been deemed less dangerous since President Vargas declared himself for the United States and his son-in-law quit to job with the Italian Latin Airline which crosses the South Atlantic.

Peru—Peru halted activities of the German - subsidized, so-called news agency, Transocean, and grounded a German airline after Congress voted to protest an unauthorized flight over the Ecuadorean border which precipitated a new outbreak in the border war.

Ecuador—President Arroyo del Rio, blaming Axis influences for Peru's attitude during the border dispute, closed Ecuador's German-owned airline which carried Army officers free and sought permission to fly to the lonely Galapagos Island south of the Panama Canal.

AIRLINE SEIZED

Colombia — Has nationalized the German airline after it was found to be mapping approaches to the Panama Canal. Later President Santos broke up a military plot, seized a group of "scientists" exploring the Southeast flatlands, and are believed to be rich in undeveloped oil and are suspected of propaganda brought surreptitiously upstream from Brazil.

Uruguay — The Transocean investigation in Washington really started in Uruguay, where South American Fascist Leader Nazi Inzuny last year disclosed a bomb depot, broke up a cellular organization and put eight Nazi leaders in jail. More recently a pro-Nazi deputy was ejected from Congress.

Paraguay — Decreed death for Fifth Columnists a week after the British patrol was attacked. Paraguay decreed a curfew a short time later, then lifted it without explaining "student strikes" and "labor troubles."

Venezuela — German technicians have long since been routed out of strategic oil fields, but a Nazi agent was seized a few weeks ago on oil fields which would interest a circling fleet. Secret radios still broadcast anti-United States talks.

HOW NAZIS FIGURE

New York, (B.U.P.) — It can be proved that Hitler made a "fantastic understatement" when he declared that the total number of Germans killed in Russia from last June 22 to November 30 was 162,000 soldiers, the U.S. broadcast picked up in New York.

"How many days are there between June 22 and November 30?" asked the speaker. "Answer, exactly, 162. So if the figure of 162,000 dead were correct, this would mean that the German army has lost precisely 1,000 men per day. That sounds a bit satisfying, doesn't it? Almost too good a coincidence to be true.

"Well, all right, suppose it is a coincidence. Now comes the next point. The Russian front is something like 1,200 miles in length. So 1,000 dead per day for every 13 miles of front, less than one death per mile. Is that likely during a campaign which Hitler and Goebbels have described as involving continuous and severe fighting?" he asked.

Between June 22 and November 30 he added, the average daily German population was about fifteen miles. "So if one German died in the field for every mile of front, by his death he won for his country a territory or territory one mile long from north to south and 15 miles deep from west to east — fifteen square miles and more in all. Do you believe that, in a campaign in which the enemy has contested with such fierce obstinacy?"

The speaker pointed out that Hitler's figure on his casualties, 10,000, was less than one-thirtieth of the total German army engaged on the Eastern front.

"German fatalities work out, therefore, at a mere three per cent of the troops engaged," he said. "And at the same time, the Rumanians have announced their casualties are 40 per cent of their total army. The Spanish unit has lost a third of its strength. Do you believe that the German army has escaped with only a fraction of the losses suffered by Germany's allies?

Addressing German listeners, the BBC speaker concluded: "Finally, there are about 25,000,000 households in Germany. Your 162,000 dead means one death per 150 households. A town with a thousand inhabitants should have lost on an average of two, no more, of its young men. Do you believe that? Work it out for the families and households known to you. See if your village or town has come off as lightly as that."

WAR JOBS DENUDING FARMS OF HELP—SELECTIVE SERVICE ESSENTIAL FARMERS SAY

More than 6,000 acres of the richest soil in Ontario is already out of production in West Dunham county in an agricultural recession that is beginning in scope but is not affecting Ontario to such an extent that the province may soon easily lose its agricultural status. The loss in crop value is already estimated in hundreds of thousands of dollars and is steadily growing worse.

These were facts established by a party of daily newspapermen who spent an all-day tour of West Dunham, as the guests of Geo. J. James, editor of the Dawnsville Statesman.

The Telegram representative learned in conversation with farmers engaged by various branches of agriculture that the situation is not a mere "scare" but it is a critical reality brought about largely in the words of one farmer "by the lethargy of the Federal Government."—Toronto Telegram.

Magistrate's Court

On Thursday afternoon, last week, the following cases were brought before Magistrate Garvin, who presided at the regular session of the Court:

The case of Mr. Claude Alkenbrack, Deseronto, was adjourned until such time as the people involved in an accident with a car driven by Mr. Alkenbrack could be discharged from the hospital, where they are receiving treatment for injuries received in the crash.

Harry T. Sloane paid $1.00 and $2.00 costs for a traffic violation.

The case of Johnson, Brownson, yeld $10.60 and costs of $16.60 for possessing liquor in a place contrary to the Act.

Henry Allen Storms of Napanee, who appeared before the Magistrate charged with the theft of a car, the property of Clifton Withers, was also charged with the theft of a stove which was in the car at the time of the theft. The car was parked on Dundas Street. Storms at the time of his arrest, was at No. 22 Training Centre at Petrobro, where he was on enlistment in the Army. He pleaded guilty to both charges. Before passing sentence on Storms, Magistrate Garvin heard the previous record read by the Crown Attorney. The record read: Sept. 2, 1925, theft of $40.00 (suspended sentence); Jan. 23, 1933, theft of set of tires, (suspended sentence); Jan. 29, 1933, carrying revolver, (suspended sentence); May 20, 1938, assault, 12 months; April 25, 1941, theft of real (1 month); Aug. 15, 1941 failing to remain at scene of accident, (3 months.) Following the reading of the record, an officer of the Training Centre at Petrobro, who was at the court in connection with the case stated that Storms had only been stationed at Peterboro 4 days when he went on leave without permission for nearly fifteen days. The officer stated he could in no way say anything that would improve the situation. In passing sentence, Magistrate Garvin stated that he had no alternative but to impose the minimum term of one year in the Ontario Reformatory for the theft of the car and two months on the stove charge. The stove was recovered in Belleville, where Storms had disposed of it.

On Monday the only case dealt with by Magistrate Garvin in the Napanee Police Court was a charge against E. A. O'Brien, Deseronto, Ont. who pleaded guilty to careless driving and was ordered to pay a fine of $5.00 plus costs.

The Late Mrs. William Glenn

Mrs. William Glenn, a resident of Napanee for about seventy years, died last Thursday morning in a Kingston Hospital, where she had been a patient for several weeks.

Mrs. Glenn was formerly Nellie Jack and was born 74 years ago in England. With her parents and three brothers and sisters, she came to Canada when she was four years of age and had lived practically all the rest of her life here. For many years she was a member of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, where she was active in the women's organizations as long as her health permitted.

Her husband, who for a great number of years was employed at the Campbell House Hotel and later by The Robinson Company, predeceased her some years ago. Her two children died in infancy.

She is survived by two brothers, Harry at Portsmouth, and William near Peterborough. The late Mrs. Henry Babcock was a sister.

Her funeral was conducted by Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille at The Thomas Funeral Home, and interment will be made at Bronson Cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

MARSHALL - FITCHETT

The Bay parsonage was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, January 24th, when Etta Marion, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fitchett of the Adolphustown district, North Fredericksburgh, was united in marriage to Raymond Keith, eldest son of Mr. Myrtle Marshall and the late Mr. Clarence Marshall, of Bloomfield, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. C. McCallum of the Bay Circuit, in the presence of immediate relatives.

The bride was dressed in a street-length Queen's blue frock and wore a Gainsboro' model hat with blue trimming. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Wilfred Baird, who wore a navy ensemble with hat to match. Mr. Wilfred Baird was the groom's attendant.

Following the signing of the register the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip amid showers of confetti.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will later take up residence at Bloomfield. The bride is one of the popular young people of the Anderson district, where she has been active in Young People's work.

LATIN STATES LIFT VEIL ON AXIS INTRIGUES

REVELATIONS SHOW CONCERTED PROGRAM "MADE IN BERLIN"

Buenos Aires, A.P.) — When the Argentine committee investigating subversive activities seized a German short-wave radio transmitter, a coded message was found hidden in the box in which the transmitter was packed.

The committee translated it as follows:

"La Paz if unable to stay in Lima. Follow instructions for ambassadors' conference in Santiago in the letter."

Last March the German diplomatic chiefs in Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Peru and Uruguay held a conference in Santiago, Chile. The meeting was more or less accidental, the five men claimed, because they were all on vacation and had gone to Santiago because it is one of South America's vacation spots.

None of the five has said publicly what they discussed. But one of the five, Edmund von Thurman, German Ambassador to Argentina, had just returned from Berlin.

While the Minister to Uruguay was attending the meeting, the German press attache in Buenos Aires, Gottfried Sandstede, took over his job as charge d'affaires in Montevideo. Six months later Sandstede fled from Argentina by airplane to escape questioning by the Argentine Chamber of Deputies committee investigating un-Argentine activities.

RADIO SEIZED

In July the committee seized aboard a commercial plane, the radio transmitter being carried from the German legation in Lima to the German Embassy in Buenos Aires under what the German Government termed "diplomatic immunity."

In La Paz, Bolivia, that month, the German Minister to Bolivia, Ernst Wendler, left his post on demand of the Bolivian Government, after it announced discovery of a letter addressed to Wendler, signed by a Bolivian army officer, Elia Belmont, who was stationed in Berlin, discussing a conspiracy to overthrow Bolivia's president.

Now von Thermann, under a vote of censure of the Argentine Congress and possessor of an invitation to leave, and the German colonies in each of the nations in which the four other men who conferred at Santiago are stationed are under scrutiny, in one way or another, by the nations in which they live.

These incidents which have come to light — dated within less than a year — are accepted by many informed quarters as evidence of a tie-up between Nazi fifth columns in South America.

How many and how strong such fifth columns may be depends, in a way, on the definition of a fifth column.

STRANGE ACTIVITIES

South American definitions range from armed bodies of men and soldiers plotting revolt, to welfare societies, operators of secret radios, scientists mapping strategic rivers and nearby sources of war materials, and wild natives with out drums hidden in their jungle savages.

South America has something to fit each of these definitions.

It is difficult to trace a connection between such widely-differing affairs.

But here is what persistent investigators have learned to date:

Argentina— The German Embassy, an "almost military" organization of 60,000 men formed into "cells" under the guise of welfare work sworn to support Hitler, watched to make sure of their loyalty, punished for lapses, taxed to maintain a system which feeds children Nazi doctrine through fairly tales.

Chile—Across the border from Argentina, Chilean Government agents reported caches of guns and ammunition, and battle practices complete with machine-guns staged by army-like organizations of 25,000 men wearing swastikas on their coat lapels.

Maps seized there indicated the organization controlled air fields and radio stations on islands along the coast in the Southern lake region which afford the easiest entrance to Argentina.

FINDINGS REVEALED

Without saying where they got their information, the investigators declared: "Observers in Argentina and Uruguay discovered a patrol being prepared in our country to coincide with an expected invasion of the British Isles." The reserve maintained over the source of this tip was reminiscent of the lack of explanation for sudden steps to maintain order when Bolivia ejected the German Minister, Wendler.

Bolivia—while there was perhaps a careful thumb on her Nazis, Bolivia was arresting the son of her Ambassador to Chile. Wendler, who has been offered for his country's detention. An inquiry into anti-Italian authorities is continuing.

Brazil — German activities have been quieter as the result of laws against foreign language schools, centralized control of communications. The heavily-concentrated German population has been deemed less dangerous since President Vargas declared himself for the United States and his son-in-law quit a job with the Italian Latin Airline crossing the South Atlantic.

Peru—Peru halted activities of the German - subsidized, so-called news agency, Transocean, and arrested a German airline after Congress voted to protest an unauthorized flight over the Ecuadorean border when precipitated a new outbreak in the border war.

Ecuador—President Arroyo del Rio, blaming Axis influences for Peru's attitude toward the border dispute, closed Ecuador's German-owned airline which carried Army officers free and sought permission to fly to the lonely Galapagos Island south of the Panama Canal.

AIRLINE SEIZED

Colombia — Has nationalized the German airline after it was found to be mapping approaches to the Panama Canal. Later President Santos broke up a military plot, seized a group of "scientists" exploring the Southeast flatlands, which are believed to be rich in undeveloped oil and are called a hot-bed of propaganda brought surreptitiously upstream from Brazil.

Uruguay — The Transocean investigation in Washington finally started in Uruguay, where South America's first deceptive Nazi inquiry last year disclosed a bomb depot, broke up a cellular organization and put eight Nazi leaders in jail. More recently a pro-Nazi daily was ejected from Congress.

Paraguay — Decreed death for Fifth Columnists a week after the Pearl Harbor attack and Wednesday decreed a curfew a short time later, then lifted it without explaining "student strikes" and "labor troubles."

Venezuela — German technicians have long since been ousted from strategic oil fields, but a Nazi agent who seized a few weeks ago on oil fields which he visited was released. Secret radios, still abundant until United States talks.

New York, (B.U.P.) — It can be proved that Hitler made a "fantastic understatement" when he declared that the total number of Germans killed in Russia from last June 22 to November 30 was 162,000 according to a BBC broadcast picked up in New York.

"How many days are there between June 22 and November 30?" asked the speaker. "Answer, exactly 162. So if the figure of 162,000 dead were correct, it would mean that the German army has lost precisely 1,000 men per day. That solution is ridiculous. It doesn't fit. Almost too good a coincidence to be true.

"Well, all right, suppose it is a coincidence. Let's look at it from another point. The Russian front is something like 1,300 miles in length. So 1,000 men per day for every 13 miles of front, less than one death per mile. Is that likely during a campaign which Hitler and Goebbels have described as involving continuous and severe fighting? He asked.

Between June 22 and November 30, he added, the average daily German losses were about fifteen miles. "So if one German died in the field for every mile of front, by his death he kept his country a rectangle of territory one mile long from north to south and 15 miles deep from west to east. That seems square miles and more in all. Do you believe that, in a campaign in which the enemy has been admitted to be fighting desperately, only an average daily German number was killed?

The speaker pointed out that Hitler's figure on his casualties, 10,000, a week, was "ridiculously low" and total German army engaged on the Eastern front.

"German fatalities work out, therefore, at a mere three per cent of the troops engaged," he said. "But at the same time, the Rumanians have announced their casualties are 40 per cent, their losses in dead and Spanish unit has lost a third of its strength. Do you believe that the Germans have suffered not only a fraction of the losses suffered by Germany's allies?"

Addressing German listeners, the BBC speaker concluded: "Finally, there are about 25,000,000 householders in Germany, so 162,000 dead means one death per 150 households. A town with a thousand inhabitants should have lost on an average of two, no more, of its young men. Do you believe that? Work it out for the families and households known to you. See if your village or town has come off as lightly as that."

WAR JOBS DENUDING FARMS OF HELP—SELECTIVE SERVICE ESSENTIAL FARMERS SAY

More than 6,000 acres of the richest soil in Ontario is already out of production in West Durham county, in an agricultural revealing that is Dominion-wide in scope but is affecting Ontario to such an extent that the province may soon easily lose its agricultural status. The loss in crop value is already estimated in hundreds of thousands of dollars by agricultural district leaders.

These were facts established by a party of daily newspapermen who spent an all-day tour of West Durham, as the guests of Geo. J. James, editor of the Bowmanville Statesman.

The Telegram representative learned in conversation with farmers engaged in various branches of agriculture that the situation is not a mere "scare" but it is a critical reality brought about largely in the words of one farmer "by the lethargy of the Federal Government."—Toronto Telegram.

Magistrate's Court

On Thursday afternoon, last week the following cases were brought before Magistrate Garvin, who presided at the regular session of the Court.

The case of Mr. Claude Allenbrand, Deseronto, charged with defrauding a taxi cab company of $2.00 costs for a traffic violation, was dismissed. Alfred Allenbrand, Deseronto, was fined $10.00 and costs of $10.00 for exceeding number of gallons of gasoline which was in the car at the time of the theft. The car was parked on Dundas Street, Napanee, at the time of his arrest, was at No. 32 Training Centre at Petawawa, where he is a member of the Canadian Army. He pleaded guilty to both charges. Before passing sentence on Storms, Magistrate Garvin heard the previous record read by the Crown Attorney. The record read: Sept. 2, 1925, theft of $50.00 suspended sentence; Jan. 23, 1933, theft of set of wrenches, suspended sentence; Jan. 26, 1933, carrying revolver, suspended sentence; May 26, 1933, assault, 12 months; April 29, 1941, theft of coal (1 month); Aug. 15, 1941 failing to remain at scene of accident, (2 months.) Following the reading of the record, an officer of the Training Centre at Petawawa was called and stationed at Petawawa 4 days when he went on leave without permission for nearly fifteen days. The officer stated he could in no way say anything that would improve the situation. In passing sentence, Magistrate Garvin stated he had no alternative but to impose the minimum term of one year in the Ontario Reformatory for the theft of the car and two months on the stove charge. The stove was recovered in Belleville, where Storms had disposed of it.

On Monday the only case dealt with by Magistrate Garvin in the Napanee Police Court was a charge against E. A. O'Brien, London. One who pleaded guilty to careless driving and was ordered to pay a fine of $5.00 plus costs.

The Late Mrs. William Glenn

Mrs. William Glenn, a resident of Napanee for about seventy years, died last Thursday morning in a Kingston hospital, where she had been a patient for several weeks.

Mrs. Glenn was formerly Nellie Beck and was born 74 years ago in England. With her parents and three brothers and sisters, she came to Canada when she was four years of age and had lived practically all the rest of her life here. For many years she was a member of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, where she was active in the church organizations as long as her health permitted.

Her husband, who for a great number of years was employed at the Campbell House Hotel and later by The Robinson Company, predeceased her some years ago. Her two children died in infancy.

She is survived by two brothers, Henry at Portsmouth, and William near Peterborough. The late Mrs. Glenny Babcock was a sister.

Her funeral was conducted by Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille at The Tierney Funeral Home, and interment will be made at Riverside Cemetery.

Selecting Eggs For Hatching

(Experimental Farms News)

After the breeders have been selected and mated, there remains only one more step in which selection can be practised. This is the choice of eggs for incubation. Each day's eggs should be sorted and the cracked, weak shelled and rough shelled eggs removed and used for home consumption. Eggs weighing less than two ounces each should not be set since these will produce pullets a large proportion of which will lay small eggs. Again very large eggs, i.e., those which weight over 26½ ounces per dozen tend to hatch poorly and it is not advantageous to set these very large eggs.

Recent work at the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, says Dr. S. S. Munro, has shown that in most cases a fairly close relationship exists between the percentage of shell on the egg and its hatching power. The specific gravity of the fresh egg is a very accurate measure of its percentage shell and by making up a solution of salt and water to a definite strength and immersing the eggs to determine those which sink and which float it has been found possible to separate good and poor hatching eggs with sufficient accuracy to improve hatchability on the average between five and ten per cent. One must have an earthenware crock or a porcelain pail which will not be corroded by the action of the salt. A finely grained hydrometer for liquids heavier than water is required to measure the strength of the solution. For White Leghorn eggs the salt solution should have a specific gravity of approximately 1.082 and for Larred Rock and other general purpose breeds about 1.077. If more than 30 per cent of the eggs float in these solutions, the strength should be lowered slightly by adding water or if less than 20 per cent float, the solution should be made slightly stronger by adding salt. The object should be to remove between 20 to 30 per cent of the poorest shelled eggs by adjusting the solution to the point where about 25 per cent of the eggs float. Originally an attempt was made to set definite solution strengths for different breeds but these were found to vary from flock to flock and also from time to time in the same flock.

The degree of improvement in hatchability which can be brought about by this method has been found on some farms to be as high as 20 per cent, on others it is less than 5 per cent. On the average it has been found that between five and ten more chicks can be secured per 100 eggs set; this means an added return of from half to one and a half cents per egg set depending on the degree of improvement and the value of the chicks. More detailed information on the specific gravity method of testing eggs for hatchability can be secured by writing the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Winter Housing And Maintenance of Beef Cows

(Experimental Farms News)

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Kapuskasing, Ont., all beef cows are bred to calve in March or April and are kept loose in a log barn opening into a yard with a southern exposure. Feeding racks for hay are placed in the yard and the cows are allowed to go in and out of the barn at will. Fresh water is provided inside in a tank and kept from freezing by a small immersion electric heater.

Calving has taken place in this log barn and no loss of calves has occurred due to low temperature or tramping. Early calving is more satisfactory, though than late calving on pasture. It prevents udder trouble later on and the calves being older make better use of the additional milk flow when the cows go to pasture. They are also more easily weaned in the fall and finished, either as fed calves or older beef. Calves raised at the Kapuskasing Station, the last two years weighed an average of 491 lbs. per head at weaning.

An average of 4 lb. bedding per head daily was found to be enough to keep the cows clean but a good drainage of the yard seems to be essential also.

The last two years about twenty-three breeding females wintered at this Station have been fed on hay and silage only. The average daily feed consumption per head for the whole period of 223 days or nearly seven and one-half months has been 18 lbs. hay and 19 lbs. silage or a total of 4114 lbs. hay and 4231 lbs. silage.

For best results with beef cattle in this district, especially with so short a pasture season, it is of the utmost importance to have calving occur as early as possible, not later than March and to reduce the cost as much as possible the wintering costs by using cheap buildings, feeding roughage only and saving as much as possible. At Kapuskasing it took 81 per cent. less man labour and 66 per cent less capital for buildings and equipment with beef cattle than with the dairy cattle.

"Do you suggest he is a thief," asked the counsel.

"I couldn't say he's a thief, sah," said the witness. "But if I was a chicken, I'd sure roost high."

How Rent Control Affects You — as a landlord as a tenant

As part of the general plan to halt further increases in the Cost of Living, the Government on December 1, 1941, extended the policy of the Price Ceiling to rentals for all commercial and housing accommodation in Canada. Generally speaking the new rental laws provide that:

(1) No oral or written lease for any commercial or housing accommodation (furnished or unfurnished) may legally be made after October 11, 1941, at a rental higher than the rental lawfully payable under the lease in effect on that date unless an application for increased rental has been made to and approved by a local Rentals Committee of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Such an application must be based on specified circumstances arising since October 11, 1941.

NOTE: Land and premises used solely for farm purposes are not subject to rent control.

(2) A tenant is entitled to a renewal of his lease unless the landlord requires the premises for certain reasons named in the Board's Rental Orders and has given the tenant a written notice to vacate within the time and in the manner prescribed therein. If this notice to vacate is contested by the tenant, the landlord must secure a Court Order for possession.

(3) Copies of all Rental Orders and Regulations of the Board and application forms for rental variations are available from any of the regional or sub-offices of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and in areas where such offices are not yet established, from the Clerk of any County or District Court or local Rentals Committee.

VIOLATIONS of these orders are punishable by law and should be reported in writing to the Prices and Supply Representative Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, at the nearest of any of the following cities: Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, North Bay, London, Toronto, Brockville, Montreal, Quebec, Saint John, Halifax or Charlottetown.

PRESERVING FABRICS

Hello Homemakers! Even though we are assured that prices cannot be higher than they were last September, we must remember that the dollar will not go as far as it did before the war affected the Canadian markets. So, wise and thrifty homemakers are patching and mending, to make their old clothes 'do.'

—V—

That's why many of our readers are asking about textiles. They want to know the special characteristics of the different materials so they can care for them properly. Textiles are of two main types: the artificial fibre fabrics — nylon and the various rayons; and the natural fibre fabrics—wool, silk, cotton and linen. The subject is a lengthy one, so we will only discuss artificial fibre fabrics this week.

—V—

Nylon is made from coal, air and water. Its fibres are strong, elastic, resistant to wrinkling, lose very little strength when wet, wash easily and dry quickly.

—V—

There are four chief types of rayon, manufactured by different processes: 1. Nitro or Chardonnet, such as Tubize; 2. Cuprammonium rayons — Bemberg; 3. Viscose rayons— Viscose; 4. Acetate rayons — Celanese. They are all made from wood pulp or cotton linters, or both. Their fibres are stronger than wool but weaker than cotton. They hold dyes well. White fabrics remain white. However, rayons lose from 40 to 60 per cent. of their strength when wet.

—V—

Like all delicate materials, synthetic fabrics should be handled carefully when washed. Do not rub or twist, and do not pin to a clothesline.

—V—

WASHING DELICATE FABRICS

1 Use LUKEWARM water as some fibres melt at a high temperature.
2 Use plenty of water which has had PURE soap thoroughly dissolved in it.
3 Squeeze suds through the material; DO NOT RUB. Articles which are dirty will require a second suds.
4 Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water (not cold). Rinse in two waters at least.
5 Because rayons stretch when wet, they must be wrung out carefully. With electric wringer released considerably.
6 Roll delicate articles in a turkish towel and knead out moisture. Then hang in a shady place—away from excessive heat.
7 Iron on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron. The electric iron set at 'rayon' or 300 degrees, smoothes out these materials easily.
8 Crepe garments which may shrink must be measured before washing and carefully eased to original size.

TAKE A TIP:

1 To test for identification of fabrics — burn a few ravellings. Viscose and Bemberg rayons burn with a flame, leaving only a small amount of white ash. Celanese rayon burns and drips like black sealing-wax.
2 Celanese is dissolved by acetone and acetic acid — therefore, do not spill nail polish remover or vinegar on it.
3 Cleaners containing chloroform or alcohol will dissolve celanese.
4 A gloss produced by ironing on the right side of the material cannot be removed. Remember to iron on the wrong side with a pressing cloth.
5 Perspiration astringents are harmful to silks and rayons but perspiration itself does not affect them.
6 Carbon monoxide (the exhaust from cars); will ruin nylon hose.
7 Synthetic fibres hold stains stubbornly. Stain removal method may wear a hole in the fabric.

Mrs. M. Mc. asks:
The shoe of our electric froner frequently sticks to starched cottons. Have you a suggestion to prevent this?
Answer:
Put a piece of paraffin in a square of cheese cloth and rub the shoe when it is warm.

Two eggs.
One cup milk.
One lb. smoked ham trimmings ground.
One lb. beef chuck, ground.
Half-teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons green pickle, chopped.
One-third cup chili sauce.
Two teaspoons of Worcestershire Sauce.
Two tablespoons onion, chopped.
Fold cereal in a towel; crush with rolling pin into coarse crumbs. Beat eggs in mixing bowl, add crumbs and remaining ingredients. Mix. Asks Agriculturalists to Organize Committees In Every Ont. County

Hon. P. M. Dewan appeals for Co-operation of all Farmers in a Gigantic Crop Production Effort for 1942.

Believing that community, township and county organizations composed of farmers would be of material assistance in furthering the enormous war effort Ontario agriculturalists will have to make in 1942, Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture has asked Agricultural Representatives in the various counties to take the lead in organizing committees for war purposes only.

"When such organization is completed, any committees that are formed will be in a position to advise and act regarding local conditions particularly, and also advise upon provincial and national problems as required," said Mr. Dewan. "Through their local committees they will be able to co-operate with any and all groups and departments interested in the production of food products."

"The Agricultural Representative will become the active government agency in this work and it will have precedence over all other activities in the calls upon his time. The Department is convinced that the urgency of the situation demands this and appeals for the co-operation of all farmers throughout the province," Mr. Dewan declared.

War conditions have made imperative gigantic Canadian agricultural production in 1942, with a call for export of 400,000,000 pounds of bacon; 125,000,000 pounds of cheese (mostly from Ontario-; one million cases of eggs and large quantities of processed milk.

Under normal farm labor conditions, Canadian farmers would not find too much difficulty in filling even these huge contracts, but an acute labor shortage means that all farm mechanized equipment must be put to maximum use as well as proper organization of all available labor.

Community, township and county organizations could be of untold assistance in organizing and advising on this as well as other phases of crop production this year, Mr. Dewan states.

ADVISES FARMERS TO REPAIR BAGS

JOHN D. MACLEOD SAYS EVERY CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN OF PRESENT SUPPLY

Farmers and others handling products contained in jute and cotton bags would be well advised to carefully collect, clean and mend every available bag, says John D. MacLeod, Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto. The supply is limited and every care should be taken of the present supply, he states.

To avoid damage by rats and mice to bags in storage, it is suggested they be hung over lines in a dry location a considerable distance from walls and floors.

Used bags may harbour and spread various plant diseases, so disinfection is recommended, if one is doubtful regarding the cleanliness of bags to be used. They may be dipped in a solution of formalin, one pint to 30 gallons of water for a period of three to five minutes.

$2,000 EMPLOYEES SUBJECT TO INSURANCE

Information has been given out by Mr. E. E. Langdon, Manager of the Local Employment and Claims Office, with respect to the Order-In-Council passed recently by the Federal Government to provide insurance coverage for workers, who would normally earn less than $2,000 a year ,but whose earnings, in certain specified instances, are now in excess of that amount.

Under the Unemployment Insurance Act such workers would be excepted from making contributions to the insurance fund and, therefore, would be deprived of benefits should they become unemployed.

Many employees who it was intended should be insured under the Act are now earning over $2,000 and thus being excepted. Stepping up of war industries has been the cause and hence the Government decided upon immediate action by Order-In-Council under the War Measures Act.

In a radio address recently, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, outlined the provisions of the Order-in-Council. The order provides that persons who are in insurable employment and otherwise eligible will be insured against unemployment:—

1 If their rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year by reason of the payment of a cost of living bonus, or
2 If, in the case of persons paid on an hourly basis, the basic rate of remuneration does not exceed ninety cents per hour, or
3 If the rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year by reason of an increase in basic wage rates which have come into effect since June 30th, 1941, or
5 If their rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year for any reason which in the opinion of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is a result of the state of war now existing.

The Order also provides that the Unemployment Insurance Advisory Committee, a body made up of representatives of employers and workers and created to advise the Commission and the Government, shall investigate the whole question of the $2,000 limit and recommend a permanent course of action. Of necessity some time must elapse before the Committee can report. In the meantime the Order provides immediate protection for those workers.

PROBLEMS OF THE EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN

From The British Library of Information

The German Spring offensive in 1941 was planned to start early in April with a drive east through to the Caucasus. A strong force was massed in Bulgaria, and the situation was favorable for the employment of the Nazi technique of concentrating overwhelming power against a weaker country. It was to be Turkey's turn to be the victim of aggression.

Turkey was isolated from possible help from Britain, with an army illequipped to stand against the Panzer divisions on the Bulgarian frontier; while on the southern flank Syria was controlled by the Axis. To complete the threat of encirclement, an Axis-inspired revolt had started in Irak. All essential for a perfect Nazi Blitzkrieg appeared to be fulfilled and the troops were only waiting for an order from the High Command to attack the Turks.

It was then that the unexpected happened — through their country. This action, combined with the presence of a British expeditionary force in Greece, made it unsafe to launch the attack on Turkey; for the Yugoslavs and British plus the Greeks were in a position to strike at the rear of the German army.

The action of Yugoslavia and Great Britain saved Turkey from invasion, and it is probable that it also saved Russia from losing the Caucasus and having her flank turned to the south. The German attack on Russia had to be delayed for two months and, when it did start, it lacked the strategical threat of the pincer movement from south of the Black Sea, as by that time Britain had occupied Syria and Irak, and was in a position to support Turkey.

This year Hitler has again assembled a strong army and considerable air fleet in Bulgaria, but the chances of a successful invasion of Turkey are no longer favorable; while the position of the German army in Russia is probably too serious for even Hitler to attempt a diversion which might result in failure, and even in disaster, for German arms.

Turkey is backed by the Free French in Syria, and by the British in Irak, and is in a better position to resist than she was nine months ago; while the example of Russian success in the Crimea will encourage the Turkish army to oppose the Nazis. Preponderant military opinion is that, if any one, such an attack is not imminent. Seasonal conditions of terrain are unfavorable and the territory through which the Germans would have to operate against Turkey is very safe in winter, with extremely poor transport facilities.

Though the prospects for a Nazi drive to the east are not nearly so good as they were last year, it is there that Hitler has his easiest outlet. A successful blow at the Middle East, or at some point in the eastern Mediterranean, might save his hard-pressed army in Africa and restore his prestige in the Near East.

The struggle for control of the Mediterranean between Malta and Cyprus, in its earlier stages, was between fleet and fleet; but as the British fleet was eliminated as ship by ship its place was taken by German airpower, which has proved itself a formidable rival to the British fleet. The struggle then entered the stage of a fight for air bases, without which the range of air warfare is limited.

The conquest of Greece enabled the Nazis to conscript Greek labor in the Peloponnese for the construction of airfields. Planes operating from these fields and from bases in the Dodecanese Islands were able to accomplish the airborne invasion of Crete. The seaborne invasion attempt failed under the guns of the British Navy, but the fleet could not remain indefinitely in Cretan waters without airfighter protection against bombers. Losses in ships were too heavy.

Further, the garrison of Crete was dependent on seaborne supplies, and vessels carrying these were even more vulnerable than the fighting ships to attack from the air. Crete fell largely because British aid no air bases within 300 miles from which fighters could operate. Crete is ideally situated for this form of attack but, though its loss is serious for the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean, its position does not lend itself as a base for similar operations against Cyprus, which is more than 300 miles away, and is also strongly supported by allied airfields in Syria and Palestine.

The British now control airfields from Aleppo and Cyprus in the north through Palestine and Egypt, up to Benghazi in Libya, a great semi-circle covering the east and south aspects of the eastern Mediterranean. Beyond Benghazi the next British airbase is at Malta and, until the British succeed in driving the Axis army out of Tripolitania and occupying its airfields up to the borders of Tunisia, the island of Malta will remain beyond supporting range of R.A.F. fighters from Africa. Malta is so close to Sicily as Crete is to Greece, and German and Italian airpower is strongly based in Sicily and southern Italy.

Malta is a serious embarrassment to Axis planes and particularly to Axis' shipping passing from Sicily and southern Italy to Tripoli, and the increased strength of Malta's air defences during the last while, bear witness to this. The island lies less than sixty miles from Sicily, and athwart the direct sea route from the Straits of Messina to the port of Tripoli, from which it is only 200 miles distant.

Though it is a great naval base, its use as such in a war with Italy was never considered by the British as recognized that the harbor and docks would be unsafe for use by the fleet, situated as they are so close to the enemy's airfields in Sicily. However, the air defenses of the island are strong, and the naval and military garrison, British and Maltese, is well trained and well used to enemy bombing attacks and to raids by light naval craft. The value of the defense of Malta since Italy came into the war has been one of a steady attrition in which the attackers have suffered more damage than those whom they were attacking.

Valetta, which is both port and capital city of Malta, is renowned for its catacombs, and the passages and galleries of these ancient works have been utilized in the defense, and provide excellent cover for the garrison and their supplies. Even airplane hangars are said to be underground.

Malta's record has been one of successful defense, though it is open to doubt if the enemy attacks to-date have been intended to do more than damage the port, as well as the harbor and garrison. It is noteworthy that considerable Nazi air reinforcements were moved to the Mediterranean, and, for the first time in many weeks, the R.A.F. reports strong Nazi air opposition on the borders of Libya and Tripolitania.

Up to now the R.A.F. have not reported opposition as being significant. The object of the Nazis is to check the British advance in Africa. Should they fail in this, and should the British succeed in occupying the whole of Libya up to the borders of Tunisia, then Malta will no longer be without fighter support from the mainland, and the danger of a German coup against Malta will be largely removed.

The German attack on Russia had to be delayed for two months and, when it did start, it lacked the strategical threat of the pincer movement from south of the Black Sea, as by that time Britain had occupied Syria and Irak, and was in a position to support Turkey.

This year Hitler has again assembled an army and a considerable air fleet in Bulgaria but the chances of a successful invasion of Turkey are no longer favorable; while the position of the German army in Russia is probably too serious for even Hitler to attempt a diversion which might result in failure and even in disaster, for German arms.

Turkey is backed by the Free French in Syria, and by the British in Irak, and is in a better position to resist than she was nine months ago; while the example of Russian success in the Crimea will encourage the Turkish army to oppose the Nazis. Preponderant military opinion is that, in any case, such an attack is not imminent. Seasonal conditions of terrain are unfavorable and the territory through which the Germans would have to operate against Turkey is very safe in winter, with extremely poor transport facilities.

Though the prospects for a Nazi drive to the east are not nearly so good as they were last year, it is there that Hitler has his easiest target. A successful blow at the Middle East, or at some point in the eastern Mediterranean, might save his hard-pressed army in Africa and relieve his pressure in the Near East.

The struggle for control of the Mediterranean between Malta and Cyprus, in its earlier stages, was between Italy and Britain; but as the Italian fleet was eliminated ship by ship its place was taken by German airpower, which has proved itself a formidable rival to the British fleet. The struggle then entered the stage of a fight for air bases, without which the range of air warfare is limited.

The conquest of Greece enabled the Nazis to conscript Greek labor in the Peloponnese for the construction of airfields. Planes operating from these fields and from bases in the Dodecanese Islands were able to accomplish the airborne invasion of Crete. The seaborne invasion attempt failed under the guns of the British Navy, but the fleet could not remain indefinitely in Cretan waters without airfighter protection against bombers. Losses in ships were too heavy.

Further, the garrison of Crete was dependent on seaborne supplies, and vessels carrying these were even more vulnerable than the fighting ships to attack from the air. Crete fell largely because Britain had no air bases in the Peloponnese from which fighters could operate. Crete is ideally situated for this form of attack but, though its loss is serious for the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean, its position does not lend itself as a base for similar operations against Cyprus, which is more than 300 miles away, and is also strongly supported by allied airfields in Syria and Palestine.

The Nazis now control airfields from Aleppo and Cyprus in the north through Palestine and Egypt, up to Benghazi in Libya, a great semi-circle covering the east and south shores of the eastern Mediterranean. Beyond Benghazi the next British airbase is at Malta and, until the British succeed in driving the Axis army out of Tripolitania and occupying its airfields up to the borders of Tunisia, the island of Malta will remain beyond supporting range of R.A.F. fighters from Africa. Malta is as close to Sicily as Crete is to Greece and German and Italian airpower is strongly based in Sicily and southern Italy.

Malta is a serious embarrassment to Axis planes and particularly to Axis shipping passing from Sicily and southern Italy to Tripoli, and the increased tempo of air attacks on the island during the last while, bear witness to this. The island lies less than sixty miles from Sicily, and is nearer than any other sea route from the Straits of Messina to the port of Tripoli, from which it is only 200 miles distant.

Though it is a great naval base, it, use as such in a war with Italy was never considered by the British, who recognized that the harbor and docks would be unsafe for use by the fleet, situated as they are so close to the enemy's airfield in Sicily. However, the air defenses of the island are strong, and the naval and military garrison, British and Maltese, is well trained and well used to enemy bombing attacks and to raids by light naval craft. The story of the defense of Malta since Italy came into the war has been one of a sequence of attacks, in which the enemy has failed in this, and always in the case those whom they were attacking.

Cyprus, which is both port and capital city of Malta, is renowned for its catacombs, and the passages and galleries of these ancient works have been utilized in the defense, and provide excellent cover for the personnel and their supplies. Even airplane hangars are said to be underground.

Malta's record has been one of successful defense, though it is open to doubt if the enemy attacks to-date have been intended to do more than damage the port, as well as the harbor and airfields. It is noteworthy that considerable Nazi air reinforcements have moved to the Mediterranean, and for the first time in many weeks, the R.A.F. reports strong Nazi air opposition on the borders of Libya and Tripolitania.

Up to now the R.A.F. have not reported opposition as being significant. The object of the Nazis is to check the British advance in Africa. Should they fail in this, and should the British succeed in occupying the whole of Libya up to the borders of Tunisia, then Malta will no longer be without fighter support from the mainland, and the danger of a German coup against Malta will be largely removed.

Asks Agriculturalists to Organize Committees In Every Ont. County

Hon. P. M. Dewan appeals for Co-operation of all Farmers in a Gigantic Crop Production Effort for 1942.

Believing that community, township and county organizations composed of farmers would be of material assistance in furthering the enormous war effort Ontario agriculturalists will have to make in 1942, Hon. P. H. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture has asked Agricultural Representatives in the various counties to take the lead in organizing committees for war purposes only.

"When such organization is completed, any committees that are formed will be in a position to advise and act regarding local conditions particularly, and also advise upon provincial and national problems as required," said Mr. Dewan. "Through their local contact they will be able to co-operate with any and all groups and departments interested in the production of food products."

"The Agricultural Representative will become the active government agency in this work and it will have precedence over all other activities in the calls upon his time. The Department is convinced that the urgency of the situation demands this and appeals for the co-operation of all farmers throughout the province." Mr. Dewan declared.

War conditions have made imperative gigantic Canadian agricultural production in 1942, with a call for export of 600,000,000 pounds of bacon; 125,000,000 pounds of cheese (mostly from Ontario); one million cases of eggs and large quantities of processed milk.

Under normal farm labor conditions, Canadian farmers would not find too much difficulty in filling even these huge contracts, but an acute labor shortage means that all farm mechanized equipment must be put to maximum use as well as proper organization of all available labor.

Community, township and county organizations could be of untold assistance in organizing and advising on this as well as other phases of crop production this year, Mr. Dewan states.

ADVISES FARMERS TO REPAIR BAGS

JOHN D. MACLEOD SAYS EVERY CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN OF PRESENT SUPPLY

Farmers and others handling produce contained in jute and cotton bags should be well advised to carefully collect, clean and mend every available bag, says John D. MacLeod, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto. The supply is limited and every care should be taken of those on hand, he states.

To avoid damage by rats and mice to bags in storage, it is suggested they be hung over wires in a dry place with considerable distance from walls and floors.

Used bags may harbour and spread various plant diseases, so disinfection is recommended, if one is doubtful regarding the cleanliness of bags he has. Bags may be dipped in a solution of formalin, one part to 30 gallons of water for a period of three to five minutes.

$2,000 EMPLOYEES SUBJECT TO INSURANCE

Information has been given out by Mr. E. E. Langdon, Manager of the Local Employment and Claims Office, with respect to the Order-In-Council passed recently by the Federal Government to provide insurance coverage for workers, who would normally earn less than $2,000 a year, but whose earnings, in certain specified instances, are now in excess of that amount.

Under the Unemployment Insurance Act such workers would be excepted from making contributions to the insurance fund and, therefore, would be deprived of benefits should they become unemployed.

Many employees who it was intended should be insured under the Act are now earning over $2,000 and it is being excepted. Stepping up of war industries has been the cause and hence the Government decided upon this action by Order-In-Council under the War Measures Act.

In a radio address recently, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, outlined the provisions of the Order-in-Council. The order provides that persons who are in insurable employment and otherwise eligible will be insured against unemployment:

1 If their rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year by reason of the payment of a cost of living bonus, or
2 If, in the case of persons paid on an hourly basis, the basic rate of remuneration does not exceed ninety cents per hour, or
3 If the rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year by reason of an increase in working hours or overtime caused by changed industrial conditions resulting from the state of war, or
4 If their remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year by reason of an increase in basic wage rates which have come into effect since June 30th, 1941, or
5 If their rate of remuneration exceeds in value two thousand dollars a year for any reason which in the opinion of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is a result of the state of war now existing.

The Order also provides that the Unemployment Insurance Advisory Committee, a body made up of representatives of employers and workers and created to advise the Commission and the Government, shall investigate the whole question of the $2,000 limit and recommend a permanent course of action. Of necessity some time must elapse before the Committee can report. In the meantime the Order provides immediate protection for these workers.

AXIS AIR LOSSES DOUBLE BRITAIN'S

London (C.P.) — Air losses of the Axis up to the end of 1941 — even exclusive of losses in Russia— have been double those of Britain, it was announced last week.

The Air Ministry said Axis losses has been 8,559 planes, and Britain's losses 3,962 .

It gave this breakdown:

LEASURE CAR OWNERS O BE ALLOWED GALS. GAS PER WEEK

Automobile drivers in Canada will allowed between 300 and 380 gallons of gasoline a year for non-essential driving when gasoline rationing becomes effective April 1, 1942, an. C. D. Howe, Munitions Minister, announced last week.

This, the Minister said, will be ough to drive approximately 00 miles."

Drivers of some 1,125,000 vehicles ill be affected by this regulation ause they do not come within e preferred category.

Today's statement made known ly the ration book — essential asoline users and at the department was said it will be several days fore the amount of gasoline to be loted drivers in the various other tegories will be determined.

FOR RATION BOOKS OTORISTS TO PAY

A gasoline licence good for a year nd a book of ration coupons will e each user $1.

The year's ration for non-essential users will be divided into sixty ints and apportioned for use during the year in relation to the mount of driving usually done and the amount of supplies available.

Officials at Ottawa said it was pected that the division of units tween the four quarters will not e equal but a larger number of nits will be available in the third arter when summer driving is at peak.

EVEN CATEGORIES O BE SET UP

Every vehicle in the country will designated as belonging to one seven categories. Each of the last ll be the cars in "A" category — ned privately and drivers for on-essential purposes. At the bottom the list and in the most preferred tegory will be vehicles used to upply the armed services, and certain other essential commercial vehicles.

The plan calls for the issuance books of coupons. Each book will ermit the purchase of a designated umber of units of gasoline, according to the category of the vehicle r which it is used.

"To begin with," said Mr. Howe, the unit wik represent five gallons f gasoline. But the purchaser will e permitted to turn in half a coupon if he wants to buy only two and half gallons.

"Those in Category "A" will be allowed only enough gasoline for driving to horsepower. This means that under the present schedule the owner of a small car driven by an ordinary family use will be able to buy 300 allons were year. Others will be rationed according to their "needs."

The Minister, in his statement, explained that to obtain a ration coupon book the vehicle owner must fill in an application which he will submit with his 1942 motor vehicle licence. With the application he must send $1 for his gasoline privilege registration, and in return he will receive a gasoline licence and coupon book. The licence will be good for one year.

The job of issuing the coupons will be handled by the issuers of otor vehicle licence plates in each province, but anyone applying for a coupon book for a car in other than the basic or "A" category, will have to send in his application to the nearest regional office of the oil controller before his coupon book will be issued.

If this application is approved he will submit it along with the fee, and his vehicle licence, to an issuer f motor vehicle licences and the latter will issue the rationing licence and coupon book.

Because motor vehicle licences now are being issued in Ontario the first application forms to come off the presses will be made available in that province.

It is expected that within a week the application forms for all vehicles will be printed and ready for distribution through the offices of the Province of Ontario," said the Munitions Department statement, quoting Mr. Col-relle.

VARIOUS RATIONING CATEGORIES LISTED

The following list shows the various rationing categories and sets forth the various vehicles eligible for receipt:

Category A — All vehicles which are not eligible for any other category.

Category B — Occupation: Rural school teachers, farmers who do not possess a truck, clergymen, veterinary undertakers, practising veterinary surgeons, members of A. R. P. or auxiliary fire or police organizations.

MAJ. NORRINGTON PRAISES MEMBERS H. & P. E. REGT.

At a meeting held in Picton, last week, Major Arthur Norrington, of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, who is at present at home on leave, gave an interesting talk on conditions overseas.

Speaking of the high state of efficiency of the Canadian Corps, Major Norrington said the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was second to none, among those of the First Division. The men are healthy and fit, as shown by their ability to take a 25-mile route march twice a week.

The local boys, now "somewhere in England," last October, were on parade for the Royal Sussex Regiment. They put on an excellent show and were highly complimented for their good work. General Pearks has been quoted as saying that they are second to none of the finest overseas."

There are a number of Napanee and Lennox and Addington boys who are members of the Hastings, and Prince Edward Regiment.

THE QUESTION UPON WHICH CANADIANS VOTE

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Here is the question upon which Canadians will vote when Canada's forthcoming manpower plebiscite is held:

The question was made public in the House of Commons last week by Premier Mackenzie King.

Second Victory Loan Campaign

The Second Victory Loan Campaign will be launched by the Dominion of Canada on Monday, February 16th. We have to raise a minimum of $600,000,000 — our patriotism will be gauged by the extent by which we exceed that official objective! We have to pay for the guns, the ships, the aeroplanes, the tanks which will bring Victory to our Cause and safety to our homes. Don't fail to play your part and be ready to buy Victory Bonds to the full extent of your means.

PLEASURE CAR OWNERS TO BE ALLOWED 90 GALS. GAS PER WEEK

Automobile drivers in Canada will be allowed between 300 and 380 gallons of gasoline a year for non-essential driving when gasoline rationing becomes effective April 1, 1942, Hon. C. D. Howe, Munitions Minister, announced last week.

This, the Minister said, will be enough to drive "approximately 9,000 miles."

Drivers of some 1,125,000 vehicles will be affected by this regulation because they do not come within the preferred category.

Today's statement made known why the ration for non - essential gasoline users and at the department was said it will be several days before the amount of gasoline to be stored drivers in the various other categories will be determined.

FOR RATION BOOKS MOTORISTS TO PAY

A gasoline licence good for a year and a book of ration coupons will cost each user $1.

The year's ration for non-essential users will be divided into sixty units and apportioned for use during the year in relation to the amount of driving usually done and the amount of supplies available. Officials at Ottawa said it was expected that the division of units into the four quarters will not be equal but a larger number of units will be available in the third quarter when summer driving is at peak.

TEN CATEGORIES TO GET ICP

Every vehicle in the country will be designated as belonging to one of seven categories. First on the list will be cars in "A" category — cars owned privately and driven for non-essential purposes. At the bottom of the list and in the most preferred category will be vehicles used to supply essential services, and certain other essential commercial vehicles.

The plan calls for the issuance of books of coupons. Each book will permit the purchase of a designated number of units of gasoline, according to the category of the vehicle for which it is issued.

To begin with, said Mr. Howe, the unit will represent five gallons of gasoline but the purchaser will be permitted to turn in half a coupon if he wants to buy only two and a half gallons.

Those in Category "A" will be allocked sixty or more units, according to the circumstances. This means that under the present schedule the owner of a small car driven for ordinary pleasure will be able to buy 300 gallons were year. Others will be rationed according to their proved needs.

The Minister, in his statement, explained that to obtain a ration coupon book the owner must first fill out an application which he will submit with his 1942 motor vehicle licence. With the application he must send $1 for his gasoline privilege licence and in return he will receive a gasoline licence and coupon book. The licence will be used for the year.

The job of issuing the coupons will be handled by the issuers of motor vehicle licence plates in each province, but anyone applying for a coupon book for a car in other than the basic or "A" category, will have to send in his application to the nearest regional office of the controller before his coupon book will be issued.

If this application is approved he will submit it along with the licence number with his 1942 motor vehicle licence. With the application he must send $1 for his gasoline privilege licence and in return he will receive a gasoline licence and coupon book. The licence will be used for the year.

Because motor vehicle licences now are being issued in Ontario the first application forms to come off the presses will be made available in that province.

It is expected that within a week the application forms for all vehicles will be printed and ready for distribution through the local post offices in Ontario, said the Munitions Department statement, quoting Mr. Cotnoir.

MAJ. NORRINGTON PRAISES MEMBERS H. & P. E. REGT.

At a meeting held in Picton, last week, Major Arthur Norrington, of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, who is at present at home on leave, gave an interesting talk on conditions overseas.

The local boys, now "somewhere in England," last October, were on parade for the Royal Sussex Regiment. They put on an excellent show and were highly complimented for their good work. General Pearkes has been quoted as saying that "they are second to none of the finest overseas."

There are a number of Napanee and Lennox and Addington boys who are members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Second Victory Loan Campaign

The Second Victory Loan Campaign will be launched by the Dominion of Canada on Monday, February 16th. On that date an army of canvassers will start out to call on every house and office in the country to obtain the money to back up the men in uniform. This is our chance — those of us who are still working in the office, factory or home — to play a direct part in winning the war. We have to raise a minimum of $600,000,000 — and our patriotism will be gauged by the extent by which we exceed that official objective! We have to pay for the guns, the ships, the aeroplanes, the tanks which will bring Victory to our Cause and safety to our homes. We must all fail to play your part and be ready to buy Victory Bonds to the full extent of your means.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

Hon. Arthur Meighen has strange political bedfellows these days. Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Drew, Mr. Shields, each disliking Mr. King for a different reason, is using their support of Mr. Meighen as a means whereby they may give public expression to that dislike. If Mr. Meighen survives this contest it will be in spite of his bedfellows and not because of them. It will be because of his personal worth and character.

This however is only one of the side issues of the present by-election. The real and most saddening revelation is the way in which certain powerful interests are preying upon race predjudices for their own ends. Here we are at war. One of the greatest wars in the history of the world, at a time when every ounce of strength is needed to wage a successful conflict, we see those who are willing to capitalize on local differences for political ends. We are not now thinking of Mr. Meighen but rather of groups of men who lie in the background using every political party, and every political occasion for their own gain.

Not since the election in 1917 has there been such an appeal to predjudice in the name of patriotism as has marked a certain section of the Toronto Press. Its conduct makes us wonder what will happen in the future if our country is to get its news and opinions from such biased and predjudiced sources. Such hysterical screeching as has marked their front pages is hardly worthy of a great British newspaper tradition of fair dealing and honesty.

Canada, as we have repeatedly pointed out is a hard country to govern. It is a long and narrow country, with the two most populous provinces almost equally balanced between the French in the one and English in the other. These two racial groups do not see eye to eye. But they are here. We cannot undo history. The supreme concern at the moment is that we have a united Canada. We cannot fight totalitarian war with a divided nation. Mr. Churchill recognized that with respect to Ireland. Ireland in many ways is like our situation. The south is absolutely opposed to conscription. The north has been agitating for conscription in their own counties. Mr. Churchill has said that to force conscription in the north would not be worth the effort. It would do more harm than good. We are not passing judgment on that statement, we merely quote it. But in Canada it is just as true in a general way as it is in Ireland, that we cannot successfully prosecute a war while our own house is divided against itself.

Those who are loudly proclaiming their devotion to an all-out war and at the same time are doing everything they can to drive a wedge between Quebec and Ontario will probably live long enough to repent of their actions. The tragedy is that, while they may themselves repent, the damage they do as they play with public opinion cannot be as easily repaired.

V

A NEW LOAN

The new Loan which the Dominion Government is seeking will soon be before the Canadian people. $600,000,000 is the amount sought. This is the same objective which the Government set last year when the total amount subscribed was well over $800,000,000. There is plenty of money in the country to meet these new demands The accellerated pace of production and business, along with the restricted spending for luxuries has put a great deal more money than usual into the pockets of the average man and woman. In this prosperity we, in the Town and County, have shared. The prices of things we grow have increased. There has as yet been no ceiling on farm products. Then there has been the bonus on cheese and hogs which has made considerable difference to our farming community. It is well-known too that when the farmers are prosperous the Town prospers for the farmers spend their money in the Town stores.

In addition to this business which is dependent on the rural section of the constituency, the opening of the Gilsbard Factory and the large payroll which it carries has distributed more money among the workers of the Town than has been distributed for many years. Much of this money has found its way into the Savings Banks. Napanee and Lennox and Addington has always done its share in every patriotic effort. They will do their share this time. But there are many more in this area who could subscribe then did on the last issue and many who did subscribe could do better.

It must not be overlooked that a Dominion Bond is just as good as dollar bills. They can be converted into cash at any time. They give a reasonable return ,and above all enable the Government to get on with the job of defeating Hitler.

A TRUCE MAY BE

There have been rumors of late that there will be a truce between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. for the duration of the war. The United States labor situation has been upset of recent years by the emergence of this new labor organization — the C. I. O. But then the emergence of any organization which tends to upset the status quo, is a matter that is disconcerting, especially to those who hold the reins. The A. F. of L., for many years, was the organization which represented labor. There were no other unions, save those who had affiliation with the parent A .F. of L. But changing ways of producing, through mass methods, forced a change in the matter of union membership ,and the new vigorous, dynamic C. I. O. was the result. Naturally there was conflict between the two parent organizations. The A. F. of L. which had enjoyed the sole privilege of representing labor for two generations, resented the new organization. But the younger group grew rapidly. To be sure there were stormy times, but progress was made and concessions and contracts were signed by many firms who had never before had any dealings with a union.

The great institutions of wealth, never any too friendly with the A. F. of L., when confronted with the new C. I. O., suddenly became obsessed with their fondness for the old organization. It was so much better than the new one. Confronted with a choice between the two the institutions of wealth chose, naturally, the more conservative.

But now they are likely to come together. Matthew Woll, Vice-President of the A. F. of L., was in Toronto on Monday and said that the two groups would in all likelihood declare a truce for the duration. That will be a great achievement. It will enable tempers to cool down and probably heal the break completely. With a united Labor Front in the United States the rights of the working man should be well taken care of. The embarassing situation of course will arise among those who having cast their favors on the A.F. of L. will not know now what to do. If the amalgamations should take place in Canada too, some of our politicians will find it hard to justify their allegiance to the A.F. of L. as over against the C.I.O.

RUSSIA THE ENIGMA

Russia is living up to her reputation. For the past twenty years this great nation has been a puzzle to the rest of the world. For a long time no foreigners were allowed into Russia following the Bolshevist Revolution in 1917. But, bit by bit, word leaked out of great changes that were taking place. Then the U. S. S. R. altered its policy and urged outsiders to visit their land. The casual or even the trained observer saw a great deal that opened his eyes — new buildings, new great movements for social welfare, new and up-to-date methods of production and farming. But all the time there was a suspicion that Russia was not showing everything. When the war broke out Russia made terms with Germany. That was for the outsider to understand; and then when Germany, the most perfect military machine the world has ever known, turned against her ally, Russia began a rearguard action, burning everything that was left behind. Then the tide turned. Russia showed the world some of the things she had not shown the visitors. She showed a military prowess, strength and sagacity that has not been surpassed in the present struggle. And now, it is reported that the Germans can hardly keep track of the Russians' plans and tactics, for the Russians are not publishing any of their games, save by certain symbols. Whether Russia can keep this up or not, nobody knows. But, of one thing Germany is now sure, and that is the Russian experiment was not ready to crumble the moment it was attacked. Indeed, the ferocity ,determination and courage of the Russian people is proof positive, if proof were needed ,that, no matter what the rest of the world may think, the Russian people are not going to let the fruits of their great experiment go without a terrific struggle.

We cannot help but speculate as to the future of this nation. When the war is over and when the day of reckoning with the German people comes, Russia will have a lot to say as to the kind of peace that will be made. They have been unknown, misunderstood and misrepresented for many years; their actions, their military strength is unknown as yet and just as unpredictable is their attitude for any future peace. At the same time it will probably be a good thing if, in the making of a peace, there are present those who are so different from the rest of those ardund the conference table. Certainly Russia has done a magnificent job; more than her best friends ever dared to hope, and has earned the right to make some contribution to a permanent peace.

London.—The picture of the Allied leaders have of the coming shape of postwar Europe, has begun to emerge with the publication last week end, of the Polish - Czechoslovak agreement for confederation.

Laying down a number of principles — a phrase that evidently denotes that others still remain to be clarified — the two governments "realize" not only that their confederation shall embrace other states besides themselves, but also indicate that each member shall retain independent sovereignty and separate unity.

This system of equality and voluntary co-operation, diametrically opposed to the Hitlerian conception of Europe, is also the basis of the Greek - Yugoslav agreement of recent date. And it has been expressly stated by representatives of both groups that, they desire the two confederations to be united together in some form of external association.

FEDERAL EUROPE SEEN

Thus one already begins to get the impression that a new federal Europe will take the place of the present patchwork. It would undoubtedly be hearten the enslaved peoples if this could be publicly adopted at another Allied conference and presented as an Allied platform, thus setting before the world the construction of a federal system for Europe as one of the constructive goals for which the Allies are fighting.

Meanwhile it would be a mistake to assume that either of the confederation schemes is as yet more than a somewhat vague project, despite the precision with which the terms of agreement have been stated. Neither has been accepted by the peoples to whom they will apply. Both will be nothing more than a new kind of defensive alliance unless, firstly, all neighbours join in one or the other system and, secondly, the whole must be covered with similar systems all interlocking and not leaving a single hole outside.

Hence the importance of a general adoption of a federal or rather a confederal platform which will definately embrace the vanquished as well as the victors. For it is essential to realise that unless everybody is in one group or another and all groups co-operate with one another, the proposed new system would merely be the old balance of power in a new and perhaps more sinister disguise.

CHAOTIC TRANSITIONAL ERA

Another point which has to be considered is that unless the government of the first World War can be avoided there will be a period of extreme chaos when the Axis military power breaks down. Apart from transport troubles, lack of foodstuffs, local quarrels over districts like Transsylvania, Dobruja, and Banat, the majority of experts on Central Europe believe that it will be necessary to guard against social upheavals.

They consider that peasants in Poland, Hungary, Rumania and perhaps elsewhere may demand a change in the existing system of land tenure, demands which a drastic carving up of estates and a more equitable division of productive land. And they hold that until the acute changes are over, it would be foolish as well as impossible to try to establish a new political system.

Thus the task of cleaning up after the war is believed likely to take years if this is so, it follows that there will have to be a piecemeal peace this time instead of another attempt to remake the world at a single conference like Versailles.

Stuc ha system already is being advocated by people like the Archbishop of York. This involves the establishment of a number of commissions to work out plans for a progressive introduction of peace by carefully thought out stages.

ONE COMMISSION SO FAR

So far only one of the commissions has been set up — the British Leith - Ross Committee to which the second St. James's conference has allocated the task of collecting information about the needs of Europe for economic reconstruction in the period immediately following the cessation of hostilities and of collecting the necessary material to supply these needs.

Another step which is hoped will be taken shortly — and which is a private instead of official auspices — is to call a conference of representatives of the peoples of Eastern Europe — in enemy countries as well as in Allied — with a view of formulating a common plan for raising the agricultural standard of living.

The scope also intended to investigate the question of industrialization in what have hitherto been predominantly agricultural countries on the ground that these countries cannot support the present population unless a considerable number of workers are taken off the land and put into factories."

Thus while the war always this way and that and while victory remains beyond the immediate horizon, the process of thinking out the construction of a better and freer world still goes on — and in so doing helps to cheer those who have been fighting against oppression without knowing what that they were trying to put in its place.

ONTARIO RUINS YIELD HISTORICAL SOUVENIRS

Midland, Ont/ The spade is turning up earth in the Georgian Bay District, which has not been touched for three years. Stories are told about the ruins of the Jesuit mission fort of Ste. Marie. This old fort was built in 1639 and was the largest fortification west of Quebec City. It was the heart of the missions to the Huron Indians and was burned and abandoned in 1649, when the Iroquois Five nations conquered Hurons, martyring five of the Jesuit priests. Archealogists of the Royal Ontario Museum are now uncovering these ruins and are bringing to light facts hitherto unknown of this oldest building in the province of Ontario and one of the oldest ruins in America. P. A. McKeown, Canadian National Railways agent, at Midland, states that many fine specimens of utensils of three centuries ago have been uncovered. The ruins of old Fort Ste. Marie belong to the Martyrs' Shrine, about four miles from Midland and a point on the Canadian National Railways to the Georgian Bay District.

BRITAIN'S CELLULOID CIRCUS

Had a 3,000,000 Audience Last Year

Crofters in the windswept islands of the Hebrides and market gardeners in the flower land of the Scillies were among the 3,000,000 people in the British Isles who last year saw films shown by the flying squads of mobile film units.

Sponsored by the British Ministry of Information, these 70 units which will soon be 100, are known up and down the British Isles as the "Celluloid Circus." They travel thousands of miles through rural and urban Britain, making stands for the night and coming on great days.

Morning, noon or night, there is always an audience waiting for them. Programmes are kaleidoscopic in special films about the Empire and its Allies. In the afternoon films about food and wartime housewifery are shown to Women's Institutes in the countryside and to Townswomen's Guilds in the towns. In the evening there may be a film play in a farm for agricultural workers, and the day is rounded off with a "midnight matinee" between shifts at an armament factory.

These free shows, which usually last about 80 minutes, let people see how their own activities fit into the general picture of the nation at war. The new orator-film, moreover, has brought the public forum into the village and leads lively discussions of the country's problems.

Apart from these mobile units, M. O. I. and other films are available from the Central Film Library free of charge to any organization which has facilities for showing them. Between 5,000 and 6,000 films are dispatched each month.

LETTER FROM CANADIAN BOY IN ENGLAND

The following letter was received recently by Mr. and Mrs. Dan. Sedore, from their son, K. E. Sedore, 48th Highlanders, somewhere in England.

December 11th, 1941.

Dear Mother, Dad and Jim:

Just a line to let you know that I received your most welcome box. The cake was good and also the milk. Tea bags are just the thing for I have become quite an Englishman and must have my tea four or five times a day. Will you thank Aunt Phil for the cigarettes. They sure came in handy, as I was out of them and it is so hard to get them over here.

What do you think of Japan? Just when we had our hearts set on the war being over by July those d—— things have to start something. But they will find out that these are not Chinks they are fighting, this time. I think Hitler wants to make peace with India, but I hope they don't give it to him.

Tell Jim for me if they have a blackout in Canada not to go down town at night as it is not safe. So many people get hurt during the blackouts over here.

I am going on Sunday on 48 hours leave so I will likely be seing Howard I won't see Frank as he is too far away and it takes a long time to get to Aldershott from where I am now. But I will try to see him soon.

We just had an air raid warning and we all ran out to see some fun. But all we could see was some Spitfires. But we will likely see a fight yet, I hope.

Well mother, things look bad for the U. S. A. right at present, but she will soon wipe Japs out.

I hope you get my Christmas cards. I would have liked to send you all something but you know it is so hard when everything is rationed over here and you have to have coupons to buy with.

Well, I must cut this letter short as I have three more to write. So will say good bye for this time.

Lots of love to all.

Your son,
BRUCE.

Keep your chin up and we will soon be home. Mom.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 8TH, 1942

"A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM"

Lesson Text: Mark 1: 21-34

Electric bulbs of high wattage give considerably more light per watt than do those of low wattage. For instance, while consuming the same amount of current, a 100-watt bulb gives about one-hundred more lumens than does four 25-watt bulbs.

The Witwatersrand Gold Mine near Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, is the largest underground "city" in the world. It employs 345,000 miners and has more than four thousand miles of subterranean streets, alleys and avenues, a distance nearly equal to the length of the African continent.

In some countries, notably France and Mexico, marriages have no legal standing unless they are performed by a civil servant.

If there is anything that is more reassuring than another in matters of preaching, healing, or any other art or profession, it is the knowledge that the person who is doing the preaching or the speaking, or the healing knows his subject. We all admire the expert, the man who is an authority in his own line. This is something which the religious forces of the world, in recent years, have underestimated. Because they have many sects of one sort or another and have seized upon this trait in human nature and exploited it to the full. The Church must again speak with authority .It was that note in the teaching of Jesus, at Capernaum, which attracted and astonished his hearers. The old prophets never hailed or hesitated, "Thus, saith the Lord," that was the burden of their message. When the State, represented by a king or by princes, disobeyed the will of God, whether from reasons of expediency or greed, the prophet confronted them with a "Thus saith the Lord." From that there was no getting away. Why should children be taught that right and wrong are opposites—"Thus saith the Lord." Why should they and the rest of us be made to keep the Sabbath to refrain from strong drink and to live pure lives—"Thus saith the Lord." The authority of God revealed in the mind and spirit of Christ is the final court of appeal, and we must recapture that. The Church must speak with more authority than Hitler, or Stalin or Mussolini .The authority of God in the lives of men and women has been neglected, to our shame and our ruin. Our civilization is on the brink of collapse because we listened to other voices and obeyed them.

The man with the unclean spirit was cured by a word from Jesus. The medical methods in vogue at that time were much different than those we practice to-day. But what is meant by a man having an unclean spirit, we do not know for certain. But it was probably some common malady for which to-day we have the explanation could be given. It might well have been disease with which we, to-day are familiar, some nervous complaint. At any rate the quiet, reassuring, confident word of Jesus restored the man to his normal condition.

Then there were other diseases which Jesus cured that day, but the prevailing disorder with which He who came to Jesus were afflicted was this possession of a spirit. There is nothing unusual about that. There can be no question but that even in the human level, religion works wonders of healing. Indeed faith and preaching go hand in hand. In recent years the Church has had a good deal of attention to this. Many ministers in crowded centres, where people are exceptionally harried and worried have established Mental clinics. There they bring to those diseased in mind and in spirit the healing power of the ministry. Lord Weatherhead, in England, has made notable progress in this line of activity. There are scores of sorrowing, troubled, pessimistic people in any community for whom the medical practitioner can do nothing. Only the Great Physician, operating through his own children, can help people like that. Science has made wonderful progress. The new drug now in use for the cure of insomnia have all but robbed this grim disease of its terror. But even to-day, with these drugs at our command cure a diseased will, make a stubborn sinner whole, or change a's attitudes and outlooks on religion can do that—only the Religion of Jesus Christ. Perhaps that is, realize this again, when the Church speaks with authority, when the church members speak with authority, and when all hold allegiance to Jesus go out to heal in His name with a new day have dawned for the world .Ready in the shadows of the cross with consecration.

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

Hon. Arthur Meighen has strange political bedfellows these days. Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Drew, Mr. Shields, each disliking Mr. King for a different reason, is using their support of Mr. Meighen as a means whereby they may give public expression to that dislike. If Mr. Meighen survives this contest it will be in spite of his bedfellows and not because of them. It will be because of his personal worth and character.

This however is only one of the side issues of the present by-election. The real and most saddening revelation is the way in which certain powerful interests are praying upon race prejudices for their own ends. Here we are at war. One of the greatest wars in the history of the world, at a time when every ounce of strength is needed to wage a successful conflict, we see those who are willing to capitalize on local differences for political ends. We are not now thinking of Mr. Meighen but rather of groups of men who lie in the background using every political party, and every political occasion for their own gain.

Not since the election in 1917 has there been such an appeal to prejudice in the name of patriotism as has marked a certain section of the Toronto Press. Its conduct makes us wonder what will happen in the future if our country is to get its news and opinions from such biased and prejudiced sources. Such hysterical screeching as has marked their front pages is hardly worthy of a great British newspaper tradition of fair dealing and honesty.

Canada, as we have repeatedly pointed out is a hard country to govern. It is a long and narrow country, with the two most populous provinces almost equally balanced between the French in the one and English in the other. These two racial groups do not see eye to eye. But they are here. We cannot undo history. The supreme concern at the moment is that we have a united Canada. We cannot fight totalitarian war with a divided nation. Mr. Churchill recognized that with respect to Ireland. Ireland in many ways is like our situation. The south is absolutely opposed to conscription. The north has been agitating for conscription in their own counties. Mr. Churchill has said that to force conscription in the north would not be worth the effort. It would do more harm than good. We are not passing judgment on that statement, we merely quote it. But in Canada it is just as true in a general way as it is in Ireland, that we cannot successfully prosecute a war while our own house is divided against itself.

Those who are loudly proclaiming their devotion to an all-out war and at the same time are doing everything they can to drive a wedge between Quebec and Ontario will probably live long enough to repent of their actions. The tragedy of it is that, while they may themselves repent, the damage they do as they play with public opinion cannot be as easily repaired.

A NEW LOAN

The new Loan which the Dominion Government is seeking will soon be before the Canadian people. $600,000,000 is the amount sought. This is the same objective which the Government set last year when the total amount subscribed was well over $800,000,000. There is plenty of money in the country to meet these new demands. The accelerated pace of production and business, along with the restricted spending for luxuries has put a great deal more money than usual into the pockets of the average man and woman. In this prosperity we, in the Town and County, have shared. The prices of things we grow have increased. There has as yet been no ceiling on farm products. Then there has been the bonus on cheese and hogs which has made considerable difference to our farming community. It is well-known too that when the farmers are prosperous the Town prospers for the farmers spend their money in the Town stores.

In addition to this business which is dependent on the rural section of the constituency, the opening of the Gibbard Factory and the large payroll which it carries has distributed more money among the workers of the Town than has been distributed for many years. Much of this money has found its way into the Savings Banks. Napanee and Lennox and Addington has always done its share in every patriotic effort. They will do their share this time. But there are many more in this area who could subscribe then did so last year and many who did subscribe could do better.

It must not be overlooked that a Dominion Bond is just as good as dollar bills. They can be converted into cash at any time. They give a reasonable return and above all enable the Government to get on with the job of defeating Hitler.

A TRUCE MAY BE

There have been rumors of late that there will be a truce between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. for the duration of the war. The United States labor situation has been upset of recent years by the emergence of this new labor organization — the C. I. O. But then the emergence of any organization which tends to upset the status quo, is a matter that is disconcerting, especially to those who hold the reins. The A. F. of L., for many years, was the organization which represented labor. There were no other unions, save those who had affiliation with the parent A.F. of L. But changing ways of producing, through mass methods, forced a change in the matter of union membership and the new vigorous, dynamic C. I. O. was the result. Naturally there was conflict between the two parent organizations. The A. F. of L. which had enjoyed the sole privilege of representing labor for two generations, resented the new organization. But the younger group grew rapidly. To be sure there were stormy times, but progress was made and concessions and contracts were signed by many firms who had never before had any dealings with a union.

The great fortunes of wealth, never any too friendly with the A. F. of L., when confronted with the new C. I. O., suddenly become obsessed with their fondness for the old organization. It was so much better than the new one. Confronted with a choice between the two the institutions of wealth chose, naturally, the more conservative.

But now they are likely to come together. Matthew Woll, Vice-President of the A. F. of L., was in Toronto on Monday and said that the two groups would in all likelihood declare a truce for the duration. That will be a great achievement. It will enable tempers to cool down and probably heal the break completely. With a united Labor Front in the United States the rights of the working man should be well taken care of. The embarassing situation of course will arise among those who having cast their favors on the A.F. of L. will not know now what to do. If the amalgamations should take place in Canada too, some of our politicians will find it hard to justify their allegiance to the A.F. of L. as over against the C.I.O.

RUSSIA THE ENIGMA

Russia is living up to her reputation. For the past twenty years this great nation has been a puzzle to the rest of the world. For a long time no foreigners were allowed into Russia following the Bolshevist Revolution in 1917. But, bit by bit, word leaked out of great changes that were taking place. Then the U. S. S. R. altered its policy and urged outsiders to visit their land. The casual or even the trained observer saw a great deal that opened his eyes — new buildings, new great movements for social welfare, new and up-to-date methods of production and farming. But all the time there was a suspicion that Russia was not showing everything. When the war broke out Russia made terms with Germany. That was for the moment understandable and then when Germany, the most perfect military machine the world has ever known, turned against her Ally, Russia fought a rearguard action, burning everything that was left behind. Then the tide turned. Russia showed the world some of the things she had not shown the visitors. She showed a military prowess, strength and sagacity that has not been surpassed in the present crusade. And now, it is reported that the Germans can hardly keep track of the Russians' plans and tactics, for the Russians are not publishing any of their games, save by certain symbols. Whether Russia can keep this up or not, nobody knows. But, of one thing Germany is now sure, and that is the Russian experiment was not ready to crumble the moment it was put to the test. Indeed the fanatic enthusiasm of the people in the face of the enemy is something that the rest of the world may think, the Russian people are not going to be the fruits of their great experiment go to their terrific struggle.

We cannot help but speculate as to the future of this nation. When the war is over and when the day of reckoning with the German people comes, Russia will have a lot to say as to the kind of peace that will be made. They have been unknown, misunderstood and misrepresented for many years; their actions, their military strength is unknown as yet and just as unpredictable is their attitude for any future peace. At the same time it will probably be a good thing if, in the making of a peace, there are present those who are so different from the rest of those around the conference table. Certainly Russia has done a magnificent job; more than her best friends ever dared to hope, and has earned the right to make some contribution to a permanent peace.

POLISH-CZECH AGREEMENT PRELUDE TO UNITED EUROPE?

BY E. BERG HOLT

Special Correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

London — The picture which Allied leaders have of the coming shape of post-war Europe is that of an emerging with the mobilization last week end of the Polish - Czechoslovak agreement for confederation.

Laying down in number of principles — a phrase that evidently implies that other agreements will be drafted — the two governments declare that only that type of confederation shall embrace either and besides their own, but also indicate that each member shall retain independent sovereignty and separate entity.

"This system of equality and voluntary co-operation, diametrically opposed to the Hitlerian conception of Europe is also the basis of the Polish - Czechoslovak agreement of December 1941. It was in the present date. And it has been expressly stated by representatives of both groups that the two confederations to be linked together in some form of external association."

FEDERAL HOPE SEEN

Thus one already begins to get the impression that a new federal Europe will take the place of the old war patchwork. It would undoubtedly hearten the enslaved peoples if this could be publicly adopted at the other St. James's Palace conference as an Allied platform, thus setting before the world the construction of a federal system for Europe as one of the constructive goals for which the Allies are fighting.

Meanwhile it would be a mistake to assume that either of the confederation schemes is as yet more than a somewhat vague project, despite the precision with which the Polish - Czech agreement have been stated. Neither has been accepted by the peoples to whom they will apply. Both will be something more than a new kind of defensive alliance unless, firstly, all neighbouring states are brought in, and, secondly, the whole continent is covered with similar systems all interlocking and not leaving a single state outside.

Hence the importance of a general adoption of a federal or rather a confederal platform which will ultimately embrace the vanquished as well as the victors. For it is essential to realize that unless everybody is in one group or another and all groups co-operate with one another the proposed new system would merely be the old balance of power in a new and perhaps more sinister disguise.

CHAOTIC TRANSITIONAL ERA

Another point which has to be considered is that unless the precedent of the first World War can be avoided there will be a period of extreme chaos when the Axis military power breaks down. Apart from trans-port troubles, lack of foodstuffs, local quarrels over districts like Transylvania, Dobruja, and Banat, the weakening of the Austro - Hungarian Empire believe that it may be necessary to guard against social upheavals, impossible to try to establish a new political system.

Thus the task of cleaning up after the war is believed likely to take years. If this is so, it follows that there will have to be a piecemeal peace this time instead of another attempt to remake the world at a single conference like Versailles.

But his system already is being advocated by people like the Archbishop of York. This involves the establishment of a number of zones, in order to work on plans for a democratic reconstruction of peace in particular districts at a time.

ONE COMMISSION SO FAR

So far only one of the commissions has been set up — the British Zone — Rhine Commission — which is the second 30 days' conference was allowed the task of drafting a permanent peace. Its function is not for economic reconstruction in the period immediately following the end of hostilities, but for the drafting of the necessary material for the peace treaty.

Anyone can see why it is hoped will be taken shortly, this time — perhaps instead of several conferences — to call a conference of representatives of the peasants of Eastern Europe — in effect countries as well as the Allied countries — with a view to drafting a common policy for raising the standard of living of the peasants.

The experts also intend to investigate the question of industrialization in the agricultural countries on the ground that these countries cannot support their populations unless a considerable number of workers are taken off the land and put into factories.

Thus while the war aim at this war that "our aim is to get back to the position we occupied in 1939" — the process of thinking out the construction of a better and freer world will go on. And it is now hoped that even those who have been fighting against progress without knowing it may right now be induced to join in its place.

ONTARIO RUINS YIELD HISTORICAL SOUVENIRS

Midland, Ont. The spade is turning up earth in the Georgian Bay district, which has not been disturbed for three centuries. This is earth about the ruins of the Jesuit mission of Ste. Marie. This mission fort was built in 1639 and was the biggest fortification west of Quebec City. It was the home of the martyr priests of the Huron Indians and was burned and abandoned in 1649, when the Iroquois Indians conquered Huronia, marrying five of the Jesuit priests. Archaeologists of the Royal Ontario Museum are now uncovering these ruins and are bringing to light facts hitherto unknown of this oldest building in the province of Ontario and one of the oldest ruins in Canada. P. A. McKeown, Canadian National Railways agent, at Midland, states that many fine specimens of utensils of three centuries ago have been discovered. The ruins of old Fort Ste. Marie belong to the Martyrs' Shrine, about four miles from Midland and a point on the Canadian National Railways to the Georgian Bay District.

BRITAIN'S CELLULOID CIRCUS
Had a 3,060,000 Audience Last Year

Crofters in the windswept islands of the Hebrides and market gardeners in the lower land or the Scillies were among the 3,060,000 people in the British Isles who last year saw films shown by flying squads of mobile film units.

Sponsored by the British Ministry of Information, these 70 units, which will soon be 100, are known up and down the British Isles as the "Celluloid Circus." They travel thousands of miles through rural and urban Britain, making stands for the night, and moving on next day.

Morning, noon or night, there is always an audience waiting for them. First come the schoolchildren to special films about the Empire and its Allies. In the afternoon films

LETTER FROM CANADIAN BOY IN ENGLAND

The following letter was received recently by Mr. and Mrs. Dan. Sedore, from their son, K.E. Sedore, 4th Highlanders, somewhere in England.

December 11th, 1941.

Dear Mother, Dad and Jim:

Just a line to let you know that I received your most welcome box. The cake was good and also the milk. Tea bags are just one thing for I have become quite an Englishman and must have my tea four or five times a day. Will you thank Aunt Phil for the cigarettes. They sure came in handy as I was out of them and it is so hard to get them over here.

What do you think of Japan? Just when we had our hearts set on the war being over by July those damn Japs things have to start something. But they will find out that these are not Chinks they are fighting this time. I think Hitler wants to make peace with Russia, but I hope they don't give it to him.

Tell Jim for me that they have a blackout in Canada just to go about 9 pm at night as it is the same. So many things are similar, except the clocks go over here.

I am going on leave on 42 hour leave so I will likely be seeing Hitler. I won't see Frank as he is too far away and it takes a day to get to Aldershot from where we are now. But I will try to see him soon.

We just had an air raid warning and we all ran out to see some fun. But all we could see was some flares. But we will have a real fun, I hope.

Well mother things look bad for the U. S. at this time but in the end will soon wipe the Japs out.

I hope you get my Christmas cards. I would have liked to send you something but you know it is so hard when everything is rationed over here and you have to have coupons to buy with.

Well, I must run this letter short as I have three more to write so will say so long for this time.

Lots of love to you,

Your son,

BRUCE

Keep your chin up and we will soon be home. Mom.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 8TH, 1942

"A BUSY SABBATH IN CAPERNAUM"

Lesson Text: Mark 1: 21-34.

If there is anything that is more precious than another in teaching, preaching, healing, or any other art or profession, it is the knowledge of the person who is to do the teaching or the preaching, or the healing. Knows his subject. We all admire the expert, the man who has an authority in his own line. This is something which the religious forces of the world, in recent years, have underestimated. Because, they have many sects of one sort or another and have relied upon this strain in human nature and exploited it to the full. The Church must again speak with authority. It was that secrete in the teaching of Jesus, at Capernaum, which attracted and astonished his hearers. The old prophets never halted or hesitated, "Thus saith the Lord," that was the burden of their message. When the State, represented by a king or by princes, disobeyed the will of God, whether from reasons of expediency or of greed, the prophet confronted them with a "Thus saith the Lord." From that there was no getting away. Why should children be taught what is right and wrong are opposites — "Thus saith the Lord." Why should they and the rest of us be made to keep the Sabbath day, to refrain from strong drink and to live pure lives — "Thus saith the Lord." The authority of God revealed in the mind and spirit of Christ is the final court of appeal, and we must recapture that. The Church must speak with more authority than Hitler, or Stalin or Mussolini. The authority of God in the lives of men and women has been neglected, to our shame and our ruin. Our civilization is on the brink of collapse because we listened to other voices and obeyed them.

The man with the unclean spirit was cured by a word from Jesus. The medical methods in vogue at that time were much different than those we practice to-day. Just what is meant by a man having an unclean spirit, we do not certain. But it is true to common mishaps, to many a pessimistic healing, or any other art or profession, it is the knowledge of the person who is to do the teaching or the preaching, or the healing

The Purchase of Sugar is Now Regulated by Law

As a prudent precaution, the quantity of sugar which may lawfully be consumed in any household is now restricted by law to an amount of three-quarters of one pound per person per week, and it is now unlawful to purchase more than two weeks' supply at any one time or to make any purchase if present supplies are sufficient for more than two weeks.

This step has been taken to conserve the satisfactory reserve stock of sugar in Canada and is an assurance to the consumer that there is no reason for heavy buying of sugar.

Ration coupons will not be used to enforce the sugar limitations in Canada. The supply of sugar in our country has been under control for more than two and a half years and the homekeeper has always been able to satisfy her needs; she will continue to be able to do so and the price ceiling law protects her against any increase in price.

The maintenance of the new regulation governing the purchase of sugar rests, as the success of all laws in a democratic country must rest, upon the loyal support of the people. Any consumption of sugar in excess of the quantity stipulated by this regulation is not only an offence against the law, but is also a betrayal of the war effort and consequently an offence against decency.

Reports received from retailers indicate that in some districts there has been misunderstanding of the requirements of the law. In some cases, people are under the impression that they should at once lay in a sufficient supply for two weeks; this of course is not necessary because a continued supply of sugar is assured. In other cases it has been assumed that a greatly restricted ration is to be made effective in the near future. This is incorrect because The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has already stated that the sugar supply situation is such that requirements of the consumer at the rate of three-quarters of a pound per week can readily be supplied.

As a means of protecting consumers from unknowingly breaking the law, it is suggested to retailers that, for the present, they limit sales to any one customer to an amount of not more than five pounds.

Summary of Sugar Rationing Regulations

1. The ration is ¾ pounds per person per week, including adults, children and infants, members of the family, boarders, servants, and guests who remain for four days or more.

2. Purchase your sugar in the ordinary way, but not more than two weeks' supply at a time. No coupons, stamps or tickets are required.

3. Do not purchase any sugar if you have two weeks' or more supply on hand.

4. Persons in remote areas who are not able to buy every week or two weeks may continue to buy more than two weeks' supply at a time, but should measure their consumption at the ration rate, namely ¾ pounds per person per week.

5. Lumber camps and other firms providing board for their employees must see that consumption is restricted to ¾ pounds per week per person, effective immediately.

6. Economize on sugar in every way you can; some people can get along on less than the ration. Persons dining in hotels, restaurants, etc., are expected to restrict their sugar consumption.

7. Additional supplies of sugar will be made available for home preserving and canning.

8. The restriction applies only to cane and beet sugars of all kinds—granulated sugar, icing sugar, fruit sugar, brown sugar, raw sugar, etc.

9. Industrial users of sugar, hospitals and other institutions, hotels and restaurants, will be advised by the Sugar Administrator how the sugar restrictions will affect them.

10. Retailers are entitled to refuse sale or to limit sales to any person they have reason to believe is attempting to disregard this law.

Vigorous steps will be taken to punish wilful infractions of the law. The penalties provided are imprisonment for as long as two years and a fine up to $5,000

The Purchase of Sugar is Now Regulated by Law

As a prudent precaution, the quantity of sugar which may lawfully be consumed in any household is now restricted by law to an amount of three-quarters of one pound per person per week, and it is now unlawful to purchase more than two weeks' supply at any one time or to make any purchase if present supplies are sufficient for more than two weeks.

This step has been taken to conserve the satisfactory reserve stock of sugar in Canada and is an assurance to the consumer that there is no reason for heavy buying of sugar.

Ration coupons will not be used to enforce the sugar limitations in Canada. The supply of sugar in our country has been under control for more than two and a half years and the homekeeper has always been able to satisfy her needs; she will continue to be able to do so and the price ceiling law protects her against any increase in price.

The maintenance of the new regulation governing the purchase of sugar rests, as the success of all laws in a democratic country must rest, upon the loyal support of the people. Any consumption of sugar in excess of the quantity stipulated by this regulation is not only an offence against the law, but is also a betrayal of the war effort and consequently an offence against decency.

Reports received from retailers indicate that in some districts there has been misunderstanding of the requirements of the law. In some cases, people are under the impression that they should at once lay in a sufficient supply for two weeks; this of course is not necessary because a continued supply of sugar is assured. In other cases it has been assumed that a greatly restricted ration is to be made effective in the near future. This is incorrect because The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has already stated that the sugar supply situation is such that requirements of the consumer at the rate of three-quarters of a pound per week can readily be supplied.

As a means of protecting consumers from unknowingly breaking the law, it is suggested to retailers that, for the present, they limit sales to any one customer to an amount of not more than five pounds.

Summary of Sugar Rationing Regulations

1. The ration is ¾ pounds per person per week, including adults, children and infants, members of the family, boarders, servants, and guests who remain for four days or more.

2. Purchase your sugar in the ordinary way, but not more than two weeks' supply at a time. No coupons, stamps or tickets are required.

3. Do not purchase any sugar if you have two weeks' or more supply on hand.

4. Persons in remote areas who are not able to buy every week or two weeks may continue to buy more than two weeks' supply at a time, but should measure their consumption at the ration rate, namely ¾ pounds per person per week.

5. Lumber camps and other firms providing board for their employees must see that consumption is restricted to ¾ pounds per week per person, effective immediately.

6. Economize on sugar in every way you can; some people can get along on less than the ration. Persons dining in hotels, restaurants, etc., are expected to restrict their sugar consumption.

7. Additional supplies of sugar will be made available for home preserving and canning.

8. The restriction applies only to cane and beet sugars of all kinds—granulated sugar, icing sugar, fruit sugar, brown sugar, raw sugar, etc.

9. Industrial users of sugar, hospitals and other institutions, hotels and restaurants, will be advised by the Sugar Administrator how the sugar restrictions will affect them.

10. Retailers are entitled to refuse sale or to limit sales to any person they have reason to believe is attempting to disregard this law.

Vigorous steps will be taken to punish wilful infractions of the law. The penalties provided are imprisonment for as long as two years and a fine up to $5,000

Buy VICTORY BONDS HELP FINISH THE JOB!

SOME FACTS ABOUT VICTORY BONDS

— V —

What is a Victory Loan Bond?

A Victory Loan Bond is a document issued by the Government of the Dominion of Canada which promises to repay to the purchaser on a given future date the face value, or principal amount, of the Bond. In addition it also promises to pay interest every half-year to the purchaser at a fixed rate and to repay the principal on the given date, as mentioned above. In buying a Victory Bond you really loan the money paid for the bond to the Dominion Government and the Government gives you the bond as a receipt or as security for the money you have loaned.

-V-

How is the Interest Paid Each Half-Year?

Interest coupons, payable each half-year until the money is repaid by the Government, will be attached to each bond. Instead of forwarding cheques each six months, a Government usually attaches to bonds certain coupons, which are in reality the cheques for interest. These are dated six months apart and each one should be clipped off when due and presented at any Canadian branch of any Canadian chartered bank for cashing or for deposit to credit of the account, just as ordinary cheques would be deposited. Some investors, before buying bonds, have arranged with their banks to have cheques forwarded from the Department of Finance each six months and considering that Government has arranged for three forms of bonds to suit the convenience of the requirements of investors, as follows:

-V-

1 THE COUPON BEARER BOND is by far the simplest form to deal with and is the form selected by the great majority of buyers. The bond itself, together with the attached interest coupons, is payable to whomever is the holder of the bond when the interest or principal becomes due. Should the owner desire to sell this form of bond may be transferred by simply handing it to the purchaser.

-V-

2 THE COUPON REGISTERED BOND. This form of bond is very similar to the coupon bearer bond but has the owner's name registered on the bond by the Department of Finance. A record of ownership is also kept by the registrar at Ottawa. A coupon registered bond is not transferable or sold unless the written consent of the registered owner is received. Such consent may be obtained in the usual way by presenting at a bank when due.

-V-

3 THE FULLY REGISTERED BOND is registered in Ottawa, both as to principal and interest and does not carry any interest coupons, the interest being paid each six months by cheque. The cheque mailed direct to the owner from Ottawa. Similarly, when the bond comes due it is paid for by cheque direct from Ottawa. The fully registered bond is transferable only on the written consent of the owner.

More facts about Victory Bonds will appear in next week's Beaver issue.

Subamendment submitted by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, requesting that "the Parliamentary plebiscite should seek the support of the people of Canada for the complete and effective prosecution of war industries, accumulated wealth and financial institutions at the same time and on the basis of sacrifice on the part of all, as suggested extension of the conscription for manpower."

3 New record established by War Emergency Training Programme at end of December when 100,000 men and women were attending the 100 odd training centres across the country.

McGREER OF BISHOP'S

— BY —

OWSLEY ROBERT ROWLEY

The Rev. Dr. McGreer of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, P.Q., is one of the outstanding modern educators in Canada. In this article, which appeared in a recent issue of The Toronto Saturday Night, Mr. Rowley gives a thumbnail sketch of the man and his career.

The Rev. Arthur Huffman McGreer, O.B.E., M.C., M.A. (Oxon), D.D., D.L.C., Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, Que., comes of a family which owes its origin in Canada to Huguenot Gilbert de Greer of County Antrim, Ireland, who in 1819 brought his family to Canada in his own ship, the Jessie Kerr, from Belfast, and died there in 1841, after becoming owner in 1827 of the farm still in the possession of his descendants. The Greers, who were of old and respectable lineage, were active in Anglican Church life in Napanee and took no small share in the building of the present Church of St. Mary Magdalene, one of the finest in the Province of Ontario.

In early youth Arthur McGreer had developed certain traits which were important factors in his decision here the influence of his cousin, Mrs. Frederick Dobson, and of Rev. Tom Tormar Stanton, a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, for many years principal of Lux Hall, Napanee, and the late Canon Arthur Jarvis, rector of Napanee. He was ordained deacon in 1911 and priest in 1912 by the late Bishop of Ontario Mills, under whom he was appointed rector of Dunnville.

After two years of faithful work at Barrie field, he became curate at Christ Church, Cobourg, Ont., where he had charge of the work of young people. He made countless friends among the fashionable young men's Club, of which he was Honorary President — almost ceased to exist. Many of the young men here enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1914. Mr. McGreer was one of the first to offer his services. At that time he had no position in the Canadian Militia and had little hope of securing a chaplaincy. During one of the long vacations at Cobourg, Mr. McGreer had attended camp with an Artillery Battery and later had served as a full-fledged officer in the 2nd Canadian Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. In February 1915 he went to France as Chaplain to the Forces of His Majesty the King. He organized and led a party which removed wounded men from the field of battle at St. Eloi during the capture of the sugar refinery at Ypres, and for which he was awarded the Military Cross. Soon afterwards he was given the rank of honorary Captain and appointed Padre to the late Archdeacon Almond, then Assistant Director of Chaplain Services, Major-General Gwatkin, and Deputy Assistant Director of Chaplain Services, Major-General Scott Cameron. In 1917, when Colonel Almond became Director of Chaplain Services, Mr. McGreer succeeded him as Assistant Director of Chaplain Services of the Canadian Forces in France, which rank he held until his return to Canada. He was twice mentioned in despatches and in 1919, in recognition of services rendered, was awarded the Order of the British Empire. On the holding of the 1914 medal of British Victory Medal, the Allied Victory Medal, the King George V's Coronation medal. In 1941 Dr. McGreer was invested with the insignia of Officer of the Order of the Sherbrooke Section of the Allied Service Franciase, for guiding the work of the Canadian Legion Overseas in its ideals and its instruction the principles and the culture to which it is dedicated.

Bishop's College, Lennoxville was reorganized by an Act of the provincial Legislature in 1843. Lectures were held in 1845 previously it had received a royal charter in 1853, by the late Queen Victoria. The importance of office of Principal and Vice-Chancellor became vacant in 1922. Dr. McGreer was appointed to fill the vacancy, a signal honor for one so young—he was the nonly 39. On assuming office determined to take the ideals and principles, the traditions and culture, which inspired the founders, as foundation and which sustain its life, and make them well known.

Education at Bishop's University means nourishment for the whole personality, including the physical, intellectual and spiritual faculties. It is an endeavour to provide Canada with educated men and women. This Principal McGreer has largely succeeded in doing, and he is continually doing it. The Faculty has been doubled; the courses of study have been increased and enriched; endowments have trebled; students more than doubled and finances are in satisfactory shape.

In 1922, he was instrumental in creating the Bishop's Contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps, which has been ever since a feature of the university life. It also has provided a considerable number of officers for every branch of His Majesty's Forces in the present War. All students not exempted by the Divisional Registrar are members of the C.O.T.C.

Since the beginning of the century women students have been admitted to lectures and been entitled to degrees in the Faculty of Arts and Science. Many of them have entered the teaching profession and have done noble work in the Protestant Schools of the Province of Quebec. A recent woman graduate is doing important work under the National Research Council at Ottawa.

On October 2nd, 1918, Dr. McGreer was married to Kathleen, younger daughter of Joseph Lee, of Northumberland and Oxford, England. They have no family.

Principal McGreer, who has an unmistakable look of distinction, is an outstandnng and forceful preacher. Everyone who hears him feels at once the power of the man behind his message, the force of the born leader. His Churchmanship includes complete loyalty to a tradition of liberal Catholicism, which history reveals as an abiding reality in Christian thought, from the first days of the Church to the present hour. He possesses a spirit occasionally depressed but never quenched; is great-ly liked; has high ideals, a courageous temperament; intense energy and devotion; a generous disposition, and with human sympathies. His contribution to the progress of Bishop's University is quite equal to that of any of his predecessors and we less worthy.

"Step on It"

IF THERE ever was a year to start chicks early, 1942 is it. Starting good chicks good and early is good policy any year — this year it's better policy than ever.

Eggs have become a munition of war. These huge orders at known-in-advance prices, plus the Government bonus of 3c per dozen on Grade A large for export, have fixed a top under egg prices, away above last year's levels. And poultry feed is strong demand.

So figure on Bray Chicks early, this season ... don't just as early as you can get things ready for them. Don't overload or overcrowd ... just make full use of what you have. Fill up with Bray Chicks to the limit of your poultry equipment, but not beyond it.

We people who watch the Bray organization working from the inside know all sorts of confidence in Bray Chicks, because we have seen the care and work and skill that go into them. And a good many other people agree with us, because they've seen how Bray Chicks work out for them. Maybe you've seen it, too.

Quick Income!

If you have the brooder accommodation, you can make yourself some useful extra income fast by putting in some fast-growing Bray broiler chicks. Check up on broiler prices. Do a little figuring. Then ask about Bray cockerel prices.

If you haven't already received Bray catalog, yours for the asking. If you have received it, be sure to read carefully — there's a lot of real "meat" in it. But — AOT TODAY The days are sliding by, and this year will start Bray Chicks early!

SOME FACTS ABOUT VICTORY BONDS

— V —

What is a Victory Loan Bond?

A Victory Loan Bond is a document issued by the Government of the Dominion of Canada which promises to repay to the purchaser on a given future date the face value, or principal amount, of the Bond. In addition it also promises to pay interest every half-year to the purchaser at a fixed rate and to repay the principal on the given date, as mentioned above. In buying a Victory Bond you really lend the money paid for the bond to the Dominion Government and the Government gives you the bond as a receipt or as security for the money you have loaned.

-V-

How is the Interest Paid Each Half-Year?

Interest coupons, payable each half-year until the money is repaid by the Government, will be attached to each bond. Instead of forwarding cheques each six months, a Government usually attaches to bonds sheets of coupons, which are the receipt for cheques of the Government. These are dated six months apart and each one should be presented on or when due and presented at any Canadian Branch of any Canadian chartered bank for payment or for deposit in your bank account. In the ordinary cheque would be deposited. Some investors, however, prefer to have coupons forwarded from the Department of Finance each six months and consequently the Government attaches to most per three forms of bonds to suit the convenience or the requirements of investors as follows:

-V-

1 THE COUPON BEARER BOND is by far the simplest form to deal with and is the form preferred by the great majority of buyers. The bond itself, together with the final interest coupon, is payable to whomever is the holder of the bond when the interest or principal becomes due. Should the holder desire to sell this form of bond he has the transfer is by simple handing it to the purchaser.

-V-

2 THE COUPON REGISTERED BOND. This form of bond is very similar to the coupon bearer bond but has the owner's name written on the bond in the Department of Finance. A record of owners ship is also kept in the treasury of Ottawa. A coupon registered bond is ... payable ... to the ... when ...

-V-

3 THE FULLY REGISTERED BOND is registered in Ottawa both as to principal and interest and does not carry coupons. The interest being paid each six months when due by a cheque mailed direct to the owner from Ottawa. Similarly, when the bond itself falls due it is paid by cheque direct from Ottawa. The fully registered bond is transferable only on the written instructions of the owner.

More facts about Victory Bonds will appear in next week's Beaver issue.

ONTARIO TO CUT GRADES OF CREAM

Toronto, (C.P.) — Effective Sunday, February 1st, the number of grade containers were cut from five to two and deliveries to cream will be restricted to one a day not allowing any returns from store or wholesale business, the Ontario Milk Control Board announced last week. These regulations have been approved by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the announcement said.

Whipping cream will be sold to housewives only in half-pints and stores will offer for sale only half-pints of whipping cream and 19 per cent grades of cream. Under the ruling 16 per cent. cream, 20 per cent. cream and 25 per cent. cream are ruled out and quarter-pint and quart containers are eliminated.

During the league games on Monday and Wednesday, a couple of high games were rolled. Reg. Burrows turned in a 360 to fill 762, and Miller turned up a 327 to fill a 698.

The following are the results of the past week:

OBITUARIES

MRS. GLADWIN SNIDER

The funeral of the late Mrs. Gladwin Snider was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Reveille, to the Free Methodist Church at Yarker, and was largely attended. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth conducted the service at the house and was assisted Rev. P. E. Stevenson, pastor at the Yarker Church. A special number was sung by Mr. Fred Lovelace, and the hymns "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," were sung by the congregation, the latter a request number.

Mrs. Snider was 77 years of age, and was formerly Sarah Bullock, daughter of the late William J. Bullock and Mary Clarke, of Pittsburg. Mr. Snider is left to mourn her loss. Mrs. Snider's first husband, the late William Barclay of Pittsburg, predeceased her a number of years ago. By her first marriage there were two children, Ida, Mrs. Herbert Reveille, Odessa, and Alpine Barclay, Kingston. There are four grandchildren, Mrs. Helen Barclay of Kingston, Jean, Mrs. Ross Blakely of Wilton, and Gerald and Ray Reveille, Odessa. Three sisters and three brothers also survive, Victoria, Mrs. Fred Hesler, Gananoque and Mary, Mrs. Fred Tryon, Gananoque; and Oliver and Albert Bullock of Pittsburg, and Jas. of Saskatchewan.

There were several floral tributes. The flower bearers were four nephews of deceased, Howard Kane and George Tryon of Gananoque, and Cecil and Orville Bullock, Pittsburgh. The pall-bearers were Don. McNeely, Chas. L. Lake, F. W. Cunningham and Alfred Babcock of Odessa. Interment was made in Yarker cemetery.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED NOW

Some five or more Volunteers are needed every week both men and women, who have not already enlisted in the humane task of aiding wounded and homeless men, women and children who are being maimed and left dying beside the roads and in their broken homes by the war-torn country of Britain, as well as fighting men who must be left to die, unless the contributions of healthy and willing men and women who are able to give a small contribution of blood once every three months are available.

There are now some four weekly contributors who have been giving their share since the month of November, 1941 and it is desired that at least as many more will volunteer to offer their services so as to equalize the effort of those who have volunteered.

Is it not true that there is a sufficient number who are conscious of the need and will willingly offer this more than useful service to the saving of human lives ? The need is great and is expected to increase in the coming months. From the front in Libya we are told of a wounded officer, propped up in an ammunition wagon directing his men to the last. One of our contributors walked two miles to meet the car that took her to the clinic, saying that she wanted to attend because her husband, who is a private in the forces, might be benefited by her gift.

This Good Samaritan work is going on and will continue in spite of difficulties. The speed depends on you. Do not hesitate. YOU ARE NEEDED NOW. Do not let a false or very natural dread prevent you from entering the ranks. Let not a feeling of dislike at the thought disunde you, for could you visit a hospital where a blood transfusion is being given and see the life return to the patient, all thoughts but that of thankfulness would disappear especially if it were one of your own friends who benefited.

Visit your 'physician at once, who will give you a free medical examination and tell you frankly whether or not you are able to serve and give you a statement saying so if you are fit. Send or give this statement to Mr. K. S. HAM, Box 402, Napanee, who will arrange for your transportation from Napanee to the Clinic at Kingston, and the date on which you are to attend.

We trust that we are not exacting too much from you certainly nothing like as much as if you had to go overseas to fight the battle of freedom. You can, while carrying on your regular duties of life, give assistance which will effectively aid the wounded soldiers who have fought. All who have contributed are glad that they have taken their part.

WILL YOU NOT BE ONE OF THEIR NUMBER ?

Reports presented at the Annual Congregational Meeting of Hay Bay United Church, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sexsmith, on Tuesday evening, indicated a successful year. PRESENTATION AND FAREWELL PARTY FOR PTE. C. CONGER, NAPANEE

The many friends and neighbours of Pte. Charles Conger, Napanee and the Deseronto Road, met at the home of Pte. Conger and Mrs. Conger, on Friday evening, January 30th, to spend a social hour with him before he leaves for Overseas duty.

Pte. Conger is a veteran of the World War, 1914-1918. He has two sons in the present conflict, Corpl. Fred Conger, of the Canadian Dental Corps, stationed at Kingston, and Pte. Charles Conger, Canadian Dental Corps, serving overseas. Pte. Conger hopes to join his son in England.

The evening was spent in playing progressive euchre. The prize winners were ladies' first, Mrs. Stafford Byrnes; second, Mrs. Ernest Byrnes; lone hand, Mrs. Mark Beaudry; ladies' consolation, Mrs. C. Conger; Gent's consolation, Mr. H. Hudson; chair prize, Mrs. John McCann. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Cronk who donated all the lovely prizes.

A dainty lunch was served by the committee in charge, Mrs. Arthur Ruttan read the following address to Pte. Conger, as he was presented with a silver Ronson cigarette lighter and several packages of cigarettes:

Dear Pte. Conger —

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to spend a few hours with you. It was with a feeling of pride for your heroic action that we heard you had joined the army a few short weeks ago. Now having heard that you may soon be with the Overseas forces, we are very sorry to have to part with so good and true a friend, but even although the sea may divide, you will always remain in our thoughts and memories. Your two sons, Ralph and Charles have also our very kindest regards, having also proven themselves loyal and courageous. We all join in wishing you a safe and speedy return when the war is at an end, which, God willing, we be soon.

We would ask you to accept this small token of our esteem and friendship, not for its intrinsic value but as a remembrance of your friends and neighbours of Napanee and the Deseronto Road.

We extend to Mrs. Conger and family an invitation to visit us as often as possible.

(Signed) on behalf of friends and neighbours, Harry Hudson, Mrs. Cronk.

Pte. Conger, in a few well chosen words voiced his appreciation for the lovely gifts presented to him, and said he was only anxious to do his part." All joined in singing for "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

VALENTINE - DAVEY

On Wednesday evening, January 28th, the wedding was solemnized at Picton, Rev. J. P. Reycraft, minister of The United Church, of Evelyn Davey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Davey, Picton, and Reece Valentine, Napanee, son of Mr. and Mrs K. J. Valentine, Violet. The bride was a navy dress with gold jewellery, black hat and trimmed with lamb. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gordon were in attendance.

Following the ceremony a reception was held by Mrs. Davey, mother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine will reside in Napanee.

PRITCHARD - WILDE

Cedar Cottage United Church in Vancouver, B.C. was the scene of a quiet wedding at 12:30 noon on January 16th, when Alice, second daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Wilde and the late Sapper George Wild, and sister of Mrs. Garry Fryvins became the bride of James Arthur Pritchard, eldest son of James Pritchard, of Los Angeles, California.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of champagne colored bunny wool, with contrasting accessories of rust. Miss Jessie Gregson was the bride's only attendant, and the groom was supported by Mr. John H. Wilde, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a dinner was held at the home of the bride's mother for the immediate family. The bridal couple then left my motor for Los Angeles, where they will make their home.

Steel helmets made in Canada for Canadian soldiers are anti-magnetic because, otherwise, they would affect the instruments used for firing guns and would cause a poor aim.

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE Hits CATARRH Misery Fast!
When acute catarrh makes breathing difficult—causes stuffy head, watery eyes, nasal irritation and distress, put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril and enjoy the relief it brings.
Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three very important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose, (2) clears out discomfort-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many catarrh sufferers say it's the best relief they've found. Try it!
VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

A reformer was watching a trench being dug by modern machine methods. He said to the superintendent: "Such machine has taken tasks from scores of men. Why don't you scrap that machine and put one hundred men to their digs with shovels?"
The superintendent promptly retorted: "Oh, better still, why not put a thousand men in there with teaspoons!"

OBITUARIES

MRS. GLADWIN SNIDER

The funeral of the late Mrs. Gladwin Snider was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Revelle, to the Free Methodist Church at Yarker, and was largely attended. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth conducted the service at the house and was assisted Rev. F. E. Stevenson, pastor at the Yarker Church. A special number was sung by Mr. Fred Lovelace, and the hymns "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," were sung by the congregation, the latter a request number.

Mrs. Snider was 77 years of age, and was formerly Sarah Bullock, daughter of the late William J. Bullock and Mary Clarke, of Pittsburg. Mr. Snider is left to mourn her loss. Mrs. Snider's first husband, the late William Barclay of Pittsburg, predeceased her a number of years ago. By her first marriage there were two children, Ida, Mrs. Herbert Revelle, Odessa, and Alpine Barclay, Kingston.

There were several floral tributes. The flower bearers were four nephews of deceased, Howard Kane and George Tryan of Gananoque, Cecil and Orville Bullock, Pittsburgh. The pall-bearers were Don. McNeely, Chas. L. Lake, F. W. Bullock and Alfred Babcock of Odessa. Interment was made in Yarker cemetery.

V

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED NOW

Some five or more Volunteers are needed every week both men and women, who have not already enlisted in the humane task of aiding wounded and broken men, women and children who are being maimed and left dying beside the roads and in their broken homes in the warstorn country of Britain, as well as fighting men who must be left to die unless the contributions of healthy and willing men and women who are able to give a small contribution of blood once every three months are available.

There are now some four weekly contributors who have been doing their share since the war began, November, 1941 and it is desired that at least as many more will volunteer to offer their services so as to equalize the effort of those who have volunteered.

It is not true that there is a sufficient number who are convinced of the need and will willingly offer this more than useful service to the cause of human lives? The need is real and is expected to increase in the coming months. From Britain, in Libya we are told of a wounded officer, propped up in an ammunition waggon directing his men into battle. One of our contributors walked two miles to meet the car that took her to the clinic, saying that she wanted to attend because her husband, who is a prisoner of war in Germany, might be benefited by her gift.

This Good Samaritan work is quiet, but still continues in this city at the Clinics. The spread depends on you. Do not hesitate. YOU ARE NEEDED NOW. Do not let a little very natural fear prevent you from entering the ranks. Let not a feeling of dislike at the thought dissuade you, for could you visit a hospital where a blood transfusion is being given and see the life return to the patient, all thoughts but that of gratefulness could disappear especially if it were one of your own friends who benefited.

Visit your physician at once, who will give you a free medical examination and tell you frankly whether or not you are able to serve and give you a statement saying so if you are fit. Send or give this statement to Mr. K. S. HAM, Box 402, Napanee, who will arrange for your transportation from Napanee to the Clinic at Kingston and the date on which you are to attend.

We trust that we are not expecting too much from you certainly nothing like as much as if you had to go overseas to fight the battle of freedom. You can, while carrying on your regular duties (if Registry assistance which will effectively aid the wounded soldiers when they have fought. All who have contributed are glad that they have taken their part.

WILL YOU NOT BE ONE OF THEIR NUMBER ?

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here this evening to spend a few hours with you, to show you that we appreciate your loyalty and devotion to your country in this hour of need. In doing so we are only following the example you have set us, for you have left your home and family and gone forth to fight for us, with the Overseas Forces. We are very sorry to have to part with you and your family, but realize although the sea may divide us we will always remain in our thoughts and prayers. Your two sons, Ralph and Charles have also our very kindest regards, having also proved themselves loyal and courageous. We all join in wishing you safety and a safe return when this conflict is at an end, and good luck and blessing may be soon.

A certain member of the British House of Commons was bashfully paying court to a charming young lady. Before long he had completely won her heart, but found it impossible to muster up courage to ask for her hand. Deeply interested in his career, she became a listener to the deliberations of Parliament, and soon found herself highly conversant with its rules of order.

One day he presented her with some flowers, saying: "May I offer you my handful of flowers?"

With great alacrity she replied: "I move to amend by omitting all after the word 'hand.'"

'Motion carried.

VALUE IN MEAT SPECIALTIES

Hello Homemakers! — A man suggested our topic — and trust a man to know what is good. Liver, heart, sweetbreads, tongue, brains, kidneys, oxtails and tripe — the meat specialties as are often described as "fancy meats". You can use them to introduce variety into your menus, there is little waste and small portions are satisfying. From the standpoint of nutrition, they are the richest of meats — every serving supplies a good portion of the daily requirement of every needed mineral plus vitamins B1 and B2.

First of all, these meats must be strictly fresh. Second, you must know how to prepare and cook them properly. Then, the family will see how good they are and want them often. You may recall the day when liver was so little appreciated.

* * *

The common question pertaining to the cookery of these meats is how to prepare pork and beef hearts. The following recipe will help you! Cut down the side of muscle and spread heart open. Remove all veins, arteries and roots with a sharp knife. Wash thoroughly and dry with a piece of cheesecloth before cooking.

* * *

Here are directions for the preparation and cooking of other meat specialties, as well as suggestions for garnishes.

RECIPES

Beefsteak and Kidney Pie:
One and one-half pounds of chuck steak
Three pounds lamb's kidneys
Flour
Two small onions, chopped
Salt and pepper
Two tablespoons fat
Six cups vegetable stock or gravy
Six small potatoes, sliced
Flaky pastry

Have the steak cut in pieces for serving. Cut up kidneys. Roll meat in flour. Brown meat and onions in fat. When meat is well browned on all sides, gradually add vegetable stock and cook, stirring constantly. Season. Arrange a layer of sliced potatoes on the bottom of a greased casserole and cover with a layer of meat and onions. Repeat. Pour gravy over all and add water or stock to fill casserole three - quarters full. Bake in electric oven for one and one-quarter hours at 350 deg. Remove casserole from oven and arrange pastry on the top of meat. Increase oven heat to 425 deg. Bake ten to fifteen minutes. Yield: seven or eight servings.

Braised Tongue:
One tongue
One-third cup carrot
One-third cup celery
One-third cup onion
Four tablespoons baking fat
Four tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
Worcestershire Sauce

Put tongue in boiling water and cook on electric element turned LOW for two hours. Drain off liquid; remove skin and fibres from tongue. Brown baking fat or butter, add flour; stir in four cups of the water in which tongue was cooked. Season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce; add tongue and vegetables. Cover and bake in electric oven for two hours at 300 deg. Serve with sauce.

Creole Tripe:
Three cups of fresh honeycomb tripe
Two tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
One tablespoon flour
One onion, chopped
Half-cup tomatoes, drained
Half-cup meat stock
One tablespoon parsley
One-quarter cup mushrooms, if desired.

Cut tripe in pieces about two inches long. Place in a shallow pan and put in oven to draw out water. Drain. Brown butter and onion; add flour, seasonings and stock; mix and add tripe. Cook on electric element turned low.

Creamed Sweetbreads:
Remove sweetbreads from paper as soon as brought home from market, plunge into cold water, and let stand one hour. Drain; cut into cubes and put into salted boiling water to which Vinegar is added (two tablespoons per quart). Cook slowly twenty minutes — turn electric element to LOW as soon as stream comes off. Make a medium cream sauce of two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup of milk and salt and pepper. Add one-half cup canned peas and a dash of nutmeg; stir in sweetbreads. Serve on toast or in patty shells.

TAKE A TIP

1 The wires of a piano can be kept from damping out heat by tacking a small bag of unslacked lime inside the piano, just under the cover. This will absorb all moisture.

2 When castors on furniture fall out too easily, remove them, pour melted wax into holes and insert the castors before wax hardens. After wax sets, the castors will not fall out.

3 Glycerine is better than oil for lubricating egg-beaters, meat-cutters and juice-extractors. It is tasteless and harmless.

4 To safeguard against the danger of spontaneous combustion and resulting fire in the home, keep all oiled rags used for cleaning and dusting in capped glass jars or tight-fitting containers.

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. N. H. says:
"Do tell our readers about Ox-tail Soup. It is one of the best inexpensive meat dishes."

OX-TAIL SOUP

One small ox-tail; half-cup carrot, diced; half-cup turnip, diced; half-cup onion, diced; half-cup celery, diced; six cups meat or vegetable stock, one teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; one teaspoon vinegar.

Method: Cut ox-tail in small pieces wash, drain, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and fry for ten minutes. Add to meat stock and simmer for two hours or until tender. Drain and discard bones. Add vegetables and seasonings. Add water if stock is strong. Cook until vegetables are soft.

Mrs. N. S. asks:
"Is there any substitute for meat or vegetable stock?"
Answer:
Bouillon cubes or extracts—for example, Oxo, Bovril, etc. may be used. Do consider saving all vegetable and meat juices.

Mrs. R. C. S. asks:
"We have had meat spoil in a day or two when it has been left in the stock in which it was boiled. Why has this happened?"
Answer:
Meat should be removed from the juices as soon as taken from the range and each stored in a covered container in the electric refrigerator.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S POEM

MOTHER SHIPTON'S PROPHECY WAS WRITTEN SEVERAL HUNDRED YEARS AGO

A carriage without horse shall go,
Disaster fill the world with woe.
In London, Primrose Hill shall be;
Its centre hold a Bishop's See.
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye.
And waters shall great wonders do—
How strange, and yet it shall come true.
Then upside down the world shall be,
And gold found at the root of tree.
Thro' tow'ring hills proud man shall ride,
No horse or ass move by his side.
Beneath the water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep and even talk;
And in the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, in red, in green.
A great man then shall come and go;
For prophecy declares it so.
In water iron shall float as easy as a wooden boat;
Gold shall be found in stream or stone.
In land that is as yet unknown.
Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England shall admit a Jew.
The Jew that once was held in scorn
Shall of a Christian then be born.
A house of glass shall come to pass
In England — but alas, alas!
A war will follow with the work
Where dwells the pagan and the Turk.
The States will lock in fiercest strife;
And seek to take each other's life;
When north shall thus divide the south
The eagle builds in the lion's mouth.
Then tax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every human door.
Three times shall sunny, lovely France
Be led to play a bloody dance;
Before the people shall be free.
Three tyrant rulers shall she see;
Three rulers in succession, be—
Each sprung from different dynasty.
Then, when the fiercest fight is done,
England dand France shall be as one.
The British olive next shall twine
In marriage with the German vine,
Men walk beneath and under streams,
Fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams.
All England's sons that plow the land
Shall oft be seen with Book in hand.
The poor shall now most wisdom know,
And water, wind, where corn doth grow;
Great houses stand in farflung vale.
All covered o'er with snow and hail.
And now a word in uncouth rhyme
Of what shall be in future time:
For in those wondrous, far-off days,
The women shall adopt a fashion
To dress like men and trousers wear
And cut off all their locks of hair.
They'll ride astride like men, you know;
As witches do on broomsticks, now.
Then love shall die and marriage cease.
And nations wane, as babies decrease.
And wives shall fondle cats and dogs
And men like babies nurse hogs.
In nineteen-hundred twenty-six—
Fifth house high of straw and sticks.
For then shall mighty wars be planned,
And fire and sword shall sweep the land.
But those who live the century through
In fear and trembling this will do:
Flee to the mountains ans and the lees.
To bog and forest, and wild fens—
For storms will rage and oceans roar:
When Gabriel stands on sea and shore;
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

VALUE IN MEAT SPECIALTIES

Hello Homemakers! — A man suggested our topic — and trust a man to know what is good. Liver, heart, sweetbreads, tongue, brains, kidneys, oxtails and tripe — the meat specialties — are often described as "fancy meats." You can use them to introduce variety into your menus, there is little waste and small portions are satisfying. From the standpoint of nutrition, they are the choicest of meats — every serving supplies a good portion of the daily requirement of every needed mineral plus vitamins B1 and B2.

First of all, these meats must be strictly fresh. Second, you must learn how to prepare and cook them properly. Then, the family will see how good they are and want them often. You may recall the day when liver was so little appreciated.

The common question pertaining to the cookery of these meats is how to prepare pork and beef hearts. Fine, following directions may help you! Cut down the side of muscle and spread heart open. Remove all veins, arteries and fat by tacking with a sharp knife. Wash thoroughly and dry with a piece of cheesecloth before cooking.

Here are directions for the preparation and cooking of other meat specialties, as well as suggestions for garnishes.

RECIPES

Beefsteak and Kidney Pie
One and one-half pounds of chuck steak
Three pounds lamb's kidneys
Flour
Two small onions, chopped
Salt and pepper
Two tablespoons fat
Six cups vegetable stock or gravy
Six small potatoes, sliced
Flaky pastry

Have the steak cut in pieces for serving. Cut up kidneys. Roll meat in flour. Brown meat and onions in fat. When meat is well browned on all sides, gradually add vegetable stock and water, stirring constantly. Season. Arrange a layer of sliced potatoes on the bottom of a greased casserole and cover with a layer of meat and onions. Repeat. Pour gravy over all and add water or stock to fill casserole. Cover with pastry. Bake in electric oven for one and one-quarter hours at 350 deg. Remove cover from oven and arrange pastry on the top of meat. Increase oven heat to 425 deg. Bake ten to fifteen minutes. Yield: seven or eight servings.

Braised Tongue
One fresh tongue
One-third cup carrot
One-third cup celery, diced
One-third cup onion
Four tablespoons baking fat
Four tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
Worcestershire Sauce

Put tongue in boiling water and cook on electric element turned LOW for two hours. Drain off liquid, remove skin and fibres from tongue. Brown baking fat or butter, add flour; stir in four cups of the water in which tongue was cooked. Season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce, and add tongue and vegetables. Cover and bake in electric oven for two hours at 300 deg. Serve with sauce.

Creole Tripe
Three cups of fresh honeycomb tripe
Two tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
One onion, chopped
Half-cup tomatoes, drained
Half-cup meat stock
One tablespoon parsley
One-quarter cup mushrooms, if desired.

Cut tripe in pieces about two inches long. Place in a shallow pan and pour over to draw out water. Drain. Brown butter and onion; add flour, seasonings and stock. Mix and add tripe. Cook on electric element turned low.

Creamed Sweetbreads
Remove sweetbreads from paper as soon as brought home from market, plunge into cold water, and let stand one hour. Drain; cut into cubes and put into salted boiling water to which Vinegar is added (two tablespoons per quart). Cook slowly twenty minutes — turn electric element to LOW as soon as steam comes off. Make a medium cream sauce of two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup of milk and salt and pepper. Add one-half cup canned peas and a dash of nutmeg. Stir in sweetbreads. Serve on toast or in patty shells.

TAKE A TIP

1 The wires of a piano can be kept from dampness and rust by tacking a small bag of unslacked lime inside the piano, just under the cover. This will absorb all moisture.
2 When castors on furniture fall out too easily, remove them, pour melted wax into holes and insert the castors before wax hardens. After wax sets, the castors will not fall out.
3 Glycerine is better than oil for lubricating egg-beaters, meat-cutters and juice-extractors. It is tasteless and harmless.
4 To safeguard against the danger of spontaneous combustion and rebulking fire in the home, keep all oiled rags used for cleaning and dusting in capped glass jars or tight-fitting containers.

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. N. H. says:
"Do tell our readers about Ox-tail Soup. It is one of the best inexpensive meat dishes."

OX-TAIL SOUP

One small ox-tail, half-cup carrot, diced; half-cup turnip, diced; half-cup onion, diced; half-cup celery, diced; six cups meat or vegetable stock, one teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon vinegar.

Method: Cut ox-tail in small pieces, wash, drain, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, and fry for ten minutes. Add to meat stock and simmer for two hours or until tender. Drain and discard bones. Add vegetables and season, thus: Add water if stock is strong. Cook until vegetables are soft.

Mrs. N. S. asks:
"Is there any substitute for meat or vegetable stock?"

Answer:
Bouillon cubes or extracts—for example Oxo, Bovril, etc. may be used. Do consider saving all vegetable and meat juices.

Mrs. R. C. B. asks:
"We have had meat, aspic in a day or two when it has been left in the stock in which it was boiled. Why has this happened?"

Answer:
Meat should be removed from the juices as soon as taken from the range and each stored in a covered container in the electric refrigerator.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S POEM

MOTHER SHIPTON'S PROPHECY WAS WRITTEN SEVERAL HUNDRED YEARS AGO

A carriage without horse shall go,
And ride it will the world will know;
In London, Primrose Hill shall be;
Its centre hold a Bishop's See.
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye,
And waters shall great wonders do—
How strange, and yet it shall come true.
Then upside down the world shall be,
And gold found at the root of tree.
Thro' towring hills proud man shall ride,
No horse or ass move by his side.
Beneath the water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep and even talk;
And in the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, in red and green.
A great man then shall come and go,
For prophesy declares it so.
In water iron shall float as
As easy as a wooden boat;
Gold shall be found in stream or stone.

In land that is as yet unknown.
Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England shall admit a Jew.
The Jew that once was held in scorn
Shall of a Christian then be born.
A house of glass shall come to pass
In England — but alas, alas!
A war will follow with the work —
Where dwells the Briton and the Turk.
The States will lock in fiercest strife,
And seek to take each other's life;
When north shall thus divide the south
The eagle builds in the lion's mouth.
Then tax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every humble door.
Three times shall sunny, lovely France
Be led to play a bloody dance;
Before the people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see;
Three rulers in succession, be—
Each sprung from different dynasty.
Then, when the fiercest fight is done,
Englan dand France shall be as one.
The British olive next shall twine
In marriage with the German vine.
Men walk beneath and see strange sights,
Fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams.
All England's sons that plow the land
Shall oft be seen with Book in hand.
The poor shall now most wisdom know.

And water, wind, where corn doth grow
Great houses stand in farfling vale.
All covered over with snow and hail.
And now a word in mouth rhyme
Or what shall be in future time.
For in these wondrous far-off days,
The women shall adopt a craze
To dress like men and trousers wear
And cut off all their locks of hair.
They'll ride astride like Hans-Breitzen
As witches do on broomsticks, now.
Then love shall die and marriage cease,

and nations wane as babies decrease.
And wives shall scold female cats and dogs
And men live much the same as hogs.
In nineteen-hundred twenty-six—
Hell-hole letter up to the sticks.
For then shall mighty wars be planned
And fire and sword shall sweep the land,
but those who live the century through
In fear and trembling this will do:
Flee to the mountains and the trees—
To bog and forest and wild fens—
For storms will rage and oceans roar.

When Gabriel stands on sea and shore,
And as he blows his wondrous horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born.

OGIA TRUNK — Ferber

Ferber's richest and most ng novel. Not even "Show-Has the color, the light and as of this glowing story. This only the story of two people but it is also the story of of life and of a breed of men ld: a helpless continent in and who only today are be-ginning to return their spoils to the people. It is full of memorable char-cters of the plush and iron of our fateful past.

HERE LIES — The COLLECTED STORIES of Dorothy Parker.

A fabulous wit; a New Yorker whose every word is golden—the Dorothy Parker legend grows with the years. Behind it the Parker reality goes quietly on, and this volume of her collected stories, shows how much more satisfying and important is the reality than any legend.

SECRET FRONT — Paul Gallico.

A marvellous tale of modern der-ring-do, fast, dramatic, colorful. If you are among the unfortunate ones who are not acquainted with Hiram Holliday adventures, you had better come aboard, but hold fast, because Gallico obeys no speed laws!

THE GULLS FLY INLAND—Sylvia Thompson.

In this novel Sylvia Thompson por-trays a group of people whose nost-algia for Paris, London, and the English countryside is deeply moving but, best of all, she tells a love story that is as charming and convincing as "The Hounds of Spring."

THE BRIGHT PAVILIONS — Walpole.

This novel is the fifth of the Herries Chronicles. It is an extraordinarily book, among the best that Hugh Walpole, one of the great English masters of the historical novel, has ever done.

WILD IS THE RIVER—Bromfield.

A story to fire the imagination—a robust exuberant chronicle, rich and colorful in its texture, which brings to life a baroque civilization and personalizes one of the most dramatic episodes in our nation's history. One of Mr. Bromfield's fin-est, as well as most exciting crea-tions.

A PROPHET AT HOME — Douglas Reed.

This is the last of three books which began with "Insanity Fair"—a book intended to be complete in itself. Events, by their prompt vindication of that book, produced its sequel, "Disgrace Abounding," and by the same process have led to "A Prophet at Home."

YOU CAN'T DO BUSINESS WITH HITLER — Miller.

Commentators, columnists and pro-fessors are praising and recommend-ing this terse and utterly convincing book. Its ever-increasing popularity is eloquent of the part it is now play-ing in the awakening of America.

LONDON — H. V. Morton.

H. V. Morton's London essays have achieved a wider popularity than anything written about London since the novels of Dickens. These short impressionistic "snapshots" have caught, in a peculiarly vivid way, the atmosphere, the humour, the tragedy and the pathos of the world's greatest city.

THE MEN AROUND CHURCHILL — Kraus.

A gallery of portraits of England's historic leaders. Mr. Kraus's new book will be of permanent interest to everyone concerned with one of the greatest crises in world history. Colourful, probing, evocative, "Rene Kraus's prose brings to us th elving pageant of Great Britain's evolving history.

FEEDING THE DRY COW FOR CHEESE PRODUCTION

(Experimental Farms Note)

The dairy cows of Eastern Ca-nada are going to be called upon to produce still greater quantities of milk for cheese in 1942 to meet the demands for this valuable wartime food. This being the case plans should be laid now to see that the dairy cows of the country are given a chance to improve upon their ex-cellent 1941 performance, says George W. Muir, Dominion Animal Husband-man, Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

Owing to the poor pasture condi-tions in 1941 many dairy herds will be finished off the production sea-son in thin condition. This situation may have been improved somewhat by supplementary feeding in the late fall in an endeavour to produce these last few pounds of cheese that were so urgently needed. Many cows, how-ever, will be in relatively thin con-dition at this time and if the all too common practice of cutting the "strippers' and dry cows' rations to silage and straw is followed, they will not be in condition for maximum production next spring and summer.

During the first six months of the lactation period there is a heavy drain on the dairy cow. This is met by the reserve she has been able to store up during the previous dry period and by current feeding. Dur-ing the latter part of the period of lactation the need for feed for milk production falls off but there con-tinues a need for good feeding to replenish reserves and to meet great-ation requirements. Good feeding at this time prolongs milk production, builds up the reserves, and eliminates the necessity for heavy, weeding dur-ing the dry period, which latter in turn reduces subsequent calving troubles.

Every cow should have a dry pe-riod of at least six weeks. If she has been well fed up to the end of the lactation period she will be in good condition, and only need good rough-ages during the dry period. If, how-ever, a cow is very thin she will need good roughages and some grain feed-ing in addition. Good roughages con-sist of corn silage or roots, alsome hay and limited amounts of straw. The grain ration where needed may consist of a mixture of the coarse farm grains — oats, barley and wheat plus a little bran and oilcake if available. Minerals are an impor-tant part of the ration and a mixture of equal parts steamed bone meal, ground lime stone and iodized salt may be fed daily. Good feeds and plenty of them are the dairy cows tools of production. Give them the tools.

Little Jean had been instructed at school what to do during an air raid. A day or two later she heard fire engines clanging past her home and decided it was the signal of an air raid. Hurriedly she scrambled under a table and began to take off her clothes. When she entered family asked the reason. Joan replied:

"Our teacher told us that when we heard the signal we should get under a table and keep cool."

32,000 hammers were purchased recently by the Department of Muni-tions and Supply for the Air Force. This is probably the largest single purchase of hammers ever made in Canada.

JAP BOATS FOR CANADA

Hundreds of fishing boats owned by persons of Japanese origin have been taken over on Canada's Pacific Coast. The vessels will either be purchased or leased from the owners and operated by white fishermen for the dura-tion of the war. A Canadian tar is shown here as he attaches a light to the mast of one of the Jap vessels after it had been seized. The boats were towed to Vancouver Island from points all along the coast.

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

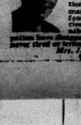
People who are off colour say they're sick or their liver is bad! Do you know how serious this is — that it may lead to permanent ill health — your whole system poisoned and broken down? For your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies bile to muscles, tissues and glands. If healthy, your body lacks this energy and is often enfeebled—troubled with vim disappears. Then your liver pours out bile to digest food as it wastes and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. If bile in your liver goes into proper digestion and nourishment you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous spells and rheumatic pains arise from this condition. You become constipated, stomach and bowels don't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, dizzy, tired out—a really poor specimen of health.

"Constantly In Pain, Now A New Woman"

For a long time I felt very miserable with liver trouble and constipation that I could hardly do my housework. I started Fruit-a-tives and felt better at once. After using only one box the awful headaches were gone, constipation left me and I felt like a new woman.

Miss J. Duplessis, Cornwall, Ont.

"Suffered For Years, Now Feel Grand"



I was always irritable, tired, head-achy, I could not eat or sleep well and had very severe constipation. After trying many medicines without relief, my friends persuaded me to try Fruit-a-tives. In a few days I felt grand, constipation was overcome and I am never tired or depressed.

Mrs. J. B. Lathers, Montreal, P.Q.

Don't suffer another day! Get Fruit-a-tives today and start on the road to lasting health — a new lease on life.

MANY VISIT GIBBARD FACTORY ON "OPEN NIGHT"

A large number of citizens of Napanee and the surrounding district availed themselves of the opportunity to visit The Gibbard Furniture Shops Showroom Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week, to see the new lines of furniture being made in the factory.

The spacious showroom, 125 feet long by about 40 feet wide, recently remodelled and decorated, is an ideal place in which to show furniture to the best advantage. Along each side of the room groups of different suites were arranged and in the centre were attractive novelty pieces.

The beautiful finish of all the furniture was greatly admired. Included, were mahogany, walnut and maple, in several new finishes. The articles on display were the same as shown at the recently-held furniture show in Toronto.

Employees of the company were present to give information concerning the various lines on display, but no effort was made to make sales since the company sells only at wholesale to the retailers throughout the country. The staffers in charge were who handle Gibbard Furniture are The Gibbard House Furnishers and The Canadian Department Stores.

The Company will hold another open night on Wednesday evening, February 18th, from 7:00 to 9:00, at the request of numerous citizens of the town.

Since the factory was taken over by Mr. Jack McPherson, a little over a year ago, many changes have been made in the plant. To-day it is one of the most up-to-date furniture factories in Canada and the products being turned out are of the very finest quality. About 125 employees, including several young women, are now on the pay-roll, and the factory is working at full speed to keep up with orders.

The business, which was established over 100 years ago, by John Gibbard, has always been a great asset to the town and the prospects for further expansion are excellent.

Mr. McPherson has plans for beautifying the grounds around the factory and for some additional services for the employees of the company, which he hopes to put into effect during the present year.

SOME FACTS ABOUT VICTORY BONDS

What is a Victory Loan Bond?

A Victory Loan Bond is a document issued by the Government of the Dominion of Canada which promises to repay to the purchaser on a given future date the face value, or principal amount, of the Bond. In addition it also promises to pay interest every half-year to the purchaser at a fixed rate and to repay the principal on the given date, as mentioned above. In buying a Victory Bond you really loan the money paid for the bond to the Dominion Government and the Government gives you the bond as a receipt or as security for the money you have loaned.

How is the Interest Paid Each Half-Year?

Interest coupons, payable each half-year until the money is repaid by the Government, will be attached to each bond. Instead of forwarding cheques each six months, a Government usually attaches to the bonds, Interest Coupons, which are in reality the cheques of the Government. These are dated six months apart and each one should be clipped off when due and presented at any Canadian branch of any Canadian chartered bank for cashing or for deposit in your bank account, just as ordinary cheques would be deposited. Some investors, however, prefer to have cheques forwarded from the Department of Finance each six months and consequently the Government has arranged for three forms of bonds, to suit the convenience or the requirements of investors, as follows:

1 THE COUPON BEARER BOND is by far the simplest form to deal with and is the form selected by the great majority of buyers. The bond itself, together with the attached interest coupons, is payable to whomever is the holder of the bond when the interest or principal becomes due. Should the holder desire to sell, this form of bond may be transferred by simply handing it to the purchaser.

2 THE COUPON REGISTERED BOND. This form of bond is very similar to the coupon bearer bond but has the owner's name written on the bond by the Department of Finance. A record of ownership is also kept by the registrar at Ottawa. A coupon registered

EVEN FIFTY DOLLARS WILL BUY A BOND TO HELP WIN WAR

EVERY CANADIAN IS URGED TO KEEP THE DATES FEBRUARY 16TH TO MARCH 7TH MARKED ON HIS CALENDAR.

This will be the period of the Second Victory Loan Campaign to raise not less than $600,000,000 from Canadians of all classes and creeds, from old and young alike. An army of organizers from coast to coast is already feverishly engaged in organizing the house-to-house canvass necessary to raise this vast sum of money. Committees have been set up in every province, in every city and in every district throughout the country. A great many volunteer helpers are assisting the investment and brokerage firms, which are, in the main, providing the personnel of the Victory Loan organization. If an organization determined not to fail in its purpose of providing the money to back up the men in the front line! Public Relations Committees are preparing every conceivable type of aid to the actual canvassers and will soon be launching a country-wide programme to drive home to every Canadian the importance and absolute necessity of buying bonds for Victory The official slogan

Snapshots	851	851	825	—2527

Wednesday, February 4th

H. Reid, of the "Farmers" rounded the high three, with 188, 272, and 236, to total 696.

In the high single was rolled by Gord Young, captain of the Farmer squad with a score of 303. Gord had seven perfect strikes in a row, then a spare pin and two "pearly gate" splits, one of which beat him. With any amount of luck Youngs should have had well over the 400 mark.

The three high averages for the week were H. Reid, 232; G. Youngs, 211; and Markle, 207.

RUSS - CANADIANS ORGANIZE IN AID OF VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

Canada's 45,000 citizens of Russian origin including 16,000 Doukhobors, most of whom reside in Western Canada have mobilized their total strength, not only to help the land of their adoption in its fight for freedom against the Axis powers but to ensure success for the forthcoming Second Victory Loan Campaign.

They are contributing their energies particularly in respect of the Victory Loan Drive in this province. They first revealed their interest and ambition to help in a letter addressed to The Hon. Col. Ilsley, federal Minister of Finance. This was despatched some weeks ago to Ottawa by N. Mirchuk, President and K. Ostchevich, Organizing Secretary of the National Executive of the Russian Committee in aid of Native Land. That organization embraces all Russian Canadian bodies in this country including the Doukhobors. The Minister of Finance was informed that these organizations wished to combine their strength to win the war and to make the forthcoming Victory Loan Campaign a success. He was asked if he would advise the most effective methods by which Russian Canadians might render this assistance. The Minister replied appropriately.

The strength of the scheme of correspondence has been that some 30,000 Russian Canadians are now being organized on a nation-wide basis. The National Executive of the Russian Committee maintains 24 executive and general branches in Canada. The secretaries of these 24 executive units have been requested in the national executive to organize at once to help in every possible way to win the war but more particularly at this time to help bring success to the efforts of the Second Victory Loan Campaigners.

Posters depicting Russian characters will, before the campaign proper begins on February 16th, be distributed among those Russian communities. Circulars in which Victory Loan literature abounds in a row, then a book in English into Russian language publication in Canada have undertaken to devote the time required to elucidate Canada's war aims and Victory Loan objectives in the Russian language. Where the appeal in the Russian Canadian may be without full knowledge in both directions.

This is the first time these Canadian citizens of Russian origin became organized in Canada in their own interests that they have volunteered as a united group to aid a national cause of this kind.

"We intend to give our whole strength to your campaign," said K. Ostchevich, Organizing Secretary of the committee in an interview. "We want your Victory Loan Campaign to be an overwhelming success. We intend to help by distributing literature in our groups in the Russian and in the Russian language. We intend to send our organizers and even canvassers. When the campaign proper begins are intend to have our people volunteer their services to local campaign committees to help in any way possible. We command the support of every Russian Canadian in this country and we are satisfied that every man and woman associated with our organization will give his fullest support to this important Victory Loan Campaign."

RALPH McCABE

The above picture is of Ralph McCabe formerly of Belleville, son of Game Inspector Herbert McCabe and Mrs. McCabe. Ralph McCabe was recently signed up by the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club as a pitcher.

McCabe who stands in the neighborhood of 6 feet 6 inches, is built along the lines of Dick Fowler, he weighs 195 pounds, played professional baseball under the New York Yankee banner last summer, and was signed by the Leafs, as a free agent, about a month ago.

McCabe played with a number of minor teams in Belleville, but did not break into the O.B.A. competition until he signed with Oshawa Intermediates in 1937. The following season he pitched the Oshawa juniors to the Provincial finals.

Following that success, he headed south to join the Copper Cliff team of the Nickel Belt League, enjoyed a lengthy winning streak, and climaxed a great season by winning three shutout victories in the playoffs allowing a total of seven hits in the three games.

In 1940 he moved again, this time to Northwestern Quebec, where he pitched for the Canadian Malartic team in the Outlaw League. Success was his again, and it was there that Bob Shawkey spotted him recommended him to the Yanks and then lined him up for a job at Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCabe are former residents of the Hay Bay District near Napanee.

NAPANEE TAX RATE REDUCED 5 MILLS FOR CURRENT YEAR

Treasurer Gives Reasons for Substantial Cut

The tax rate for the Town of Napanee for 1942 was set, at the meeting of the Napanee Town Council, last week, at 48 mills, which is a reduction of five mills over that of the rate in 1941.

The very favourable position is a matter of some satisfaction to the members of the Council and will effect a considerable saving to the property holders in the town.

This year's tax rate of 48 mills is made up as follows:—

For Relief and Charity	2.02 mills
For County Rate	9.58 mills
For Schools	14.85 mills
Debentures and Interest	14.85 mills
For General Purposes	5.37 mills
For Garbage Collection	1.33 mills
	48. mills

The current ordinary revenue is estimated for the present year at approximately $3,000 more than in 1941.

The principal reasons for decreases or increases in expenditures, are as follows:

1 Debenture and Interest on Dundas Street paving and debentures becoming matured and which were retired in 1941. This resulted in a net reduction of the amount required to be raised by direct taxation of $4,000.00.

2 The County tax rate was reduced for the present year and this reduction amounts to a saving of $2,978.00 to the Town.

3 The increase Board of Education requires $3,250.00 more this year than last year, for school purposes.

4 The Street grants were increased from $6,500.00 to $7,850.00. This increase is accounted for through a raise of pay to men working on the streets and the necessity of improving certain streets during the coming year.

5 The Fire and Water Department require an increase in their appropriation of about $500.00 as it has been found necessary to purchase new fire hose, this year.

6 The total amount required to be raised by taxation in 1941 was $96,170.00 and for the year 1942 the amount required to be raised by taxation is estimated at $86,533.00.

MANY VISIT GIBBARD FACTORY ON "OPEN NIGHT"

A large number of citizens of Napanee and the surrounding district availed themselves of the opportunity to visit The Gibbard Furniture Shops' Showroom Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week, to see the new lines of furniture being made at the factory.

The spacious showroom, 125 feet long by about 40 feet wide, recently remodelled and redecorated, is an ideal place in which to show furniture to the best advantage. Along each side of the room groups of different suites were arranged and in the centre were attractive novelty pieces.

The beautiful finish of all the furniture was greatly admired. Included, were mahogany, walnut and blonde, in several new finishes. The articles on display were the same as shown at the recently-held furniture show in Toronto.

Employees of the company were present to give information concerning the various lines on display, but no effort was made to make sales as the company sells only at wholesale to the retailers throughout the country. The retailers in Napanee who handle Gibbard Furniture are The Gibbard House Furnishers and The Canadian Department Stores.

The Company will hold another open night on Wednesday evening, February 18th, from 7.00 to 9.00, at the request of numerous citizens of this town.

Since the factory was taken over by Mr. Jack McPherson, a little over a year ago many changes have been made in the plant. Today it is one of the most up-to-date furniture factories in Canada and the products being turned out are of the very finest quality. About 125 employees, including several young women, are now on the pay roll, and the factory is working at full speed to keep up with orders.

The business, which was established over 100 years ago, by John Gibbard, has always been a great asset to the town and the prospects for further expansion are excellent.

Mr. McPherson has plans for beautifying the grounds around the factory and for some additional services for the employees of the company, which he hopes to put into effect during the present year.

RALPH McCABE

The above picture is of Ralph McCabe, formerly of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCabe and Mrs. McCabe. Ralph McCabe was recently signed up by the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club as a pitcher.

McCabe who stands in the neighborhood of 6 feet 6 inches, is built along the lines of Dick Fowler, he weighs 185 pounds, played professional baseball under the New York Yankee banner last summer, and was signed by the Leafs, as a free agent, about a month ago.

McCabe played with a number of minor teams in Belleville, but did not break into the O.B.A. competition until he signed with Oshawa intermediates in 1937. The following season he pitched for the Oshawa juniors to the Provincial final.

Following that season he headed north to join the Copper Cliff team of the Nickel Belt Loop. He enjoyed a lengthy winning streak and climaxed a great season by winning three shutout victories in the playoffs allowing a total of seven hits in the three games.

In 1940 he moved again, this time to Northeastern Quebec, where he pitched for the Canadian Malartic team in the Outlaw League. Success was his again, and it was there that Bob Shawkey spotted him, recommended him to the Yanks and then lined him up for a job at Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCabe are former residents of the Bay Bay District near Napanee.

Mr. Shangraw pleaded guilty to driving without lights.

SOME FACTS ABOUT VICTORY BONDS

What is a Victory Loan Bond?

A Victory Loan Bond is a document issued by the Government of the Dominion of Canada which promises to repay to the purchaser on a given future date the face value, or principal amount, of the Bond. In addition it also promises to pay interest every half-year to the purchaser at a fixed rate and to repay the principal on the given date, as mentioned above. In buying a Victory Bond you really loan the money paid for the bond to the Dominion Government and the Government gives you the bond as a receipt or as security for the money you have loaned.

- V -

How is the Interest Paid Each Half-Year?

Interest coupons, payable each half-year until the money is repaid by the Government, will be attached to each bond. Instead of forwarding cheques each six months, the Government usually attaches to bonds, sheets of coupons, which are in reality the cheques of the Government. These are dated six months apart and each one should be clipped off when due and presented at any Canadian branch of any Canadian chartered bank for cashing or for deposit in your bank account, just as ordinary cheques would be deposited. Some investors, however, prefer to have cheques forwarded from the Department of Finance each six months and consequently the Government has arranged for three forms of bonds, to suit the convenience or the requirements of investors, as follows:

- V -

1 THE COUPON BEARER BOND is by far the simplest form to deal with and is the form selected by the great majority of buyers. The bond itself, together with the attached interest coupons, is payable to whomever is the holder of the bond when the interest or principal becomes due. Should the holder desire to sell this form of bond may be transferred to simply handing it to the purchaser.

2 THE COUPON REGISTERED BOND. This form of bond is very similar to the bearer bond but has the owner's name written on the bond by the Department of Finance. A record of ownership is also kept by the registrar at Ottawa. A coupon registered

Treasurer Gives Reasons for Substantial Cut

The tax rate for the Town of Napanee for 1942 was set, at the meeting of the Napanee Town Council, last week, at 48 mills. which is a reduction of five mills compared with the rate in 1941.

The very favourable position is a matter of some satisfaction to the members of the Council and will effect a considerable saving to the property holders in the town.

This year's tax rate of 48 mills is made up as follows:—

For Relief and Charity	2.02 mills
For County Rate	9.58 mills
For Schools	14.85 mills
Debentures and Interest	14.85 mills
For General Purposes	5.37 mills
For Garbage Collection	1.33 mills
	48 mills

The current ordinary revenue is estimated for the present year at approximately $3.000 more than in 1941.

The principal reasons for decreases or increases in expenditures, are as follows:—

1 Debenture and Interest on Dundas Street paving and debentures covering certain sewers and walks were retired in 1941. This resulted in a net reduction of the amount required to be raised by direct taxation of $4,000.00.

2 The County tax rate was reduced for the present year and this reduction amounts to a saving of $2,-978.00 to the Town.

3 The Napanee Board of Education requires $3,250.00 more this year than last year, for school purposes.

4 The Street grants were increased from $6,500.00 to $7,850.00. This increase is accounted for through a raise of pay to men working on the streets and the necessity of improving certain streets during the coming year.

5 The Fire and Water Department require an increase in their appropriation of about $900.00 as it has been found necessary to purchase new fire hose, this year.

6 The total amount required to be raised by taxation in 1941 was $96.170.00 and for the year 1942 the amount required to be raised by taxation is estimated at $86,533.00

MR. MEIGHEN'S DEFEAT

The defeat of Hon. Arthur Meighen in the South York by-election has more than passing significance. When Mr. Meighen was accorded the leadership of the Conservative Party, we expressed disappointment. We believed those of the Party who had elected Mr. Meighen to the responsible position had erred in choosing one whom they had previously repudiated. Not only so, but Mr. Meighen belongs to a school of thought which is, rightly or wrongly, being challenged everywhere. Not long after the election to the leadership it appeared that all was not as harmonious even among those at the meeting as it might have been. Westerners who were present, charged that the choice of Mr Meighen had been engineered by a few people in Toronto.

As the campaign proceeded it became quite evident that it was the so-called Toronto group which was the real power behind the effort to elect Mr. Meighen. The hysterical journalistic outpourings of The Globe and Mail were too vehement to be effective. It overdid it quite altogether. It negatived whatever influence it might have exercised by its extravagant propaganda.

Nor was the entrance of Mr. Hepburn into the fray any less significant. Mr. Hepburn found, in the election, an opportunity to continue to press his personal feud against Prime Minister Mackenzie King. The fact that Mr. Humphrey Mitchell was elected in spite of the campaigning of Mr. Hepburn in the Welland riding, would indicate that the people of Ontario are not taking Mr. Hepburn as seriously as they used to do. Indeed, the defeat of Mr. Meighen and of Mr. Watt, can be interpreted, too, as a repudiation of the tactics of the Ontario Premier.

It is little short of tragedy that the control of the once great Conservative Party should have fallen into the hands of men who are unable or unwilling to recognize the changes that are taking place in our modern world. The country needs young, progressive men of vision. Mr. Meighen was pressed into accepting the leadership of the Conservative Party against his will, from the highest possible motives. He is a man of high motives and integrity: but the people of South York, by their votes, have repudiated his leadership and the men who have pressed for his election. Mr. Meighen conducted a clean, vigorous campaign; his personal honesty, his ability, experience and patriotism were never questioned. The vote cast against him was against a point of view he represents. The election was, however, a stern rebuke of certain sections of the Toronto Press, and Mr. Hepburn.

QUEBEC - ONTARIO RELATIONS

Napanee citizens will have the opportunity soon, of hearing Dr. Arthur McGreer, a former resident of the town, who is to address the annual banquet of St. Mary Magdalene's Men's Association. Since the First Great War, in which Dr. McGreer served as a chaplain, Dr. McGreer has lived in Quebec, where he is Principal of Bishop's (Anglican) College. It will be a privilege, not only for personal reasons, for Napanee people to hear Dr. McGreer, but because he speaks on a subject on which it is difficult, in Ontario, to get sane, balanced and enlightened opinion.

The by-election campaign just closed shows how easy it is for political speakers to play upon the prejudices of the people. The situation in Canada lends itself particularly to such appeals, because of the strongly marked differences between the two most largely populated provinces — one almost wholly Roman Catholic and French, the other equally strong Protestant and English-speaking. There is no way in which it is possible to undo history. Canada is, by constitution, bilingual—whether we like it or not, that is the fact. We, in Ontario, often feel that the growth of Quebec is a menace to our national unity; we believe the French are often responsible for governmental policies which we do not like. Great numbers of people in Quebec feel themselves in a minority. They have a minority complex and are ever on the defensive, ever on the outlook, lest their privileges and their rights be overriden by the majority. This delicately balanced situation is apt to lead to tension and bitterness between the two dominant groups, particularly at times of political or national strain and stress.

What is needed is good will on both sides, and good will cannot be secured on any other than a basis of mutual understanding and open-mindedness. The situation would be greatly improved if a group of Ontario leaders would go to Quebec and say to the people there and admit that they had made mistakes, that the cause of dissention was not to be laid wholly to Quebec, and if a group of Quebec leaders would come to Ontario and admit that they were at fault in many ways. If, in that spirit, leading public men—not necessarily politicians — could meet, they way would be cleared for a United Canada. It is perhaps too much to hope that this can be done at once, but it ought to be done without undue delay. And in the meantime, speakers in both provinces, without any axe to grind, should seek to interpret, each to the other.

Mr. McGreer's visit will, we are sure, do much to clarify our thinking on this subject, and those in charge are to be congratulated in securing him at this particularly critical time in Quebec - Ontario relations.

V

LYBIA

The situation in North Africa must have come as a distinct disappointment to all who were looking for a British victory, there. The sudden change in the position of the two armies is certainly discouraging, unless we keep in mind other significant factors. In a war of movement, there can be no final decision until one army or the other is completely defeated. There are, of course, great advantages to the attacking army; they take the initiative, they call the signals, and the defenders have to conform to the plans of those who attack. Then there are geographical advantages: the control of cities and lines of communication; these are of immense help. But so long as the armies remain intact, space, territory, is not a deciding factor, nor is its rapid transfer from one to the other of the contending parties, nearly so important as in the sort of trench warfare to which we were accustomed during the First Great War.

Twice now, the British Army in North Africa has achieved the initiative and driven the Germans back over long distances, and twice have the British been prevented from delivering a knock-out to the enemy forces; largely because at a critical moment they were called on to help in other areas. Last year, in order to fulfill their obligation to the Greek People, the Lybian forces were weakened. And now, when a serious crisis arises in the Far East, it is a safe assumption that many aeroplanes, so essential to success in modern warfare, have been switched from Africa to, perhaps, the Burma or Singapore bases. In spite of this, however, the Lybian Army is performing a task of greatest importance in keeping the Suez out of the hands of the enemy and thus maintaining the vital life-line to the Far East. Only as a wide view of the whole war field is taken, is it possible, properly, to appraise the Lybian Campaign.

A BENEFACTOR

The passing of Dr. Locke at Williamsburg, Ontario, brings into focus of public attention the value of the Country Doctor. A while ago we read a little book called "Doctor, Here's Your Lot" It is a story of one of those rural doctors who, in his practice, was called upon to perform almost unbelievable acts of heroism, skill and service. Though the writer was an American and lived in The States, yet his experience could be duplicated many times over by the medical men in the small towns and rural areas of this country. The success of Dr. Dafoe, in keeping alive the "Quints" under primitive conditions, has been well recorded, and has received the world recognition it deserved.

Dr. Locke of Williamsburg was another of these country doctors, who gave himself, without stint, to his people. He was a family doctor serving in a small community, who was ready and willing, at any time and under all conditions, to go to the help of his patients. Too often, in the light of later work, this was forgotten. Dr. Locke was essentially a small-town doctor, giving his time and ability in the service of his community.

It is in his work of healing by means of the manipulating of the feet, that Dr. Locke became more widely known. He undoubtedly helped many, many people. But so great is the desire for health, that patients from all over the Continent came to his clinic in the hope of being cured. There was a time, as many from around here can testify, that it was almost impossible to get a treatment because of the crowd who were waiting for his services. Dr. Locke did a good job. Naturally he was pressed by all sorts of people to attempt cures for which his technique was not at all filled But making due allowances for this, there are many people who benefitted by his skillful and unorthodox methods.

The manner by which Dr. Locke made his charges was typical of his unusual methods. One dallor a treatment, paid in cash, was his charge. Rich and poor were all treated alike. Whether this was right or wrong, it was Dr. Locke's demonstration of his eagerness to treat all alike. Every person took his turn in the line-up, nor could any amount of money purchase privileges or preferment.

While for many years medical men will debate the value of the method of Dr. Locke and his unorthodox treatments, those who were helped by h m will raise no theoretical questions. And it may be that later researches will make it possible for others to carry on in a modified way and in a restricted field, this work of which the Ontario Country Doctor was a pioneer.

Whatever the job; whatever the cost

But only if each of us pitches in
To work like a cornered man!
And cornered we'll be if we halt or pause
In giving the "home-grown stuff,
That puts the teeth in freedom's cause—
TOO MUCH IS BARELY ENOUGH!

Hydro HORSEPOWER means SEAPOWER!
Ontario's Shipyards Build 37 Types of Ships To Help Win the War!
• Down the ways in busy Ontario shipyards comes a long line of corvettes and patrol boats—37 types of ships—swiftly adding to the Royal Canadian Navy and our Merchant Marine. In Canada's victory program, sea strength is of paramount importance.
And from keel-laying to launching, Hydro-Electric energy is indispensable. Day and night, thousands of workers in "the yards" use their full share of 500,000 electrical horsepower supplied by Hydro to Ontario's wartime industries. In other plants scattered all over the Province other thousands of workers on machines powered by Hydro are producing steel, engines and equipment to feed these shipyards.
Today, every Ontario citizen desires to do his utmost and can therefore take pride in the fact that Hydro is providing well over 2,000,000 h.p. to assure the victory program and to maintain all essential services.
Because Hydro is vital to victory we must all be economical in the use in shop and home—not only to conserve electricity but, also, to save many metals and materials which are essential to the production of weapons of war. Let Victory come first!

MR. MEIGHEN'S DEFEAT

The defeat of Hon. Arthur Meighen in the South York by-election has more than passing significance. When Mr. Meighen was accorded the leadership of the Conservative Party, we expressed disappointment. We believed those of the Party who had elected Mr. Meighen to the responsible position had erred in choosing one whom they had previously repudiated. Not only so, but Mr. Meighen belongs to a school of thought which is, rightly or wrongly, being challenged everywhere. Not long after the election to the leadership it appeared that all was not as harmonious even among those at the meeting as it might have been. Westerners who were present, charged that the choice of Mr Meighen had been engineered by a few people in Toronto.

As the campaign proceeded it became quite evident that it was the so-called Toronto group which was the real power behind the effort to elect Mr. Meighen. The hysterical journalistic outpourings of The Globe and Mail were too vehement to be effective. It overdid it quite altogether. It negatived whatever influence it might have exercised by its extravagant propaganda.

Nor was the entrance of Mr. Hepburn into the fray any less significant. Mr. Hepburn found, in the election, an opportunity to continue to press his personal feud against Prime Minister Mackenzie King. The fact that Mr. Humphrey Mitchell was elected in spite of the campaigning of Mr. Henburn in the Welland riding, would indicate that the people of Ontario are not taking Mr. Hepburn as seriously as they used to do. Indeed, the defeat of Mr. Meighen and of Mr. Watt, can be interpreted, too, as a repudiation of the tactics of the Ontario Premier.

It is little short of tragedy that the control of the once great Conservative Party should have fallen into the hands of men who are unable or unwilling to recognize the changes that are taking place in our modern world. The country needs young, progressive men of vision. Mr. Meighen was pressed into accepting the leadership of the Conservative Party against his will, from the highest possible motives. He is a man of high motives and integrity; but the people of South York, by their votes, have repudiated his leadership and the men who have pressed for his election. Mr. Meighen conducted a clean, vicorous campaign; his personal honesty, his ability, experience and patriotism were never questioned. The vote cast against him was against a point of view he represents. The election was, however, a stern rebuke of certain sections of the Toronto Press, and Mr. Hepburn.

QUEBEC - ONTARIO RELATIONS

Nananee citizens will have the opportunity soon, of hearing Dr. Arthur McGreer, a former resident of the town, who is to address the annual banquet of St. Mary Magdalene's Men's Association. Since the First Great War, in which Dr. McGreer served as a chaplain, Dr. McGreer has lived in Quebec, where he is Principal of Bishop's (Anglican) College. It will be a privilege, not only for personal reasons, for Napanee people to hear Dr. McGreer, but because he speaks on a subject on which it is difficult, in Ontario, to get sane, balanced and enlightened opinion.

The by-election campaign just closed shows how easy it is for political speakers to play upon the prejudices of the people. The situation in Canada lends itself particularly to such appeals, because of the strongly marked differences between the two most largely populated provinces — one almost wholly Roman Catholic and French, the other equally strong Protestant and English-speaking. There is no way in which it is possible to undo history. Canada is, by constitution, bilingual—whether we like it or not, that is the fact. We, in Ontario, often feel that the growth of Quebec is a menace to our national unity; we believe the French are often responsible for governmental policies which we do not like. Great numbers of people in Quebec feel themselves in a minority. They have a minority complex and are ever on the defensive, ever on the outlook, lest their privileges and their rights be overriden by the majority. This delicately balanced situation is apt to lead to tension and bitterness between the two dominant groups, particularly at times of political or national strain and stress.

What is needed is good will on both sides, and good will cannot be secured on any other than a basis of mental understanding and open-mindedness. The situation would be greatly improved if a group of Ontario leaders would go to Quebec and say to the people there and admit that they had made mistakes, that the cause of dissention was not to be laid wholly to Quebec, and if a group of Quebec leaders would come to Ontario and admit that they were at fault in many ways. If, in that spirit, leading public men—not necessarily politicians — could meet, they way would be cleared for a United Canada. It is perhaps too much to hope that this can be done at once, but it ought to be done without undue delay. And in the meantime, speakers in both provinces, without any axe to grind, should seek to interpret, each to the other.

Mr. McGreer's visit will, we are sure, do much to clarify our thinking on this subject, and those in charge are to be congratulated in securing him at this particularly critical time in Quebec - Ontario relations.

LYBIA

The situation in North Africa must have come as a distinct disappointment to all who were looking for a British victory, there. The sudden change in the position of the two armies is certainly discouraging, unless we keep in mind other significant factors. In a war of movement, there can be no final decision until one army or the other is completely defeated. There are, of course, great advantages to the attacking army; they take the initiative, they call the signals, and the defenders have to conform to the plans of those who attack. Then there are geographical advantages; the control of cities and lines of communication; these are of immense help. But so long as the armies remain intact, space, territory, is not a deciding factor, nor is its rapid transfer from one to the other of the contending parties, nearly so important as in the sort of trench warfare to which we were accustomed during the First Great War.

Twice now, the British Army in North Africa has achieved the initiative and driven the Germans back over long distances, and twice have the British been prevented from delivering a knock-out to the enemy forces; largely because at a critical moment they were called on to help in other areas. Last year, in order to fulfill their obligation to the Greek People, the Lybian forces were weakened. And now, when a serious crisis arises in the Far East, it is a safe assumption that many aeroplanes, so essential to success in modern warfare, have been switched from Africa to, perhaps, the Burma or Singapore bases. In spite of this, however the Lybian Army is performing a task of greatest importance in keeping the Suez out of the hands of the enemy and thus maintaining the vital life-line to the Far East. Only as a wide view of the whole war field is taken, is it possible, properly, to appraise the Lybian Campaign.

A BENEFACTOR

The passing of Dr. Locke at Williamsburg, Ontario, brings into focus of public attention the value of the Country Doctor. A while ago we read a little book called "Doctor, Here's Your Lot" It is a story of one of those rural doctors who, in his practice, was called upon to perform almost unbelievable acts of heroism, skill and service. Though the writer was an American and lived in The States, yet his experience could be duplicated many times over by the medical men in the small towns and rural areas of this country. The success of Dr. Dafoe, in keeping alive the "Quints" under primitive conditions, has been well recorded, and has received the world recognition it deserved.

Dr. Locke of Williamsburg was another of these country doctors, who gave himself, without stint, to his people. He was a family doctor serving in a small community, who was ready and willing, at any time and under all conditions, to go to the help of his patients. Too often, in the light of later work, this was forgotten. Dr. Locke was essentially a small-town doctor, giving his time and ability in the service of his community.

It is in his work of healing by means of the manipulative of the feet, that Dr. Locke became more widely known. He undoubtedly helped many, many people. But so great is the desire for health, that patients from all over the Continent came to his clinic in the hope of being cured. There was a time, as many from around here can testify, that it was almost impossible to get a treatment because of the crowd who were waiting for his services. Dr. Locke did a good job. Naturally he was pressed by all sorts of people to attempt cures for which his technique was not at all filled But making due allowances for this, there are many people who benefitted by his skillful and unorthodox methods.

The manner by which Dr. Locke made his charges was typical of his unusual methods. One dollar a treatment, paid in cash, was his charge. Rich and poor were all treated alike. Whether this was right or wrong, it was Dr. Locke's demonstration of his eagerness to treat all alike. Every person took his turn in the line-up, nor could any amount of money purchase privileges or preferment.

While for many years medical men will debate the value of the method of Dr. Locke and his unorthodox treatments, those who were helped by h m will raise no theoretical questions. And it may be that later researches will make it possible for others to carry on in a modified way and in a restricted field, this work of which the Ontario Country Doctor was a pioneer.

FEBRUARY MEETING OF THE NAP. TOWN COUNCIL

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, February 2nd, with Mayor D. R. Hall, presiding.

All the members of Council were present.

The following communication was read from the C. N. Railways, and speaks for itself:

January 17th, 1942.

Mr. W. A. Grange,
Town Clerk,
Napanee, Ontario.

Dear Sir:— This will acknowledge receipt of your letter dated January 10th, enclosing copy of a resolution passed by the Council of the Town of Napanee requesting additional passenger train service between and Toronto.

I am sure you will appreciate the Railway is putting forth every possible effort to handle expeditiously the tremendous volume of freight traffic now moving, which is urgently required for war purposes, and which traffic is increasing continually. In addition a number of extra passenger trains are operated and a large number of passenger cars must be available at all times to handle the military movements. Any extra passenger trains on our main line between Toronto and Montreal at this time would seriously interfere with the operation of these important trains.

While I fully appreciate your request for additional train service between Kingston and Toronto, which no doubt would be a great convenience to the citizens of the Town of Napanee and the neighbouring districts, I regret to advise we cannot consider your request under present conditions.

Yours truly,
F. L. C. BOND,
Vice-President and
General Manager.

A communication was read from Ernest Pidgeon, asking for a renewal of his pool room license.

A communication was read from the American LaFrance Fire Engine & Foamite Co., of Toronto, stating that they expected to be able to deliver the new fire truck to Napanee in about thirty days. They were experiencing some difficulty in securing necessary parts.

A communication was read from the Local Victory Loan Committee asking that the town hall be suitably decorated during the duration of the Victory Loan Drive.

Referred to the Finance Committee to provide the necessary funds.

Also that the Mayor issue a proclamation urging that a Union Jack flag be flown from every dwelling in Napanee during the campaign and that Sunday, February 22nd, be declared a second Victory Loan Sunday.

On motion, the requests were granted and the Mayor instructed to issue the necessary proclamation.

A communication, dated January 26th, was read from A. C. Rooks, informing Council that his wife, Marion G. Rooks, fell and broke a bone in her ankle on Saturday, January 17th, 1942, on the steps of the public library, and was caused by the neglect of municipal officials in not cleaning ice and snow, or making same safe by sanding, and stating that the municipality is held responsible for the accident and liable for any costs and damage incurred as a result of said accident. Ordered fyled.

Reeve Daly presented the monthly statement of the town's finances from January 1st, 1942, to January 31st, 1942.

He also presented a statement of accounts for which vouchers were required.

The statements were ordered received and fyled and the vouchers asked for by the treasurer, granted.

FINANCE REPORT

Reeve Daly also presented the following report as prepared by the Finance Committee:

1 We recommend that with regard to the Salvation Army request for agrant, no action be taken.

2 We recommend that with regard to the Sick Children's Hospital request for a grant, no action be taken.

3 We recommend that $1000.00 be placed in the estimates for the Napanee Public Library.

5 We recommend that the Chief Constable's salary be increased $100.00, making his salary $1500.00 per annum.

6 We wish to report that we have purchased the necessary material in order to get out a greatly enlarged Auditor's report, and we recommend that Miss Marion Grass be employed to do the necessary work in connection with this report at a salary of 25 cents per hour.

7 We recommend that Miss Ruth Miller be employed as a Town employee as assistant to the Treasurer, Collector and Assessor, at a salary of $11.00 per week, and that she be bonded for $2000.00.

8 We recommend that Mr. Mark Graham be employed as Tax Collector at $745.00 per annum, an increase of $260.00 per annum in his total salary.

9 We recommend that Mr. W. A. Grange's salary, as Town Clerk, be increased $200.00 per annum.

10 We recommend that Mr. H. A. Storms, Acting Street Foreman, be paid $17.00 per week, a raise of $2.00 per week, that the street cleaners be paid $15.00 per week, a raise of $3.00, making their wages $15.00 per week, and that the men employed as labourers on street work, be paid 30 cents an hour, an increase of 5 cents an hour.

11 We recommend that Mr. Sam Baird be paid $50.00 per year, as time and record keeper, for Acting Street Foreman.

12 We recommend that Mr. Matthew Taylor be paid $750.00 per annum as Relief Officer, an increase of $50.00 per annum.

13 We wish to report that Night Constable Cook has been engaged as Taylor be paid $350.00 per annum num.

14 We recommend that the suggested honoraria increase of a total of $225.00 to the members of the Council, be left to open Council.

15 We recommend that the caretaker of the town hall be increased $2.00 per week.

16 That this report be retroactive to the first of January, 1942.

FEBRUARY MEETING OF THE NAP. TOWN COUNCIL

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, February 2nd, with Mayor D. R. Hall, presiding.

All the members of Council were present.

The following communication was read from the C. N. Railways, and speaks for itself:—

January 17th, 1942.

Mr. W. A. Grange,
Town Clerk,
Napanee, Ontario.

Dear Sir:— This will acknowledge receipt of your letter dated January 16th, enclosing copy of a resolution passed by the Council of the Town of Napanee requesting additional passenger train service between and Toronto.

I am sure you will appreciate the Railway is putting forth, every possible effort to handle expeditiously the tremendous volume of freight traffic now moving, which is urgently required for war purposes, and which traffic is increasing continuously. In addition a number of extra passenger trains are operated and a large number of passenger cars must be available at all times to handle the military movements. Any extra passenger trains on our main line between Toronto and Montreal at this time would seriously interfere with the operation of these important trains.

While I fully appreciate your request for additional train service between Kingston and Toronto, which no doubt would be a great convenience to the citizens of the Town of Napanee and the neighbouring districts, I regret to advise we cannot consider your request under present conditions.

Yours truly,
F. L. C. BOND,
Vice-President and
General Manager.

A communication was read from Ernest Puttock asking for a renewal of his pool room license.

A communication was read from the American LaFrance Fire Engine & Foamite Co., of Toronto, stating that they expected to be able to deliver the new fire truck to Napanee in about thirty days. They were experiencing some difficulty in securing necessary parts.

A communication was read from the Local Victory Loan Committee asking that the town hall be suitably decorated during the duration of the Victory Loan Drive.

Referred to the Finance Committee to provide the necessary funds.

Also that the Mayor issue a proclamation urging that a Union Jack be flown from every dwelling in Napanee during the campaign, and that Sunday, February 22nd, be declared a second Victory Loan Sunday.

On motion, the requests were granted and the Mayor instructed to issue the necessary proclamation.

A communication, dated January 26th, was read from A. C. Rooks, requesting Council that his wife Marion G. Rooks, fell and broke a bone in her ankle on Saturday, January 17th, 1942, on the steps of the public library, and was caused by the neglect of municipal officials in not cleaning ice and snow, or making same safe by sanding, and stating that the municipality is held responsible for the accident and liable for any costs and damage incurred as a result of said accident. Ordered filed.

Reeve Daly presented the monthly statement of the town's finances from January 1st, 1942 to January 31st, 1942.

He also presented a statement of accounts for which vouchers were required.

The statements were ordered received and filed and the vouchers asked for by the treasurer, granted.

Behind these frequent announcements there are usually long periods of investigations, negotiations and organization, making necessary the writing of large volumes of correspondence which must be accurately and neatly done and properly filed.
The engineers' estimates and the awarded contracts must be correctly typewritten and numerous copies made to be placed on the desks of executives in the various departments concerned; the credit men and the financial controllers also demand that their records be available at all times and in readable form; the record books must of necessity be in charge of those with an adequate training in accounting, in practically every case, such essential work is done by those who have been trained in some reliable business college.

In Loving Memory

MOON — In cherished, loving memory of our darling and only son, Ashton, who was so tragically killed, February 13th, 1941, aged 12 years and 1 week.

No pain was left on his little heart,
No fear had not entered there;
An innocence slept sweetly on
That pale, white brow, so fair.

He was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay;
And so God's Holy Angel bore
Our darling Ashton away.

Sweet little Ashton, light of the home
Taken so early, is beckoning come;
Gone with the angels to that fair clime,
Waiting for mother and daddy, coming some time.

Goodnight little son, sometime we'll understand.

So sadly and deeply mourned by
MUM AND DADDY.

TAMWORTH BOY WRITES FROM ENGLAND

The following interesting letter was received recently by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walters, Tamworth, from their son, Tommy, who is with the Glengarry Highlanders in England.

Tuesday, January 6, 1942.
Dear Mother and Dad:
I thought that I would drop you a line to let you know that I received your very nice Christmas box.
Since I last wrote you I have moved again and am now in a boarding school along with my platoon. There are six of us in our room and are very comfy. We have also a piano which we get a great deal of pleasure from. We are all just one big happy family. You know: "What's yours is mine and what's mine is my own." We are living pretty high-te-day as three of the boys got parcels from home and we all had a big feed. I am enjoying a good cup of Canadian coffee as I am writing this letter. The coffee we get over here isn't up to much and is very scarce.
I received 300 cigarettes from the Ladies' Orange Lodge and also 300 from the Red Cross. I will write them both to thank them. I have tried all over town to get thank-you cards, but couldn't get any. I think a letter would be just as nice.
I hope you have had a very nice Christmas as I had over here. We had turkey and plum pudding for dinner. We also had a pint of beer to wash it all down. I'm sorry to say that the kids in our district were not as lucky as Father Christmas, as they call him, never paid much of a visit. A lot of the boys gave them Canadian chocolate bars and they were very pleased. I gave two kids each a bar and they were so delighted that they run home.
Well I believe that I will go to the capital of Wales on my next leave as they say you can get lots to eat there and as you know, the army travels on its stomach, and that is the way I like to travel. We also get 48 hours leave anytime that we wish, but I believe I will save mine until my nine-days leave comes up. It is very expensive for eats over here. We can't even go to shoot nine pheasants when the six of us plan to have for supper. There age a great many pheasants around where we are and we will shoot them as often as possible. Our rifles aren't any too good for hunting, and we have to be very careful how we shoot them.
I am anxiously waiting for the cigarettes that you sent me as my smoking is getting very low.
Well, I must close now as it is supper time. I hope this letter finds you and Dad in the very best of health and that the war has not slowed down the haircutting business.
Love to all,
Tommy Watters.
P.S.—Did you hear me speak over the radio. If you did, please let me know.

R. B. Thompson Died Saturday Evening After Day's Illness

The people of Napanee and the countryside were shocked to hear of the death on Saturday night of Robert Bertram Thompson, a member of the firm of Thompson Bros., who, for the past 23 years have carried on a grocery business on the Napanee Market Square.
Mr. Thompson had been at business as usual on Friday, but early Saturday morning he was taken ill with angina pectoris. Later in the afternoon he appeared some better, but about 9.30 p.m., passed away following another attack.
The late Mr. Thompson was a man who was held in the highest esteem. He has a host of friends and business acquaintances. He was endowed with a very pleasing personality and had a reputation for fair dealing and uprightness in all his relationships. He was naturally quiet in his manner and found his main interest in his business, his family, his lodges and the Church.
He was born 64 years ago in the Township of Richmond and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robt. S. Thompson, who at the time of his birth resided at the farm now known as the Brandon farm. Later the family moved to the Napanee-Road and from there 23 years ago Mr. Thompson and his older brother, Mr. John Wood Thompson, came to Napanee and opened the Grocery business.
Mr. Thompson was a member of Union Lodge No. 9, A. F. & A.M., and was very active in Argyll Lodge I.O.O.F. He was a past Chief Patriarch of the Encampment and a member of the Rebekah Lodge. For years he was a member of Grace United Church where he was on the Church Board, taking an active interest in all the affairs of the Church.
He leaves his wife, formerly Beatrice Olmstead; four daughters, Marjorie, Mrs. Merle Denison, Selby; Carlo, Mrs. Arnold Hoover, Napanee, Marion, Mrs. (Capt.) W. A. Sharon, Quebec City, Jetta, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Scarborough, and one son, Sgt. Maurice Thompson, of Selby Borden. Besides his brother, John Wood Thompson, he also is survived by one sister, Mrs. Robt. Richardson, Sydenham. He was predeceased by three sisters, Miss Mary Jane Thompson, Mrs. Charles McCreer and Mrs. Frank Smith and one brother, James A. Thompson.
His funeral was conducted by Rev. C. D. McLellan at Grace United Church on Tuesday afternoon. The pall bearers were: Messrs. R. S. Wales, J. F. Coakwell, J. M. Graham, Harmon Pringle, F. B. Elliott and Wellington Sills.

bond is not transferable if sold without the written consent of the party whose name is written on the bond. The interest coupons are payable to the bearer and may be cashed in the usual way by presenting at a bank when due.

3 THE FULLY REGISTERED BOND is registered in Ottawa, both as to principal and interest and does not carry any interest coupons, the interest being paid each six months when due by a cheque mailed direct to the owner, from Ottawa. Similarly, when the bond itself falls due it is paid by cheque direct from Ottawa. The fully registered bond is transferable only on the written consent of the owner.

WHAT IS THE SECURITY BEHIND EACH BOND? How do you know that the interest will be paid regularly and that the face value of the bond will be repaid to the purchaser or holder on the date promised.
All the wealth of Canada and its people is the security. It is a direct and binding Government obligation. During and immediately after the World War of 1914-1918, over two billion dollars of Dominion Government bonds were purchased by Canadians and others. Every one of those bonds, so issued paid half-yearly interest promptly and the principal or face amount was promptly paid when due.

WHO CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS.
Any person with $50 or more. The bonds will be available in amounts of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and upward.

IF A PURCHASER REQUIRES MONEY, CAN HE SELL HIS BONDS BEFORE THEY BECOME DUE?
Yes, he can sell his bonds at any time through a bank or an investment dealer or broker.

WHO ARE LARGE BUYERS OF VICTORY BONDS?
Banks, Life Insurance Companies, Fire Insurance Companies, Trust Companies and other financial institutions buy large amounts of Victory Bonds because they have found them safe investments for money which has been entrusted to them. In addition, many individuals buy large amounts. As an example, reports of four of our Canadian Life Insurance Companies which are immediately available indicate that these Companies at the end of 1940 had purchased and held Dominion of Canada and Dominion of Canada guaranteed bonds in amounts as follows: $20,965,000; $23,024,000; $24,004,000; $47,170,000. All of our Canadian Life Insurance Companies own large amounts of Dominion Government bonds. In the Victory Loan Campaign of 1918 over one million Canadians bought bonds, and in the Victory Loan 1941 campaign over $525,000,000 of bonds were purchased by over 960,000 individual buyers.

WHY ARE THE PEOPLE OF CANADA BEING ASKED TO BUY VICTORY BONDS AT THIS TIME?
The people of Canada are being asked to buy Victory Bonds because a large amount of money is needed by the Dominion Government to pay for war materials — ships, guns, aeroplanes, tanks, rifle, clothing and food for our sailors, soldiers and airmen who are fighting at home and abroad and for many other things which are required to make sure that our fighting men are equipped to carry on the war until victory is won.

IS IT NECESSARY TO PAY FOR VICTORY BONDS IN FULL AT THE TIME THEY ARE PURCHASED?
Most purchasers pay for their bonds as soon as they are ready for delivery. Special arrangements are usually made, however, for those who find it more convenient to pay for the bonds by regular instalments as their money for this purpose becomes available.

HOW CAN THE BOYS AND THE GIRLS OF CANADA HELP?
By buying Victory Bonds themselves, if they are able to do so, and by telling their parents, brothers and sisters and friends about them. Most of the boys and girls at school are too young to take part in the war but they can assist our sailors, soldiers and airmen and help to assure Victory by making sure that all their friends know about Victory Bonds.

JAPS MAKE LANDING ON SINGAPORE ISLAND BUT DEFENSES HOLD

Situation in Lybia Improves — Russians Continue Successes

WEDNESDAY —
Wave after wave of Japanese bombers hurled high explosives on Singapore and Jap troops were being concentrated at the tip of Malaya for an attempt to storm the fortress.

The Jap air force smashed at Soerabaya, Indies naval base on the Island of Java.

Two more Jap transports were hit in the Strait of Macassar by United States army planes, bringing the total Jap ships sunk or damaged up to 35.

The British were seeking to establish a solid front across Cyrenaica in Libya, against Rommel's advancing Axis forces.

The Russian army continued to advance steadily toward the Dnieper River and was attacking heavily on the Leningrad, Moscow and Kharkov fronts, despite stiffening German resistance.

General MacArthur's forces in the Lower Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines, beat off two more Japanese attempts to land shock troops.

THURSDAY —
General Wavell ordered the defenders of Singapore to hold out at all costs until great British and United States reinforcements arrive. The Japanese remained fairly quiet along the Strait of Johore, apparently disposing their troops for the final attack on Singapore.

The Dutch, lost considerable aircraft and there were numerous casualties at Surabaya, in Batavia, when it was raided by more than seventy bombers.

Heavy fighting continued in Burma, where Indian reinforcements in great numbers were arriving to help the British and United States defenders.

The Russians renewed a fierce drive against Smolensk, but were meeting with stiffer resistance from the Germans.

The Chinese armies were reported getting rapidly into shape to undertake a major offensive against the Japs.

Derna and all but 150 miles of the Libyan coast were lost by British as a result of the two-week offensive of General Rommel's Axis army.

FRIDAY —
The British airfieldsymen at Singapore succeeded in silencing the Jap guns trained on the Island from Johore, across the Straits.

It was feared the Japs might have succeeded in taking Amboina, the second largest Indies naval base, midway between the Philippines and Darwin, Australia. Surabaya, the biggest of the naval bases, was attacked again by Japanese bombers.

In Burma, British and U. S. flyers hurled a murderous rain of bombs, cannon and machine-gun fire on Japanese troops massed in the Pegu sector, 105 miles from Rangoon.

Allied air forces operating in Eastern waters sank or damaged at least 64 Axis vessels of all types in January.

The Russians broke through the German defence positions on both flanks of the Kharkov front in the Smolensk sector and were said to be nearing Smolensk and Kharkov.

The Axis African army was believed to be within fifty miles of Tobruk, after retiring from the British back some 169 miles since the Germans and Italians reoccupied Benghazi.

SATURDAY—
Singapore continued to resist heavy air attacks from the Japanese and knocked out battery after battery of Jap guns across the Strait of Johore.

The Japs increased their hold on Borneo's eastern coast by occupying Semarinda.

The R. A. F. made widespread attacks on German columns in Libya which are now about fifty miles from Tobruk.

The Soviet army was reported to be meeting stiffer resistance from the Germans, who were being reinforced by air-borne troops.

MONDAY—
The Japanese claimed they had succeeded in landing on Singapore Island early Monday morning. They established themselves early on Sunday on Palau Ubin Island in the Strait of Johore.

The British defenders in Burma stopped the Japanese along the Salween River.

Surabaya in the Dutch East Indies, the only naval base remaining fully available to the Allies, was again heavily attacked by the Japanese Air Force.

The Japanese apparently had launched an all-out attack on the United States defenders of Bataan, in the Philippines.

The British checked the advance of the Germans across Libya at the distant approaches of Tobruk.

Heavy fighting was reported in all sections of the Russian front with the most intense action northwest of Moscow, beyond Kalinin, and in the south of the Donets Basin.

TUESDAY —
The Imperial British line, breached by strong Japanese forces on a 10-mile stretch of Western Singapore Island, reformed and counter-attacked in a supreme effort to cast out and destroy the invaders. The commander of the British, Maj-General Bennett, declared the situation was well in hand.

British forces, aided by Chinese and Indian reinforcements stabilized their Burma front along the Salween River and were holding the Japanese in check, 100 miles from Rangoon, their major objective.

The United States defenders of Bataan, in the Philippines, stopped a renewed Japanese assault.

The British in Libya continued to stabilize their line after a 350-mile retreat and returned to offensive tactics.

The Russians hurled the Germans back at both ends of the 1,300-mile front. The Soviet forces occupied the eastern suburbs of Rzhev, the Northern anchor of the German Moscow front.

Official Board Meeting Bay Pastoral Charge

The Official Board of the Bay Pastoral Charge met in regular session at Bethany United Church with a representative attendance. The Rev. A. C. McCallum presided and Mr. James E. Robertson assumed his office as Recording Steward. Following devotional exercises conducted by the pastor, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were duly adopted. The statistical report as submitted, revealed a year of steady progress. It was pointed out that all financial obligations had been met, including an increase in givings to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, as compared with last year. The secretary reported eight deaths during the year including six active members of the church. A standing vote of sympathy was extended to the bereaved and prayer was offered by the minister.
James E. Robertson, who has been Recording Steward for the past twenty-eight years, was unanimously re-elected for another year and was thanked for his efficient service. Clair Sexsmith was again chosen as Lay Representative to Presbytery of Conference.
Following discussion, it was unanimously agreed that in view of daylight saving coming into effect on February 9th, the services on the circuit would be held at 11:00 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 8:00 p.m. (D.S.T.).
The Rev. A. C. McCallum was tendered a vote of appreciation for the work of the past year and unanimously invited to continue his past, while another year. In acceptance of this invitation, Mr. McCallum thanked the congregation for their [illegible] during a difficult year and asked their continued co-operation.

The ladies of Bethany served a delicious lunch. Mr. Robertson, on behalf of the Board, tendered a vote of thanks.

BUSINESS COLLEGE CHAT
"Company Signs Contract"

Behind these frequent announcements there are usually long periods of investigations, negotiations and organization, matters necessary the writing of large volumes of correspondence which must be accurately and neatly done and properly filed.

The engineers' estimates and the awarded contracts must be correctly typewritten and numerous copies made to be placed on the desks of executives in the various departments concerned; the credit men and the financial controllers also demand that their records be available at all times and in readable form; the record books must of necessity be in charge of those with an adequate training in accounting. In practically every case, such essential work is done by those who have been trained in some reliable business college.

Our school, established in 1883 —with its ample space, modern equipment, and its competent, experienced teachers—is an ideal place in which to obtain a business training. Day and evening classes.

In Loving Memory

MOON — In cherished, loving memory of our darling and only son, Ashton, who was so tragically killed, February 13th, 1941, aged 12 years and 1 week.

No stain was left on his little heart,
Sin had not entered there;
An immense slept sweetly on
That pale, white brow, so fair.

He was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay;
And so God's Holy Angel bore
Our darling Ashton away.

Sweet little Ashton, light of the home
Taken so early, is beckoning come;
Gone with the angels to that fair clime,
Waiting for mother and daddy, coming some time.

Goodnight little son, sometime we'll understand.

So sadly and deeply mourned by
MUM AND DADDY.

TAMWORTH BOY WRITES FROM ENGLAND

The following interesting letter was received recently by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Watters, Tamworth, from their son, Tommy, who is with the Glengarry Highlanders in England.

Tuesday, January 6, 1942.

Dear Mother and Dad:

I thought that I would drop you a line to let you know that I received your very nice Christmas box.

Since I last wrote you I have moved again and am now in a boarding school along with my platoon. There are six of us in our room and are very comfy. We have also a piano which we get a great deal of pleasure from. We are all just one big happy family. You know—"What's yours is mine and what's mine is my own." We are living pretty high to-day as three of the boys got parcels from home and we all had a big feed. I am enjoying a good cup of Canadian coffee as I am writing this letter. The coffee we get over here isn't up to much and is very scarce.

I received 200 cigarettes from the Ladies' Auxiliary Lodge and also two from the Red Cross. I will write them both to thank them. I have tried all over town to get thank-you cards, but couldn't get any. I think a letter would be just as nice.

I hope you have had a very nice Christmas as I had over here. We had turkey and plum pudding for dinner. We also had a pint of beer to wash it all down. I'm sorry to say that the lads in our district were not as lucky as Father Christmas so they call him, never paid much of a visit. A few of the boys got some Canadian chocolate bars and they were very pleased. I note that Lake ears ha hat and they were delighted that they got one.

Well I believe that I will now say the capital of Wales—so we are leaving there and as you know, the army travel on its stomach, and that is the way I like to travel. We only get 48 hours leave anytime that we wish, but I believe I will stay around until my time-leave leave comes. It is very expensive for every one to visit them as here and they were in Canadian money and worth $2.00 when it comes to spending it.

Mother I am with a very good bunch or boys and have been very good over here. I am only with my own platoon and we are with the same ones from the rest of the battalion. As to mention something about the weather, I have been here in very good weather especially through Christmas week. I'm sorry to say that the weather over here is very poor. We have a great deal of rain, and about every other day there is a heavy fog. I have had a few weeks leave over. You would be surprised though to see the beer over here as it is very different from the Canadian article. You can't get it in your shirt sleeves in the afternoon. Coffee is a little finer in quality.

I have not seen Arth as I hope to before I leave for [illegible] I am glad that he is getting along fine. I am glad that you got the radio in and also the [illegible] that you are getting along fine with it. You and the girls must have great pleasure around there now and we will share them also before the piano. Our [illegible] pay to read for hunting and we have to be very careful in reserve them.

I am supposed to get 50 cigarettes that you sent me in my smoking is getting very low.

Well, I must close now as it is supper time. I hope this finds you and Dad in the very best of health and that the war has not scored death in the home to-date.

Love to all.

Tommy Watters.

P.S.—Did you hear the broadcast on the radio. It was real good.

The people of Napanee and the countryside were shocked to hear of the death on Saturday night of Robert Bertram Thompson, a member of the firm of Thompson Bros., who, for the past 23 years, has carried on a grocery business on the corner of Mill and Dundas streets.

Yes, he can sell his bonds at any time through a bank or an investment dealer or broker.

WHO ARE LARGE BUYERS OF VICTORY BONDS?

Life Insurance Companies, Fire Insurance Companies, Trust Companies and other financial institutions are the large amounts of Victory Bonds which they have found they have to invest their money which they have entrusted to them. In addition many individuals buy large amounts of Victory Bonds as reports of our Canadian Life Insurance Companies which are immediately available show. One Company paid as the end of 1940 had purchased Victory Bonds of the Federal Government of Canada, and Dominion of Canada guaranteed bonds in amounts as follows: $30,000,000; $24,000,000; $47,000,000; $7,000,000. All of our Canadian Life Insurance Companies own large amounts of Victory Bonds. The Victory Loan Campaign in the Province of Ontario, Province of Quebec, Province of Nova Scotia, Province of New Brunswick, Province of Manitoba, Province of Saskatchewan, Province of Alberta, Province of British Columbia, Province of Prince Edward Island, Province of Newfoundland, and Province of Labrador, all own large amounts of Victory Bonds.

WHY ARE THE PEOPLE OF CANADA BEING ASKED TO BUY VICTORY BONDS AT THIS TIME?

The people of Canada are being asked to buy Victory Bonds because a large amount of money is needed by the Federal Government to pay for war supplies. Aeroplanes, tanks, rifles, clothing and food for our fighting forces and others who are fighting for freedom and justice, and for many other purposes. The Government has to make these payments as they fall due. Many of these payments are required to be made in the next small victory loan.

IS IT NECESSARY TO PAY FOR VICTORY BONDS IN FULL AT THE TIME THEY ARE PURCHASED?

Most purchasers pay for their bonds, by instalments. Credit for deferred instalments are usually made however for those who find it inconvenient to pay for the bonds in regular instalments. Credit must be for the purpose before the loan closes.

HOW CAN THE BOYS AND THE GIRLS OF CANADA HELP?

By buying Victory Bonds themselves, if they are able to do so, and by helping their parents, brothers and sisters and friends about them. Most of the boys and girls at school are helping by making sure that all they can assist our sailors, soldiers and airmen and help to assure victory by making sure that all their friends know about Victory Bonds.

JAPS MAKE LANDING ON SINGAPORE ISLAND BUT DEFENSES HOLD

Situation in Lybia Improves Russians Continue Successes

WEDNESDAY —

Japanese troops made a landing on Singapore Island in force, in spite of the fact that the defenders had destroyed the causeway connecting the island with the mainland. The Japanese crossed the Johore Strait in barges and small boats, and established a beachhead on the island. Fierce fighting followed, but the Japanese were unable to dislodge the defenders.

Meanwhile, the Japanese continued their advance down the Malay Peninsula, and were reported to be within 20 miles of Johore Bahru, on the mainland opposite Singapore Island.

Heavy fighting continued in Libya, where the Germans and Italians were attempting to break through the British lines. The British were reported to be withdrawing slowly, fighting a rear guard action.

In Russia, the Russians were reported to be pressing their attacks on the Leningrad front, and on the Kalinin front, despite the severe cold weather.

General MacArthur's forces in the Lower Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines, were reported to be making progress in their drive against the Japanese.

THURSDAY —

The defenders of Singapore Island are said to be fighting with great fierceness. United States reinforcements have arrived. The Japanese remained fairly quiet across the Strait of Johore, apparently disposing their troops for the final attack on Singapore.

The Dutch lost considerable aircraft and there were numerous casualties at Surabaya, in Batavia, when it was raided by more than seventy bombers.

Heavy fighting continued in Burma, where Indian reinforcements in great numbers were arriving to help the British and United States defenders.

The Russians renewed their fierce drive against Smolensk, but were meeting with stiffer resistance from the Germans.

The Chinese armies were reported getting rapidly into shape to undertake a major offensive against the Japs.

Derna and all but 150 miles of the Libyan coast were lost by Britain as a result of the two-week offensive of General Rommel's Axis army.

FRIDAY —

The British artillerymen at Singapore succeeded in silencing the Jap guns trained on the Island from Johore, across the Straits.

It was feared the Japs might have succeeded in taking Amboina, the second largest Indies naval base, midway between the Philippines and Darwin, Australia. Surabaya, the biggest of the naval bases, was attacked again by Japanese bombers.

In Burma, British and U. S. flyers hurled a murderous rain of bombs, cannon and machine-gun fire on Japanese troops massed in the Paan sector, 105 miles from Rangoon.

Allied air forces operating in Egypt were active, and claimed at least 44 Axis planes destroyed in January.

The Russians, through the Moscow radio, declared that both the Axis armies were being subjected to severe pressure, and that the Germans were losing heavily in their attempts to break through the Russian lines.

SATURDAY —

The British defenders in Burma were making the Japanese pay dearly for every inch they gained.

Singapore Island was still holding out, and Malaya was also holding out.

Sumatra, in the Dutch East Indies, the only naval base remaining fully available to the Allies, was again heavily attacked by the Japanese Air Force.

The Japanese apparently had launched an all-out attack on the United States defenders of Bataan, in the Philippines.

The British checked the advance of the Germans across Libya at the distant approaches of Tobruk.

Heavy fighting was reported in all sections of the Russian front with the most intense action northwest of Moscow, beyond Kalinin, and in the south of the Donets Basin.

TUESDAY —

The Imperial British line, breached by strong Japanese forces on a 10-mile stretch of Western Singapore Island, reformed and counter-attacked in a supreme effort to cast out and destroy the invaders. The commander of the British, Maj-General Bennett, declared the situation was well in hand.

British forces, aided by Chinese and Indian reinforcements stabilized their Burma front along the Salween River and were holding the Japanese in check, 100 miles from Rangoon, their major objective.

The United States defenders of Bataan, in the Philippines, stopped a renewed Japanese assault.

The British in Libya continued to stabilize their line after a 250-mile retreat and returned to offensive tactics.

The Russians hurled the Germans back at both ends of the 1,500-mile front. The Soviet forces occupied the eastern suburbs of Rzhev, the northern anchor of the Germans' shattered Moscow front.

Official Board Meeting Bay Pastoral Charge

The Official Board of the Bay Pastoral Charge met in regular session at Bethany United Church with a representative attendance. The Rev. A. C. McCallum presided and Mr. James E. Robertson assumed his office as Recording Steward. Following devotional exercises conducted by the pastor, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, which were duly adopted. The statistical report as submitted, revealed a year of steady progress. It was pointed out that all financial obligations had been met, including an increase in givings to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, as compared with last year. The secretary reported eight deaths during the year including six active members of the church. A standing vote of sympathy was extended to the bereaved and prayer was offered by the minister.

James E. Robertson, who has been Recording Steward for the past twenty-eight years, was unanimously re-elected for another year and was thanked for his efficient service.

Clair Beamish was again chosen as Lay Representative to Presbytery of Conference.

Following discussion, it was unanimously agreed that in view of daylight saving coming into effect on February 9th, the services on the official board will be held at 11:00 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 8:00 p.m. (D.S.T.).

The Rev. A. C. McCallum was tendered a vote of appreciation for the work of the past year and unanimously invited to continue his pastorate another year. In acceptance of this invitation, Mr. McCallum thanked the congregation for its support during a difficult year and expressed their continued co-operation.

The ladies of the church served a delicious lunch in the basement on behalf of the congregation.

ST. PATRICK'S CH. SOCIAL EVENING

Considering bad road conditions throughout the country there was a fairly good attendance at the social evening held in the Napanee Town Hall on Monday evening, under the auspices of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Parish.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing progressive euchre, for which the prizes were won by Mrs. Phillip Coathup, Mrs. Ray Joyce, Mr. H. Thompson and Mr. A. Macdonnel.

During intermission, refreshments were served, and the drawing for the door prize, won by Mrs. A. Ruttan was made.

Music for the dance was supplied by the Arc's Orchestra.

Little Joyce was making out the list of guests for her party. "Don't forget the Johnson twins," said her mother. "I only need ask one," replied Joyce, "cos they're exactly alike."

Two Minor Accidents In Napanee

About 1.30 p.m., on Monday, a collision occurred between two cars near Vine's Corners, causing damage to the fenders and running boards of both cars. A car driven by Miss Mabel Hughes, of Picton, being driven West skewed when the rose struck a snow bank and crashed into a car driven in the opposite direction belonging to Delbert Vancey, Picton. No charges were laid. Miss Hughes, a trained nurse was conveying a gentleman in the hospital and Mr. Harvey was on his way to a funeral.

On Saturday evening a crash occurred at the intersection of Bridge and Centre Streets between a car driven by Frank R. Hughes, Deseronto, and the Napanee Cleaners Light Delivery Truck, driven by Reg. Vanalstine. Hughes, who was driving south on Centre Street, failed to see the truck approaching from the West on account of the heavy snow storm. Both vehicles were damaged about the fronts.

OBITUARY

MORLEY GARRISON LAKE

A sudden gloom was cast over the entire Morven community early on Saturday morning, January 31st, 1942 when Morley Garrison Lake, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lake of Morven, was instantly killed. The fatality which he was driving was struck by the Canadian National westbound flyer at the Belleville Road crossing, just one mile north of Napanee.

The late Morley Lake was in his twenty-second year. He was born in the community in which he lived, and had resided there with the exception of four years spent in Oshawa, with his parents.

He was a prosperous young farmer, well known, highly respected, and was loved by all. He was a member of Morven United Church, and the Young People's Union.

A large number of sympathizing relatives and friends attended the funeral. The beautiful floral tributes upon the casket and those carried by Messrs. Bryce Garrison, Gerald Garrison, Howard Hawley, attested their bare tribute to the deep regard in which deceased was held.

The impressive service was conducted in the Morven Brick Church by the pastor, Rev. Harry Atkinson, assisted by Rev. Father Delin of Ivanhoe, a former pastor. A duet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. George Pralick. The hymns were "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus".

Besides his sorrowing parents, he leaves to mourn his loss and cherish his memory one brother, Wilfred, with whom he was in partnership, also his sister-in-law, Helen; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch. Garrison, of Napanee, and Mrs. Frank Lake of Morven.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Lynne Perry, Ray Lasher, Ross Lasher, Bob Robertson, Claude Gratz, and Howard Grooms. Interment was made at Morven Cemetery, following the funeral service.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, FEBRUARY 15TH, 1942

"THE HEALING MINISTRY OF JESUS"

Lesson Text: Mark 2:1-12

In last Sunday's lesson Jesus was at Capernaum. He then made a tour of Galilee, preaching and healing. He is now back again in Capernaum. This city was now his home; for there, in all probability living there with His mother and His brothers. Of His work in Galilee word has reached his home town before his arrival, so when he got there, people who needed the healing touch of The Great Physician, crowded to His home. There is nothing about which people are so concerned as their health. Only let a new medical discovery be announced and people hasten to avail themselves of it. Only let some doctor achieve some reputation or success and hundreds will wend a path to his door. Dr. Locke, who died last week in Williamsburg, attracted people from all over the Continent because of his ability to cure diseases by a new method.

There was a great crowd at the home in Capernaum that evening. It looked almost hopeless for any man those in the very forefront of the crowd to get near Him. But some friends of a sick man were not to be denied an interview. They climbed on the roof of the house, tore off part of it, and let their friend down by means of ropes. That is the sort of friends to have. It is easy enough to be friendly to people who are healthy or wealthy, or in positions of influence or power, but it is quite a different matter when a person loses health and position. The real test of friendship is the willingness of men and women to remain steadfast in loyalty and devotion during days of adversity, and illness.

These men were not only loyal to their friend, but they did everything in their power to help him. They went so far as to open the roof of the house in which Jesus was with His family and to this friend down through the hole they made. It would be pretty hard to get that for friendship. They did what they could. We are justified in assuming that the sick man and his friends belonged to the poorer class in the community, otherwise they would have been able to pay for a conveyance. But that is true to form. Jesus had compassion on the underprivileged. He knew their problems. He himself was a member of a low family. He appreciated their difficulties and their problems. Christ founded His Church on the poor. It was to the dispossessed, the sorrowing, the slaves, women and children, that Jesus appealed. It was out of that group that the church sprung. Too often in the history of the Church that has been overlooked. Does the Church today cater to the rich, and neglect those to whom Jesus brought the real message? That is something which might well be discussed in a Sunday School class.

Jesus spent much of His time healing physical diseases and when the friends let down the man sick of the palsey he turned and said 'My son thy sins are forgiven.' It was the general belief that all sickness was a result of sin, and in forgiving sin, the conditions for another can cause disease. Our mental institutions and various asylums are full of cases of diseased but abundant testimony to this and yet we know well enough that polluted water will give typhoid, and contamination will bring measles, mumps, and other maladies. There are many that those in the very forefront of the crowd to get near Him. But some friends of a sick man were not to be denied an interview. Mr. McNeill was born in Clarkeville, the original Napanee, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McNeill, who were among the earliest inhabitants of the town. He spent all his life in Napanee where he engaged in the business of upholsterer. He was well known to a large circle of friends and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

He is survived by one son, Harry, one daughter, Miss Marie of New York City, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Davern. He was predeceased, seventeen years ago by his wife, formerly Mary Ann Barrett, and by one brother, Thomas, who died many years ago.

His funeral was conducted at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, of which he had been a life-long devoted member, by Dean E. M. Leacy, on Monday morning, and interment will be made in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Marshall, Terrence Brady, Basil Quinn, Thomas Barrett, E. L. Bedore, John Barrett.

ST. PATRICK'S CH. SOCIAL EVENING

Considering bad road conditions throughout the country there was a fairly good attendance at the social evening held in the Napanee Town Hall on Monday evening, under the auspices of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Parish.

The early part of the evening was given in playing progressive euchre in which the prizes were won by Mrs. Philip Cowling, Mrs. Ray Sloan, Mr. H. Thompson and Mr. A. Mc. Daniel.

During the intermission refreshments were served, and a song by the quartette won by Mrs. A. Ritton was much appreciated.

Music for the dance was supplied by Acel's Orchestra.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON. FEBRUARY 15TH, 1942

"THE HEALING MINISTRY OF JESUS"
Lesson Text: Mark 2: 1-12

In last Sunday's lesson Jesus was at Capernaum. He knew made a tour of Galilee, then returned to Capernaum. He is now back again in Capernaum. This city was now his home. He was, in all probability living there with His mother and brothers. The news of His work in Galilee would has reached his home town before his arrival so there he got the first work with the sick and the healing touch of The Great Physician crowded to His home. There is nothing about which people are so concerned as their health. Only let a new medical discovery be announced and people have to stand themselves of it. Only let some doctor achieve some outstanding success and hundreds will wear a path to his door Dr. Locke, who died last week in Toronto, had patients and people from all over the Continent because of his ability to cure diseases by a new method.

There was a great crowd at the home in Capernaum that evening. It looked almost hopeless for any one than those in the very forefront of the crowd to get near Him. But the friends of a sick man were not to be denied an interview. They climbed on the roof of the house, tore off part of it, and let their friend down by means of ropes. That is the sort of friends a man has. It is easy enough to be friendly to people who are healthy or wealthy, or in position or influence or power, but it is quite a different matter when a person loses health and position. The real test of friendship is the willingness of men and women to remain steadfast in loyalty and devotion during days of adversity, and illness.

These men were not only loyal to their friend, but they did everything in their power to help him. They went so far as to open the roof of the house in which Jesus was with His family and let this friend down through the hole they made. They would be pretty hard to beat that for friendship. They did what they could. We are not assuming or saying that the sick man and his friends belonged to the poorer class in the community, otherwise they would have been able to pay for a conveyance. But that is true to form. Jesus had compassion on the underprivileged. He knew their problems. He himself was a member of a low family. He appreciated their difficulties and their problems. Christ founded His Church on the poor. It was to the dispossessed, the sorrowing, the slaves, outcasts and children that Jesus appealed. It was out of that group that the church sprang. Too often in the history of the Church that has been overlooked.

Two Minor Accidents in Napanee

About 1.30 p.m., on Monday, a collision occurred between two cars near Vine's Corners, causing considerable damage to the fenders, running boards of both cars. A car driven by Miss Mabel Hadlow of Portsmouth, being driven West cleared when the lane struck a snow bank and crashed into a car driven in the opposite direction belonging to Delbert Harvey, Picton. No charges were laid. Miss Hadlow, a trained nurse, is employed by a gentleman in the local hospital and Mr. Harvey was on the way to a funeral.

On Saturday evening a crash occurred at the intersection of Bridge and Centre Streets, between a car driven by Frank B. Hinchey, Tamworth, and the Napanee Creamery Light Delivery Truck, driven by Reg. Vanalstine. Hinchey was proceeding south on Centre Street, and failed to see the truck approaching from the West on account of the heavy snow storm. The truck was slightly damaged also.

EXECUTIVE OF THE W. M. S. BELLEVILLE PRESBYTERIAL CONVENED IN BRIDGE ST. CHURCH, BELLEVILLE

The executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the Belleville Presbyterial convened in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, on Thursday, January 29th, 1942, with Mrs. F. L. Hooper, Presbyterial president, in the chair.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. George Finlay, whose topic was "Be still and Know that I am God." In an inspiring address she said that we must take time to know God and to do His work. Just as a whole ship will suffer from one broken rivet, so will missions suffer if one member fails to do her part.

After welcoming the new officers, Mrs. Hooper called on the different secretaries for reports of the work done during the year.

Mrs. E. E. Osborne, Christian Stewardship secretary reported a decrease in membership, but a gradual increase in giving, during the year.

The supply secretary, Miss Mac Hawley, said that wonderful boxes had been received, and were packed and distributed. She asked that more clothing for children be put in the boxes.

Mrs. S. W. Spafford, Community Friendship secretary, reported that 1990 calls had been made on the sick and shut-ins in their homes and 416 on the sick in hospitals. Members also reported calling on strangers coming to a community and reporting their homes to churches.

The Associate Helpers Secretary, Mrs. Doggett, reported 28 societies having associate helpers. The givings from this department amounted to $76.34.

Mrs. Manley Fox reported increased activity in the Temperance and Christian Citizenship department. More petitions had been sent to the Government regarding the restriction of the sale of alcoholic beverages than ever before. She said that temperance, social welfare, social motherhood and world peace was the fourfold work of this department.

The report of the Mission Band secretary, Mrs. A. McCreary, showed that one new Band had been organized during the year, but that three had disbanded, causing a loss in membership and a decrease in givings.

The Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Nickle, reported an increase of 69 subscriptions to the Missionary Monthly and a decrease of 36 subscriptions to the World Friends.

Mrs. Gordon, Literature secretary, reported that she had visited all the pulpits with a display of literature and that $105.31 worth of missionary and other religious literature had been sold during the year. This included 84 study books and seventy annual reports.

The report of the Press secretary, Mrs. Trevor Armstrong, showed that 1165 items of missionary news had been reported in the local newspapers during 1941.

The report of the Baby Band secretary, Mrs. T. Wazar, was read by Mrs. G. Finlay. This report showed that there are 22 Bands with 383 members.

During the noon recess an appetizing luncheon was served by members of the Auxiliary of Bridge Street Church.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional period in charge of Mrs. Foster, whose theme was "The Greatness of Little Things." The scripture reading was John VI: 1-14. Mrs. Foster said that Jesus uses small things so that great things may result, and that our own small deeds may do great good. Our lives, she said, are made up of little things but the way we do these things should spread the love of Christ throughout the world.

The reports were continued by the Missionary Circle secretary, Mrs. D. Exaver, who said that there were now only nine Mission Circles. Two disbanded during the year but were not a total loss because most of the members graduated into auxiliaries.

The treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Fraser, reported that $12,375 had been remitted to the branch treasurer during the year. This was a decrease of $100 from 1940.

Mrs. M. E. Knox, corresponding secretary, reported 81 auxiliaries in the Presbyterial with a membership of 1895. There were 768 meetings held during the year, when 1391 women met to work study and pray. She reported activity in all departments and said that splendid programmes were being carried out and the worship services from the Missionary Monthly and the study book were being generally used. Many societies reported giving toward special objects.

A discussion followed concerning the need for a missionary - at - large in the northern part of the Presbyterial and it was decided to continue to ask the Dominion Board for a missionary for this area.

The Five - Year Plan was discussed and the members were reminded that special emphasis is being laid on the work among the young people in 1942.

Miss Mac Hawley extended an invitation for the Presbyterial to be held in Trinity Church, Napanee. It was decided to hold the meeting for only one day, April 5th, 1942. A programme committee was formed to make further arrangements for this meeting.

A collection was taken to buy War Savings Stamps to be presented to Bridge Street Church in appreciation of their kindness in loaning the church for the executive meetings.

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

BAY EAST Y. P. U.

Bay East Young Peoples Union held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Card on Monday evening, with a splendid turnout. Preceding the meeting a pot luck supper was served and was enjoyed by all. Mrs. George Chambers presided over the general business. Following the singing of a hymn, the lesson was read by Walter Deck and prayer was offered by Rev. McCallum. Readings of a patriotic nature were read by Miss J. Milligan, Mrs. A. T. Mooney, Mrs. A. Baldwin, Mrs. R. Card, Mrs. J. Lawlor and Al. Clarke.

Miss Jean Milligan was elected secretary in place of Mrs. A. Mitchell. The Rev. M. McCallum conducted a quiz contest as a part of the social activities.

VALENTINE GREETINGS!

Hello Homemakers! It's February, the shortest and often the chilliest month of the year. But it brings us St. Valentine's Day and we may comfort ourselves and our guests with a Valentine party which calls for a dress-up frame of mind and an evening of indoor games.

Hearts set the theme, and red the colour scheme. Refreshments served on tables gaily decorated with red centrepieces and amusing favours will please your guests. Your menu, too, can be planned to carry out the Valentine spirit.

* * *

Here are two menus we think you will like. The dishes are quite easy to prepare and good to eat — they will make your party complete.

LUNCHEON
Wedge Salad and Pineapple Dressing
Seed Rolls
Sweetheart Cakes
Cranberried Pears

LUNCH
Scam
Cheese Crumpets
Red Raspberry Sherbet
Love Birds

RECIPES

Cranberried Pears
Six winter pears.
One cup cranberries
One-quarter cup brown sugar
Half-cup water

Peel and quarter the pears; arrange in a baking dish. Wash and pick over cranberries; pour over pears and sprinkle with the brown sugar. Add water. Cover and bake in an electric oven at 350 degrees, for one hour. Serve hot or cold. Serve with whipped whipped cream. Serves 6.

Scam :

Six pieces of veal (breast)
Two and half cups tomatoes
One cup uncooked rice
Quarter-cup chopped parsnips
Salt and pepper.

Brown the pieces of meat in a skillet pan. Combine rice, tomatoes and parsnips; season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over the meat placed in a greased casserole or baking dish. Bake in an electric oven at 350 deg. for one and one-quarter hours. Serves six.

Sweetheart Cakes :

Two tablespoons baking fat.
Two tablespoons butter.
Two-thirds cup sugar.
One egg.
One and one-half cups flour
Two teaspoons baking powder
One-quarter teaspoon salt
Half-cup milk
Half-teaspoon vanilla

Cream fat; blend in sugar and beat in egg. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and vanilla. Stir quickly but do not beat after flour has been added. Drop by spoonfuls into greased drop cake tins. Bake in an electric oven at 375 degrees for fifteen minutes. Yield 27 small, fluted cakes. Cut a heart-shaped hole from the centre of a piece of writing paper, place it over a cake, spread with soft pink confectioners' icing, lift the paper and leave the stencilled design on the cake.

Red Raspberry Sherbet :

One pkg. raspberry jelly powder
Two cups water
Two cups red raspberries—canned or preserved.
One cup fine sugar
Juice of half an orange
Juice of one lemon

Cook sugar and water together for five minutes. Cool slightly and add the raspberry jelly powder. Dissolve thoroughly. Cool until it begins to thicken. Add berries (put through a sieve), orange and lemon juice. Blend thoroughly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Remove to a chilled bowl and beat until light and fluffy. Pour back into tray and freeze in the electric refrigerator until firm. Serve in sherbet glasses and decorate with a white cocoanut strip moistened and shaped into a lover's knot.

TAKE A TIP :

1 To remove gum from carpet, hold a piece of ice over gum until it is hard enough to remove. Then loosen gum with dull edge of knife.
2 When you wash hardwood floors, add one tablespoon vinegar and one tablespoon furniture polish to the water. Soap makes varnished surfaces and hardwood cloudy.
3 Marks made by moving heavy furniture can be removed by rubbing with a soapy cloth dipped in kerosene.
4 Powdered graphite is better for cylindrical locks than oil. Make graphite by reducing the lead from a pencil to powder. Make a paper funnel, then sift lead into lock and blow carefully.

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. M. C., asks :

"Why do boiled onions look grey instead of white, even when they are just cooked?"

Answer :

Probably you cook them too long or too slowly. Overcooking makes most white vegetables turn dark and lose their fresh flavour. Drop onions into boiling salted water. Add a tablespoon of cooking fat. Turn electric element to medium. Cook them until they are just tender.

Miss J. D. writes :

"What does 'enriched' flour mean? Would you advocate using it for everything?"

Answer :

The new flour is an 'improved' flour. It contains two vitamins—thiamine and nicotinic acid and one mineral — iron. It may also contain Vitamins B2 and D, and calcium and phosphorus, at the miller's option. Read label. Use for baking.

Mrs. B. N. C. writes:

"Please send beef chart and description of named cuts, naming the various cooking methods.

Answer :

We trust that you have received these charts Mrs. C. Would homemakers making application please sign their name in full.

Mrs. E. J. H. asks :

"Is it possible to make a good furniture polish using linseed oil?"

Answer :

Yes. Mix equal parts of RAW linseed oil and turpentine. Apply sparingly. Let stand 5-10 minutes. Rub with a clean soft cloth, with the grain of the wood, until no polish is visible.

EXECUTIVE OF THE W. M. S. BELLEVILLE PRESBYTERIAL CONVENED IN BRIDGE ST. CHURCH, BELLEVILLE

The executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the Belleville Presbyterial convened in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, on Thursday, January 29th, 1942, with Mrs. F. L. Hooper, Presbyterial president, in the chair.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. George Finlay, whose topic was "Be still and Know that I am God." In an inspiring address she said that we must take time to know God and to do His work. Just as a whole ship will suffer from one broken rivet, so will missions suffer if one member fails to do her part.

After welcoming the new officers, Mrs. Hooper called on the different secretaries for reports of the work done during the year.

Mrs. E. Osborne, Christian Stewardship secretary reported a decrease in membership, but a gradual increase in givings through the year.

The supply secretary, Miss Mae Hallowell, said that 1,000 articles had been received, re-packed and distributed. She asked that more bedding for children be put in the bales.

Mrs. S. W. Spafford, Community Friendship secretary, reported that 1,015 calls had been made on the sick and shut-ins in their homes and 770 on the sick in hospitals. Members also reported calling on strangers, coming to communities and opening their homes to soldiers.

The Associate Helpers Secretary, Mrs. Daggett, reported 20 associate helpers. The giving from this department amounted to $70.34.

Mrs. Manley Fox reported increased activity in the Temperance and Christian Citizenship Department. More petitions had been sent to the Government regarding the liquor traffic than ever before. She said that temperance social welfare societies combined and united peace for the fourfold work of this department.

The report of the Mission Band secretary, Mrs. A. McCleary, showed that one new Band had been organized during the year, but that three had disbanded, causing a loss in membership and a decrease in givings.

The Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Noble, reported an increase of 49 subscriptions to the Missionary Monthly and a decrease of 35 subscriptions to the World Friend.

Mrs. Gould, Literature secretary, reported that she had taken all the calls with a total sale of literature that had $160.31 worth of missionary and other religious literature had been sold during the year. This included 61 study books and 10 story mission reports.

Mrs. Fraser, Press secretary, reported that the society had been reported in the press 19 times during 1941.

Mrs. Ferguson, the Babe Band secretary, Mrs. T. Wood was read by Mrs. G. Finlay. This report showed that there are 22 Bands with 385 members.

During the noon recess an appetizing lunch was served in the dining room by the Ladies of Bridge Street Church.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional period in charge of Mrs. Fraser. The theme was "The Greatness of Little Things." The scripture reading was John VI. 5-14. M. Fraser read the Book Notes which claims to that area. Claims may result, and that our own small deeds may be a great good. Our aims, she said, are made up of little things, but the way we do those things should spread the love of Christ throughout the world.

The reports were continued by the Young People's Circle secretary, Mrs. D. Laxier, who said that there were not only nine Mission Circles. Two disbanded during the year, but were not a total loss because most of the members graduated into auxiliaries.

The treasurer, Mrs. F. E. Fraser, reported that $12,375 had been remitted to the branch treasurer-during the year. This was a decrease of $100 from 1940.

Mrs. M. E. Kees, correspondence secretary, reported 81 auxiliaries in the Presbyterial with a membership of 1,900. There were 760 meetings held during the year when 1,005 women met to work study and pray. She reported visits to all the auxiliaries and said that splendid programmes were being carried out and the worship services were up to date. Monthly and the study book were being generally used. Many societies reported giving toward special objects.

A discussion followed concerning the need of organizing a new Circle in the northern part of the Presbyterial and it was decided to continue to ask the Dominion Board for a missionary for this area.

The Five - Year Plan was discussed and the following officers were elected that special emphasis is being laid on the work among the young people for 1942.

Miss Mae Hawley extended an invitation for the Presbyterial to be held in Trinity Church, Napanee. It was decided to hold the meeting for the same day, June 5th, 1942. A programme committee was formed to make further arrangements for this meeting.

A collection was taken to buy War Savings Stamps, to be presented to Bridge Street Church in appreciation of their kindness in loaning the church for the executive meetings.

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

BAY LAST Y. P. U.

Bay East Young People Union held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Card on Monday evening, with a splendid turnout. Preceding the meeting a pot luck supper was served and was enjoyed by all. Mrs. George Chambers presided over the general business. Following the singing of a hymn, the lesson was read by Walter Dyck and prayer was offered by Rev. McCallum. Readings of a patriotic nature were read by Miss J. Milligan, Mrs. A. T. Mooney, Mrs. A. Baldwin, Mrs. R. Card, Mrs. J. Lawlor and Al. Clarke.

Miss Jean Milligan was elected secretary in place of Mrs. A. Pitcher. The Rev. M. McCallum conducted a quiz contest as a part of the social activities.

VALENTINE GREETINGS!

Hello Homemakers! It's February, the shortest and often the chilliest month of the year. But it brings us St. Valentine's Day and we must comfort ourselves and our guests with a Valentine party which calls for a "dress-up" frame of mind and an evening of indoor games.

Hearts set the theme, and red the colour scheme. Refreshments served on tables gaily decorated with red centrepieces and amusing favours will please your guests. Your menu, too, can be planned to carry out the Valentine spirit.

Here are two menus we think you will like. The dishes are quite easy to prepare and good to eat — they will make your party complete.

LUNCHEON

Wedge Salad and Pineapple Dressing
Seed Rolls
Sweetheart Cakes
Cranberried Pears

LUNCH

Scallops
Cheese Crimpets
Red Raspberry Sherbet
Love Birds
Tea

RECIPES

Cranberried Pears
Six winter pears.
One cup cranberries
One-quarter cup brown sugar
Half-cup water

Peel and quarter the pears; arrange in a baking dish. Wash and pick over cranberries; pour over pears and sprinkle with the brown sugar. Add water. Cover and bake in an electric oven at 350 degrees, for one hour. Serve hot or cold. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 6.

Seafood Steam
Six pieces of veal (breast)
Two and half cups tomatoes
One cup uncooked rice
Quarter-cup chopped parsnips
Salt and pepper

Brown the pieces of meat in a skillet pan. Combine rice, tomatoes and parsnips, season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over the meat and bake in a greased casserole or baking dish. Bake in an electric oven at 350 deg. for one and one-quarter hours. Serves six.

Sweetheart Cakes:
Two tablespoons baking fat
Two tablespoons butter
Two-thirds cup sugar
One egg
One and one-half cups flour
Two teaspoons baking powder
One-quarter teaspoon salt
Half-cup milk
Half-teaspoon vanilla

Cream fat; blend in sugar and beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and vanilla. Stir lightly but well. Drop by spoonfuls into greased drop cake tins. Bake in electric oven at 375 degrees for fifteen minutes. Yields 27 small iced cakes. Cut a heart-shaped pattern from a piece of a writing paper, place it over a cake, spread with soft pink confectioners' icing, lift paper and have the stencilled design on the cake.

Red Raspberry Sherbet
One tbsp. raspberry jelly powder
Two cups water
Two cups red raspberries—canned or preserved.
One cup fine sugar
Juice of half an orange
Juice of one lemon

Cook sugar and water together for five minutes. Cool slightly and add the raspberry jelly powder. Dissolve thoroughly. Cool until it begins to thicken. Add berries (put through a sieve), orange and lemon juice. Blend thoroughly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until firm. Remove to a chilled bowl and beat until light and fluffy. Pour back into tray and freeze in the electric refrigerator until firm. Serve in sherbet glasses and decorate with a white coconnut strip moistened and shaped into a lover's knot.

TAKE A TIP:

1 To remove gum from carpet, hold a piece of ice over gum until it is hard enough to remove. Then loosen gum with dull edge of knife.
2 When you wash hardwood floors, add one tablespoon vinegar and one tablespoon furniture polish to the water. Soap makes varnished surfaces and hardwood cloudy.
3 Marks made by leaving heavy furniture can be removed by rubbing with a soapy cloth dipped in kerosene.
4 Powdered graphite is better for cylindrical locks than oil. Make graphite by rendering the lead from a pencil to powder. Make a paper funnel, then sift lead into lock and blow carefully. . . .

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. M. C. asks:

"Why do boiled onions look grey instead of white, even when they are just cooked?"

Answer:

Probably you cook them too long or too slowly. Overcooking makes most white vegetables turn dark and lose their fresh flavour. Drop onions into boiling salted water. Add a tablespoon of cooking fat. Turn electric element to medium. Cook them until they are just tender.

Miss J. D. writes:

"What does 'enriched' flour mean. Would you advocate using it for everything?"

Answer:

The new flour is an improved flour. It contains two vitamins—thiamine and nicotinic acid and one mineral — iron. It may also contain Vitamin B2 and D, and calcium and phosphorus, at the miller's option. Read label. Use for baking.

Mrs. H. N. C. writes:

"Please send beef chart and description of canned cuts, naming the various cooking methods."

Answer:

We trust that you have received these charts Mrs. C. Would home makers making similar inquiries please join their name in list.

Mrs. E. J. H. asks:

"Is it possible to make a good furniture polish using linseed oil?"

Answer:

Yes. Mix equal parts of RAW linseed oil and turpentine. Apply sparingly. Let stand a minute. Rub with a clean soft cloth, with the grain of the wood, until no polish is visible. . . .

The Spirit of The Pioneer Mother Flames Anew Today

THINK BACK to the old days—when Canada was young.

Think of the high courage, the indomitable will of those pioneer women. Within the stockade or in the open field, they toiled—yes, fought—by the side of their men for the safeguarding of everything they held dear.

In the hearts of the women of Canada, this old spirit flames anew today! Gone are the heavy muskets, the log barricades—but the love of freedom, the stubborn resolve to win through at all costs—these things remain unchanged, unchangeable!

Grimly quenching their tears, mothers say "God bless you" to their fighting sons—everywhere young women are serving where duty calls—the women of Canada are bound together in one common cause.

In thousands of Canadian homes, women are revising their family budgets, planning new economies, making extra sacrifices—so that more and more money will be available for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

They know—these women of Canada—that every dollar loaned now means more tanks—more guns—more planes—more ships—more of everything which is needed to smash Hitlerism and bring Peace to all the family hearths of the world.

The Spirit of The Pioneer Mother Flames Anew Today

THINK BACK to the old days—when Canada was young.

Think of the high courage, the indomitable will of those pioneer women. Within the stockade or in the open field, they toiled—yes, fought—by the side of their men for the safeguarding of everything they held dear.

In the hearts of the women of Canada, this old spirit flames anew today! Gone are the heavy muskets, the log barricades—but the love of freedom, the stubborn resolve to win through at all costs—these things remain unchanged, unchangeable!

Grimly quenching their tears, mothers say "God bless you" to their fighting sons—everywhere young women are serving where duty calls—the women of Canada are bound together in one common cause.

In thousands of Canadian homes, women are revising their family budgets, planning new economies, making extra sacrifices—so that more and more money will be available for the purchase of Victory Bonds.

They know—these women of Canada—that every dollar loaned now means more tanks—more guns—more planes—more ships—more of everything which is needed to smash Hitlerism and bring Peace to all the family hearths of the world.

METAL RELICS OF WARS SOUGHT BY SALVAGE OFFICERS

Kingston. — Have you a howitzer, a cannon, a broken-down machine-gun or other war-time metal tucked away somewhere in your attic or basement storeroom? If you have, and you are willing to part with it, you can make a valuable contribution to the national war effort by getting in touch immediately with the Ordnance Officer at Headquarters, Military District No. 3, Kingston.

Canada needs such metals urgently for the manufacture of the tools of war. This was revealed in an announcement released here today from the Department of National Defence, Ottawa. The call is nation-wide and has been made to all military districts throughout Canada.

Local salvage committees or other responsible bodies in the various cities, towns and villages, are asked to prepare a list of all available scrap metal of the nature required, and should contain a full description of the items and where they are located, the name of the present owner or individual who has charge of the items and also whether or not they are willing to relinquish them.

All that is required at the present time, it is pointed out, is information concerning such pieces of metal. Once this information is obtained an inventory will be made and steps will be taken to dispose of them. It is requested therefore, that the articles themselves be held until the donors are notified by the District Ordnance Officer as to the methods of disposal.

No doubt there will be many regrets when relinquishing old cannon and relics of that kind. But the need is urgent.

There will be more than a little satisfaction in the knowledge that familiar monuments from the last war and other campaigns will turn from obsolete, useless, rust-gathering memory chasers into fleet, deadly weapons fitted to modern war requirements.

GIBBARD EMPLOYES 'FAMILY NIGHT' AT SKATING RINK

On Thursday evening, February 12, the Gibbard Furniture Shops had a Family Night skating party at the Napanee Skating Arena, where 200, including employees and their families or friends, had a very enjoyable evening.

A varied programme in which nearly everyone in attendance could have a part, was arranged and entered into with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The first item was a comedy act by Ronald Sexsmith and Robert Wartman which the audience found very amusing. The next item was a game of Broom Hockey, between the Whisks and the Brooms, which was won by the whisks. Two teams of Old-Timers, labelled the Aches and the Groans, caused a great deal of amusement by their efforts to stage a comeback. The Aches won out by a narrow margin. Four teams from various departments in the factory put on exhibition games, which were fairly fast and interesting.

After the hockey games there were races for the children and later free refreshments were served and skating was enjoyed for a short time.

Jack McPherson, impersonating Syl Apps, made a fine host for the evening's fun and a splendid spirit of good fellowship was in evidence throughout the evening.

BEACON FIRES OF FREEDOM

For Centuries Beacon Fires have been a significant part of the pattern of English national life, flashing through wars and border forays, threats of invasion and rejoicing over deliverance. As a matter of fact, right here in Canada, our first inhabitants, the Indians used Beacon Fires for news of every nature.

Mr. Churchill has kindled a symbolic Beacon Fire in England as a part of our Second Victory Loan Ceremonials and here in Canada, Beacon Fires will be lighted in continuity, across the Dominion from East to West, in all communities.

Locally, the ceremony will be of a simple nature. His Worship, Mayor Hall, will light the Beacon at Napanee Town Hall on Friday morning, February 20th, at 11:00 a.m. The Beacon will remain burning throughout the period of the Loan.

The members of the United Church of Canada throughout the Dominion have set an impressive record in knitting and sewing for the Canadian Red Cross Society, it was revealed by Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of evangelism and social service for the United Church. No fewer than 2,048,037 articles were made up to December 31, 1941, by the 1,018 registered war service units of the church. It was reported, including nearly 500,000 pairs of socks and more than 100,000 sweaters.

The work was accomplished, Mr. Mutchmor pointed out, through cooperation with the Canadian Red Cross Society. In addition to work for members of His Majesty's forces, some of the items were for bombed victims, refugees and victims of torpedoed ships.

CITIZENS OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

THE WAR has reached a critical stage. The fate of our Empire and Canada, as a very important part, hangs in the balance. Our duty to our cause is plain; service to our Country must be uppermost in all our hearts.

OUR SECOND VICTORY LOAN Campaign began Monday, February 16th, and one of our County salesmen will call on you. Their job is a difficult and tedious one. Receive them kindly and sympathetically and open your bank books and buy our Victory Bonds to the limit. These Bonds are the most secure and marketable security to us as Canadian citizens, that can be purchased.

DON'T MAKE EXCUSES or argue about non-essentials, but let us all, as CANADIAN patriots, make this campaign a high success. Don't ask someone to do what you should and can do yourself.

Honorary Chairman.
DUANE R. HALL, M.D.,

"RITZIN' THE BLITZ" FEATURES WELL - KNOWN ENTERTAINERS

After its riotous engagement at the Royal Alexandra in Toronto, when capacity audiences greeted this hilarious all-services revue, "Ritzin' the Blitz" will be presented at the Napanee Armouries, February 28th, in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign. Hailed by the metropolitan critics as the smartest and most elaborate war-camp revue of the current conflict, "Ritzin' the Blitz" was packed on the opening night at the Royal Alexandra when civilian theatre-goers, including the Lieutenant-Governor, had their first opportunity of witnessing a laugh-show that has hilariously played army, navy and air force camps throughout Canada.

Many of the men in "Ritzin' the Blitz" enjoyed successful careers on the stage and radio before enlisting and this factor, coupled with wartime camaraderie, ensures a swiftmoving revue that is run off with polished professional precision. Rex Doyle, vocalist with some of the biggest dance bands in the United States prior to his enlisting, is the master of ceremonies and will sing several of the songs he has helped to popularize in recent months. Arthur (Slim) Burgess, who produced his own show in Detroit and Chicago before joining the air force, is noted for his sparkling comedy as are such other outstanding stars as Mel Kray, Syd Bagnall, Bob Barret and Bob Baillie.

Two of the outstanding artists in "Ritzin' the Blitz" are Donn Hudson, the well-known magician and illusionist, and Len Moss from South Africa, who is one of the leading piano-accordion players of the modern theatre. Fresh and funny is the dialogue with which Donn Hudson accompanies his baffling tricks. Len Moss is also outstanding in his playing of Ravel's "Bolero" and deFalla's "Ritual Fire Dance." Perhaps one of the funniest scenes in "Ritzin' the Blitz" is the "Gay Nineties" number by Mel Kray and Bob Baillie as they sing and pantomime their famous "Bicycle Built for Two" sketch.

Songs and sketches in this revue have been graciously contributed by Gene Lockhart, well-known Canadian screen star.

NEXT SUNDAY IS VICTORY LOAN SUNDAY

All Canadians are now being asked to subscribe to the Second Victory Loan, for which the objective of a minimum of $600,000,000 has been set.

The increasing scale of Canada's war effort means that large amounts must be raised to finance it. The rate of increase will be accelerated due to measures needed to meet the new threat on the Pacific Coast.

Although large amounts are being raised through taxation — there still remains a large amount which must be covered by borrowing.

It should be kept constantly in mind that people are not being asked to GIVE this money; they are asked to LOAN their money at interest on the safest and most readily saleable security available in this country.

What sacrifices are we making compared to those being made by our fighting men? The least we can do is to support them by lending our money to carry on the war to Final Victory.

200,000 Canadians fighting abroad will watch for the results of this Campaign. News of this result will reach Canadian prisoners at Hong Kong and elsewhere. Nothing will cheer them more than a heavy over-subscription.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP THE SUCCESS OF THE LOAN?

1 Buy more Bonds than you think you can afford.

2 Have your pen ready to sign on the dotted line when the canvasser calls. Don't wade his time. He has work to do.

3 Discuss the Loan with your friends.

4 Come forward promptly if you are asked to assist in any capacity in making the Loan a success.

THE NEED IS GREAT AND IMMEDIATE. THE TASK IS ONE WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY CANADIAN.

DR. A. H. McGREER GIVES ENLIGHTENING ADDRESS ON QUEBEC SITUATION

Tells of Historical Background of French Canadians

After hearing the address given at the Anglican Laymen's Banquet in the Masonic Hall last Thursday evening by Lieut.-Col. the Rev. H. A McGreer, O.B.E., M.C., Principal of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., the large audience had a better understanding of the mentality of the French Canadians and the reasons for their attitude toward Canada and the Empire. Dr. McGreer made it very clear that French Canadians could not be understood without looking into their history. He expressed great hope for a broader outlook on the part of the French in Canada because of educational reform which is gradually being brought about in the Province of Quebec and was of the opinion that educational reform would be achieved much faster without the interference of English-speaking people in Canada. In his closing remarks Dr. McGreer said: "Our business is to understand the French-Canadian. Our common purpose must have in it to establish in the Dominion a people who believe in God and are convinced that righteousness alone exalteth a nation."

LARGE ATTENDANCE

The banquet was attended by one of the largest crowds in the six years since it became an annual event. C. W. Buchanan, the president of the association, presided for the program following the dinner, which was served and prepared by the women of St. Mary Magdalene's congregation.

Among the guests were members of the town and district clergy, including Archdeacon Coleman and Major the Rev. W. E. Kidd, Kingston, both former vicars of St. Mary Magdalene's Church. Archdeacon Dumbrille, the rector of the church, extended a welcome to the guests, and in his address he impressed on the audience the importance of attending public worship, especially in these days when the spiritual life in the world war are seeking to undermine and exterminate Christianity.

Short addresses were given by W. A. Grange on the Victory Loan, and by K. S. Ham, in the interests of blood donations. Musical numbers were played by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Case and Murray Wilson, Murray Hogarth and Arthur Kimmerly.

Major W. E. Kidd introduced the speaker, Dr. McGreer, who is a Lennox and Addington Old Boy and is

EGGS FOR BRITAIN TO BE POWDERED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Canadian eggs for Britain are to be shipped from Canada in dried powder form instead of in the shell, the Special Products Board stated last week. The change will make no difference in the contract prices for export eggs in 1942, nor in the demand for all the top quality eggs than can be made available for Britain. The bonus of three cents per dozen on grade A eggs to producers will be continued. Exporters will continue to offer eggs to the special products board, but the eggs will be shipped for drying as directed by the board.

Military Cavalcade To Visit Napanee Thurs. Feb. 19

Kingston. — An "Over-the-Top" slogan in the 1942 Victory Loan Drive beginning February 16, has prompted National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, to organize within Military District No. 3 a mechanized column composed of 45 army vehicles, representative of all the latest types in use by the army, and manned by skilled operators. It is hoped that the people in the various centres will take advantage of this opportunity to see for themselves just how their money is being spent to prosecute this war.

Between February 16th and 21st it is expected that the convoy will stop in fifteen of the larger Eastern Ontario centres for sufficient time to allow everyone a chance to see for themselves these mechanized tools of war. There will be well-trained army personnel present to answer all questions regarding the vehicles, their operation and their armament.

The convoy will visit Napanee between 9:00 and 10:00 a.m. Thursday of this week.

Some of the vehicles to be seen will be the latest types of tanks, trucks, Bren gun carriers, field artillery tractors and new types of field pieces and anti-aircraft guns. The tanks and carriers are similar to those in use throughout the Empire.

An interesting addition to the convoy will be the presence of a large contingent of United States Army Infantrymen at some of the stops. The boys from across the border will give a demonstration of army drill as used in their country and will be accompanied by a band. This will give the public an opportunity, not only to see the latest Canadian Army mechanized equipment but also to view the drill and equipment of the United States Infantry soldier. The United States Troops will visit Ottawa, Cornwall, Brockville, Kingston, Napanee, Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterboro, Lindsay.

The British have succeeded in establishing a firm line, fifty miles across the Libyan desert, to halt a further push eastward of the Germans toward Egypt and the Suez Canal.

SATURDAY —

Singapore's defences against the Japs still held on. The defenders stabilized their position and counter-attacked seven miles north of the city.

Heavily reinforced Japanese troops hurled their full might against the Salween River line in the Paan area of southeast Burma on Friday night and fierce fighting resulted. Fresh Chinese troops poured into Burma to join the British defenders.

Dutch troops burned the harbor area of Macassar, capital of Celebes, to prevent its facilities being used by the Jap invaders, who were bearing down on the city from three directions.

The United States defenders under Gen. MacArthur in the Bataan Peninsula of the Philippines, were subjected to heavy aerial bombardment from the Japs.

In Libya the British reported no change in the general situation.

Fear that the three German battleships which escaped from the harbor of Brest might head out into the Atlantic to join other German raiders, was expressed.

The Russian armies reached White Russia on the old frontier with Poland. Soviet submarines destroyed seven more German warships in Arctic waters.

MONDAY—

Announcement of the unconditional surrender of the British defenders of Singapore to the Japs was made on Sunday.

A Japanese invasion fleet attempted to establish a foothold in the prized oil region near Palembang, between Sumatra and the Island of Banka, only 250 miles from Batavia in Java. The attempt was unsuccessful and the oil refineries were destroyed by the defenders while the attempt to land was being made.

Japanese forces attacked from two directions at Thaton, 40 miles northeast of Martaban on the Rangoon railroad, in Burma.

Advance Russian columns were reported nearing the old Polish frontier in a series of lightning thrusts which are undermining the whole German position on the Central front and cutting off the key base of Smolensk.

The Germans were attempting to flank the main British lines before Tobruk in Libya, while at the same time the R. A. F. scored its greatest victory in Libya, when thirty Axis tive bombers and fighters, near El Gazola, were smashed.

TUESDAY —

The Japanese gained another stepping stone in their southward offensive in the East Indies by taking Palembang in Sumatra, a great oil refinery centre, where 30 per cent. of the Dutch East Indies oil is produced. The Dutch, before withdrawing, destroyed property estimated at a value of $100,000,000.

It was feared that the entire garrison of Singapore, about 60,000 men had been lost in the surrender to the Japs.

Two Jap columns, supported by dive bombers and machine - gunning fighter planes, are reported nearing Thaton in Burma in a drive to cut off the Burma Road into China.

As a result of the fall of Singapore the Australian Government is making every possible preparation for an attack by the Japs from sea and air.

The Russians continue their advance and have smashed into Hitler's basic winter defences, where preparations were being made for the spring offensive. Russian troops were said to be closing in on Kharkov and threatened Smolensk with encirclement.

Inconclusive skirmishes between British and Nazi armored columns were reported on a wide Libyan front.

MELVILLE KEAY

Former director of Hart House Theatre and founder of the Toronto Repertory Theatre. Melville Keay is one of the many stars who will be seen in "Ritzin' the Blitz" at the Napanee Armouries, on February 28, when this elaborate all-soldier revue will be presented here in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign.

GIBBARD EMPLOYES 'FAMILY NIGHT' AT SKATING RINK

On Thursday evening, February 12, the Gibbard Furniture Shops had a Family Night skating party at the Napanee Skating Arena, where 200 including employees and their families or friends, had a very enjoyable evening.

A varied programme in which nearly everyone in attendance could have a part, was arranged and entered into with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The first item was a comedy act by Ronald Sexsmith and Robert Wartman which the audience found very amusing. The next item was a game of Broom Hockey, between the Whisks and the Brooms, which was won by the whisks. Two teams of Old-Timers, labelled the Aches and the Groans, caused a great deal of amusement by their efforts to stage a comeback. The Aches won out by a narrow margin. Four teams from various departments in the factory put on exhibition games, which were fairly fast and interesting.

After the hockey games there were races for the children and later five entertainments were served and skating was enjoyed for a short time.

Jack McPherson, impersonating 893 Japs, made a fine host for the evening's fun and a splendid spirit of good fellowship was in evidence throughout the evening.

BEACON FIRES OF FREEDOM

For Centuries Beacon Fires have been a significant part of the pattern of English national life flashing through wars and border forays, threats of invasion and rejoicing over deliverance. As a matter of fact, right here in Canada, our first inhabitants, the Indians, used Beacon Fires for news of every nature.

Mr. Churchill has kindled a symbolic Beacon Fire in England as a part of our Second Victory Loan Ceremonials and here in Canada, Beacon Fires will be lighted in continuity, across the Dominion from East to West, in all communities.

Locally, the ceremony will be of a simple nature. His Worship, Mayor Hall, will light the Beacon at Napanee Town Hall, on Friday morning, February 20th, at 11:00 a.m. The Beacon will remain burning throughout the period of the Loan.

United Church Sets New Mark, Knitting Sewing for Red Cross

The members of the United Church of Canada throughout the Dominion have set an impressive record in knitting and sewing for the Canadian Red Cross Society, it was revealed by Rev. J. R. Mutchinor, secretary of evangelism and social service for the United Church. No fewer than 2,040,037 articles were made up to December 31, 1941, by the 1,018 registered war service units of the church, it was reported, including nearly 500,000 pairs of socks and more than 100,000 sweaters.

The work was accomplished, Mr. Mutchinor pointed out, through cooperation with the Canadian Red Cross Society. In addition to work for members of His Majesty's forces, some of the items were for bombed victims, refugees and victims of torpedoed ships.

Painting Interior of Town Hall

The interior of the Napanee Town Hall is being improved with a coat of paint. At the last meeting of the Town Council, the work was authorized at an expenditure not to exceed $150. Ceilings, walls and woodwork are being given two coats of paint, and when finished the building will present a very clean and attractive appearance.

CITIZENS OF LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

THE WAR has reached a critical stage. The fate of our Empire and Canada, as a very important part, hangs in the balance. Our duty to our cause is plain; service to our Country must be uppermost in all our hearts.

OUR SECOND VICTORY LOAN Campaign began Monday, February 16th, and one of our County salesmen will call on you. Their job is a difficult and tedious one. Receive them kindly and sympathetically and open your bank books and buy our Victory Bonds to the limit. These Bonds are the most secure and marketable security to us as Canadian citizens, that can be purchased.

DON'T MAKE EXCUSES or argue about non-essentials, but let us all, as CANADIAN patriots, make this campaign a high success. Don't ask someone to do what you should and can do yourself.

W. A. GRANGE,
Honorary Chairman.
DUANE R. HALL, M.D.,
County Chairman.

"RITZIN' THE BLITZ" FEATURES WELL - KNOWN ENTERTAINERS

After a previous engagement at the Royal Alexandra in Toronto, where capacity audiences greeted this hilarious all-services revue, "Ritzin' the Blitz" will be presented at the Napanee Armouries, February 28th, in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign. Hailed by the metropolitan critics as the smartest and most elaborate war-camp revue of the current conflict, "Ritzin' the Blitz" was packed on the opening night at the Royal Alexandra when civilian theatre-goers, including the Lieutenant-Governor, had their first opportunity of witnessing a laugh-show that has hilariously played army, navy and air force camps throughout Canada.

Many of the men in "Ritzin' the Blitz" enjoyed successful careers on the stage and radio before enlisting and this factor, coupled with war-time camaraderie, ensures a swift-moving revue that is fun all with polished professional precision. Rex Doyle, vocalist with some of the biggest dance bands in the United States prior to his enlisting, is the master of ceremonies and will sing several of the songs he has helped to popularize in recent months. Arthur (Slim) Burgess, who produced his own shows in Detroit and Chicago before joining the air force, is noted for his sparkling comedy as are such other outstanding stars as Mel Keay, Syd Bagnall, Bob Barret and Bob Bailie.

Two of the outstanding artists in "Ritzin' the Blitz" are Donn Hudson, the well-known magician and illusionist, and Len Moss from South Africa, who is one of the leading piano-accordion players of the modern theatre. Fresh and funny is the dialogue with which Donn Hudson accompanies his baffling tricks. Len Moss is also outstanding in his playing of Ravel's "Bolero" and dePalla's "Ritual Fire Dance." Perhaps one of the funniest scenes in "Ritzin' the Blitz" is the "Gay Nineties" number by Mel Keay and Bob Bailie as they sing and pantomime their famous "Bicycle Built for Two" sketch.

Songs and sketches in this revue have been graciously contributed by Gene Lockhart, well-known Canadian screen star.

NEXT SUNDAY IS VICTORY LOAN SUNDAY

All Canadians are now being asked to subscribe to the Second Victory Loan, for which the objective of a minimum of $800,000,000 has been set.

The increasing scale of Canada's war effort means that large amounts must be raised to finance it. The rate of increase will be accelerated due to measures needed to meet the new threat on the Pacific Coast.

Although large amounts are being raised through taxation there still remains a large amount which must be covered by borrowing.

It should be kept constantly in mind that people are not being asked to GIVE this money, they are asked to LOAN their money at interest on the safest and most readily saleable security available in this country.

What sacrifices are we making compared to those being made by our fighting men? The least we can do is to support them by lending our money to carry on the war to Final Victory.

200,000 Canadians fighting abroad will watch for the results of this Campaign. News of this result will reach Canadian prisoners at Hong Kong and elsewhere. Nothing will cheer them more than a heavy over-subscription.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP THE SUCCESS OF THE LOAN?

1 Buy more Bonds than you think you can afford.
2 Have your pen ready to sign on the dotted line when the canvasser calls. Don't waste his time. He has work to do.
3 Discuss the Loan with your friends.
4 Come forward promptly if you are asked to assist in any capacity in making the Loan a success.

THE NEED IS GREAT AND IMMEDIATE. THE TASK IS ONE WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY CANADIAN.

GOOD RESPONSE IN L. & A. COUNTY TO VICTORY LOAN

Striking back with all its old-time punch Lennox and Addington answered Hitler's and Hirohito's challenge to Democracy. Never before have so many citizens volunteered to do their bit for the Homeland!

All day long Victory Loan Headquarters was besieged with calls from those anxious to loan their last dollar to the cause of freedom. Victory Loan salesmen report that they are being enthusiastically welcomed everywhere.

Among the large buyers in the County, the Gibbard Furniture Shops, Limited, was one of the first to go over the top. Every one of the 132 employees bought Victory Loan Bonds.

The County of Lennox and Addington is fighting back with SONS, GUNS AND DOLLARS.

SCHOOL GIRLS RAISE SUBSTANTIAL SUM LONDON HOSPITAL

A well-arranged and successful tea was held in the N.C.V.I. assembly hall last Thursday, in aid of the London Emergency Hospital for Bombed Victims. All arrangements for the tea were made by the girls of 10A, the third second form in the school, who wished to make a contribution to the very worthy cause. As a result nearly $20.00 was raised and will be forwarded to London.

The assembly hall was attractively decorated with Valentine hearts and cupids, which also were used on the tea table together with red and white tapers in silver holders.

The guests were received by two of the girls of the form, Katherine McPherson and Barbara Johnston, and the tea was taken by Joan Sanzer and Margaret Lount.

Miss Helen A. Grange and Mrs. C. B. Creighton poured tea and the girls of the class assisted in serving. A special refreshment booth, coca cola, ice cream and candy bars were sold to the students.

DR. A. H. McGREER GIVES ENLIGHTENING ADDRESS ON QUEBEC SITUATION

Tells of Historical Background of French Canadians

After hearing the address given at the Anglican Laymen's Banquet in the Masonic Hall last Thursday evening by Lieut.-Col. the Rev. H. A. McGreer, O.B.E., M.C., Principal of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., the large audience had a better understanding of the mentality of the French Canadians and the reasons for their attitude toward Canada and the Empire. Dr. McGreer made it very clear that French Canadians could not be understood without looking into their history. He was impressed great hope for a broader outlook on the part of the French-Canadian because of educational reform which is gradually being brought about in the Province of Quebec. He was of the opinion that educational reform would be achieved much quicker without the interference of English-speaking people in Canada. In his closing remarks Dr. McGreer said: "Our business is to understand the French-Canadian. Our common purpose must have in it no element of hate. Our business also is to see that the Dominion is a people who believe in God and are convinced that only empires alone exalteth a nation."

LARGE ATTENDANCE

The banquet was attended by one of the largest crowds in the six years since it became an annual event. W. Buchanan, the president of the association, presided for the meeting following the dinner which was served and prepared by the women of St. Mary Magdalene's congregation.

Among the guests were members of the town and district clergy, including Archdeacon Colombat, and Major the Rev. W. E. Kidd, Kingston, formerly rector of St. Mary Magdalene's Church. Archdeacon Dumbrille, the rector of the parish, extended a welcome to the guests and in his address he impressed on the audience the importance of a spiritual stewardship which in these days when the attention of the world war are seeking for answers to their problems, is paramount.

Short addresses were given by W. A. Grange on the Victory Loan and by K. S. Ham in the interests of local organizations. Musical items were played by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Case and Marcus Wilson. Marie Bogarth and Arthur Kemmer sang.

Major W. E. Kidd introduced the speaker, Dr. McGreer, who is a Lennox and Addington Old Boy and a

EGGS FOR BRITAIN TO BE POWDERED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Canadian eggs for Britain are to be shipped from now on in dried powder form instead of in the shell, the Special Products Board announced last week. The change will make no difference in the contract prices for export eggs in 1942, nor in the demand for all the top quality eggs than can be made available for Britain. The bonus of three cents per dozen on grade A eggs to producers will be continued. Exporters will continue to offer eggs to the special products board, but the eggs will be shipped for drying as directed by the board.

THE BRITISH SITUATION

It is probably true that in the political life, as in the geographical, distance lends enchantment. How else explain the vehemence and the bitterness with which our public men are attacked for not prosecuting the war vigorously enough. While on the other hand there is an almost complete absence of anything, even bordering on criticism, of those who in Great Britain, determine the Empire's course of action. Little, if any, criticism was ever heard in Canada of the Chamberlain policy, even though as we all know now, it was one of appeasement and evasion. Over the radio and in the British dispatches, word comes of great dissatisfaction with certain features of the war policy. And we, in this country, can gauge the support afforded the British Government largely from the criticism which is levelled at the leaders over there, by the press and general public.

Canada is sending vast materials to Britain, along with hundreds of thousands of her sons. This we willingly and gladly do. But we want to be assured that there is nothing being left undone by the political and military leaders to make effective the total war contribution.

The failure of the British to capture or destroy the three German naval units which steamed up the English Channel from rest to Heligoland, has raised a storm of protest in Great Britain. The Germans knew that the British Navy was probably escorting troops and munitions through the Mediterranean. The weather was propitious. Fog prevented the ships from being seen further than from three to five miles away. It was a risk which the Germans took, and it succeeded. The British and Canadian fliers, torpedo boats and others acquitted themselves well. There can be nothing but the highest praise for their devotion, their skill, their courage, and their fearlessness; and it may be that there is no fault to be found even with the strategists. The British Press, however, thinks differently. The British Press is clamoring for a change in war policy. Public opinion, as expressed in the papers, is demanding that Mr. Churchill give up the Ministry of Defence; let someone else take that, while he, himself, confines his activities to the Premiership.

This suggestion on the part of the British seems like a sensible one. Surely the office of Prime Minister in Great Britain, is sufficiently onerous to require the complete time and energies, even of one so capable and energetic as the Prime Minister. In Germany, many generals and high officials have recently died from heart attacks, either self-induced or suggested by the Gestapo. In Great Britain and the Democracies, epidemic of that sort are not looked on with favour; but the need for a shake-up in military and civil administrative circles, in war-time, is no less necessary in the Democracies than in the Totalitarian States. Hardening of the arteries is a condition not limited by national barriers. If there are those in the British Cabinet who are suffering from these conditions, they might be induced to leave for health reasons, and open the way for more vigorous, more dynamic, more modern and up-to-the-minute men to carry an increasing share of the Empire's responsibility. The set back in the Pacific, in Libya and in the Channel, is forcing the British people to ask whether or not the nation is making the most of its available brains. We also have a stake in the issue and will not be satisfied until we know that everything is being done that is humanly possible to meet the menace which threatens us.

ASSESSMENT

It is passing strange that, in this age which prides itself on being scientific, nothing has been done to place on a scientific basis the method of assessing real estate. Hon. T. B. McQuesten has been making some suggestions which, if carried out, would lift the burden of taxation on real estate. These include a 25-mill ceiling, equalization of assessments and a five-year rotating assessment. Just what this would mean is not quite clear. But that the question has been raised, is hopeful; for up to the present time there is no general policy whereby an owner of property may be assured that he is getting a square deal, as compared to those who own property in another municipality. The assessors are usually men chosen for the task, not because they have any particular qualifications, but because they are available and have some claim on the municipality for work. There is nothing dishonorable or wrong with this; the root of the matter goes much deeper. There should be some uniform method throughout the Province whereby property in one part would not have to be more heavily taxed than in another. That is not to be taken to mean that a house in a city should be taxed at the same rate as a farm in the country; but there should be some uniformity in assessment, so that houses and property in one place should be taxed at the same rate as property of a similar sort in another part.

This would mean, not only new legislation but trained assessors, men or women who knew the legislation and who had been scientifically trained to estimate the value of property and the tax payable. It is true that real estate has to carry a large share of the public expense burden under the present law. It is doubtful whether any new system would be able to lighten that load and transfer it somewhere else. That is not necessarily the most important matter. The important thing is that, as a preliminary stage in the development of a just approach to the problem of real estate taxation, some uniformity be arrived at, and some assurance that the taxes one pays on a house in one town, is as near as possible, equal to that paid on a house in another place of similar conditions. Mr. McQuesten is to be congratulated on opening up this whole issue.

"RITZIN' THE BLITZ"

Every war develops its own perculiar vocabulary. Being a mechanized war, that in which the nations are now engaged has a lot of words and phrases which are perhaps just another way of saying something that has been said in all wars, and among soldiers everywhere. Ritzin' the Blitz is perhaps just another way of saying "Kidding the Troops", or something of the sort. We, in Napanee, have not had the privilege of having soldiers billeted here during this present war, as we had during the war of 1914-1918. We have missed something. During the First World War, there were troops billeted in the Armouries, continually. We saw them marching, we entertained them in our churches and in our homes. We watched them embark. In a word we felt the impact of the soldier life on our town and community in a much more intimate way than we have during the present hostilities.

Among the features of the life of the troops when stationed in Napanee, were the various entertainments they themselves organized and staged. When they were advertised, the whole town turned out and was given a peep behind the scenes or army life, as the soldiers themselves parodied their tasks, exaggerated their duties and, in general poked fun at much of their routine. We've missed that. But we are going to have an opportunity, on Saturday, Feb. 28, to have this deficiency remedied. At the Armouries, a group of soldiers will enlighten the public on military life. It will be lots of fun, for, soldiers engaged in the most serious business in the world, are notorious for the way in which they can laugh at themselves. "Ritzin' the Blitz" has been tried out in Toronto, which is supposed to be a rather critical city, and the play went over well.

Napanee is fortunate to have the opportunity to see this group portray, in humorous fashion, many things we've read about and heard about.

SERVE BY SAVING

We are being forced to save our money these days, in ways that would have been deemed impossible a few years ago. There are fewer ways of spending money than there were even a year ago. Automobiles, tires, gasoline, refrigerators, and hundreds of other commodities which were available in unlimited quantities, are now greatly restricted. And we are informed that other and more drastic restrictions will be enforced in due time. This means that there are fewer ways in which to spend money. Not only so, but there is much more money in circulation than there was a while back. The average family is getting a share of this increased circulation. With more money, and less ways of spending it, the result is that the savings accounts in the banks swell rapidly. In spite of the fact that a very large drain was made on the money in the savings accounts following the War Loan of last year, the money is nearly all back again.

The Government is out to secure, at least another $600,000,000. The money is in the banks. It is the privilege and the duty of everybody, no matter how large or how small their savings account may be, to use it for the purchase of bonds. The Government needs the money to provide the troops with all the necessities of war. The Government pays a liberal interest for the use of the money. There are many people who, because of age, infirmities, or responsibilities, are unable to undertake active participation in the war effort. But they can make their dollars work for them, and, as well, receive interest on the dollars they loan the nation. Dominion Bonds are as safe as dollar bills, and as easily negotiated. It is not necessary to assume that bonds are only for the wealthy. Everybody can purchase a bond. They are in denomination to suit any pocket book. Lennox and Addington has benefited much by increased farm prices, and has had a share in the general prosperity of the country. The Town and County should go well over the top in the present drive.

INDIA AND ENORMOUS RESOURCES REGARDED AS JAPAN'S ULTIMATE GOAL

(Wide World Associated Press)

New York — The moment the Japanese thrust into Burma from their Thailand base, they struck at the land route for their long-planned attack on the wealth of India.

Since the days of their first World War Japan has regarded India as the ultimate goal in the conquest of the Western Pacific. Now the official Tokyo Radio talks of the "inexhaustible treasury" of an assembly of 350,000,000 persons.

India produces a third of the world's manganese and three quarters of its sheet and block mica, two vital elements in modern mechanized warfare.

SECOND IN COTTON OUTPUT

It is second only to the United States in production of cotton, with an average yearly yield of 7,000,000 bales — sufficient to clothe the world's armies. India produces more sugar than any other country, and its supply of fine timber appears inexhaustible.

Within the invader would find a sizeable proportion of the world's cattle population, besides nearly 50,000,000 sheep and goats. Annually the country runs 20,000,000 cattle hides.

Bengal, furthest east of the India Provinces and the first the Japanese would plunge after fighting their way through Burma, produces twice as much jute manufactured goods as the rest of the world. Burlap sacks by the million have come to England to be filled with sand.

Coal is to be found almost everywhere in India, the biggest and finest field being located at Chota Nagpur, adjoining Bengal. Rice, the country's staple food, is grown in overwhelming quantities; tea is one of its biggest exports.

In fact, about the only thing of importance missing from Britain's great Oriental treasure house is oil. And the Japanese in conquering Burma would have gone a little way toward satisfying their needs in that respect. Burma is loadad with lead, tin, and tungsten.

STOREHOUSE OF MATERIALS

Thus, the Japanese in pushing westward toward Mandalay, Calcutta and Bombay are gambling for even greater stakes than in their preliminary assaults on Malay, the Philippines, and the Dutch East Indies.

Possession of the vast country would give the invader only a storehouse of essential raw materials but a tremendous war manufacturing plant as well. India's industry has been stepped up greatly since the present conflict began. Fighting equipment from its plants has come in an ever-growing stream to England and to other fronts.

In the last report, Indian ordnance factories, trade workshops and railway workshops were producing 709 different items of munitions, while 54 firms were making machine tools. Its output of filled shells was 24 times greater than its pre-war capacity, and eight times the number of guns were being produced.

A big programme for building armoured vehicles is well under way, and two types of American warplanes, a trainer and a fighter are coming off India's first assembly lines. India's workmen are shipping everything from bridges to bolts. Its shipyards, are producing scores of minesweepers, subchasers and other small craft for the Royal Indian Navy, which is responsible for the defense of its own coasts and exports. It is estimated that close to 50 per cent. of India's budget has been directed to the war effort.

RANKS NEXT TO ENGLAND

Thoroughly appreciating India's importance to the conduct of the war, as well as the tempting bait it is to the Axis powers, the British have made mighty efforts to protect their prize possession. They have made this their second biggest objective, with only defense of England itself coming before.

Both Italian campaigns against the Italians and Germans were undertaken not so much to prevent the loss of Egypt as to head off an assault on Egypt and the Suez Canal from the Vichy French on Syria for the same reason when the Germans threatened to gain the ascendancy there.

Last summer the British actually transferred their leading general, Sir Archibald P. Wavell, from Egypt to Simla to take command of the Indian Army. At the time there was wide conjecture that General Wavell had been "demoted" because of his disasters at Crete and the Germans' counter-offensive in Libya, but it is clear now that the British simply wanted their biggest man on the biggest job.

ARMY'S EQUIPMENT RUSHED

The Indian Army was being increased at the rate of 1,000 men per day, at last possible speed. From about 250,000 men at the start of the war it will be raised to 1,000,000 men by the end of 1941, exclusive of those fighting abroad. Until his recent appointment as Commander in Chief of the United Nations forces in the Southwestern Pacific war zone, General Wavell prepared India's defenders for the blow now approaching through Burma.

This army of Gurkhas, Pathans, Rajputs and Sikhs will be pounded for the Japanese to meet. It is a tough, disciplined and well equipped force, its valour proved in battle in both wars, from France to the Northwest Frontier. The Indian soldier has shown, in the reports of British officers, "a remarkable aptitude for modern mechanized warfare."

But this is the bright side of the picture. On the other side is the fact that India's millions still are a bewildering divided people, restless under British rule and determined upon that independence which Britain steadfastly refuses to grant.

It does not help that Indian political leaders frequently recall Winston Churchill's having said in Parliament that "it would be monstrous if we were to hand over those millions of human beings to be exploited and harassed by a small, bitter and unrepresentative group of gangs and cliques.

The wonder is, under the circumstances, that India's war effort has reached its present proportions. The answer is that the Indians intensely hate the dictatorships, whereas their long quarrel with the British is more of a family affair, to be softpedaled temporarily for the common good.

200 LANGUAGES SPOKEN

Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of millions of Indians and sharpest thorn in the side of the British for more than twenty years, resigned as leader of the All-India Party Congress and announced last December 20th that his civil disobedience campaign was off for the duration.

Other Indian leaders refused to drop the fight, contending that this was the prime opportunity to force Britain to give India an ironbound promise of Dominion status after the war. Among those who were jailed since war began were Jawaharlal Nehru, President of the India National Congress, now free; three former Presidents, four Prime Ministers of Provinces and eleven ministers.

Censorship is strict. Assembly is forbidden, and all newspaper headlines must be submitted before publication in the sixteen Provinces that comprise British India. These measures are not imposed in the individual Indian States such as Hyderabad, Mysore and Kashmir, because the Princes who rule those rich States are militantly loyal to Britain. The Princes have made large privately gifts to the war fund. Six squadrons of Indian gift planes participated in the Battle of Britain after the disaster at Dunkirk.

One of the greatest barriers to a complete understanding between the British and the Indian people remains the very complexity of the Indians themselves — the fact that they speak more than 200 different languages, the bewildering diversity of their religious beliefs.

There were at last count 239,195,140 Hindus, 77,677,545 Mohammedans, 12,786,806 Buddhists, and so on through literally hundreds of sects. None has much to do with the other.

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

Lesson Text: Luke 6: 12-26

Before appointing His twelve disciples, Jesus spent the whole night in prayer. This is one of the most outstanding of the many references to prayer. It indicates the greatness of the work to be undertaken; it shows how deeply Jesus felt about selecting His cabinet. There were, by this time, many followers of Jesus. It was no easy task to make a selection of twelve out of the large number; but it had to be done, and before making the final decision, Jesus gave Himself to long hours of prayer, for guidance. Perhaps if, in the choice of a national cabinet, our leaders would spend many hours in prayer and less on trying to placate every interest clamoring for recognition, the national life would be in a much healthier condition. It seems to the outside observer, that those who are in authority call on the people for national days of prayer only when there is some special or imminent danger. A national day of prayer, for the choice of a cabinet was in the offing, might obviate many of the emergencies which drive nations to arms. To declare special periods for collective intercession, and that not only an exercise to be engaged in when there is some impending disaster; it is a habit of life, whereby men and women hold communion with the eternal, seeking guidance, help and encouragement, and above all, God's will for us.

There is no special significance in the number "twelve". It may have been selected because of the historic twelve tribes, or perhaps more likely it was a convenient number and constituted a workable-sized group. The complete list of those chosen is as follows: Peter, Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Thomas, Matthew, James the son of Alphaeus, Simon the Zealot, Judas of James and Judas Iscariot. Judas of James is probably the same man as Thaddaeus. He probably had the two names. Bartholomew is almost surely Nathanael.

In verses 20 to 26, we have Luke's version of the Beatitudes. These are the qualifications for discipleship. It is interesting to note that Luke has only four of these instead of the eight enumerated by Matthew. Luke is more concerned with the heart, peace makers. It is hard to account for the omission until we remember that Luke was writing for Greeks, written many years after the death of Jesus, and naturally it would be difficult for them to get a complete picture of the life and teachings of Jesus, unless he had gotten it from eyewitnesses. Matthew, who was a disciple, and Luke, who was not, had access to many documents which Luke did not know about.

The four qualities which Jesus singled out for His disciples records supremely important are poverty, destitution, sorrow, unpopularity. But these are not to be considered as valuable for their own sake nor are they to be considered to be qualified for leadership because they possess these qualities. What is it makes the afflicted blessed (happy) merely because they were poor, destitute, sorrowful and unpopular? Only when these conditions lead to something more than self-pity about, because of the disciples allegiance to Christ. It allegiance to Christ leads to Him, then poor, sorrowful, destitute and unpopular, then they were indeed blessed (happy).

In a similar way, Luke reports Jesus as pronouncing woes against the rich, the full, the laughing and the popular. These qualities are not to be considered wrong in themselves, but only when they prevent the possession of these cannot bring about the kingdom for which men seek. In a similar way the qualities which Jesus exalted and those which he denounced are being challenged, challenged today by the conditions which exist about disciplinship. If Jesus was right, or if we believe He was right, then we are committed to a way of life in which there can be no compromise with the modern secular view which has reached its apex in Nazism and which, in a more or less modified form, finds acceptance even in so-called Christian democratic coun-

THE BRITISH SITUATION

It is probably true that in the political life, as in the geographical, distance lends enchantment. How else explain the vehemence and the bitterness with which our public men are attacked for not prosecuting the war vigorously enough. While on the other hand there is an almost complete absence of anything, even bordering on criticism, of those who in Great Britain, determine the Empire's course of action. Little, if any, criticism was ever heard in Canada of the Chamberlain policy, even though as we all know now, it was one of appeasement and evasion. Over the radio and in the British dispatches, word comes of great dissatisfaction with certain features of the war policy. And we, in this country, can gauge the support afforded the British Government largely from the criticism which is levelled at the leaders over there, by the press and general public.

Canada is sending vast materials to Britain, along with hundreds of thousands of her sons. This we willingly and gladly do. But we want to be assured that there is nothing being left undone by the political and military leaders to make effective the total war contribution.

The failure of the British to capture or destroy the three German naval units which steamed up the English Channel from rest to Heligoland, has raised a storm of protest in Great Britain. The Germans knew that the British Navy was probably escorting troops and munitions through the Mediterranean. The weather was propitious. Fog prevented the ships from being seen further than from three to five miles away. It was a risk which the Germans took, and it succeeded. The British and Canadian fliers, torpedo boats and others acquitted themselves well. There can be nothing but the highest praise for their devotion, their skill, their courage, and their fearlessness; and it may be that there is no fault to be found even with the strategists. The British Press, however, thinks differently. The British Press is clamoring for a change in war policy. Public opinion, as expressed in the papers, is demanding that Mr. Churchill give up the Ministry of Defence; let someone else take that, while he, himself, confines his activities to the Premiership.

This suggestion on the part of the British seems like a sensible one. Surely the office of Prime Minister in Great Britain, is sufficiently onerous to require the complete time and energies, even of one so capable and energetic as the Prime Minister. In Germany, many generals and high officials have recently died of heart attacks, either self-induced or suggested by the Gestapo. In Great Britain and the Democracies, epidemic of that sort are not looked on with favour; but the need for a shake-up in military and civil administrative circles, in war-time, is no less necessary in the Democracies than in the Totalitarian States. Hardening of the arteries is a condition not limited by national barriers. If there are those in the British Cabinet who are suffering from these conditions, they might do well to leave for health reasons, and open the way for more vigorous, more dynamic, more modern and up-to-the-minute men to carry an increasing share of the Empire's responsibility. The set back in the Pacific, in Libya and in the Channel, is forcing the British people to ask whether or not the nation is making the most of its available brains. We also have a stake in the issue and will not be satisfied until we know that everything is being done that is humanly possible to meet the menace which threatens us.

ASSESSMENT

It is passing strange that, in this age which prides itself on being scientific, nothing has been done to place on a scientific basis the method of assessing real estate. Hon. T. B. McQuesten has been making some suggestions which, if carried out, would lift the burden of taxation on real estate. These include a 25-mill ceiling, equalization of assessments and a five-year rotating assessment. Just what this would mean is not quite clear. But that the question has been raised, is hopeful; for up to the present time there is no general policy whereby an owner of property may be assured that he is getting a square deal, as compared to those who own property in another municipality. The assessors are usually men chosen for the task, not because they have any particular qualifications, but because they are available and have some claim on the municipality for work. There is nothing dishonorable or wrong with this; the root of the matter goes much deeper. There should be some uniform method throughout the Province whereby property in one part would not have to be more heavily taxed than in another. That is not to be taken to mean that a house in a city should be taxed at the same rate as a farm in the country; but there should be some uniformity in assessment, so that houses and property in one place should be taxed at the same rate as property of a similar sort in another part.

This would mean, not only new legislation but trained assessors, men or women who knew the legislation and who had been scientifically trained to estimate the value of property and the tax payable. It is true that real estate has to carry a large share of the public expense burden under the present law. It is doubtful whether any new system would be able to lighten that load and transfer it somewhere else. That is not necessarily the most important matter. The important thing is that, as a preliminary stage in the development of a just approach to the problem of real estate taxation, some uniformity be arrived at, and some assurance that the taxes one pays on a house in one town, is as near as possible, equal to that paid on a house in another place of similar conditions. Mr. McQuesten is to be congratulated on opening up this whole issue.

"RITZIN' THE BLITZ"

Every war develops its own peculiar vocabulary. Being a mechanized war, that in which the nations are now engaged has a lot of words and phrases which are perhaps just another way of saying something that has been said in all wars, and among soldiers everywhere. Ritzin' the Blitz is perhaps just another way of saying "Kidding the Troops", or something of the sort. We, in Napanee, have not had the privilege of having soldiers billeted here during this present war, as we had during the war of 1914-1918. We have missed something. During the First World War, there were troops billeted in the Armouries, continually. We saw them marching, we entertained them in our churches and in our homes. We watched them embark. In a word we felt the impact of the soldier life on our town and community in a much more intimate way than we have during the present hostilities.

Among the features of the life of the troops when stationed in Napanee, were the various entertainments they themselves organized and staged. When they were advertised, the whole town turned out and was given a open behind the scenes or army life, as the soldiers themselves parodied their tasks, exaggerated their duties and, in general poked fun at much of their routine. We've missed that. But we are going to have an opportunity, on Saturday, Feb. 28, to have this deficiency remedied. At the Armouries, a group of soldiers will enlighten the public on military life. It will be lots of fun, for, soldiers engaged in the most serious business in the world, are notorious for the way in which they can laugh at themselves. "Ritzin' the Blitz" has been tried out in Toronto, which is supposed to be a rather critical city, and the play went over well.

Napanee is fortunate to have the opportunity to see this group portray, in humorous fashion, many things we've read about and heard about.

SERVE BY SAVING

We are being forced to save our money these days, in ways that would have been deemed impossible a few years ago. There are fewer ways of spending money than there were even a year ago. Automobiles, tires, gasoline, refrigerators, and hundreds of other commodities which were available in unlimited quantities, are now greatly restricted. And we are informed that other and more drastic restrictions will be enforced in due time. This means that there are fewer ways in which to spend money. Not only so, but there is much more money in circulation than there was a while back. The average family is getting a share of this increased circulation. With more money, and less ways of spending it, the result is that the savings accounts in the banks swell rapidly. In spite of the fact that a very large drain was made on the money in the savings accounts following the War Loan of last year, the money is nearly all back again.

The Government is out to secure, at least, another $600,000,000. The money is in the banks. It is the privilege and the duty of everybody, no matter how large or how small their savings account may be, to use it for the purchase of bonds. The Government needs the money to provide the troops with all the necessities of war. The Government pays a liberal interest for the use of the money. There are many people who, because of age, infirmities, or responsibilities, are unable to undertake active participation in the war effort. But they can make their dollars work for them, and, as well, receive interest on the dollars they loan the nation. Dominion Bonds are as safe as dollar bills, and as easily negotiated. It is not necessary to assume that bonds are only for the wealthy. Everybody can purchase a bond. They are in denomination to suit any pocket book. Lennox and Addington has benefited much by increased farm prices, and has had a share in the general prosperity of the country. The Town and County should go well over the top in the present drive.

INDIA AND ENORMOUS RESOURCES REGARDED AS JAPAN'S ULTIMATE GOAL

(Wide World Associated Press)

New York — The moment the Japanese thrust into Burma from their Thailand base, they struck the land route for their long-planned attack on the wealth of India.

Since the days of their first World War Japan has regarded India as the ultimate goal in its conquest of the Western Pacific. Now the official Tokyo Radio talks of the "indispensable strategy" of an assault on this vast, complex home of 352,000,000 persons.

The mineral and other wealth of India is so great that the value of all the other lands thus far vanquished by the Axis pioners pales by comparison.

Its 1,808,679 square miles, about equal to the area of Europe without Russia contain the greatest reserves of high grade iron ore in the world.

India produces a third of the world's manganese ore, three quarters of its sheet and block mica, two vital elements in modern mechanized warfare.

SECOND IN COTTON OUTPUT

It is second only to the United States in production of cotton, with an average yearly yield of 7,000,000 bales — sufficient to clothe the world's armies. India produces more sugar than any other country, and its supplies of fine timber appears inexhaustible.

In India the invader would find the most prosperous of the world's cattle population, besides nearly 50,000,000 sheep and goats. Annually this country tans 20,000,000 cattle hides.

Bengal, furthest east of the India province, and the first into which the Japanese would plunge after establishing their way through Burma, produces twice as much manufactured goods as the rest of the world. Burlap sacks by the million have come to England to be filled with coal.

Coal is to be found almost everywhere in India, the biggest and finest field being located at Chota Nagpur, adjoining Bengal. Rice, the country's staple food, is grown in overwhelming quantities; tea is one of its biggest exports.

In fact, about the only thing of importance missing from Britain's great Oriental treasure house is oil, and the Japanese in conquering Borneo and Java have gone a little way toward satisfying their needs in that respect. Burma is loaded with lead, tin and tungsten.

STOREHOUSE OF MATERIALS

Thus, the Japanese in pushing forward toward Mandalay, Calcutta and Bombay are gambling for even greater stakes than in their preliminary assaults on Malaya, the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies.

Possession of the vast country would give the invader not only a storehouse of essential materials but a tremendous war manufacturing plant as well for Indian industry has been greatly stepped up since the process overtook began. Fighting equipment from its plants has come in ever-increasing streams to Britain and to other fronts.

Only the last report from Indian ordnance factories made mention of the railway wagons which were producing 24 times greater than its present capacity, and eight times as many rifles as guns were being produced.

The Indian munitions plants also turned out vehicles in all under ways, and two types of American warplanes, a transport and a fighter-bomber, are Britain's first assembly lines. India's workmen are shipping everything from tanks to bolts. The Indian Navy is producing scores of minesweepers, sub-chasers and other small craft for the Royal Indian Navy, all of which are available for the defense of its own coasts and seaports. It is estimated that fully 50 per cent of India's industry has been directed to the war effort.

RANKS NEXT TO ENGLAND

Thoroughly appreciating India's importance to the conduct of the war, as well as the impending bid it is to the Axis powers, the British have made many efforts to protect their prize possession. They have made their armed forces second only, in active, with only defense of England itself coming before.

Both British commanders against the Italians and Germans were certaken not so much to prevent the loss of Egypt as to head off at its source any push of Axis arms across the Suez Canal and into Palestine — gateway to India. They hastily pushed the Vichy French out of Syria for the same reason when the Germans appeared to gain the ascendancy there.

Last summer the British suddenly reinforced the Persian garrison of Archibald P. Wavell, from Egypt to Simla to take command of the Indian Army. At the time there was wide conjecture that General Wavell had been "demoted" because of the disasters in Greece and the Germans' counter-offensive in Libya, but it is clear now that the British simply were then beginning to make on the biggest job.

ARMY'S EQUIPMENT RUSHED

The Indian Army was being increased and equipped with the greatest possible speed. From a total of 600 men at the start of the war it had grown to more than 1,000,000 at the end of 1941, exclusive of those fighting abroad. Until his recent appointment as Commander in Chief of the United Nations forces in the Southwestern Pacific war zone, General Wavell prepared India's defenders for the blow now approaching through Burma.

This army of Gurkhas, Pathans, Rajputs and Sikhs will be something for the Japanese to meet. It is a tough, disciplined and well equipped force, its valour proved in battle in both wars, from France to the North-west Frontier. The Indian soldier has shown, in the reports of British officers, "a remarkable aptitude for modern mechanized warfare."

But this is the bright side of the picture. On the other side is the fact that India's millions still are a backwardly divided people, restless under British rule and determined upon the independence which Britain steadfastly refuses to grant.

It does not help that Indian political leaders frequently recall Winston Churchill's having said in Parliament that it would be monstrous if we were to hand over those millions of human beings to be exploited and harassed by a small, bitter and unrepresentative group of zamps and cliques.

The sooner is, under the circumstances, that India's war effort has reached its present proportions. The answer is that the Indians intensely hate the dictatorships, whereas their long quarrel with the British is more of a family affair, to be softpedaled temporarily for the common good.

200 LANGUAGES SPOKEN

Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of millions of Indians and sharpest thorn in the side of the British for more than twenty years, resigned as leader of the All-India Party Congress and announced last December 30th that his civil disobedience campaign was off for the duration.

Other Indian leaders refused to drop the fight, contending that this was the prime opportunity for the Britain to give India an ironbound promise of Dominion status after the war. Among those who were jailed since war began were Jawaharlal Nehru, President of the India National Congress, now free; Subhas Chandra Bose, former Presidents, four Prime Ministers of Provinces and eleven ministers.

Censorship is strict. Assembly is forbidden, and all newspaper headlines must be submitted before publication in the sixteen Provinces that comprise British India. These measures are not imposed in the individual Indian States such as Hyderabad, Mysore and Kashmir, because the Princes have rule these principalities for a long time. Since the Princes have made large private gifts to the war fund. Six squadrons of Indian gift planes participated in the Battle of Britain after the disaster at Dunkirk.

One of the greatest barriers to a complete understanding between the British and the Indian people remains the very complexity of the Indians themselves — the fact that they speak more than 200 different languages, the bewildering diversity of their religious beliefs.

There were at last count 239,195,140 Hindus, 77,677,545 Mohammedans, 12,786,806 Buddhists, and so on down through literally hundreds of sects. None has much to do with the other.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, FEBRUARY 22ND, 1942

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE [illegible]

Lesson Text: Luke 6: 12-26

Before appointing His twelve disciples, Jesus spent the whole night in prayer. This is one of the most important of Luke's many references to prayer. It indicates the seriousness of the work to be undertaken; it shows how deeply Jesus felt about selecting His cabinet. There were, by this time, many followers of Jesus. It was no easy task to make a selection of twelve out of the large number; but it had to be done, and before making the final decision, Jesus would spend many hours in prayer, for guidance. Perhaps if, in the choice of a national cabinet, our leaders would spend many hours in prayer and less on trying to placate every interest clamoring for recognition, the national life would be in a much healthier condition. It seems to the outside observer, that those in authority call on the people for national days of prayer only when there is some special or imminent danger. A national day of prayer, when the choice of a cabinet was in the offing, might obviate many of the emergencies which drive national leaders to declare special periods for collective intercession. Prayer is not only an exercise to be engaged in when there is some impending disaster; it is a habit of life, whereby men and women hold communion with the eternal, seeking guidance, help and encouragement, and above all, God's will for us.

There is no special significance in the number "twelve". It may have been selected because of the historic twelve tribes, or perhaps more likely it was a convenient number, which constituted a workable-sized group. The complete list of those chosen is as follows: Peter, Andrew, James, John, Philip, Batholomew, Thomas, Matthew, James of Alpheus, Simon the Zealot, Judas of James and Judas Iscariot. Judas of James is probably the same man as Thaddaeus; he probably had the two names. Bartholomew is almost surely Nathanael.

In verses 20 to 26, we have Luke's version of the Beatitudes. These are the qualifications for discipleship. It is interesting to note that Luke has only four of these instead of the eight enumerated in M[illegible] omits the meek, [illegible] and those who [illegible] account for the [illegible] remember that these [illegible] in the beginning [illegible] of Jesus, and naturally [illegible] difficult for a writer [illegible] to picture the [illegible] of Jesus, unless he has [illegible] documentary evidence [illegible] Matthew, in the [illegible] tudes, seems to have [illegible] documents which Luke [illegible] about.

The four qualities [illegible] speaking to His disciples [illegible] supremely important [illegible] destitution, sorrow [illegible] But these are not to [illegible] as valuable for their own [illegible] are not to be considered [illegible] fied for leadership because [illegible] sess these qualities. What [illegible] the afflicted blessed [illegible] mercy among those [illegible] meekness they were [illegible] tute, sorrowful and impoverished [illegible] only when these conditions [illegible] because of the [illegible] glance to Christ. If [illegible] Christ, loyalty to Him, must [illegible] poor, sorrowful destitute [illegible] ular, then they were indeed [illegible] (happy).

In a similar way, Luke [illegible] Jesus as pronouncing woes [illegible] certain groups in the community [illegible] are rejected as [illegible] the popular. These qualities [illegible] eral wealth, ease, earthly satisfaction, success, are rejected as [illegible] blessedness. Jesus does not condemn them in themselves, but the [illegible] of these cannot bring the [illegible] phies for which men seek. In a [illegible] when all the qualities which [illegible] called and those which [illegible] ed are being challenged, Christians must ask very serious questions about discipleship. If Jesus was right, or if we believe He was right, then we are committed to a way of life in which there can be no compromise with the modern secular view which has reached its apex in Nazism, which, in a more or less modified form, finds acceptance even in the so-called Christian democratic countries.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF MARRIAGE OF MR., MRS. F.H. PERRY

On Tuesday of this week, February 17th, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Perry, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. The event was quietly observed by a family dinner party by friends calling to extend to Mr. and Mrs. Perry their good wishes and congratulations.

Mrs. Perry has been a life-long resident of Napanee and Mr. Perry has resided in the town for 48 years. Two years after his marriage Mr. Perry came to Napanee and opened the grocery business which he still conducts in the same location, on Dundas Street.

Mrs. Perry was formerly Margaret Jane Joy, and is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilder Joy, who for many years were prominent residents of Napanee, where Mr. Joy operated a saw mill just east of the Napanee River Falls. Mr. Perry is a son of the late B. B. Perry and was born in North Fredericksburgh, on the Perry homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry were married at the home of Mrs. Perry's parents, Dundas Street East, by the late Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey, the minister of the Episcopal Methodist Church. Miss Bridesmaid was Mrs. Perry's sister, Caroline Joy, and the groomsman was Mr. Perry's brother, Fred H. Perry. There were a large number of guests at the wedding, many of whom have since passed away.

Throughout all their married lives Mr. and Mrs. Perry have been members of Trinity United Church. Mr. Perry is one of the oldest men, in length of years of activity, still in business in the town. He has been a member of Union Lodge A.F. & A. M. for 52 years and two years ago was honoured by his lodge when he was presented with a 50-year jewel, followed by games.

Mrs. Perry has been organist and choir leader and directed the evening's entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry received beautiful gifts and flowers from their family and many cards extending congratulations and good wishes.

a son of the late Charles McGreer, whose family home is on the Deseronto Road.

During the address appreciation to the speaker was expressed by Mr. W. S. Herrington; to the ladies by W. Wilson, and action behalf of the guests by Rev. G. M. Chidley.

DR. McGREER'S ADDRESS

In his opening remarks Dr. McGreer paid a high tribute to the teachers in the Napanee schools who were on the staff when he was a student in town and he gave them great credit for whatever he has been able to make of his life. He commended very highly the appearance on the programme of young students of the schools who played musical numbers and gave his approval of the teaching of music in the schools.

Commencing his address on "French Canada To-day," Dr. McGreer said that he was profoundly grateful for the opportunities he had had of contact with French Canadians. He said that he had found that French Canada is like all other parts of the world in that an educated gentleman is an educated man with a broad outlook and understanding whatever his race may be, and the educated French gentleman is a man of rare culture and charm. Unfortunately, in Quegec, less than five per cent of those who attend high schools go to university and consequently, there is not a huge proportion of citizens of the province who have the wide views of the educated man.

"It is true of nations is true of individuals," Dr. McGreer said. "If you would understand a man you must look into his history and you must do that with French Canadians if you would understand them.

Canada Colonized by French in 16th, 17th and 18th Centuries

Recalling some points in the history of French-Canada, Dr. McGreer said that colonists came from France to the New World in the 16th, 17th and 18th Centuries and it must be remembered that their colonization was for a different reason than that carried on by the English-speaking peoples. English colonists left their homeland for the purpose of securing freedom of religion or because of their political views. But the French did not leave France because of discontent, but at the instigation and with the aid of the government for the purpose of building a great French Empire. When the French colonists came to Canada they were accustomed to have over them the government in France. There was very little chance or need for individual initiative. So there was the feeling among the early French settlers that the controlling power over them was far away from their lifes after the Seven ears War, 1754-1760 when Canada was ceded to the British, the French colonists were of the opinion that control over them had just been transferred to another power.

In 1763 when the treaty was signed there were 60,000 French in Canada. They found themselves "free, secure and keep our identity, our traditions and our religion." They feared extinction and resolved to stand together in an attempt to preserve their religion, their traditions and their language. They prospered and they had come into an Empire that never extinguished any civilization within its bounds. So by the Treaty of 1763, they were given a guarantee they could maintain their own individuality and identity as Frenchmen. They were cut right off from their parent stock and all the officials and most of the wealthy inhabitants of the colony returned to France leaving the poorer and uneducated people in the country. The time on the French in Canada looked as if the only educated members of their communities, the priest, the notary and the lawyer, for leadership and protection and for aid in helping them to keep their identity. As a result, the 60,000 original Frenchmen in Canada have increased until to-day there are three million of them who have succeeded in maintaining their identity as Frenchmen in an English Dominion.

What Are the Risks.

Dr. McGreer said it might well be asked: "What is the risk of such a situation?" He answered by saying that the risk is Chauvinism and defined Chauvinism as "an over-fervent devotion to your own country and a contempt for all other countries." The French people in Canada focussed their thought around their own position in Canada since they were cut off from France and their whole effort and interest centred around the Church, which they realised had remained unchanged throughout the centuries. The cure, priest has always looked after the interests of his people and still stands with them to-day. When thought has been focussed with such zeal on their own interests, there is great danger that a considerable number of French Canadians have little knowledge of the history of the Empire to which they belong. Their interests are very limited — mainly concerning their own farms, the weather, the activities in the woods in the winter and their own little community. Their heroes remain the heroes of early France in Canada. It is difficult to arouse in them much enthusiasm when confronted with a world crisis.

Growing Interest

In Educational Reform

However, Dr. McGreer said, there are definite signs that in French-Canada to-day there is a growing interest in educational reform under the leadership of such enlightened men as Premier Godbout. But he warned not to expect miracles. The process of bringing about edusectional reform will be slow. It is the affair of French Canadians and not of English Canadians and reform of education in Quebec would be much faster if there were no interference by the English.

Dr. McGreer announced himself a firm believer in bi-lingualism in Canada. "I would appeal," he said, "for bi-lingualism all across Canada, so that everyone would speak both French and English." He expressed the opinion that the only way for two races to really understand each other is for each to speak the language of the other, so that the one can get into the mind of the other. The teaching of English in Quebec schools is growing and the leaders in the province, realise not only the practical value of the French knowing English, but the cultural knowledge leads to a solidarity of interests and friendships.

Dr. McGreer said he wished it were possible to exercise some control over the forces for much is written about the situation in Canada by irresponsible people, who misrepresent the attitude of the best people.

It should be remembered that the French are Latins, Dr. McGreer said, and as a result they have a different outlook than the Celt and the Anglo-Saxon. But our business as Canadians is to understand them. Our common purpose must be to establish in the Dominion, a people who believe in God and who are convinced that righteousness alone exalteth a nation.

N.C.I. BASKETEERS WIN AND LOSE FRIDAY EVENING

The local Collegiate basketball team played a double header with Kingston C. V. I. last Friday evening, in the Collegiate gymnasium. The senior game was defeated 16 to 13 by K.C.V.I., when they blew a 9 to 4 half-time lead. It was an offnight for the boys who had previously won all games played. They were slow on the floor, slow with the passes and fumbled a few advantage of the breaks, from which K.C.V.I. capitalized. Porter was easily the best forward on the floor for K.C.V.I. with the guards McLellan and Kinkley playing headsom ball. Lindsay and Smith were the best for K.C.V.I.

The K.C.V.I. Juveniles (seniors) kept their undefeated string of wins intact when they defeated K.C.V.I. 19 to 13. It was rough basketball and as a result, referee Edwards was forced to hand out a total of 26 fouls. Holmes was top-scorer for the locals with eight points and the work of the line of Walters, Wartman and Jamieson was highly commendable. Smart and Yeates were the best for Kingston.

The N.C.V.I. Juvenilles can win the section championship by defeating Belleville at Regi. on Friday, February 20th.

ACTIVITIES MONTH REPORTED BY C. A. S. SUPT.

The wide scope of the activities of the Children's Aid Society's Superintendent was indicated in the report made by Mr. W. F. Barnes, to the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Society, last Thursday afternoon. At the beginning of January there were sixty cases open, two new cases were added, one was reopened and nine were closed, leaving 54 open cases at the end of the month. In connection with all cases during the month, the superintendent made 21 visits and had 23 office interviews and attended two court cases.

Included in the cases investigated were a family in which there is a widowed mother with several children who finally had secured for them the mother's allowance. One ward of the society, a young boy in his early teens, ran away from the home where he had been placed and had to be located one night. Another boy has left for unknown parts and efforts have been made to locate him. The superintendent has charge of the allowances made by some soldiers to their families and one case in particular is presenting some difficulty because the children appear not to like the step-father provided for. Complete echarge of the funds provided by some soldiers' Aid. The superintendent is in the hands of the Superintendent of the C. A. S. and this work takes a great deal more time and is the cause of some difficulty.

The meeting held last Thursday was attended by the non-executive number of the Board of Directors who heard the reports of the Superintendent and the Treasurer, Mr. Alvine Woods, the president, was in the chair.

The following statistical report shows the time of work being done by the society and the amount of detail involved.
